

DEMOCRATIC BILL FOR DIRECT REGISTRATION BY THE PEOPLE INTRODUCED

Pfaender Offers Measure Taken to Embody Minority's Views.

Lydiard's Resolution Regarding House List of Employees Killed.

Senate Spends Forenoon in Debate on Panama Canal Tolls.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Albert Pfaender, Democratic floor leader in the house, this morning introduced an initiative and referendum bill that is taken to embody the views of the minority party. It is somewhat more conservative than some of the bills already introduced, but more radical than the Democratic measure of two years ago. While moderately conservative, it is entirely workable. The requirement for initiative petitions is 15 per cent and for referendum petitions it is 10 per cent. There is a provision that no measures can be introduced that have not been introduced in the legislature and received the votes of 20 per cent of the members of either branch. Issues are to be decided by a majority of the votes cast on the proposition, except that constitutional amendments proposed by the people must secure a majority of those voting at the election.

Speaker Is Sustained.
The house spent half an hour debating Representative Lydiard's resolution providing for a committee to investigate the house list of employees and to fill the places, taking this away from the speaker. Finally killing it by the exclusive vote of 16 to 8.
During the debate there was some exchange of repartee which caused amusement. Representative Campbell, opposing Lydiard's resolution, called attention to the charges in the resolution that two years ago there were twice as many employees as were needed.

TWO CAUGHT AFTER ROBBERING GAMBLER
Former Secret Service Man Taken With Goods on Him.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 15.—L. S. Ross, former secret service operative of the United States government, and V. L. Schneider, former secret operative of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad in Colorado, were arrested by the El Paso police early, following a holdup of eleven alleged gamblers in a hotel in an adjoining hotel. They claim they saw the holdup through the window and that while the gamblers were being placed they rushed into the hotel and caught Ross as he was coming down the stairs. The police declare they took $1,320.50 in cash, about $2,000 worth of diamonds and other valuables from Ross. The men who were robbed identified the money and diamonds as theirs.
Schneider was not arrested in the hotel, but was taken into custody later in his offices in a nearby building where he and Ross operate a detective agency.
Ross' connection with the secret service ended a few years ago following the alleged discovery that certain arms seized from Mexican rebels by United States detectives had been sold to a local arms house.

TONNAGE TAX BILL AGAIN INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE

Franklin and Bjorge Revive Measure Rejected in Past Years.

None of Proposed Revenue to Go to Mining Communities.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Doubtless with the kindly intent to make the Northeastern Minnesota members feel at home in the legislature, Representatives Thomas Franklin of Spring Valley and H. O. Bjorge of Lake Park this morning introduced their tonnage tax bill in the house. It was referred to the committee on taxes and tax laws.
The bill is practically the same as that introduced in the house in 1907 by Mr. Bjorge and in 1908 and 1909 by Mr. Bjorge and introduced in the house by Mr. Franklin in 1911 and defeated.
The bill provides for a graduated output tax of 2 to 5 cents per ton on all ore produced in the state, the tax to be for state purposes only, and the localities in which the mines are situated are to receive no benefit from the ad valorem system of taxation. The graduation is so arranged that most mines would pay the minimum.
Non-producing mines are also to be taxed for state purposes on the ad valorem or valuation system.
All mines are divided into two classes.

HEAD OF COMMITTEE ON REAPPORTIONMENT

VICTOR L. JOHNSON,
Chairman of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment.

COMMITTEES GETTING BUSY

Work of Preparing Reapportionment Bill Will Not Be Delayed.

Not Yet Decided to Which District Virginia Will Be Assigned.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The campaign for reapportionment will be pushed hard by its friends in both houses, beginning today, with the object of bringing it to an issue at the earliest possible date.
And it is due to the pressing duties of both houses, Lieutenant Governor Burnquist in the senate and Speaker Rines in the house, to say that the reapportionment committee they have framed are so far as they have been able to arrange them, included in the list of the friends of reapportionment.
The committees were announced yesterday, with Senator Victor L. Johnson of Chicago county as chairman of the senate committee and Representative Charles H. Warner of Aitkin county as chairman of the house committee, but notices were issued this morning.
New Judge Impeachment Plan.
Helena, Mont., Jan. 15.—In the state senate a bill was introduced by Senator Edwards which will change the procedure of impeaching district and supreme court judges. The bill contemplates they can be tried on petition of 30 per cent of the voters, and impeached if found guilty.

IN FAVOR OF REDUCTION OF SUGAR TARIFF

American Refining Company Goes on Record at Committee Hearing.

Favors Retention of Small Differential Duty on Refined Sugar.

Declares Abolition of All Tariff Would Destroy Industry.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The free sugar plan of the house Democrats, regarded by leaders as one of the virtually assured features of the tariff revision program of the coming extra session of congress, so far as the house is concerned, focused attention on today's hearing before the house ways and means committee. Witnesses were ready to represent the American Sugar Refining company with Acting President Edwin F. Atkins as its spokesman, the beet sugar and other interests.
The house Democrats claim that placing sugar on the free list may save American consumers $115,000,000 annually while the Republicans charge that free sugar would surrender an important industry to foreign importers, assert that it would deprive the government of more than $5,000,000 revenue. The free sugar proposition is coupled with the excise tax bill as an offset to loss in revenue. Means.

CRUISER IS SENT TO MEXICAN PORT

Denver to Go to Acapulco for Protection of Americans There.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The cruiser Denver has been ordered from San Diego, Cal., to Acapulco, Mex., where a desperate situation is reported with Americans in danger. She will sail tomorrow and should arrive at the Mexican port in about four days. Commander Washington has about 270 jackies aboard and about a company of marines.
The order was given today after alarming reports of the activity of a rebel band, under Julio Radillo, had been received through Ambassador Wilson at the City of Mexico. Consul Edwards at Acapulco had suggested that inasmuch as the Mexican Federalists were unable to protect Americans, and the Mexican commander of the town had admitted his inability to reinforce the garrison, a warship should be sent.
The last report from Acapulco said Radillo's men were operating in the country about the town and that refugees from every direction were pouring into the town, which is one of the most important Mexican ports on the Pacific. Depredations and atrocities by the approaching rebel band were reported. Americans and other foreigners will be taken aboard the Denver when she reaches there if they so desire. The Denver is the nearest ship to the danger line.

NELSON NOW IN THE FIGHT FOR DULUTH

Senator Joins Miller Against Abolishing the Customs District.

Miller Would Put Superior and Ashland in Duluth District.

Lenroot Objects, Preferring to Add Them to St. Paul.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Jan. 15.—Senator Nelson has joined Representative Miller in the fight to retain Duluth as a separate customs district. The senator has agreed to join Mr. Miller in the brief that is to be presented to the treasury department on Saturday in opposition to the department's plan to abolish the Duluth district and to make it a part of the St. Paul collection district.
Northwestern Wisconsin members are also stirred up over the department's plan to make Superior and Ashland a part of the St. Paul district. Representative Lenroot has filed a protest against this consolidation with the treasury department, and will make a fight to have the two cities named included in a district which will comprise the entire state of Wisconsin with headquarters at Milwaukee. Mr. Lenroot, however, has indicated that he will accept the department's plan for consolidation with St. Paul.

THIRD TRIAL OF DR. HYDE FOR MURDER

Accused of Killing Col. Swope By Giving Him Poison.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 15.—When the third trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde for the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope began today, Mrs. Hyde, wife of the physician and niece of Swope was in the court room but did not, as in the previous trials, occupy a seat beside her husband. Judge Porterfield ordered that no relative be allowed to sit with the defendant within the rail while the jury was in the room because, he said, such a person might exert undue influence on the sympathies of the jury.
The selection of forty-seven veniremen from whom the jury will be chosen began with the opening of the trial.
The physician is accused of administering typhoid germs, cyanide and other poisons to Col. Swope, who died in October, 1909. In January, 1910, an autopsy on the body was held and the physician was charged with the presence of sufficient strychnine to cause death.
Dr. Hyde was indicted on the murder charge March 8, 1910, and at his first trial was found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for life.
The supreme court reversed the case. The second trial was halted by the escape of Harry Waldron, a juror, from the custody of the marshal. Judge Porterfield declared a mistrial and discharged the jury.

Physician Who Examined Magnate Makes His Report.

Says He Found His Condition to Be Quite Serious.

Believes He Could Stand Short Examination Without Danger.

Washington, Jan. 15.—A speedy examination of the remaining witnesses, and an early termination of the money trust inquiry was planned today by the house committee investigating the financial situation. Chairman Pujo of the committee, declared he hoped to close the hearings by the end of the week.
A considerable amount of testimony, relating to the concentration of money and credits and to stock exchange methods still remains to be taken up, but Samuel Untermyer and Chairman Pujo plan to condense the evidence as much as possible to begin work on the report of the committee, which must be submitted before the present congressional session.

REFUSES TO GRANT NEW TRIAL IN KIMMEL CASE.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—Judge Grimm in the circuit court here overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of George A. Kimmel, the "man of mystery" in which a jury awarded a sister of George A. Kimmel a verdict of $1460 against an Eastern life insurance company, who made the motion for a new trial, argued that the court erred in former trial by excluding certain testimony and that the suit was barred by the statute of limitations.

VICTIM OF LAW'S DELAY AND EXPENSE

PAUL GOLIK.

RHODE ISLAND MAN GETS THERE FIRST

J. S. McCabe Wins Quadrennial Race With Electoral Vote.

Washington, Jan. 15.—J. S. McCabe of Rhode Island won the quadrennial race to Washington with the electoral vote of his state yesterday. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning when the office of the vice president opened at the capitol, Mr. McCabe was waiting to deliver the vote of Rhode Island. A short time later H. M. London of Raleigh appeared with the vote of North Carolina. He had also tried to be the first arrival, but a late train robbed him of the honor.
Ballots were received by messenger from West Virginia and by mail from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, Delaware and New York. The presidential electors cast their votes in all states, and all of the ballots probably will be locked up in Washington within the next ten days. The electors in each state are required to send two sets of ballots, one by mail and one by messenger, the messenger receiving compensation at the rate of 25 cents a mile one way. H. E. Vanderford, secretary of the late Vice President Sherman, became the official custodian of the electoral votes today, and will keep them under the eye of the house and senate meet jointly Feb. 12 to canvass the vote and declare President Wilson officially elected.

DE LA MOTTE MUST REPAY PART OF FEES

Jurist Severely Criticizes Conduct of Attorney During the Case.

Present System of Handling Personal Injury Business Also Scored.

Condemns Great Economic Waste and Delay in Giving Injured Justice.

SALIENT POINTS IN THE NOW FAMOUS GOLK CASE.
Paul Golik, 28, Crofton, unable to read or write, about four years ago at Gilbert received injuries which left him a life-long cripple.
He came to Duluth in search of an attorney and L. Hogecevic, a near countryman, led him to the office of Joseph De La Motte.
Golik's understanding of how a recovery was to be divided afterwards differed from that given by De La Motte.
On Dec. 8, 1906, De La Motte started suit against the Erickson & Long company, stripping contractors and former employers of Golik. He sued for $25,000.
On Feb. 2, 1910, a verdict was returned for $11,000. Judge Dibell have received $5,000 or $5,000, if his story was true.
The case was taken to the supreme court. The judgment was affirmed. In July, 1912, the judgment with costs and interest amounted to $13,665.
This was split. De La Motte taking half. Under the alleged contract, De La Motte changed the expenses of the litigation against Golik's share.
Four tortors who testified in the case raised their bills from $25 to $75 and took default judgments against Golik amounting to more than $100 apiece.
On Feb. 2, 1912, De La Motte was attorney for Golik at the time, but did not appear on behalf of his client.
Attorney De La Motte summoned De La Motte to appear before the court and show cause why he should not make a restitution of a part of the money to Golik.
Order issued today by Judge Dibell requiring De La Motte to pay over $200.50 with 6 per cent interest from July 25, 1912, to the date of payment.
Probable appeal from this order to the supreme court by Attorney De La Motte.

Joseph De La Motte, an attorney of the Duluth bar, did not give his client, Paul Golik, a square deal when he divided a $13,800 recovery in a personal injury suit in half and allowed the expenses of litigation to eat up the last cent of Golik's half.
Judge Dibell in district court this afternoon so held and in findings in the now famous Golik case ordered De La Motte to make a restitution of $200.50 with 6 per cent interest.

Bonds for Release of Beum of Minneapolis Are Satisfactory.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Bonds submitted for the release of Frank M. Ryan, F. H. Houlihan and William Schupe, sentenced to terms in prison for conspiracy in the illegal transportation of dynamite, were disapproved by District Attorney Charles W. Miller of Indianapolis in the United States circuit court of appeals here today.
Bonds of $50,000 for the release of Charles N. Beum of Minneapolis were approved by the court.
District Attorney Miller declared that the property scheduled for the release of Ryan, Houlihan and Schupe.

Arguments on the proposed extension of the St. Louis river channel from its present terminus at Big Island to Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, were presented this morning at a hearing conducted at the Commercial club by the board of army engineers appointed to consider the project.

The hearing was attended by about 100 people, the proposed Lake Superior & Mississippi canal and proposed improvements to the Brule and Siskiwit rivers are being up for consideration.

Lieut. Col. C. L. Potter of St. Paul presided and the other members of the board are Lieut. Col. F. R. Shunk of Pittsburgh and Capt. E. D. Peck of Duluth.

The arguments in favor of the proposed extension of the river channel were made by Dr. B. M. Russell on behalf of the Duluth Commercial club, Henry Nolte on behalf of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, and James Barden on behalf of the Superior Commercial club.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE KEEPS THE SCALP CLEAN AND STOPS THAT ITCHING

If your scalp itches you have dandruff. The itching is due to the increasing growth of the microbe that causes dandruff and this sets up an irritation in the scalp. Itching scalp is merely a warning, for whenever there is dandruff there is bound to be a loss of hair. Falling hair is never so slight that it may be disregarded. Every hair that falls is bringing you just to the point where the inevitable end—baldness.

To stop itching you must get rid of the dandruff. The use of Newbro's Herpicide will eradicate it completely. Every trace of the scale-like accumulation will disappear. The hair formerly dead and dull and falling out takes on snap and life which go only with a clean, healthy scalp. There is a world of satisfaction in the use of Newbro's Herpicide because you can see the results.

When troubled with dandruff and your hair growing thinner every day it is no time to experiment with some of the brand preparation or a remedy, which you are told is "just as good" as Herpicide. What you want is results—results that are quick and assured. Newbro's Herpicide is guaranteed to do as claimed or money refunded. Why take chances with the unknown article?

Sold everywhere in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes.

Applications at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Newbro's Herpicide is sold in postpaid or silver to the Herpicide Company, Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., for sample bottle and booklet on the care of the hair.

ROCKEFELLER COULD STAND BRIEF ORdeal

When the committee convened today, George W. Perkins, formerly of J. I. Morgan & Co., and H. P. Davidson and Thomas W. Lamont, present members of the Morgan firm, were on hand. Their testimony was expected to amplify that of Mr. Morgan himself.

Dr. Richardson said that he examined Mr. Rockefeller at Miami, Fla., on Sunday, Jan. 12; that no one else was present, and that he spent an hour with him. The affidavit presented by Dr. Chappell, Mr. Rockefeller's physician, stated that he did not fully state the case.

Rockefeller's condition is more serious than would be supposed from reading Dr. Chappell's affidavit, said the witness.

Dr. Richardson said that he found that the right chest of the oil millionaire was practically gone and that the left was badly affected. He said he found Mr. Rockefeller's pulse 100 and his blood pressure 152. A writing test, he said, showed that Rockefeller was unable to write more than one or two lines of what is called "shaking" or "trembling" handwriting.

Strong Direct Examination.

"I believe he could be subjected to a short examination orally without immediate danger to his life," said Dr. Richardson. "But a lengthy examination would probably weaken his vocal chords to a point where a serious swelling of the larynx might result, which would end in serious consequences."

Was the profit $23,000,000? asked Mr. Intermyer.

"I could not say," answered Mr. Burrage.

Could not remember profit. His own profit or that made by Thomas W. Lamont, William Rockefeller or Mr. Morgan?

Mr. Burrage said he got his profit in securities so far as he could remember, and did not get any butte, Boston or Boston-Montana.

What was your profit? asked Mr. Intermyer.

"I could not say," answered Mr. Burrage. He knew of no records of the deal.

Then this entire deal, involving $75,000,000, was accomplished without the scratch of a pen? asked the counsel.

"Yes, so far as I know," said Mr. Burrage.

The public came in in shoals, didn't it? asked Mr. Intermyer.

"Yes, you might say that," said Mr. Burrage. He could not say whether the "insiders" entered large requests for subscriptions to the stock, but he said that before the stock was allotted the price had gone to 115 or 120 shares. About $75,000,000 of offers, he said, were received for the $75,000,000 of stock.

WE CURE WHERE OTHERS FAILED

We do not follow the old beaten path and administer medicines that have proven to be worthless. WE USE NO DRUGS. WE DO NOT EXPERIMENT WITH YOUR TROUBLES. WE DO NOT TAKE INCURABLE CASES, for if we accept any patient we will guarantee that we can cure him and his case. WE CURE THE DISEASE BECAUSE OUR METHODS ARE THE NATURAL HEALING METHODS. WE GET OUT THE POISON OF THE SYSTEM, WHICH IS THE CAUSE OF THE DISEASE. WE REMOVE THE OBSTACLES INTO THE DISEASED ORGANS BY ELECTRICITY. You know what Duluth and all other big cities would be without electricity. Ours is the advanced method of treating disease. It has been tried all over the world and has cured more cases than any other method. IT IS THE MOST NATURAL HEALING FORCE IN THE WORLD. IT WILL CURE YOU WHEN ALL OTHERS HAVE FAILED TO DO SO.

COME AND BE CURED NOW

NERVOUS, DISEASED, AFFLICTED MEN AND WOMEN HAVE COME TO US WITH ALL KINDS OF CHRONIC DISEASES. DULUTH PAPERS HAVE PUBLISHED THEIR TESTIMONIALS ALMOST DAILY. With our Electro Medical Methods we have cured diseases like Rheumatism, Cancer, Tumors, Stomach Troubles. Many times a poor doctor will do more harm than good, especially in Men's Diseases and not less in female troubles if he is no specialist. In men, we guarantee to cure any case of Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Venereal Disease and all other diseases peculiar to men. In women, we guarantee to cure all diseases and weaknesses, whichever a woman has suffered from. Hysteria, as well as Colic, Headaches, Fainting Spells, Hot Flashes, Nervousness, etc. We have cured prostateitis, Gleet, Gonorrhea, Gleetitis without an operation, also Cancer and Tumors, Bronchitis, Early Consumption, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Sciatica, Swollen Limbs and all other chronic diseases.

YOU GET THE TREATMENT OF EXPERTS

It will cost you no more to take treatment from an experienced expert specializing than to place yourself under the doubtful skill of a mediocre. You will find our institute thoroughly reliable. We are here to stay, and it is our sincere intention to erect the largest and most complete institute in the Northwest. Our methods have proven to cure better and quicker than any other method. Do not waste your money and time by visiting us as we are too busy with healing and treating patients. Those who sincerely wish to find out the truth about their condition are welcome to a free consultation and advice. Married women must be accompanied by their husbands, and minors by their parents.

Stops Tobacco Habit In One Day.

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banned in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium located at 1059 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco no matter how long it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

Locke Buys Phillies.
Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—W. H. Locke of Pittsburgh announced this afternoon that he had purchased the Philadelphia National League club.

The price was just announced. Mr. Locke announced that the club was owned entirely by one Philadelphian with the exception of a block purchased by himself and his uncle, W. S. Baker, a former police commissioner of New York. The Philadelphians interested in the club include Chester P. Ray, Col. Thomas L. Murphy, Fred T. Chandler, Samuel M. Clemens and Harrison C. Caner, all prominent in business affairs.

Raleigh Fair to Incorporate.
Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 15.—The Raleigh Fair association will be incorporated and it was so successful the promoters have determined to make the association permanent and give annual exhibitions.

RAILROADS

ORDERS NEW EQUIPMENT

Missabe Road Buys Additional Locomotives and Ore Cars.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern road has just let contracts for more equipment, entailing the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, and which bespeaks the expectation of the road for a record breaking year for 1913.

To the Baldwin Locomotive of Philadelphia has been let a contract for three huge locomotives each to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. They will be of the Pacific type and will be of sufficient power to handle the maximum passenger train upgrade without the aid of a pusher.

Another contract for equipment has been let to the Western Steel Car & Foundry company of Hegewisch, Ill. This contract is for 1,000 steel hopper ore cars and they are to be delivered in May and June of this year.

PETITION IS HEARD.

N. P. Railroad Official Confers With Brainerd Delegation.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—The Brainerd delegation who waited upon Vice President Hannaford of the Northern Pacific in St. Paul in the interest of better service and other things for this locality appeared greatly interested and said all the matters broached would be taken up at an early date with the other officials of the road at a conference called for that purpose. This is the first time in the history of Brainerd that so prominent a delegation has appeared to express the desires of Brainerd. The depot was built from timbers and lumber "knocked" by ex-team from St. Cloud and is the oldest structure on the whole Northern Pacific railway. It is full of historical interest for within its confines many of the most prominent railway men of the country including W. A. McGonigle of Duluth and others had their first experience in their chosen life work.

Railroad Personalities.

D. A. Small of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent of the Erie road, is on business today.

George Lovell, western passenger agent of the Wabash, is in Duluth on business and renewing acquaintances.

Remodeling sale at The Columbia starts tomorrow.

CONTRACTS FOR NEW DOCK

Work Will Begin at Once on Missabe Road's Improvements.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern road has just let two contracts in connection with the construction of its new dock at West Duluth. One is for the sub-structure and the successful bidder is the Bates & Rogers Construction company of Chicago. The other contract is for the superstructure, and has been let to the American Bridge company.

Work will begin immediately and the dock will be completed for the opening of navigation in 1915.

Passes Away.Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Prof. George
A. Koenig, eminent educator and scientist and oldest member of the faculty of the Michigan school of mines, died late last night at the home of his son here, Dr. Augustus Koenig. He was 68 years old. Prof. Koenig came here from Michigan a week ago just a few days before the death of a daughter.
Prof. Koenig, who was born and educated in Germany, gave the first course in mining at the university of Pennsylvania that was ever given in any educational institution in the country. He was connected with the university of Pennsylvania for twenty years until 1902, when he went to nish a suite for President Taft, the Hotel Taft has given an order for a special bath tub, eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet deep. The suite which President Taft will occupy was chosen because it contained the largest bathroom in the hotel, but the bath it contained was decidedly too small, and it was being hauled out to make room for the Taft tank.To Decide Mylius Case Soon.

MUNYON.DO NOT REALLY CARE TO FIGHTBoth Sides in Balkan War Should Welcome Way Out.Allies to Delay Action to Give Turkey Further Time.London, Jan. 15.—Today's meeting of the ambassadors of the powers was devoted chiefly to a discussion of the means of putting a brake on the threatened resumption of the war in the Balkans. Breathing time was given for efforts in this direction by the decision of the Balkan plenipoten-taries today to delay further action until the Turkish government has had full opportunity for the discussion of the ambassadors' note, which will be presented this week.
It is evident that both sides would welcome the discovery of an acceptable way to avoid further fighting.
The Turkish delegates argue that but for the fact that the European powers have shown bias in favor of the claims put forward by the allies, they would have been able to compromise with their adversaries long ago.
The delegates of the allies deny that the powers have raised an objection to their announced intention of breaking off negotiations and denouncing the armistice. They point out that on Saturday last they notified the British foreign minister and all the European ambassadors of their intention and none of them remonstrated.
The representatives of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Serbia declare that they must protect their own interests, especially in avoiding indefinite procrastination on the part of the Turks as since the conclusion of the armistice in December the maintenance of the four allied armies on a war footing has represented an outlay of $20,000,000. This must come to an end, they say. Within a week Turkey must either come to a peace or lose it by a resumption of the war, which in the end would be lost costlier than this expensive peace.NEARLY 40,000 MORE JOIN THE STRIKERSNumber Out in Garment Makers' Strike About 200,000.New York, Jan. 15.—Fifty thousand flaming red posters, distributed in 600 girls' dress and shirt waist factories today turned nearly 40,000 workers into the ranks of the strikers in the garment making trades, now numbering nearly 200,000. The posters bore an official call for a strike among the dress and waist makers, who previously had sanctioned such action by an overwhelming vote. All of these employees are girls, some of them under 14 years old, and their organizations have appointed committees to guard the idle workers against agents of the war and peace.The first demand of the dress and waist makers is "No locked doors."
They declare that the lesson taught by the Asch building fire, in which 147 girls lost their lives, has not been heeded and that they are forced to work in unsafe and unsanitary shops.Forced to Move

ASK JOINT RATESDuluth Firms File Complaint Against D. & I. R. and Other Roads.(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Asking for the establishment of joint rates and through routes for the transportation of pulpwood between Duluth and the Great Lakes, the Duluth and Iron Range and other railroads.
It is alleged that the routes through which the pulpwood comes to Duluth constitute through routes but that the charges are excessive and that the access of the rates on other forest products from the same points is not equally low. The roads handle about 4,000 cars of pulpwood per annum.Remodeling sale at The Columbia

PLEA FOR DEEP CHANNEL

The only opposition came from H. H. Grace of Superior, who declared that any additional money spent in the Duluth-Superior harbor should be spent on the improvement of Alton bay. Mr. Grace raised the question of the title to riparian rights along the river channel, and was answered by T. T.
Hudson of Duluth.
In opening the argument in favor of the extension of the channel, Dr. Rastall went briefly into the subject of Duluth's location in relation to supplies of raw material and the territory in which distribution is made.
The improvement of Duluth transportation facilities and cheap methods of handling material is of national importance to the nation, he said, as the Great Lakes connect the European and Eastern markets with the great Northwest.New Factory Sites.
Dr. Rastall called attention to the fact that the dockage area is almost all taken up and improved, and that available areas are now being held as high as $2,000 an acre. The improvement of the river channel would open up manufacturing sites, new and cheap waterfront property. High prices for dock property mean greater investments in terminal facilities and a corresponding increase in transportation charges, Dr. Rastall said.The harbor of Duluth and Superior should be developed to its greatest advantage, he said, and the proposed government should not allow the development to stop half way at the end of the present channel.
Mr. Barden endorsed Dr. Rastall's statement and said that the proposed waterways committee of the Superior Commercial club, of which he is the chairman, is anxious that the proposed extension be made.He then presented a resolution adopted by the Real Estate exchange.
He said that he assumed the government is anxious to improve the harbors and waterways in order to make water-transportation available to all areas.
The improved dock property in Duluth-Superior harbor is greatly improved, he said, and much of it is in the hands of the railroads. Industrial obtaining sites, he said, and the government should extend the channel in order to develop the harbor to the maximum. He was reported upon at one time, with the cost of construction estimated at $7,515,000 and maintenance at $120,000. The route now proposed would be shorter, but it is said that it would be more expensive. The board of engineers is limited to the consideration of the one route via the Annilcon and the Moose, and the advocates of the canal, as a general proposition, expressed the hope this morning that if an adverse report were made on the proposed route, it be coupled with a suggestion that some other route be considered.Mr. Barden presented the argument in favor of the proposed route, saying that it was considered the most direct and the most feasible, although he had no information on its engineering difficulties. The principal argument for the canal as a general proposition was made by J. G. Armon of Stillwater, representing the St. Croix River Improvement association, the Citizens' Association of Stillwater, the Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association and the Association of Commerce of St. Paul.Mr. Armon contended for a channel eight feet deep, suitable for floating large canal barges. He read several pages of argument and statistics, setting forth that the proposed canal would connect the waters of the nation generally and give a direct water route through the heart of the continent to connect with the Panama canal.

He claimed that an annual saving of $4,500,000 in transportation costs would be possible and that electric power worth $1,000,000 annually could be developed.HOW TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEADBY A SPECIALIST.
Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair, who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless. The following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also equal for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by lay men. Buy a tin of Lavana de Composse, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm; if you wish it prepared, add half to one teaspoonful of T-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and is also safe. Do not physically harm, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.Clean-up Duckling FleeceA large collection of odd pieces and half pieces re-

Most Bad Complexions

(From Family Physician)

It is a stern fact that no truly beautiful complexion ever came out of jars or bottles, and the longer one uses cosmetics the worse the complexion becomes. Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's efflu-via. Creams and powders, clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-poisoned complexions. If they would use ordinary mercurized wax instead of cosmetics, they would have natural, healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result:
The fresher, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself.

THE CITY BALLOTS—THE VOTER'S PART.

Don't be afraid of the ballots to be used in the coming city election. They are the best arrangement yet devised for deciding the wishes of a sure majority of the voters, yet they are astonishingly simple. Also, they do away with the necessity for a primary election, with its possibilities for crossing of votes in the interests of particular candidates. Every vote cast in a preferential election such as is to be held in Duluth in April, will count, and if you exercise the preferential privilege, as you should do to insure success in the election, you will have as many votes counting as you mark crosses on the ballot.

But the ballot form is different from that with which the people have long been familiar, therefore the campaign of explanation, in spite of the simplicity of the plan, is wisely planned. During the campaign on the adoption of the commission charter, The Herald published a sample ballot to show the way the preferential ballot will operate. It is here reproduced, to help readers familiarize themselves with it. It is marked on the supposition that the men named are candidates for mayor of Duluth.

Candidate.	First Choice.	Second Choice.	Other Choices.
Chas. Clark
Chas. L. Hughes
W. J. Clapp
S. W. Aldrich
Richard Croker
Kate Nelson
Joseph W. Folk
J. M. La Follette
Woodrow Wilson
W. J. Bryan
Boies Penrose
Peter Jones
C. F. Murphy

The choice of this voter for mayor is Woodrow Wilson. If Wilson is not strong enough to get a majority of the votes, he would prefer La Follette. But if neither of these men is able to poll a majority of all the votes cast, the voter would be willing to vote for Clark, Hughes, Clapp, Nelson, Folk or Bryan. With Aldrich, Croker, Penrose and Murphy he wants nothing to do on account of their records; of Jones he knows nothing, and will take no chances.

Study this ballot carefully and you will see that by voting as he has, Mr. Voter has not only supported his own choice for office, but has cast eight votes against the five men whom he is convinced would be unfit for the place. This is due to the system of making up the tally sheets, for if no candidate receives a majority of first choice votes, all candidates have their second and first choice votes added together. If none then has a majority, the "other choice" votes are added to the first and second, and whoever receives a majority, or the greatest majority, under this combination, is declared elected.

The important thing to insure the success of the preferential system of voting is to vote your second and other choices as well as your first choice. On the ballot for mayor you are entitled to vote for one candidate as your first choice, and as many others as you please under the other columns. But in case you vote in more than one column for the same man, only the highest column vote counts.

The preferential ballot is not an experiment. It has been tried in other cities and found to be a success. If the people will use it, it is a sure safeguard against rule by special interests.

The latest thing in dresses is said to have only two hooks—by design, not by accident.

WILSON AND THE CITIES.

Some weeks ago, during the campaign that preceded the adoption of the new charter by Duluth, a correspondent of the Open Court challenged the sincerity of The Herald by asking why, since The Herald was a supporter of Woodrow Wilson, it also supported the commission plan. The writer added that Governor Wilson was opposed to commission government for cities. The Herald at that time questioned the authenticity of the report that Governor Wilson opposed the commission plan, because that plan had been endorsed by the Short Ballot league, of which the governor is president.

The matter is recalled to mind now by Governor Wilson's last message to the New Jersey legislature in which he commends the action of the legislature in making it possible for

New Jersey cities and towns to adopt the commission plan, and adds:

The path of reform in that field is unquestionably the path of greater freedom. The question of municipal government is perhaps the most serious question confronting the organization of methods of government that now confronts us as a nation. I covet for New Jersey the honor of showing the way of liberty and self-respecting reorganization.

Attention is respectfully called to the fact that the Archbald decision was reached on the 13th of the first month in 1913.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS.

Although the governor made no recommendation on the subject in his message to the legislature, a bill embodying the proposal for a pension for mothers has already been placed before that body. The plan is being urged insistently before the Wisconsin legislature, with the backing of Senator La Follette, and advocates of such a system are reported to be active in St. Paul.

There are many things to be said in favor of the pension for mothers, and, at least in any form in which a measure for enactment on that line has yet been proposed, there are many things to be said against it. The problem seems to be to find some way of framing the law so that it will not be made to cover cases in which its provisions might be taken advantage of by persons not actually entitled to such help.

It is interesting to note the manner in which Pennsylvania is attempting to accomplish the purpose of the mothers' pension without opening the door to abuses of the system.

Under the Pennsylvania plan a law enacted in 1907 is being invoked to accomplish aid for mothers. The provision reads as follows:

Whenever any indigent or dependent child shall be committed by any judge or other competent authority to the care and custody of any person or family, for the purpose of maintenance and education in the home of such person or family, such child shall be conveyed to such home by the county commissioners, sheriff or other proper officer, at the expense of the proper county, and the cost of maintenance of such child shall be paid by the proper county, but at a cost not exceeding what it would cost to maintain and educate such child in the house of refuge or other public institution of such county.

Pursuant to this act, judges are able to commit children to the care of their mothers, and the money for their support and education is paid to the mothers by the county. It accomplishes at least the good of making it possible for the child to be reared under its mother's care instead of in an institution.

There appears to be no act in force in Minnesota that would open the way to such a solution of the problem. Even the copying of the provisions of the Pennsylvania law would hardly reach Minnesota cases, for under the statutory definition in this state of a "dependent" or "delinquent" child, the parent would be barred from being chosen by the court as the person to whose care the child could be committed.

At any rate, the Pennsylvania statute and practice offer a possible solution of the problems that confront the advocates of the mothers' pension plan, and are worthy of investigation by the Minnesota legislators if they propose to take up some such measure.

You can't keep wisdom from cropping out. The Washington Star says that if Bryan is made secretary of state the administration the ablest and most consistent exponent of Bryanism in the country.

FAR ENOUGH.

After many days of apparently futile questioning, the Pujio committee succeeded in eliciting some real and valuable information from one of its witnesses when Mr. Baker admitted that there is an inner circle that has to a great extent control over money and credits.

True, Mr. Baker added that the present condition is of no particular danger to the country at large because of the benevolent disposition of the men who exercise that control. True, he admitted that it "has gone far enough." True, he declared it impossible that such control could get into unworthy hands.

The main thing remains—that there is such an inner circle, that it exercises such control. That it will not fall into unworthy hands he cannot assure us. That it is now in dangerous hands he would quickly and unqualifiedly deny. But is Mr. Baker a competent judge?

No man is qualified to pass an unbiased judgment on his own affairs. Our judicial code, our national practice, indeed human experience of all ages upholds that principle. Then how is Mr. Baker able to set up his opinion of the benevolence and good intention of the present inner circle, of which he is a member, as the final word on that subject?

Perhaps it is true that no serious damage has been done as yet by this concentration of financial power. Certainly the country has prospered under it—or in spite of it. But is it not probable—if not certain—that the prosperity would be more general, more sure of continuance, if there were some curb put on the ability of the inner few to determine who shall have more credit, and who shall have the handling of the wealth that must go into the transaction of quasi-public business?

Mr. Baker spoke at least one great truth in his testimony before the Pujio committee when he said that the concentration of control over money and credit has gone far enough. The horse still remains in its stall. The door had better be locked before the animal is quietly removed to some place where the public will be put to incalculable expense to find and recover it.

Wonder if J. Pierpont Morgan will ever see one of those new nickels?

YOU AND THE PRESIDENT.

If you had it in your power to shape the character and life of a president of the United States, what would you do?

That isn't a foolish question. Not a bit of it. Would it have been foolish to have put that proposition before the parents or teachers of Woodrow Wilson in the Presbyterian manse at Staunton, Va.? Or before the parents or teachers of any other of our presidents? And yet, how could they know that the boy whose life they were shaping would some day occupy the highest position in the gift of the American people?

Are you careless about influencing the youngsters about you in their moral and physical life? Perhaps you are planting the seeds that will one day cause sorrow or injustice to the entire nation. You cannot know. A moment of yielding to irritation can start a trend of development that will bear unwelcome fruit later on.

You may be helping to shape the thought and principles of a president or a senator or a governor. It is up to you to do your level best.

Just the same the South Pole has a right to be jealous of the North Pole. There wasn't any Dr. Cook at the south.

HISTORY BURIED AND ROTTING.

What is the present legislature going to do about the demands of the State Historical society for a suitable place for its records and accumulations?

Conditions in the present rooms of the historical society were vividly set forth in a statement issued last November, but to describe those conditions so that any person who has not visited the rooms will appreciate them is beyond human power.

Bare statements of fact appeal little to the imagination, and yet it is as well to call attention of the legislators and the people to the state's historical records as they are obliged to be handled under present conditions. Documents and pamphlets that deal with critical periods of the state's life are filed away in boxes piled one on top of another, so that access is difficult and location uncertain; volumes of historical records are stored in cases that have to be stuck away in storerooms and vaults because there is no open space where they can be kept; historical relics, specimens of natural products and articles of similar character are hidden in covered receptacles that have had to be shoved aside and piled up in order to make room for the daily work of the place.

Most of all, the newspaper files. THE ONLY ONES IN EXISTENCE WHERE COMPLETE VOLUMES OF THE STATE PRESS ARE KEPT, are distributed in drawers and closets and vaults, a prey to the natural dampness of the capitol basement, to the ravages of time and the rotting effects of foul air, under conditions that cannot help but destroy them sooner or later, besides rendering them all but useless for their chief function—that of reference.

As if these conditions were not serious enough, the historical society has been asked if it could not spare some of its already cramped quarters in the capitol so as to make room for the extension of the work of state departments. Such a move would mean simply that the only source of information regarding the complete history of our state, as well as the rich mine of reference matter in general that is in the possession of the society, would be changed from a condition under which reference work is conducted with the utmost difficulty, to one in which reference work would be impossible.

Other states have removed their historical records and libraries to buildings other than the state house. Iowa has a historical library building that cost $450,000; Kansas spent an even half million dollars for a structure for similar purposes; and our neighbor, Wisconsin, has a palatial home for its records and files that was erected at a cost of $650,000. Meanwhile Minnesota, with records, reference works and relics that are of incalculable value and that could not be replaced even with the expenditure of the wealth of the whole world, is allowing her history as told in these archives to lie buried and rotting in the basement rooms of her state capitol.

What can the legislature do to remedy this condition? What will it do?

Minnesota needs a historical library building. Some steps toward the erection of such a place, on a site convenient to the state capitol, ought to be taken at once. It is up to the legislature.

Castro and Jack Johnson ought to be able to snap some pretty good yarns—on strings in vain to get into the country and the other trying in vain to get out.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the action of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 100 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they should be addressed to the editor, with the name and address of the writer, though those need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH PRESENT ROAD?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have noticed with great interest the discussion going on lately in regard to the proposed new automobile highway from Duluth to the Twin Cities. Some are proposing a bridge across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac, while others are advocating following the river up to Carlton. Permit me to ask what is the matter with a road that would benefit the greatest number of farmers, and at the same time provide a good automobile road to Carlton and the Twin Cities, let it spend about $2,000 in graveling and improving the old road leading through the township of Midway. The grade going over the West Duluth road is a difficult one. There is only one really bad place, that at the Kingsbury creek crossing, and by building a new bridge there, the road would be made a little that could be eliminated. But if you want a still easier grade come up the new Getchell road to Proctor and thence through the townships of Midway and Thomson into Carlton. In picking out the route it is to be hoped that the road will be made in mind that there are some people living in the country between West Duluth and Carlton who would be interested in a road that would bring them to a population of about 450, while the adjoining town of Thomson has a population of about 1,000.

What Are Schools for?

Editorial in the New Orleans Picayune.

Our modern public school system requires that the child be taken out of his home, and go to school to receive to the teachers what they learned at home.

It is not too much to say that young children cannot study at home. The multiplicity of matters which engage the mind of the child, and the lack of school make studying an unmitigated drudgery and impose labor on the child that he is not capable of.

But no sooner is supper over than the mother or both must go down to the school to pick up the child. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work.

A writer in the Ladies' Home Journal for January, 1913, says: "A nation that looks over the country there is acted nightly the comedy of fathers and mothers teaching their children to read and write, and the teachers playing the detective the next morning to see how well the parents have done the work of instruction. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work."

The child in unfortunate circumstances loses interest, fails, accepts failure but he is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work. The child is not a slave, but at the time they are needed a little relaxation from the day's work.

Each Man Owns a Street Car. Stewart Edward White in Harper's Magazine: There are no horses or draft animals in Bombay; the fly is too deadly. The tiny tracks of the unique street car system run everywhere any one would wish to go, branching off even into private grounds and to the very front doors of bungalows far out of town. Each resident owns a street car, just as elsewhere a man has his own carriage. There are, of course, public cars also, each with its pair of boys to push it, and also a number of rather decrepit rickshaws. As a natural corollary to the passenger traffic, the freighting of goods is done by the black and white trucks with short guiding poles. These men are quite naked save for a small loin cloth; are stoutly built, and gleefully and unwaveringly, the most tremendous loads of the heaviest stuffs. When the hill comes, they are pushed and pulled by their backs against the truck, and by placing one foot behind the other, a few inches at a time, they edge their burden up the slope.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first regular United States statute law ever voted into the interior of Alaska was carried by James Wickersham, now the Alaska delegate to congress.

Wickersham was the first Federal judge put to work in the Alaskan interior. Up until the time he went to Fairbanks with his little legal kit under his arm, back in 1900, the law was framed and dispensed at miners' meetings. It was pretty fair law at that, and the docket was so crowded that an erring neighbor could not be tried and hung with reasonable dispatch before breakfast. There was no jangling about with insanity defenses, misplaced commas in the pleadings, and other up-to-date devices. Still, it was a rough law. So the United States sent Wickersham up to open a judicial seat and crowd out local competition.

Now, Wickersham had always regarded the judge business as a thing to be done with a certain dignity and public esteem, and he set out for Alaska with a light heart, imagining that he would be received there like a deliverer to lead the people out of the legal wilderness. But, comma, there were surprises in store for Wickersham. The first man he met was the proprietor of an old roadside hotel who had been in the interior of Alaska for twenty years or so.

"I'm to be the United States judge here," remarked Wickersham, modestly, but with judicial dignity. Then he waited for the man to speak, but the doorman with "Welcome" on it. "The devil you are!" exclaimed the man. "Well, the thing for you to do is to get right tell out of here. We don't need any of your kind. Understand? We've got a great court here, and we don't want it spoiled with lawyers and judges."

That was all the man said, but Wickersham began to feel that perhaps he wasn't welcome. Other old residents came in. Some of them men who had won recognition as arbiters in miners' meetings, and all spoke to Wickersham in similar vein, saying that if he knew what was good for him he would beat it out of there. Some of the men even threw courtesies and addressed Wickersham with actual rudeness. They couldn't fool Wickersham, though. He could tell that maybe he was not wanted there. Imagine his feelings! There he was, hundreds of miles from home, in a wild, bleak country, among strangers, and half inclined to doubt if they wanted him around. A less sturdy soul might have gone and had a good cry.

Wickersham, however, talked right back to the men. He said he had come to stay and had brought along a supply of law that would last a long time, and they might as well put up with him.

And the strange part of it was that once he had set up shop and begun to put his law on the market, nobody raised a word against the quality of his goods. They soon accepted his decisions as the only clay-worsted law to be had.

L. W. Strayer, the Washington correspondent, was hauling a friend home one evening in his automobile. "Must be nice to own one of these things," remarked the friend. "I can't stand this discrimination made in favor of machines of violence. To our nation the Herald has found one of the biggest flaws in the new law."

A few moments later the talk turned to finance and the passenger remarked that he had just invested $5,000 in some apartment house bonds.

"Get on out I tell you," he growled, a minute ago you called me names—said I was a pig—just because I have an auto costing a few hundred dollars, and here you see sneaking around buying up bonds by the thousands of dollars' worth. I hate the capitalist class and I won't have you around. Get out of here, I say."

And the friend was obliged to walk, though he was still several blocks from home.

"A lawyer friend came to me the other day laughing himself half to death over the little joke he had played," remarked Representative Cooper of Wisconsin.

"He was employed by the Pullman company to look after their interests in a small case that necessitated some traveling over the country. And here is how he played his joke. He tipped the Pullman porter $1 every time he got on a train—and put it in his expense account."

The day after George Thompson succeeded Leo McClung as treasurer of the United States, he went out to have a look at the work at counting the millions of dollars to be placed in his keeping.

"This job carries a lot of money with it," remarked a friend of Thompson. "Yes, but not nearly so much as the first job I ever had," replied the new treasurer. "When I was a young fellow, living down in Southern Ohio, I got a summer job carrying bricks in a brickyard. I was paid 50 cents a day, but got nothing until the end of three months, when the boss gave me $15—four tens and a five. It seemed to me that I had all the money I should ever need. All this money in the treasury vaults doesn't seem half as big a pile as that did."

The songs that mother sung. Go, sing the songs you cherish well, Each one and simple lay; Go, chord the notes till bosoms swell, With strains that softly play. All, all are yours to sacred keep, Your choicest treasures 'mong; But give to me till mother sleeps, The songs that mother sung.

When the dark peacen's plaintive fall across the weary way, To drown, in sighing, mournful sound, The dirge of dismal day, Then softly back lost strains will steal, From cradle anthems rung, To soothe the heart at sorrows feel, In songs that mother sung.

And when the ebb of eventide, A far across the strand, Sets out to where the billows ride, Beyond life's shifting sand, Then softly back above the roar, Of mad, mad waters flung, Oh! back, bring back to me once more, The songs my mother sung.

Author Unknown. Sure Do. Judge: As the year waxeth, good resolutions wane.

Duluth and The Herald

Requents and Brackets from the State Press.

Advice to the Court. Coleraine Optic: A Duluth man wants a divorce because his wife talks too much. We admonish the judge not to grant the decree; it would establish a dangerous precedent and swamp the courts taking care of the applicants.

Demand in Duluth. Detroit Record: Duluth used up $5,000 worth of parcel post stamps in three days, necessitating a wire to Washington for an additional supply. The receipts for the third day were over $900 worth of business, showing a decided increase over the first two days. In all probability the rules and regulations governing the parcel post system will need much revision within the very near future. Indeed, the postmaster general has admitted that some experimenting will be necessary before the system can be got to running smoothly.

A Strange Condition. Breckenridge Gazette: The Duluth Herald, in an editorial heading, asked: "Where is the Good of It?" in referring to the lag farm, which has lately been opened for the cure of inebriates. The Herald states that for several years St. Louis county has been paying 2 per cent of all liquor licenses collected for the maintenance of the "farm," and the very first patent committed to the "farm" from that county has been rejected the only excuse given by the board of control was that there was no room for him. It seems that this institution will be about as hard to break into as it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. Those who are able to pay for their keep will get all the preference, whereas every one thought this was to be a state institution for the cure of inebriates, rich or poor, at the expense of the state, and not a self-supporting institution. Why this donation of 2 per cent from all liquor licenses collected from each county if the place is to be filled with rich patients?

A Needed Reform. Laporte News: Mr. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club, is advocating government ownership of the terminal facilities at both Duluth and Buffalo. It is a known fact that, although the rate on certain commodities has been reduced, the freight charges have been maintained by the terminal charges being increased. It is about time that monopoly was taken out of the hands of the railroads and the people given the advantage of cheap water transportation.

Duluth Will Not. Laverne Herald: A man froze to death in San Francisco Tuesday. Duluth will have to look after her laurels.

Two Ever Thus. Madison Western Guard: The Duluth Herald of last Friday contained a lengthy editorial on "The first signs of spring." The editorial went out of sight at once. We were afraid some one would get funny and spoil our summer weather.

Flaw in the Law. Sandstone Tribune: The Duluth Herald rightly asks why the remedy is not mailed by parcel post while books, implements for the diffusion of intelligence, are barred. They further ask why this discrimination is made in favor of machines of violence. To our nation the Herald has found one of the biggest flaws in the new law.

Duluth Is Generous. Austin Transcript: The Duluth post-office sent out 1,500 sacks of Christmas mail and received for local distribution only 976. Is this on the belief that it is more likely to give than to receive? Evidently the recipients reversed this rule.

Tell Her So. Amid the cares of married life, in spite of toil and business strife, if you value your sweet wife, Tell her so.

Prove to her you don't forget The bond to which your zeal is set; She's life's sweet and sweetest yet— Tell her so!

When days are dark and deeply blue, She has her troubles, same as you; Show her that your love is true— Tell her so!

In former days you praised her style, And spent much care to win her smile; 'Tis just as well now worth your while— Tell her so!

There was a time when you thought it bliss To get the favor of one kiss; A dozen now won't come amiss— Tell her so!

Your love for her is no mistake— You feel it dreaming or awake— Don't conceal it; for her sake— Tell her so!

You'll never know what you have won, If you make love a game of wits; Lips means more than to be kissed— Tell her so!

Don't act as if she'd passed her prime, As though to please her was a crime; If e'er you loved her, now's the time— Tell her so!

She'll return for each caress A hundredfold of tenderness; Hearts like hers are made to bless! Tell her so!

You are hers, and hers alone— We'll know she's all your own; Or break the steering gear and deal— Tell her so!

Never let her heart grow cold— Richer beauties will unfold; She is worth her weight in gold! Tell her so!

morning of meetings of both committees to be held this afternoon. The plan probably will be to appoint sub-committees in each branch, consisting of one member from each congressional district and the chairman of the main committee—ten in all—to take up the work of framing a fair reapportionment bill based on the constitutional requirement of representation according to population.

These sub-committees will in all probability work together in framing the proposed bill.

With so much of the preliminary work completed by the house reapportionment committee of two years ago, of which Chester A. Congdon of Duluth was chairman, the work of framing the bill on which the fight is to be made ought not to be difficult. All this material, thanks to Mr. Congdon, is in the hands of the new committee chairman, and it will prove invaluable.

Bill Within Two Weeks.

Expectations are one thing and results are another, but at this writing it seems altogether probable that a completed bill will be before the house—where it is proposed to act first—within two weeks, and that the reapportionment bill will be through that body by Feb. 1.

Upon its return from the committee the bill naturally would go on the calendar to be considered in committee of the whole house, and if approved there it would go on the calendar to be considered by the house and passed or rejected.

To shorten the time required to act upon this bill in the ordinary procedure, a motion undoubtedly will be made and probably be carried to make it a special order for a definite date.

No trouble whatever is anticipated in putting a fair bill through the house, and at present there are no signs of serious trouble in the senate, though as the case was two years ago, the senate is the seat of greatest doubt.

However, some of those strongest in their opposition to reapportionment two years ago have definitely pledged themselves to support a fair reapportionment bill at this season. This is particularly true of the Democratic senators who opposed reapportionment in 1911.

Reapportioning St. Louis County.

The St. Louis county delegation yesterday afternoon practically agreed on the redistricting of St. Louis county as outlined in these reports yesterday. There was opposition from three members to the plan of doing away with the so-called "shoe-string" districts which tied the iron ranges up with Duluth, but Senator Fuchs's motion to leave the St. Louis, Lake and Cook county districts as they were two years ago was voted down 6 to 3, and the minority gracefully submitted to the will of the majority.

While practically the only thing definitely agreed upon by the delegation yesterday was the setting apart of two of the five districts to the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges, with the east and west line, as stated yesterday, the line between townships 36 and 37, little change will be made in any of the districts. The iron range members, Senator Boyle and Representative Knapp and Healy, will divide their two districts as they please, and the Duluth and Lake county members, Senators Pugh and Chevalier and Representatives Ribenack, Borgen, Warner and Hillman, will get together on the boundaries of the three lower districts. It will be found hard to improve on the tentative plan outlined yesterday, however, and no important changes will be made.

Representative Borgen wants to have the townships of Rice Lake and Canby added to the proposed district which includes the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards of Duluth; but as any change will unbalance the proposed division of population between the five districts, it is highly improbable that any change will be made.

There was little dispute over the plan to eliminate the so-called "shoe-string" districts, which formed a part of the basis for the fight against reapportionment in the senate two years ago. Some of the Duluth members thought that harmony and co-operation between Duluth and the ranges would best be subserved by making them parts of the same senatorial and representative districts; but the range members pointed out convincingly that because of the dissatisfaction on the ranges with the idea of being fastened to Duluth, if the people of the ranges were given their own districts, as they desire.

In the range districts the principal point at issue is the fate of Virginia. The proposed division line—that between ranges 17 and 18—leaves the Western Mesaba district too high in population and the Eastern Mesaba and Vermilion range district too high. If Virginia is taken from the eastern district and added to the western, it makes the balance nearer, but still slightly unequal. The range members will decide within a day or two how they will arrange the districts.

The Proposed Division.

The five proposed districts, as generally outlined yesterday and subject to whatever changes the members may decide to make, would be as follows:

Fifty-third district—Seventh and eighth wards of Duluth, population, 25,582; Precinct, Midway, Herman, Canosa, Fredenberg, Colvin, Solway, Grand Lake, Cotton, Industrial, New Independence, Northland, Fond du Lac Indian reservation, Brookston, Culver, Albion, Meadowlands, Kelsey, McDevitt, Lavell, Prairie Lake and Five Lakes. Floodwood village and township, Van Buren, Halden, Cedar Valley, townships 53, 54 and 55, range 18; townships 55 and 56, range 16; townships 55 and 56, range 17; township 55, range 18; townships 51 and 52, range 19; townships 53 and 54, range 20; townships 52, 54, 55 and 56, range 21; population, 16,847; total population, 36,429.

Fifty-fourth district—Iron Junction, Clinton, Eveleth, Costin, Mountain Iron, Nichols, Angora, Fish, Beatty, Bohn, Great Scott, Alango, Leding, Chisholm, Fern, Sturgeon, Lindau Grove, Elmberg, Stuntz, French, Moscow, townships 59, 60, 65, 66, 69 and 70, range 18, west half of Buoyek, townships 59, 60, 67, 69 and 70, range 19; townships 59, 60, 67, 69, 70 and 71, range 21; population, 38,100.

Fifty-fifth district—Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards of Duluth, population, 22,577; Rice Lake, Green, Lakewood, Nominan, Ault, Duluth, townships 54, range 13; township 54, range 14; population, 21,854; Lake and Cook county, population, 5,247; total population, 32,235.

St. Louis County Measures.

The St. Louis county delegation decided to grant the request of Judge Proctor, St. Louis, for $700 additional clerk hire for his office for the year 1913, and for himself and assistant in his official iron range trips.

The request of County Attorney Warren E. Greene for an additional assistant at $1,200 a year to appear before municipal, justice, county, and probate courts, was also granted, though approved by the sub-committee that had the bill under consideration. It was laid over for further consideration, which will be heard at the next meeting of the delegation, which will be next Tuesday evening at 7:30. There was no division on the question of allowing him $200 additional yearly for stenographic work.

A communication was received from the Duluth Humane society to have its allowance from the county increased, subject to the approval of the county board, from $1,200 a year to $2,000, which was laid over for further consideration, though it was favorably discussed.

Italy and Knapp prepared a bill providing for a building and laboratory at Hibbing in charge of the state forces in charge of the house the state forces in charge of the state mines on the iron ranges, carrying an appropriation of $5,000. A similar bill two years ago passed the senate, but was too late to receive favorable consideration in the house. The delegation will support it.

A communication was received from Mrs. H. V. Eya, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, conveying the body's endorsement of a resolution protesting against the exemption from taxation of the land owned by the state for speculative purposes, and urging either that they be taxed for road and school purposes or that the legislature provide aid for roads in Northern Minnesota equivalent to such taxation.

Courtesy Dinwiddie, secretary of the Duluth board of public welfare, appeared before the delegation in behalf of three measures introduced by the board. The measure for a legislative reference bureau, having already been referred to the committee on legislation, will be supported by the delegation. Approval was also given to a measure proposing stricter regulation of midwives. Mr. Dinwiddie said that the board of public welfare, which had found instances where midwives had solicited abortion cases, and other instances where midwives were practicing under state licenses, though they had inadequate training. The proposed bill supplements the present law by having a local clerk on these people, and requires that before any midwife's license can be renewed she must secure the approval of the local health officer.

As to the measure amending the law to permit the operation of provident loan associations such as Duluth proposes to create, Mr. Dinwiddie said that experience has shown that small loan business cannot be operated on a 10 per cent basis—10 per cent being the legal limit on interest.

There is need, he said, of some provision for poor people who have no provision for them except the loan sharks who charge from 125 to 200 per cent and even more. He mentioned the instance of a woman who had borrowed $25 on her sewing machine, and after paying $40 still owed heavily in debt. Mr. Dinwiddie said that interest of 2 per cent a month on loans of $100 should be allowed, which the bill provides.

A copy of the proposed measure can be sent to County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who has been much interested in this problem, and who will suggest such changes as he deems proper. The bill will have the delegation's approval and will be introduced as soon as it is ready.

Mortgage Registry Tax.

Representative Anton-Borgen of Duluth, who yesterday introduced a bill repealing the mortgage registry tax in the interests of the borrower—especially the poor borrower.

"My experience has been," he said, "that in almost every case the tax is imposed by the lender on the borrower, though the intent of the law was to tax the mortgagee alone. While the mortgage registry tax produces considerable revenue, it is a wrong policy to penalize the borrower, who is either needy or proposes to put the money he borrows to productive uses. The law taxing money and credits, as they should be, a revenue will be produced but the poor borrower will not have to provide it."

The special senate committee on workingmen's longshoremen appointed two years ago, held a meeting last night for a further hearing of those who have made it their duty to make the demands of the labor interests. The committee is in a local article in The Herald Monday evening. A final meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday.

P. Boyle of Eveleth is a member, will be held soon preparatory to the introduction of a bill on which the main fight for legislation on this important point will be waged.

Ferman Wilson, editor of the Bemidji Sentinel and one of the best known Northern Minnesota newspapermen, was yesterday appointed clerk of the house committee on reapportionment.

Howard Folsom of Sandstone, also well known to newspaper men, was appointed committee clerk in the house by Speaker Rines.

TRAVELOGUE AT Y. M. C. A. "POP"

A large audience crowded the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening to attend the illustrated lecture on what is to be seen in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland, given by M. E. Rice, Dr. Rice exhibited a large collection of slides obtained during his recent trip abroad, having them cast on a screen with a stereoscope while he discussed and explained them in a manner that held the interest of his audience. Many humorous anecdotes.

Dr. Rice was the principal feature of the regular Tuesday evening popular entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. The program also included several selections by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra.

Dr. Rice has also quite a collection of views he obtained in Eastern Europe and the Orient, and the "pop" committee plans to have him exhibit with another lecture on some other Tuesday evening.

COURSE FOR SALESMEN

Employees of Duluth Stores Will Hear Series of Lectures.

100 Enroll at First Meeting
—Hear Talk By R. S. Butler.

As one result of a meeting at the Commercial club last evening, a class in salesmanship will be conducted in Duluth, beginning Wednesday evening, Jan. 22. About 100 were enrolled last evening and an additional 100 are expected to enroll before the course begins.

The meeting last night was held under the auspices of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association, and J. S. Butler, head of the business work of the extension department of the University of Wisconsin, was the principal speaker.

A general invitation to all interested in salesmanship had been extended and the gathering was one of the largest held at the Commercial club in many years. Merchants, managers, department chiefs and salespeople made up the crowd, which completely filled the large assembly room.

The Retail Merchants' association, presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers. In introducing Mr. Butler, Mr. Moe told of the business experience of the Wisconsin man and introduced him as a practical expert in salesmanship as well as an instructor.

Mr. Butler spoke on salesmanship as an art that may be acquired by application and study. The salesman or saleswoman must have a certain amount of ability and be equipped with energy and ambition in starting, but the real art of salesmanship comes only by patient work and attention to duty, he said. A store is marked by the quality of salesmanship exhibited by its employees, he said, and the salesman or saleswoman is marked by ability to sell goods and to make and hold friends for the store. He spoke of the broader effect of good salesmanship on the city as a whole, and said that the city with a good quality of salesmanship in its stores commands the trade of the surrounding country.

Mr. Butler was followed by Bentley R. Neff, who spoke on the effect of improvement in salesmanship would have on the stores and the clerks as well. J. P. O'Connor, in charge of the university extension work in Superior, told of the effect of the salesmanship course in other cities and in his opinion that it would be a great thing for Duluth.

The salesmanship course will be under the direct charge of James W. Fliske, sales manager of the J. W. Wells Hardware company, and the lessons will be furnished by the extension department of the University of Wisconsin. The course consists of six lessons and the class will meet on six successive Wednesday evenings at the Commercial club. The members of the class will have the privilege of sending their papers direct to the university for correction. The meeting last evening was followed by a informal social gathering. Refreshments were served by the Commercial club and the salespeople and merchants spent the time in informal discussion.

"We believe that there is room for improvement in the retail salesmanship in Duluth and that the course we have arranged for will benefit not only the people who take it and the stores, but the whole city," said J. P. O'Connor, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, this morning. "The course is an excellent one and the merchants are looking forward to very beneficial results."

Having money in the bank will not save Oscar Delta from spending a month in the county jail.

Oscar was convicted in police court yesterday afternoon of having carried a concealed weapon, a loaded revolver, for which offense he was handed a straight sentence of thirty days in the county jail.

Oscar appeared to be under the impression that the whole affair was a joke. While the evidence was being submitted he smiled and grinned and was highly amused at the story of his performance with the smoke wagon. But he smiled on the other side of his face when it finally percolated to his understanding that he would be deprived of liberty for thirty whole days.

Oscar didn't want to go to the iron-barred residence over the hill. He said so very plainly. He expostulated strenuously but to no avail. Oscar wanted to pay a fine, but there was nothing doing. He explained that he has over $400 in the bank and couldn't go to jail. But to jail he went and in jail he will probably stay until his time is up.

The evidence showed that he had entered several places and threatened people with his revolver. In one of them he spent a couple of dollars and then got his money back by using the gun as an argument.

The court declared that carrying loaded revolvers is not a trivial offense and that severe punishment would be meted out to those who are caught with them on their persons.

Julius Lang is back in Duluth again, and just as surely as he came back he landed in the bull pen. Julius gives his occupation as a barber, but the police state that he is a better sponger of drinks and free lunches than he is a tonsorial artist. For several years he was a police character. Then he disappeared and was not seen until several days ago. Last night he was sent in for vagrancy. In police court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and got $20 and costs or twenty days in the county jail. He explained that he was in Minneapolis a short while ago and that some one made him a present of $3 and a bottle of whiskey if he would make himself scarce. Which he evidently did by making himself numerous in Duluth.

George Power, 27 years old, and John Ryan, a laborer, were arrested last night on a charge of having stolen a grip from a second hand store on the Bowery. They were arrested by Patrolman Harding with the grip in their possession. They denied the guilt this morning and will be tried this afternoon.

Alex Lahli had too much money when he was released on bail last night after having been arrested for being drunk. He went right out and got drunk again. This morning when he appeared he was still lugging a package which should have been carried in two loads and his case was put over until this afternoon. Alex had $120 on him when he was searched at the station last evening. Part of his wealth had been concealed in his sock.

Pat Murphy, bartender in the saloon of 220 St. Croix avenue, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday to having sold liquor to a minor. He paid a fine of $100. Murphy dished out beer to Remington Taylor who was arrested for having stolen $10 from a foreigner who was drinking at the same place.

No More Gray Hair

Try This Simple Home Made Preparation on the Whitened Locks.

"Silver Threads" may be capable of inspiring the song writers, but they are anything but inspiring to men and women who find them coming in their own locks, thus announcing the approach of age. These "Footprints of Time," however, may be readily covered up by using a simple, inexpensive formula which can be prepared privately in your own home. You can get from any druggist at little cost an ounce of bay rum, a half ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound; then dissolve the Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water, add the other two ingredients and you will have a preparation that cannot be excelled for darkening gray hair, removing dandruff, correcting humors of the scalp and invigorating the hair follicles. It does not make the hair sticky, does not rub off or color the scalp. It is equally as good to darken the beard as the hair. There is no other ingredient that can take the place of Barbo Compound in this recipe, so if your druggist is out of it ask him to order it from his wholesaler for you.

Adam Musto, refuses to work and persists upon hanging about saloons peddling drinks wherever he can. This morning he admitted that he is a vagrant and got $20 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

Axel Hendricksen and Rudolph Larson failed to convince the court yesterday that they have visible means of support and each got $15 and costs or twenty days for vagrancy.

The police have been asked to locate Jimmie Harry and Dave Stewart, supposed to live in Duluth. It is stated that their brother, Bob, is dangerously ill at Handette, Minn. The letter states that Harry has a lively stable here. No Harry Stewart is in that business here now and the one who had a lively stable some years ago has removed to the West.

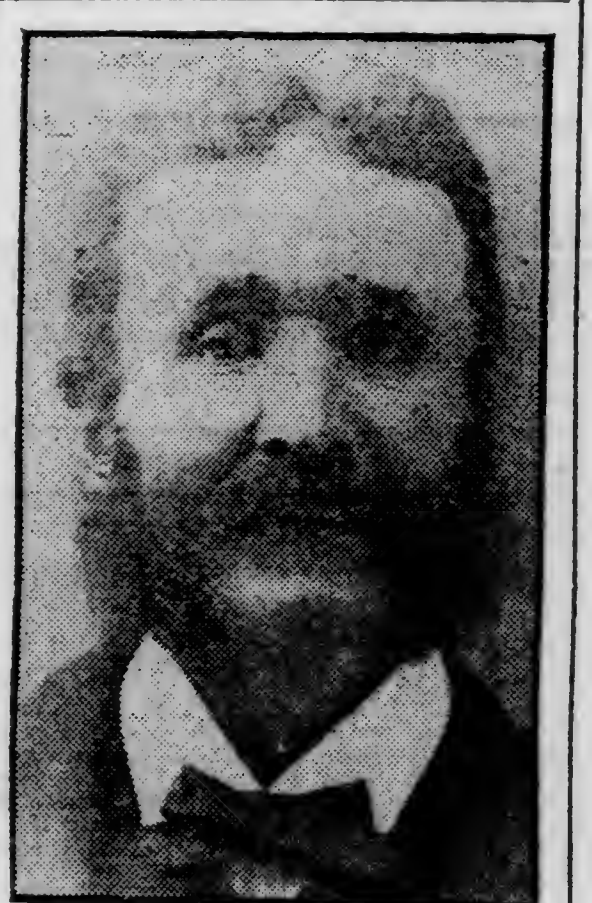

Lodgers continue to be scarce at the police station, but five being accommodated last night. Perhaps the fact that the remodeling operations make the hall pen unsightly and chilly has something to do with its present unpopularity.

GRAND JURY HAS NOT YET REPORTED
Brakeman Is Suing Northern Pacific Railroad for $15,000.

The grand jury, in the present term of United States court, up to 2 o'clock this afternoon had not made a report, but it is expected that some indictments will be returned before the day is out.

This morning the damage suit of Charles W. Ketcham against the Northern Pacific Railway company was taken up and a jury drawn. This afternoon the plaintiff was on the stand and charged that on Nov. 12, while Ketcham was acting as brakeman on the Northern Pacific train on a run between Northtown and Staples he jumped on the side sill steps of the freight train on which he was working at Big Lake and the step broke. He was thrown off the train by the accident and struck his back on a mile post and the train was passing, permanently injuring him. It is alleged. He asks damages to the extent of $15,150.

Letters received from F. S. Kelly and E. H. Whelan of the Kelly Furniture company indicate that they are buying the largest stock of furniture ever shipped to any one store in Duluth, for their new building at 17 and 19 West Superior street. This firm reports business for the past year the largest in its history, and it is the intention of the firm to give the people of Duluth and vicinity the most complete and up-to-date furniture emporium in the Northwest when they move into the new commodious building erected for them. Several carloads of furniture purchased before the January advance in prices are being placed at the new building, and it is the intention of the firm to move within the next week. The store has conducted a clearance sale to reduce the stock during the past two months, which will end when they move.

Beautiful hair and lots of it—if you use Crystolis

Here's good news at last for men and women whose hair is falling, who are growing bald and who want to keep their hair as it is. Crystolis is the only hair grower found at last. It is a discovery of the great English discovery, Crystolis, the new hair remedy that has been called the most wonderful discovery of the century, having been awarded gold medals at the big Paris and Brussels Expositions.

Already, since the American right to sell hundreds of men and women have written us to tell of phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for years now have hair growing on their heads. Others who have had thinning hair all their lives say they have now a clean, healthy scalp and that hair stopped falling after a few applications of this wonderful hair treatment.

We don't care whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, matted hair or itching scalp, dandruff, itching scalp, or any of the forms of hair trouble, you want you to try "Crystolis" at our risk.

We give you a bleeding guarantee without any strings or red tape, that if we don't prove to you that "Crystolis" will do all we claim for it, and what's important, we have plenty of money to back our guarantee. Cut out the coupon below and mail it today to Crystolis Laboratories, 170 N. Street, Birmingham, N. Y.

ODD RELICS IN OLD GRAND PIANO

Instrument Is Dissected in Music Store After Three Generations of Use in Prominent Duluth Family.

Undoubtedly the old grand piano which came into the store of a local piano company yesterday could tell many an interesting story if it could but talk.

For years it occupied the place of honor in the home of one of Duluth's substantial families, has seen one generation pass away, another grow to manhood and the third enter upon its school days. More than one betrothal has been sealed in the magic of its sparkling, campaigns innumerable, financial and political, have been plotted in its presence and many a tale of love and adventure have had their origin in its hearing.

But now it is old and worn and battered and scratched. It has outlived its usefulness for the handsome new home which has been erected by the offspring of those who laid the foundations of their wealth while it was the most luxurious piece of furniture under their roof. A new instrument, more massive, more expensive and considered more in harmony with the rich new furnishings of the new home, has been secured to replace it and the old grand was traded and several days ago men from the van company carted it away from its position of state in the home which it had graced for several decades.

Could the aged piano voice its protests they would be heard above the egotistic boasting of the newer instruments. For it is far from having outlived its days of usefulness; it is only the shell surrounding it which has assumed the appearance of age from the years of use to which it has been subjected. And the workmen know that it is scarcely past the prime of its life. Yesterday they wheeled it, creaking its discontent at having been neglected for even such a short time, into the workshop at the rear.

Many odd relics. There a process of dissection was started. The outer boards were removed to expose the interior, and a most remarkable collection was brought to view, the accumulations of years it had been in the Duluth home. One find alone gives any indication of its age. That was two theater tickets for the Lyceum, dated 1892. One can imagine how the owners hunted for them in vain, first through every pocket and then through drawers and under tables and in every other conceivable place, finally having to give up in despair. Who would have thought to look inside the handsome grand piano, standing so innocently all the while in plain sight? There the same tickets lay, and they were found, a pair of pennies, a top, a couple of dimes, an eraser and four pencils.

Each of them could tell a story of the life of the old grand piano. They were all removed and placed in a box. The old piano is being thoroughly overhauled and it will likely be many weeks before it will again occupy a place of honor in another and less humble Duluth home.

Unless you are willing that people shall CHANCE to come to your store, you must advertise.

Four Organizations Discussing Subjects at Fargo Tri-State Meet.

President Worst's Annual Address Feature of Evening Program.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the third day of the Tri-State Grain & Stock Growers' convention, and there is a program being carried on at the same time in two halls and the Woman's Auxiliary and the Farm Management association are also having special and separate programs.

At the Grand theater this morning the first address was on the Distribution of Farm Crops by Prof. Carl Thompson of the department of rural economics at the University of Minnesota.

"Daily Progress in North Dakota" by R. E. Flint, state dairy commissioner, followed.

"Livestock on the Farm" was ably handled by Prof. Thomas Shaw, the veteran agricultural writer and lecturer of St. Paul. Mr. Shaw's intimate knowledge of his subject gave the audience a treat.

"Planting Windbreaks for Protection of Crops" was discussed by C. A. Chiberg of Hankinson, who showed how the trees along the south end of the farm would prevent damage by hot winds, by forcing the hot currents into the air.

"The Greatest Educational Need" was the subject chosen by W. L. Stockwell, former state superintendent of public instruction.

The afternoon program at the Grand provided for addresses by G. M. Robinson of the Duluth Herald, J. A. Storer, head of the domestic science department at the agricultural college, Minn., and the feature of the evening will be the annual address by President Worst of the "Farmers' Need of Practical Instruction in Poultry Raising." G. M. Walters, manager of the big poultry ranch at Marion, this state, and closing with an address by A. E. Chamberlain, development agent of the Great Northern, on "Relation of Farming Methods to the Land Problem."

While the work was in progress in the Grand theater another session was being held in Puley hall to accommodate the overflow. The visitors had an opportunity to study both programs and subjects of the greatest interest.

Over the tickets will be held a joint session at the Grand theater. Following a concert by the cadet band of the agricultural college, Minn., a Storer, head of the domestic science department at the agricultural college, Minn., and the feature of the evening will be the annual address by President Worst of the "Farmers' Need of Practical Instruction in Poultry Raising." G. M. Walters, manager of the big poultry ranch at Marion, this state, and closing with an address by A. E. RESIGNED AS REGENT TO ENTER LEGISLATURE

GLOTFELTER IS NOT CANDIDATE

Will Not Seek Further Honors From Minnesota Agricultural Society.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With three days remaining before the election of officers, interest in the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the Minnesota State Agricultural society centers in who will be chosen as president to succeed C. W. Gloftel, who, it is said, will not be a candidate. Among those mentioned as candidates for the position are Frank Millard, of the "Farmers' Journal" of Carleton county, and Asher Murray of Wadena county.

The principal address today was that of Dr. J. H. Williams of New York, who spoke on livestock breeding.

HE KNOWS NO GOD.

Objects to Clause in Express Company's Contract as to Liability.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 15.—Objecting to the use of the word "God" in the contract which patrons of the express company are required to sign, H. Strickler, who has commanded the attention of the authorities by his action, wrote to Agent Linhart, of the Northern express company, asking that his grips be sent to Cedar Rapids, Minn., for the purpose of having the "interior of the grips" repainted, and providing for the safe passage of express, except accidents caused by the "interior of God." This Strickler objects to, claiming that he knows no "God," but that he knows the express company's man's grips are at one of the local hotels.

Leeds, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Victor Wardrobe of Leeds, N. D., has resigned his position as a member of the university board of regents to take his seat in the North Dakota house of representatives. He was the first alumnus of the institution to have membership on the board of regents.

La May was writing on the ground, having been injured in this same manner as Frudell, but he will recover.

SCHOOL OF CARP CLOG WATERWHEEL.

West Salem, Wis., Jan. 15.—The low water in the Keshonah river was responsible for a great catch of fish by the school of carp clog waterwheel, owned by Dr. Swartout. A large school of carp hunting for deep water were drawn into the chute and held there. The mill suspended operations until the carp could be bled. Five hundred and thirty-five pounds of live carp were turned out. Those who cared for and the remainder, over 400 pounds, were bought by Henry Chas. and sold in his market.

I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove That You Are Curable

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to go to the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Franklynott will not send you a so-called "sample," proof or test treatment. I will send you a package of medicine and say that you can use some of it and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is indicated, as it is not a "cure-all," and I give herewith some of the latest and most reliable symptoms you need this medicine, and I will be glad to send you some of it if you will write me the numbers of your symptoms, and a description in your own words, and that you take the medicine according to the directions in your own words, and that you get the medicine from my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison.

It strengthens the bladder so that frequent urination, the urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatism and makes the joints straighten out. It reconstructs the blood and nerves so that you soon feel better and have energy throughout the system. All this and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely vouched for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can save their time and a few minutes each day for

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1.—Pain in the back.
- 2.—Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3.—Burning or obstruction of urine.
- 4.—Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 5.—Prostatic trouble.
- 6.—Pain or soreness in the stomach.

SOME OF THE "COLDEST JOBS IN DULUTH" WHEN THE MERCURY REGISTERS TWENTY BELOW ZERO

The Traffic Cop Has a Chilly Job.

Who's got the coldest job in Duluth? "I have," says pretty nearly everybody who works outdoors.

Take the policeman who stands at the corner of Third avenue west and Superior street regulating the traffic at the busiest and most dangerous intersection in Duluth. From morning until night he is confined to the four crossings and most of the time to the center of the street. In the cold days of the winter it's certainly a chilly proposition. He's dressed for the job, but so is everybody else who works outdoors. All he can do to warm up is to do a bit of a shuffle and flap his arms.

"It's the coldest job in town," declares the traffic policeman. Now the postman has to be out in all kinds of weather every day of the year except Sunday. He says that he's always got a good-sized bundle of letters, papers and packages to carry, and that he's got to cover miles of ground, up hill and down, drifts or no drifts, and that it's certainly a tough proposition.

If anybody's got a colder job in town than mine I'd like to know it," declares the postman.

The delivery boy, or man, rails against the fates which compel him to be outside during the days when the mercury is trying its best to smuggle down into the bottom of the tube. He points out that he's got to ride up on the seat where the wind gets a full swipe at him and hasn't a chance to do anything but take it. He asserts that he has to make time and so can't get out and trot behind the sleigh.

"Anybody who's got a colder job than mine has got to show me," declares the delivery man.

The brackie who is switching down in the yards says that when it comes to being cold the other jobs are not in it with his. "The rest have all got a pipe alongside of me," he says.

The lineman who perches up at the tops of telegraph poles feels like fighting when anybody intimates that his job is not colder than his in creation. And so does the laborer who carries his daily bread with pick and shovel.

The Delivery Man's Job Is a Cold One Because He Gets Little Exercise.

Track-walkers and section crews do not know whether to laugh or cuss at any one who has the impudence to imply that anybody on earth has a colder job than theirs.

The fishermen who face old Lake Superior to take out herring and trout are not here to take for themselves. They are still out in their skirts and dories and little gasoline boats or small steam tugs along the bleak shores.

Has anybody on land got a colder job than the fishermen out on Lake Superior, where there isn't a stump to break the sweep of the wind, where the water turns to ice when it splashes on their clothes, where there isn't a side at a time, where frequently they can't even see a Highland fling or an imitation of one, or start the blood pumping through their bodies?

The odds would be in favor of the fishermen if they were here to say, "If anybody on earth, outside the Arctic has got a colder job than us, show us and we'll take a jump in the lake."

will be widely extended. The bureau has made tests showing how electric motors should be housed to render safer their operation in gaseous coal mines. It has shown that explosive mixtures of mine gases may be ignited by the breaking of an electric light bulb.

The director dwells on the necessity of trying to prevent explosions rather than check them after they are started. In this connection he calls attention to the fact that there has been a revolution in the use of explosives in coal mining, and the work of the bureau "in investigating explosives has also a value far greater than the entire cost of maintaining the bureau since its establishment." He says that now more than 15,000,000 pounds a year

DEMAND THAT JOSEPH ETTOR BE PROSECUTED

New York, Jan. 15.—Demand for the prosecution of Joseph J. Ettor, the labor leader, under the section of the penal code relating to acts "endangering the public peace, was made upon District Attorney Whitman by Charles J. Campbell, counsel for the New York Hotel Men's association. Campbell complained that Ettor's quoted remarks before the striking hotel waiters last week, was a violation of the statement, advising the waiters that if they were forced to go back on unacceptable terms, to go back with their minds made up "that it is the unselfish thing in the world for the capitalists to eat food prepared by members of your union."

SOME FALLING OFF IN ARMY ENLISTMENTS.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Although complete figures are not available, preliminary tables compiled at the office of the adjutant general of the army indicate a considerable falling off in enlistments and re-enlistments of recruits under the new law which lengthens the term of service. Under the present law, recruits are enlisted for seven years, of which four years are to be spent with the colors and the remaining three years in reserve. Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff of the army, who favors the establishment of an army reserve by requiring a brief period of service, with the colors, to be followed by the transfer of enlisted men to the reserve, points out that the large average shortage of 6,329 or 7.5 per cent in the enlisted strength of the army, indicates very clearly the difficulty which has been experienced in finding suitable recruits even under the three-year period of enlistment, which was in force up to Nov. 1, last.

Strength, Nerve Force Show In Men's Eyes

This, reader, applies to you. It means I am here hinting at a marvelous power or force which you can easily avail yourself of and which might mean for you all the difference between future years of health, strength, building, vitality, or future years of ill-health and debility. Please use the free coupon below.

In seeking to you of this great mysterious power I care not what your years may be, whether you are young, middle-aged or elderly. I care not what in the past may have caused your loss of strength and loss of nerve force. Your new method I can quickly re-energize your blood and organize with new nerve force. I should like to make you strong again, put new courage and health into the flesh of your eyes; make you feel young, capable, ambitious and keep you feeling young in a life, vigorous and alert. The secret of new strength is not found in medicine or drug stimulants.

I have evolved a simple, drugless method for the self-treatment of lost strength which the world. It is a QUICK and PERMANENT natural restorative.

Here is the simple modus operandi:

Apply the method tonight while you sleep. Awaken tomorrow "feeling fine." All pains in back gone. 10 to 15 days, complete restoration of lost strength should result.

That is all there is to it; no drugs, no medicines, no stimulants to rub on, no rules for diet or exercise, no hardships of any kind. Absolutely nothing that is not perfectly easy for you to use and follow. One guarantee and one promise only I want: you must lead a DECENT life during treatment and thereafter, otherwise your strength cannot be properly or permanently restored.

I can only afford to pay for enough space in this paper to hint at what my method is, but as soon as I receive the coupon below from you I will send you my 86-page illustrated book which contains a lot of private information for men but with the full story of my wonderful discovery, what it is, where you may get it and how it is to be used.

Thousands are taking advantage of this method today for the restoration of lost strength. Not only that, but when the method is applied in a certain way it is a specific treatment for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders and general ill health. It puts energy, strength and vigor into your whole body. Your eyes sparkle with new power.

Down in at my office, if it is near this city, that I may give you a practical demonstration of what the method will do. You can test it yourself and see. Hours 9 to 6; Sundays 10 to 1. Please write or call today.

86-Page Man's Book Sent FREE To You

My 86-page beautifully illustrated book, giving much information of a personal nature (and fully explaining my new treatment), will be sent to you by mail, absolutely free of charge, in a plain, sealed envelope as soon as I receive the coupon below. There are several chapters in this book which ANY MAN, young or old, single or married, should read and can profit by to the end of his life. Please write today, or if living nearby, call it. Persons and have a free demonstration of the treatment. Hours, 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

MORTALITY DECREASED

Good Results of Government's Work in Coal Mining Fields.
Mine Rescue and First Aid Work Should Be Extended.

Washington, Jan. 15.—One minor's life is snuffed out with every 133,000 tons of coal mined in the United States. In 1907, when the Federal bureau of mines was beginning its work the ratio was greater: One life was given with every 144,000 tons. Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States bureau of mines, in his annual report to Secretary Fisher, attributes the decrease in the mortality to the Federal government's work in the mining fields, and points out how the enormous death list may be still further reduced.

While much remains to be done, including a broad extension of the investigation of accident and rescue work so that it will include metal and other mineral mines as well as coal mines. Dr. Holmes shows that whereas there was an average of 6.23 men killed for every 1,000,000 tons of coal mined in 1907, this number decreased steadily to 6.05 in 1908, to 5.79 the next year, 5.66 in 1910 and 5.45 in the calendar year 1911. The figures for the year just closed, it is estimated, will show further decrease in the death rate.

The death rate in the metal mines of the country is nearly as high, he declares, as in the coal fields, averaging more than three men per 1,000 employed; the death rate in the quarries is larger than that in foreign quarries, and the same is true in metallurgical plants. He recommends, therefore, that the bureau be given money to carry its mine-accident investigation into these other fields in larger measure than the limited appropriations so far granted have allowed.

Should Stop Extravagance.
The enormous annual loss in mining and preparing coal for market, the huge waste of natural gas, as well as the lack of efficiency and waste in the metal mining industries, are mentioned by Dr. Holmes. This extravagance of natural resources, he asserts, should be checked.

"Pioneer educational work, temporary in character," is the way in which the director refers to the mine rescue and first aid work among the more than 700,000 miners in the 15,000 mines of the country. Ultimately this coal mining, he says, by the training and organization of miners at each of the larger mines or groups of mines, should be a permanent feature. He states that already a number of companies maintain rescue stations at their own expense. The chief purpose of the bureau of mines rescue and fire fighting methods, and he adds, "during the year more than 26,000 miners have attended the lectures and demonstrations given from the mine safety cars; more than 1,000 additional miners received training sufficient to enable them to participate in actual mine-rescue work, and more than twice that number have been added to the list of miners trained in first aid practice.

Health conditions in and about mines should be investigated. In the opinion of Dr. Holmes, Preliminary inquiries, he says, "have indicated the prevalence of tuberculosis and other diseases that extend to mines in several different localities in the United States. It is important that this work should be extended rapidly, because of the fact that the health conditions, as well as the risk of accidents, may be influenced by conditions susceptible of easy improvement."

Health of Workers.

"The large and continuous influx of foreigners into the mining regions of the United States may bring to an increasing extent the hookworm and other diseases that extend to mines in parts of certain European countries. Various questions that concern the health of workers in mines, quarries and metallurgical plants cannot be answered finally without investigations and inquiries that are national in scope. Among such questions are the most efficient methods of preventing the diseases peculiar to mining and metallurgical industries, and the most effective sanitary precautions to be observed in and about mines and in the various metallurgical occupations."

Special attention is called to some of the benefits derived, both by the government and individuals, from the bureau's field investigations. A saving of money and the delivery of better grade coal than would have been obtained otherwise, are mentioned in this connection. More than $5,000,000 worth of coal is bought annually by the government under specifications prepared by the bureau of mines; and additional fuel to the value of $3,000,000 is bought by it under the general advice of the bureau. The benefits have been both general and special, the real saving being several times as great as the actual money saved because of the securing of a better coal.

During the year every mine in the United States in which an explosion of fire or any note occurred was visited by one or more engineers of the bureau, says Director Holmes, who, in co-operation with or with the approval of the state mine officials, investigated the cause of the disaster and gave such aid as was possible in preventing further accidents. In some cases, many other mines were investigated.

Lights Cause Explosions.

In all but two of the mines where large disastrous explosions have taken place during the last few years open lights were used, he says, and if safety conditions are to be improved it seems probable that the use of electric lamps

ARMSON HOPEFUL OF REFORM IN SYSTEM OF MAKING ASSESSMENTS

J. G. Armson of Stillwater, a member of the state assessment commission, is in Duluth today attending a hearing before a board of United States army engineers on the proposed Lake Superior and Mississippi canal.

Mr. Armson said today that he is very hopeful of the legislature taking favorable action on the suggestions of the commission that the county assessment system be established in Minnesota, and that all valuations for assessment be made on the basis of 50 per cent of the actual value.

"We can't tell yet what the chances are for the proposed legislation, but we are very hopeful," said Mr. Armson today. "The sentiment in favor of the county assessment system has grown greatly in the last two years and it will undoubtedly receive careful consideration from the legislature. There will be determined opposition, but I believe the best interests of the state will be served by such a system. As for the plan to make assessments on a 50 per cent basis, we have made out a strong case in favor of it. I do not know how the legislature will treat it, but I am hopeful in regard to that also. The legislature has hardly gotten down to business yet, as the committees were announced only yesterday, so we must await developments."

Another Stillwater man who is attending the hearing is H. H. Harrison, the new Democratic member of the legislature from Washington county. Mr. Harrison said he is very hopeful of a declaration of rights on the floor of the legislature.

"I am a new member and I can't very well predict results," said Mr. Harrison today. "I do believe some good legislation will come out of the session."

FLOODS ON OHIO ARE BEGINNING TO REDE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15.—The Ohio river remained at 62.2 feet all of last night here and is expected to begin to recede later today. Damage throughout the different committees will be continued until the flood sufferers are able to return to their homes.

At 5 o'clock the stage of the river was 61.5 feet, having fallen seven-tenths of a foot since early this morning.

Gallipolis, Ohio, Jan. 15.—The Ohio river flood has receded one foot here today. Damage throughout this section of the Ohio and Grand Kanawha valleys will be the greatest since the flood of 1884.

TO SIMPLIFY ACTION IN INSANE CASES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—A radical change in the present method of committing insane persons of Minnesota to public care is proposed by the Probate Judges' Association of Minneapolis, in session here today. A provision for a simplification of procedure and the elimination of what the judges claim is "unnecessary red tape," is to be presented to the legislature for adoption.

Among the changes proposed is one which will provide for the commitment of persons temporarily insane to a detention hospital. A. H. Klaseen of St. Cloud is president of the organization.

Horse Committee Succeeds.
Condueray, Wis., Jan. 15.—"Pat," a valuable horse belonging to Patrick McElroy, died last night. The horse was killed by rushing headforemost into an iron bolt. The iron bolt struck the horse's head and the animal died instantly.

To Be Grand Exalted Ruler.
Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 15.—Charles Oellerich, a charter member and past exalted ruler of the Oshkosh lodge of Elks, today received the appointment of district deputy and grand exalted ruler for Eastern Wisconsin.

THE PILGRIMS SKATED.

Skimming Over the Ice Has Been a Sport for Centuries.

Springfield, Mass., Republicans: Those of the present generation who are inclined to pity people of former days because of their lack of participation in the exhilaration of skating would do well to pause a moment. Tradition tells us that tennis is the oldest sport which survives today, but a glance into the remote periods of history and legend would seem to contradict this theory. Ancient chronicles tell us that the hardy Norsemen skinned the rivers of the new land on bone runners, but the folk of today look skeptically upon the idea of bone runners, and are generally of the opinion that if such things existed there was many a hardy Norseman who came to grief on the rough ice and many a bloody Norse nose to tell of the fall of excessive daring.

Some years later the pilgrims found the Indians indulging in the same sport and tales are rife of how the great chief Massasoit, after the signing of the peace treaty, was seen on the surface of the Connecticut bearing a club instead of a hockey stick and a tomahawk in place of a skate. The pilgrims themselves probably looked with scorn upon the idea of skating and contrivances of the redskins and yet it is likely that the skates of the pilgrims would cause the modern skater much merriment. The blades of these skates were of iron and projected far beyond the toe. The discovery of the skates which the pilgrims must have found it necessary to have a small boy go ahead to tell them when a turn in the river was coming. The iron runner curled up neatly at the end and rolled into a circle, the whole terminating in a cute little brass cap.

The pilgrims got their skates from Holland, always the home of the best in the skating line. One day some inventive John Alden grew weary of having to strap his skates on when he took his fair Priscilla on the ice, and then came the disnominal invention of the skate which screwed into the sole of the shoe. The discovery did not last long for every skater had to be his own carpenter, but at least it had one good result by doing away with some of the strains and there were fewer calls for medical attendance for chilblains and frozen toes.

With the passing of the years the screw skates sank peacefully into obscurity and then came the most profane of all modern inventions, the heel plate. The chief object of these was to obtain a place where a pebble might lodge safely and the first hour or so on the edge of the ice was always devoted to the breaking of pocket knife blades in attempts to extricate the foreign matter. Cutlery establishments prospered. Owing to the strict laws against profanity which were in force in those days something had to be done to keep half the county population out of jail, and a Yankee appeared in the role of rescuer.

The skate was really the first step toward the evolution of the modern contrivance which has done so much to make the youth of the nation and some of their elders happy. In 1864 a patent was obtained on a pair of skates which had a clamp which fitted on to the heel and the forward part of the skate.

FORTUNE IN FAKE ANTIQUES.
Paris correspondent in New York Sun: Paris—Antiques have become so

J. G. ARMSON.

however. Personally I have not yet introduced a bill and I don't know that I will introduce one. I am interested principally in economy and I will not lend my voice or vote on any extravagant generally desired that there is no more profitable business than that of dealing in such objects.

As all the world, and especially all the new world, comes to Paris as soon as they have money to purchase, the largest numbers of antique shops. Those who went into the business fifty years ago retired with large fortunes; those who took it up twenty years ago are rich, and those who a decade back started business with enough capital and natural "dash," as they say in Paris, are quite as well off as their predecessors.

It takes so little ingenuity to pass off counterfeit antiques that it is hardly to be wondered at that crafty shopkeepers have profited by the fabrication of hundreds and hundreds of newly made old grandfathers' clocks. For years these have been among the most popular of the old curio dealers in Paris. Indeed, entire villages have been the manufacture of such objects.

Genuine Louis XV clocks, that stand on the floor and reach to the ceiling, are almost impossible to purchase. The more authentic they are the simpler the lines. But the newly made clocks are gorgeous in decoration and several special models are particularly in vogue with purchasers. In Paris there are constantly advertisements of old furniture to be sold on account of distress. This is another trick of dealers. One apartment in Paris has been sold out three or four times in five years. The family reverses are like the continuous shows, constantly going on.

BIRD IS PRIZE SPRINTER.

Read Runner of the Plains Can Easily Beat a Horse.

Yonah's Companion: A multitude of strange and interesting creatures inhabit the barren mesas of the Southwest. Lizards of every degree of hideousness scamper about among the multitudes of cactus and mesquite. Spiders dispute your passage along the trails, ants in infinite variety roam the ground in regular armies, and flocks of prodigious size make life miserable. Although the country swarms with insects and reptiles, there are few birds. One of these, however, is an unusually interesting creature. Our line of march, writes Charles S. Moody, was across the cactus and mesquite plain lying between San Diego and the Imperial valley. My companion, a medical officer in the United States army, and myself rode in advance of the column one day to select a camping site for that night. A matter of great importance in a country where water is scarce and the sun imparts June sun heat down with tropic fervor. We had climbed a hill and were entering upon a level plain when a rather large dark-colored bird, not unlike a hen pheasant, came into the road in regular army, and I recognized the bird runner, one of the cuckoo family. Although the bird was little more than a speck to the eye, it resembled the cuckoo himself.

"I have frequently read," I remarked, "of the marvelous speed of these birds, and have always had a desire to test it."

"Now is your chance," my companion replied. "Our horses are fresh and we have miles of level country before us. Let's try to run him down."

The bird was nothing along the road, darting aside now and then to pick up an insect or a sleeping lizard, but always returning to resume his journey.

"What if he should take to the east?" I asked.

The captain smiled. "Never fear, he will not do that. He is a runner and he will not put up with our mounts and closed up before the bird was aware. Instead of taking to the east, he threw one glance over his shoulder, abandoned his indifference, came close to his body, lowered his head until it was parallel with the ground and started down the road as if he had suddenly thought of an urgent errand over in the next state."

Our horses strained every muscle but could not gain an inch while the bird ran with the greatest ease. We held to our furious pace for several miles; the bird never thought of slipping off into the dense underbrush; he clearly regarded the road as a desirable race course, and as competitors to be outdistanced. We were badly beaten, our horses began to show signs of fatigue and we pulled up. The bird, when he found himself no longer pursued, slackened his pace, elevated his tail, and loitered along again, picking up insects and watching us over his shoulder as if he enjoyed our discomfort.

He kept along the road for miles, until we reached a water course and halted to look into the water supply, when we lost sight of him. The road runners are solitary and unsocial, yet we frequently heard them at sunset, calling from the cañons and on the hillsides. They have a musical note not unlike that of the mourning dove, which they follow with a harsh, rasping sound like the cackle of a hen calling her brood. The cuckoo makes a peculiar sound by snapping their mandibles together like castanets. The nests are bulky affairs, built a few feet from the ground in low bushes. The hen lays from four to six white eggs.

$3.25 for $5.00 Blankets

Only 100 pair to sell at this price. One solid window of fine warm plaid blankets. Most stores would call them all-wool, we do not. In fact, they are better than many all-wool blankets because of a tiny thread of cotton running through one strand of the warp. This makes them wear better than most wool blankets, while at the same time they have the warmth and soft fluffy feel of an all-wool blanket. Choose from pinks, blues and grays, in fancy plaids. Regularly we sell them at $5.00 and mighty good values they are at that. Tomorrow they go on sale at $3.25.

ABDUL'S TREASURE HOUSE.

It was only specially favored travelers who could obtain permission to view Abdul Hamid's treasure house in Stamboul, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, and they had to be prepared to spend about $25 in bak-sheesh. This was more excusable, perhaps, when one considers the extensive ceremony and the numerous officials required for this slight. The high treasurer had to attend in person with some thirty underlings, who ranged themselves with folded hands in two rows outside the first door while he solemnly removed the seals and turned his key. Immediately within this door was a huge iron gate, such as might protect a fortress. Even when you were at last let loose among the glittering gems, you were still accompanied by a vigilant guard of attendants, who watched your every movement—and probably one another as well—lest you should suddenly break open a case and endeavor to purloin some of the jewels. These, however, under the new regime, have mostly been sold for the benefit of the national treasury.

THE OPEN SESAME.
Los Angeles Times: Jerome S. McWade, Duluth's millionaire sociologist, has recently been making a scientific study of salesmanship.

"The one important point about salesmanship," he said at a salesman's banquet, "is to win, with your first sentence, the liking and esteem and admiration of the buyer. Isn't that so?" "Hear, hear!" the salesmen assented, tapping the table with their knives. "And there is one magic sentence," Mr. McWade continued, "which will win from every buyer this liking and esteem and admiration, and open up a splendid opportunity for large sales. The sentence must be spoken in a tone of sincere and reverent admiration. It is this: 'You work too hard.'"

You Can Insure Yourself of Bigger Business

An Electric Sign is a business insurance policy. It safeguards a merchant against loss of trade because it keeps his trade message before the public, in letters of fire, every night. It attracts new customers from blocks around. An Electric Sign pays its small cost in merely the transient trade that it attracts. It is no fault of the sign if the merchant does not convert transient customers into permanent ones.

Electric Signs Are Trade-Bringers of Proved Ability

No agency that you might employ for increasing your sales will produce as rich results at as little cost as an Electric Sign. Why not find out more about this effective silent salesman? Phone or call for full particulars.

THE TALLEST WOMAN

Eight Feet Four Inches the Height of Miss Ella Ewing—Giantess, Who Died at Her Home Near Gorin, Mo., Where No. 24 Shoes and Lived in a High-Ceiled House

Kansas City Times: Miss Ella Ewing, who died recently at her home, near Gorin, Scotland county, Missouri, was said to have been the tallest woman in the world. Miss Ewing was 8 feet, 4 inches tall. She was 40 years old. The extraordinary part of Miss Ewing's unusual growth was from the feet. She was 10 years old when she began growing rapidly and when 16 years old she measured 6 feet 2 inches. She still had the tastes of a child of her age and her life became miserable. She was denied the pleasures of games and other children played, because her presence robbed the games of their zest, while the other children stared at her. She became the butt of their thoughtless jests and being timid, she was brought to tears and drove her away from associates of her own age.

At school, desks and seats of great size were constructed for her, and an exceptionally long bed was necessary. She was forced to stoop at entering ordinary doors and the home in which her father and mother were comfortable, was like a cage to her. The care of the young giantess became a burden to the father, who was a man of meager means.

But a visit to the county fair solved the financial problem. While she went about the fair grounds in ecstasies at the wonders she saw—prize stock, giant vegetables and the mysteries described by the side show splendors—she herself was the chief attraction to the others who followed her about, staring at her in wonderment. A museum manager approached her about making an offer of a good salary for her as a museum attraction. It was arranged that her monetary needs should be met and she accepted the offer.

Being heralded as a freak among her sensitive feelings at first, but she eventually learned to look upon her extreme size philosophically. That attitude was made more easy by the big receipts.

Subsequently she entered a contract with P. T. Barnum and for several years was in attraction of the big circus, traveling over Europe and America. The dream of her girlhood, to own a home where she would be comfortable, at last was realized. In her travels she never had been comfortable. Beds and berths were too short, tables, doors and ceilings too low. She couldn't find comfortable chairs. Life for her was a succession of makeshifts. She saved her salary received from Barnum and after accumulating what she believed to be sufficient to last her, she left the show business and built a home near Gorin. The ceilings are fifteen feet. The beds are as long as she chose. Her bathtub was six feet long, and a specially made hammock on her veranda was made to make a dress for her.

A peculiarity of Miss Ewing's growth was that above the waistline she remained almost normal, except that her arms grew in proportion to the growth of her legs. Her feet required specially made shoes, No. 24, and she wore No. 24 gloves. Thirty yards of goods were required to make a dress for her.

After building a home to her measure, the giantess again became a show attraction, but traveled only in states near her home. She never married. At one time she was engaged to Edward Beaupre, a French-Canadian of Putte, Mont. Himself two inches taller than his fiancée, but the engagement was broken off.

Another romance of Miss Ewing's life involved Louis Wilkins of Enid, Okla., who measured 8 feet 2 inches in height.

He was a suitor for her hand years ago. Both had then just signed contracts with the Barnum show.

Wilkins' suit was unsuccessful. He quit the show business in America and spent the years following Miss Ewing's refusal in Germany and Austria. He returned several times to visit his parents, and always on those trips brought some gift for Miss Ewing. Wilkins died about six years ago in Chicago.

In her native town Miss Ewing was noted, not so much for her abnormal height, as for her goodness of character. She was a conscientious churchwoman and through her influence the Sunday school grew largely. John Ewing, her father, is 6 feet 1 inch tall. Her mother is not so tall.

THE HUMAN BODY A DYNAMO.

Popular Mechanics Magazine: One does not fancy the human body as an electric dynamo, but if the heat and muscular energy expended by an average man of sedentary habits were converted into electrical units he would find himself possessed of quite a valuable asset. It is proved that a man uses up about two and one-half kilowatt hours of electrical energy in a working day. Approximately one-half of this amount is used to keep the temperature of the body constant, while the other half is expended in muscular energy.

This amount of electricity may not seem great, but it is sufficient to maintain four twenty-five-watt tungsten lamps of twenty-candle power each for twenty-five hours, or heat an electric flatiron for six hours, run a sewing machine motor for 100 hours, or heat an electric toaster for four hours, an electric heater for two hours, an electric curling iron for 100 hours, run a large fan for thirty-two hours or warm a chafing dish for six hours.

Do you imagine that any worthy while buyer of real estate is going to overlook her ad in this paper? Not unless he is sick abed.

PEOPLE.

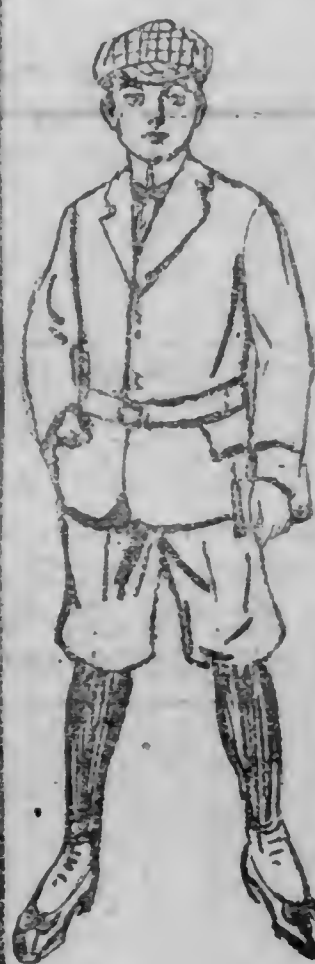

Prices are no object to us now, we simply must sell the goods and sell them quickly; our heavy spring purchases for next spring and summer have been ordered shipped at an early date and in order to start business for next spring with all brand new merchandise we have decided not to carry over any winter goods, no matter what loss we sustain. We have therefore marked the prices so low on the balance of this gigantic stock and if you will only come and see the hundreds of wonderful bargains we are now offering it will be hard for you to go away without taking advantage of this great sale.

NOTICE!

The balance of this Mammoth stock that we are placing on sale was all made up for the Twin Ports Clothing Company by the different manufacturers for this past fall and winter selling. We bought these goods at a mere fraction of their worth. We are now offering you this magnificent stock of wearing apparel at prices that would not pay for the cost of labor.

PARCEL POST TO MAKE DULUTH GREAT MAIL ORDER CITY

MAIL ORDERS gave one house in Chicago sixty millions of dollars last year.

Parcel Post makes it possible for Duluth merchants, whether in the regular mail order business or not, to reap big rewards in enormous extension of trade throughout the Northwest.

How?

ADVERTISING

Let the public know you can ship quickly and satisfactorily the merchandise wanted. Advertising made that sixty millions. It will bring some millions to Duluth.

Parcel Post secures for the Duluth merchant in the postal zone close by tremendous advantages—lower rates, quicker deliveries, more satisfied customers.

PUBLICITY WILL DO THE WORK

If the people don't know they can buy from you by mail tell them so.

The highest class of buyers in the Duluth zone are reached through The Herald.

COMMITTEE TRACING SALE OF LETTERS

Written Statement Showing Sale of Archbold Letters.

Witness Says Document Was Prepared in Standard Offices.

Stump Declares Brother Told Him He Received Large Sums.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A written acknowledgment purporting to have been signed by Charles Stump on Aug. 1, 1905, that he disposed of certain Standard Oil letters to "Mr. Chamberlain" and "Mr. Moore" of the New York Journal for a consideration, was placed in evidence today before the senate campaign contribution committee by George Stump, brother of Charles. George Stump said he got his brother to sign the paper and witnessed it himself. The statement was addressed to F. Q. Barstow, 28 Broadway, New York.

George Stump testified also that the statement was prepared in the Standard Oil New York office after an interview between him and his brother and Barstow.

George Stump was unable to identify two letters which Mr. Archbold had testified to as having been returned. He believed they were the ones he got from his brother and returned to Barstow.

The witness said that Charles Stump was dead but that his brother-in-law, Charles Blumling, referred to yesterday as Zimmer, was living. He testified that Blumling and his brother, Charles, talked over the telephone with him a year ago after the letters were taken. He said he was told that Blumling was the man who went to the New York Journal to get the money for the letters. Blumling is a traveling salesman living on Jefferson avenue, City 2.

The witness claimed he had never heard of Eldridge or Eddy being connected with the purchase of the letters. They were mentioned in previous testimony.

Stump testified that after he had subpoenaed to appear before the committee, but before he testified, he was approached by a "Mr. Reynolds" in the capital corridor with the statement that he represented William R. Hearst. "What did he say to you?" Stump asked.

He asked me what I knew about the matter, replied the witness. "I asked why he was interested. He said Mr. Hearst knew nothing of the purchase of letters, but that his name was involved and he wanted to see what I knew. He also asked me if I had any letters or knew any one who did."

Stump declared his brother, Charles, had been unable to tell him how much he got from the sale of the letters. "He said it was a large sum," testified Stump. "They seemed to go down every night or so and get some money."

F. A. Dennison, a Chicago negro lawyer, corroborated the statement given by William W. Winfield, another former Standard Oil messenger, of how an attempt had been made to arrest Winfield in Chicago and how Gilchrist Stewart, an industrialist, had been taken to the Chicago Examiner office and told it was a police station. The committee then adjourned until tomorrow.

NEW INDICTMENTS ARE EXPECTED

Action By Grand Jury Is Looked for in Railroad Case.

New York, Jan. 16.—New indictments against Mellen and Chamberlain, presidents respectively of the New Haven road and the Grand Trunk of Canada, and Alfred W. Smith, chairman of the Grand Trunk board, were expected to be handed up by the federal grand jury this afternoon.

The three recently were indicted for alleged participation in a "monopoly agreement" between the two roads in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but countenanced by the federal government.

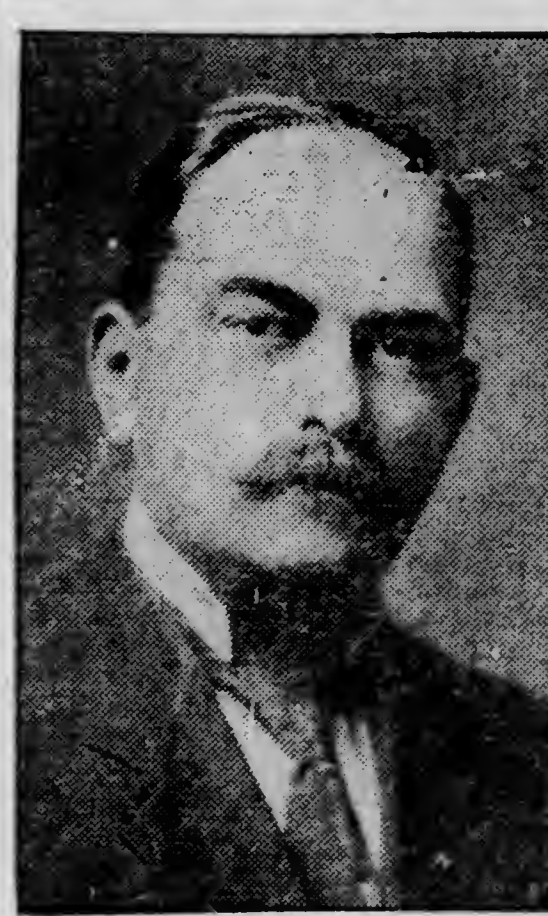

Subsequently filed a plea in abatement charging that one of the grand jurors was not a resident of New York and that this invalidated the indictment. To meet this situation it was said today that the government had substituted another grand juror and planned to sue to insure the validity of the proceedings.

The secretary will first take up the decision of the special board of inquiry which held that Castro's refusal to answer certain questions relating to his alleged connection with the assassination of Gen. Fares in Venezuela amounted to an admission of the commission of a crime involving moral turpitude or an obstruction to the legitimate efforts of administrative officers to ascertain facts to determine his right to enter. In a similar case several months ago in which an Austrian immigrant refused to answer questions regarding a bank robbery with which he was said to have been connected, Secretary Nagel sustained such a ruling. The case went to the courts but was decided in the government's favor on another point.

It is expected that Castro's case will reach the courts and the far-reaching question involved will be decided judicially for the first time.

NEW MINERAL LEASE LAW

Preparing Bill Which Will Provide for Higher Royalties.

State Income Tax Measure Introduced By Senator Works.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin county is co-operating with State Auditor Iverson in the formation of a new state mineral lease law which will be introduced in a few days.

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Redwood probably will join Mr. Warner in introducing the measure. There has been no provision for leasing state mineral lands since the old lease law was repealed six years ago. No leases, therefore, have been made, but the state has been nothing out, because in that time there has been a readjustment of the ideas of the royalty basis which has moved it to a higher level—though not to the level of figures in the lease of the Hill ore to the United States Steel corporation, which have given the state

HOME RULE BILL ON FINAL STAGE

Brilliant Speeches Made By Asquith and Balfour.

London, Jan. 16.—The home rule bill started on its final stage in the house Wednesday and the occasion was marked by two speeches seldom excelled in the history of the British parliament. Herbert H. Asquith, and Mr. Balfour, who have few equals as parliamentarians, who have few equals as parliamentarians.

Other speakers, representing all parties, followed and the debate was final today, though not until today when division will be taken.

The bitterness which previous bills of a similar nature aroused in the past, was largely absent in the discussion today, but with the harder hitters on the program for today, this may not be continued.

When the orders of the day were called and Mr. Balfour at the request of the opposition leader, Andrew Bonar Law, moved the rejection of the measure, the house was crowded to its capacity and every seat in the galleries was occupied by interested listeners.

Mr. Balfour, who has been absent from parliament for some weeks, while not so fluent as the prime minister, delivered one of the telling speeches for which he is famous and which aroused his supporters to great enthusiasm.

He dealt with the bill in a general way and particularly laid stress on the case of Ulster, the present condition of which he likened to that of the American colonies before the revolution. He charged the government with showing a dangerous want of appreciation of the position of that section.

NO FURTHER BALLOTING UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—After the thirty-eight ballot had been taken on the speakership deadlock without result, the house took a recess until Saturday when a preliminary session will be held. It was agreed that no further balloting would take place until next Tuesday.

Unable to Find Vessels.

Bill to Legalize the Light Plant Election at Virginia.

Forty-Three More Bills Introduced in House and Senate.

(By a Staff Correspondent.) St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill aimed at discrimination in passenger rates between those able to buy mileage books and those who must buy trip tickets was introduced in the senate this morning by Senator L. O. Cooke of Wabasha. It prohibits railroads, under heavy penalties, from making any distinction in rates, regardless of the distance traveled or the kind of ticket used. At present those who buy single trip tickets in Minnesota pay 3 cents a mile, while those who can use mileage books get off at 2 cents.

Senator Boyle of Eveleth this morning introduced a bill in the senate designed to remove all possible legal doubt about the validity of the recent election in Virginia when bonds were voted to buy an electric light plant. The bill was introduced at the request of Bert Feeler of Duluth, who is acting as attorney for Virginia. The senate (Continued on page 4, fourth column.)

GREAT UNREST IN LABOR CIRCLES

Seldom Has New York City Seen More Serious Disturbances.

New York, Jan. 16.—Seldom has New York city been the scene of more labor unrest than at present. Between 150,000 and 200,000 garment workers are out on strike for more pay and better working conditions. 15,000 waiters threaten to go out before the week ends, and in Yonkers, just above the city line, the street railway company has not moved a car since Jan. 1.

Squads of garment workers, satisfied there is no apparent prospect of agreement. From the manufacturers' standpoint, the strike of nearly 40,000 shirtwaist workers was most serious for it came at a time when the city was busy with rush work for the spring trade.

Incidentally, New York is the headquarters for the negotiations for the railroad managers and 3,000 firemen in the Eastern locality who are in a readjustment of pay and schedules.

After weeks of preliminaries the firemen decided last night to take a referendum strike ballot, but this does not necessarily mean that a crisis has been reached.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senator Nelson of Minnesota today introduced a bill providing for 15-day vacations annually for all government railway mail clerks.

GRAND DUKE MICHAEL.

GRAND DUKE NOW HAS A GUARDIAN

Czar Appoints One Because Brother Married Against His Will.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—Because he married a woman against the will of the emperor, the Grand Duke Michael, brother of Emperor Nicholas today was removed from his rank in the army and forced to turn over his property and affairs to a guardian.

The imperial manifesto specifically relieved the grand duke of his duties as commander of the Chevalier Guards and establishes a guardianship over his person, property and affairs under the supreme dictation of the emperor, while the administration of his estate is transferred to a department of the imperial court.

It states that these steps are taken by the emperor "to mark his disapproval of the grand duke's marriage to Mme. Sheremetevskaya."

PUT MAN'S HEART BACK IN PLACE

Iowa City, Iowa, Jan. 16.—During a clinic in the medical department of the Iowa State university doctors C. P. Howard and Clarence Van Epps found that the heart of Harry Dean, a Chicago man, was located in his right side. The abnormal development was subjected to a surgical operation by a specialist.

An incision was made and the doctors learned that the heart was held in its unnatural position by a growth which originated in Dean's thyroid gland and which kept his heart slightly above a spot directly opposite its normal location. The growth was removed and the heart put back in its proper place. The university doctors say Dean is resting easily and that he has an excellent chance to recover.

INDIANS ON WHITE EARTH RESERVATION ACTIMS OF GROSS FRAUD

Committee on Interior Department Makes a Startling Report.

Says Physical and Material Condition of Redmen Is Pitiful.

Charges of "Fraudulent Partiality" Made Against Simon Michelet.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Charges of gross frauds against the Indians on the White Earth reservation in Minnesota, that their physical and material condition is pitiful and that Maj. James McLaughlin, Indian inspector, did not properly guard the Indians' interests in the allotment of lands were made to the house today in a report by the committee on expenditures in the interior department.

It recommended that some remedy be found by congress for the present "anomalous situation" by which the commissioner of Indian affairs has complete control over property worth $1,000,000 belonging to Indians of the various tribes in the United States. The report declares that the Chippewa and other Indians were defrauded of large sums in the sale of lands and standing timber on the White Earth reservation. A sale in 1900 the committee "finds on undisputed authority" (Continued on page 4, fourth column.)

DENIES KOREANS WERE TORTURED

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 16.—Evidence favorable to some of the 106 Korean prisoners charged with conspiring against the life of Gov. Gen. Count Terauchi was produced at the resumption of the trial here when three witnesses called for the purpose of proving alibis were examined.

Police Inspector Kumitomo was called to the witness stand and interrogated as to the alleged tortures inflicted on the prisoners. He entered an emphatic denial of all the stories told in effect, saying: "They are absolutely unfounded." He pointed out that the missionary doctor who was personally acquainted with a large number of the prisoners, visited the jail early in 1912 and afterward went to Kumitomo thanking him and saying that all the prisoners were looking well.

Counsel for the defense argued that if the prisoners' previous statements made before the police, and in which Christian missionaries were incriminated, were not credited by the court, the other parts of their statements must similarly be discredited.

The decision regarding the question of the competence of the court raised by the barristers for the defense is to be given on Jan. 20.

CARRIERS TO AID DULUTH

Protest Wired to Washington on Proposed Customs Change.

Loss of Vessels and Life Last Year Very Small.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—Vessel owners and managers from practically all the Great Lakes ports have come to Detroit to attend the annual meeting of the Lake Carriers' association which began today.

Chief among the subjects to be considered were continued resistance to the efforts of the Chicago sanitary district to secure increased diversion of water from Lake Michigan; the seamen's bill now pending in the United States senate; and the recommendations of the captains' committee on aids to navigation.

Energetic effort will be made by the Lake Carriers' association to prevent the carrying out of the plan under consideration by government officials of making Duluth a customs office subordinate to St. Paul.

President Livingston wired a protest Monday to Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and several congressmen, urging that Duluth be allowed to remain an independent customs district.

"Making Duluth a sub-office, with the principal customs office in St. Paul, would be a serious blow to commercial interests of the lakes," says President Livingston. "With the enormous volume of lake traffic at Duluth and the tremendous quantity of bonded grain brought there, it would be most unwise to make it a sub-port of St. Paul. Such action would be imposing great inconvenience on vessels landing shipments out of Duluth."

Nineteen vessels were lost on the Great Lakes last year, an exceptionally small total, according to the report of William L. Livingston, president of the association, which was read today. Loss of life was also small as compared with former years.

The report said thirty-three persons were drowned or killed and of this number sixteen were of the crew of the schooner Rouse Simmons, the "Christmas tree" ship, which drifted Northern Michigan for Chicago last November and was destroyed during a storm on Lake Michigan.

Thirteen of the ill-fated ships were steamers, three were tug boats and one a schooner. The most important loss was the steamer James Gayley, which sank in collision with the steamer Hensseler on Lake Superior. The combined loss of cargo and ship was about $300,000, according to President Livingston's report.

Mr. Livingston would the year of 1912 on the Great Lakes "had such a record of safety and business outlook for 1913 little to be desired so far as the prospective volume is concerned."

A sharp denial was given to the assertion which has appeared in the foreign press that the delay which occurred in handling the joint note of the great powers, including some of those not belonging to the Triple Alliance, had declared against such a demonstration.

SYSTEM IS A MENACE TO THE COUNTRY

Banker Reynolds of Chicago Opposed to Concentration of Money.

Also Condemns the Principle of Interlocking Directors.

George W. Perkins Evades Hypothetical Question Put to Him.

Washington, Jan. 16.—That the present concentration of money and credit is a potential "menace to the country" was asserted before the house money trust committee today by George W. Reynolds, president of the Continental & Commercial National Bank of Chicago. Mr. Reynolds said he knew of the "trend toward concentration of money and credits," and that he thought it a dangerous thing.

"I am opposed to the concentration of any sort of power," he said. "I believe that concentration to the point it has already reached is a menace in saying that I do not wish to sit in judgment on the men who hold that power."

Mr. Reynolds said he was opposed to principle of interlocking directors in potentially competing concerns and that he had adhered to that principle throughout his banking career.

Confronted with delay in its hearings, the house money trust committee today was again forced to extend the time for the tentative adoption of its inquiry. The committee expected to conclude at Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, will be unable to attend the sessions after today until next Thursday and an adjournment is to be taken over that period.

WILL FIGHT TO THE END

Lake Carriers Will Resist Chicago's Appeal to Congress.

To Continue War on Plan for Diverting Lake Water.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—"We have fought it from the start and we will continue to fight it to the end," says William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, of the announcement sent from Chicago, that members of the Chicago sanitary district and business men's organizations in that city have decided to carry before congress their request for an increase to 10,000 cubic feet a second in the amount of water diversion from Lake Michigan into the Chicago drainage canal.

The decision to appeal to congress follows the action of Secretary of War Simons in denying the request of the Chicago sanitary district for permission to make the diversion in excess of 4,400 cubic feet a second, the amount now allowed.

President Livingston says the proposition will surely receive further consideration at the annual meeting of the Lake Carriers' association which opened here today.

"I am not a lawyer, but I do not believe congress will take action in a matter which so plainly would be an interference with the rights assured to Canada under treaties and international agreements," says President Livingston. "I fail to see how congress could allow any increase in the amount of diversion at Chicago, without seriously affecting the commercial interests of Canada. The argument of those who desire to increase the amount of water turned into the Chicago canal, that diversion of water from Lake Michigan would not affect the level of the other lakes, is absolutely and patently fallacious. By the very nature of the interdependence, the great lakes are interdependent. The level of Lake Huron is the same as that of Lake Michigan. Anything that affects one will affect the other."

LOST FARM BY TRICKERY

Floodwood Woman Claims Property Was Mortgaged Without Her Knowledge.

Mortgagee Claims He Acted in Good Faith and Blames Husband.

Flora Stein, farmer's wife and mother of five small children—the youngest a babe in arms—came into district court this morning with a story of how she had been tricked out of her home, an eighty-acre farm in a Finnish settlement seventeen miles out of Floodwood.

Her claim is that her farm was lost to W. A. Baune, a Floodwood horse dealer, on a mortgage foreclosure sale. Her signature to the mortgage is alleged to be a forgery and it is also asserted that she had no knowledge of the foreclosure proceedings until it was too late to redeem the property.

She is plaintiff in a lawsuit brought against Baune, John H. Norton, former county attorney, and John Heitman, her attorney. Baune's counsel is Hans Harolius of this city. The case is on trial without a jury before Judge Ibbell.

Mrs. Stein claims that she is the owner of two of three fortunes covered by a mortgage given William Stein, her husband, to Baune on June 28, 1909. The other forty acres, she claims, was held in her husband's name and is not involved in the lawsuit.

She claims that the mortgage which bore a signature alleged to be hers with that of her husband was never signed, executed or delivered by her. When confronted with the purported signature she denied that it was hers.

or that she had ever seen the paper before. She asks the court to cancel the mortgage and annul the mortgage foreclosure proceedings, to set aside the sheriff's sale of the property to Baune and to adjudge her to be the owner of the farm, free from encumbrances. The foreclosure, she claims, was effected during her husband's absence. He has been absent for several months past, she says.

Baune's story, as told on the witness stand in his own defense, is that he signed and directed Stein to have his wife either come to town to sign it or have her sign it in the presence of witnesses at the farm and to have the signature acknowledged by a notary. This, he claims, Stein agreed to do.

A few days later, according to Baune's story, Stein came to Floodwood with the mortgage bearing the proper signatures. Baune's testimony was that he did not suspect anything wrong with the instrument and had it recorded. The mortgage was not satisfied when it fell due and he proceeded with foreclosure proceedings.

At a sheriff's sale, he bid the property in for $382. The case will be submitted to Judge Ibbell after Baune has been examined by the court. The question for legal determination is understood to be whether or not Mrs. Stein executed the mortgage.

She executed the mortgage, he testified, and he is an editor.

The business men are not the only ones who find it quiet these days. The holidays are reflected in a general quiet at police headquarters.

There's been nothing big "breaking." The every-day petty robberies have been reported, a few small burglaries have been investigated, a number of drunks have been jailed, and of course the drunks, like the poor, are always present.

The nearest thing to a real case came last night. A message came over the wire to Operator Robert Johnson that a man and woman had been murdered in the West end, and that from headquarters was rushed out in the big Franklin, but when the bluecoats reached the scene they found a bunch of gesticulating foreigners. No dead or dying were seen about and not as much as a drop of blood had been spilled. It proved to be nothing but a desperate ward battle which no one had been hurt. Somebody heard something about a killing and rushed to a telephone to notify the police of a double tragedy.

The customary arrests for sweeping wheat from box cars have been made. They have been more numerous the last couple of months than usual. Several of those taken in have been brought in the second time for the same offense.

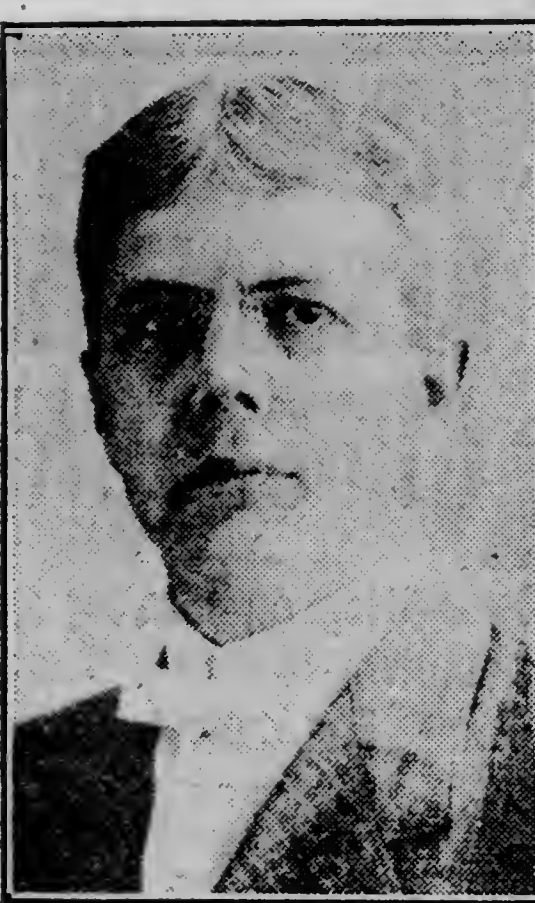

Dr. Weston has been given sentences on his promise not to venture on railroads.

The officers at headquarters expect the present quiet condition will continue for some time. When the spring thaw commences they look for more to do. The jinxes will begin to pour in with their pockets lined with green plush. Many of them will lose no time in saturating their systems with the brand of squirrel booze that is peddled busily on the Bowery.

Some of them will make things lively by trying to thrash anybody who has the faintest hankering for trouble while others will probably fall into the hands of the police who are always hanging about to get their claws onto as much of their prey as they may have left.

PREPARING TO GIVE WALL STREET A LIVELY TIME

CLAUDE L'ENGLE.

It used to be the favorite recreation of congressmen to "twist the lion's tail"—that is, to attack England in their speeches. Now, baiting the "Money Trust" is much more popular.

Claude L'Engle, just elected a member of the next congress, is preparing to give Wall Street a lively time when he comes to Washington. Mr. L'Engle is necessarily a Democrat and he represents the Fourth Florida district. He is an editor.

The governor agreed to hear argument Feb. 1 in favor of commutation.

FAREWELL TO DR. J. B. WESTON

Duluth and Superior Doctors Arrange Banquet in His Honor.

Members of the medical profession in Duluth and Superior tendered a complimentary dinner to Dr. J. B. Weston at the Commercial club last evening.

Dr. Weston will leave Saturday for Hemet, Cal., to make his home. Those at the banquet included members of the St. Louis County Medical society and of the Interurban academy of medicine. Dr. Weston has been an active member of both organizations.

About seventy doctors were at the banquet. Dr. J. L. Tuohy was toastmaster and talks were made by Dr. Patton, Dr. Schroeder, Dr. Magie, Dr. Murray, Dr. McComb and several of the Superior visitors. At the conclusion of the program, Dr. Weston was presented with an Oriental rug.

Dr. Weston has practiced medicine in Duluth for about twenty-five years, and the most cordial relations had all points of view been stated by the other members of the profession in Duluth and Superior.

ALL APPRECIATE "THE LONG ROLL"

"The Long Roll" written by the late Charles F. Johnson of Duluth, and concerning his adventures and observations during the Civil war, is being widely complimented. Mrs. Emma Johnson Hilton is receiving letters of appreciation from all points, even from men who served with the Southern army during the war. They admit that the book is not only interesting but absolutely fair and entirely free from bitterness.

CLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

LEAVES FROM A REPORTER'S NOTE BOOK BY X

In the back room waiting for a call to come in, the old policeman stamped his feet. The talk drifted from one subject to another and finally turned to poker games.

"The people around here do not know what a real game of draw is," said the aged veteran. "Many of them are like the Eastern man who was traveling through the West several years ago. The Easterner strolled into a big hotel and saw a group gathered about a green-topped table ornamented with good-sized stacks of the reds, whites and blues."

"Among the players were a couple of United States senators, two or three millionaires and an old millionaire or two. He recognized one or two of them but didn't think anything of asking if it were an open game."

"Sure, buy a stack and come on in," said one of the players in response to his question.

They scraped their chairs around and made a vacant space which he occupied. He hauled his wallet out of his pocket and peeled off $100 in bills. With the nonchalance supposed to characterize a good player he tossed the greenbacks over the table to the man who was banking the game.

The banker tossed him one white chip.

A Lindholm and Mike Jeska were brought in from the Alger-Smith camp on the Range yesterday afternoon and taken to St. Mary's hospital. Both had fractured legs. One had been caught under a falling tree and a log had rolled over the limb of the other.

Deputy Game Warden Thomas J. Storey and Archie Boyd made two arrests at Moose Lake yesterday. L. K. Lower paid a $45 fine and costs for selling three partridges to the game warden and I. C. Campbell was fined $15 and costs for shipping game birds. Both entered pleas of guilty.

Axel Hanson was tried this morning on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife. It appeared that there were differences to be adjusted on both sides and the court continued the case until Jan. 20 to give them an opportunity to reach an understanding. Hanson claimed that the trouble was due to the fact that his wife had insisted upon having her sister live with them.

Otto Thery pleaded guilty to trespass yesterday afternoon. He was arrested for sweeping wheat from a box car. He was given a suspended sentence until Jan. 20 to give them an opportunity to reach an understanding. Hanson claimed that the trouble was due to the fact that his wife had insisted upon having her sister live with them.

George Powers was found guilty yesterday afternoon of having stolen a suit and coat from the store of Dr. N. Kaplan on the Bowery. He got $10 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. John Evans, arrested with him, was found not guilty and discharged.

Action by the Duluth Retail Merchants' association was taken at a meeting of the executive committee at the Commercial club today. The following telegram was sent to Congressman Miller:

LEGISLATURE IS WELL UNDER WAY

Committee Hearings Will Begin in Wisconsin Next Week.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The introduction of a great many bills in both houses today signaled the real opening of the state legislature for business. Committee hearings will begin Tuesday and the floor session will begin Monday night.

Among the bills introduced was one from the assembly for the holding of the primary election in April at the time of spring election and designating the platform convention for the second Tuesday in June.

Secretary of State Donald sent to the assembly a resolution from the Ohio legislature asking Wisconsin's indorsement of an amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting polygamy.

A drastic lobby rule is proposed in the new rules presented in the senate excluding from the floor of the senate at any time any person interested in promoting or defeating legislation whether a paid lobbyist or not.

DULUTH MAN HAS FALL BUT NOT BADLY.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—Herbert Bell of Duluth, a driller in the employ of the George H. The frozen ground jarred him considerably, but no bones were broken, and he is again at work.

FEWER WOMEN BECOMING DOCTORS.

The number of women studying medicine is decreasing, according to the annual report on medical education in a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical association. In the last year there were 479 women studying medicine. This is one less than in 1911, 228 less than in 1910 and 245 less than in 1908. This year 115 women were graduated from medical schools. In 1911 there were 157 women graduated and in 1909, 162 graduated, while in 1904 there were 244 women graduated.

Retailers and Wholesalers Want Customs Officer Retained Here.

Big Import Business Is Being Done by Duluth Firms.

Duluth wholesale dealers, jobbers and retail merchants sent telegrams to Congressman C. B. Miller today, protesting against the proposed change in the Duluth customs district.

The telegram of the wholesalers dealers and jobbers declared the opposition to any change, and especially to Duluth being made a sub-port of any other city.

"People haven't any idea of the volume of business done here by Duluth houses," said Bentley P. Neff, secretary of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association.

"The location of the collector here is a great convenience and his removal would be a serious inconvenience, as a great number of business men would be forced to come up that must be discussed with him personally. The volume of business done at Duluth entitles this city to a collector and we are unalterably opposed to the city being made a suburb."

Action by the Duluth Retail Merchants' association was taken at a meeting of the executive committee at the Commercial club today. The following telegram was sent to Congressman Miller:

"Hon. C. Miller, Washington, D. C.—We, the retail merchants of Duluth, in ending assembled do present our formal and vigorous protest against the removal of the United States collector of customs from Duluth and we request your utmost efforts in our behalf."

"Duluth Retail Merchants' association. John J. Moe, president."

LEGISLATURE IS WELL UNDER WAY

Committee Hearings Will Begin in Wisconsin Next Week.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The introduction of a great many bills in both houses today signaled the real opening of the state legislature for business. Committee hearings will begin Tuesday and the floor session will begin Monday night.

Among the bills introduced was one from the assembly for the holding of the primary election in April at the time of spring election and designating the platform convention for the second Tuesday in June.

Secretary of State Donald sent to the assembly a resolution from the Ohio legislature asking Wisconsin's indorsement of an amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting polygamy.

A drastic lobby rule is proposed in the new rules presented in the senate excluding from the floor of the senate at any time any person interested in promoting or defeating legislation whether a paid lobbyist or not.

DULUTH MAN HAS FALL BUT NOT BADLY.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald).—Herbert Bell of Duluth, a driller in the employ of the George H. Crosby Exploration company, fell from the burning building of Fred Hagadorn at Little Rabbit lake, near Riverport, Minn., last night. The frozen ground jarred him considerably, but no bones were broken, and he is again at work.

FEWER WOMEN BECOMING DOCTORS.

The number of women studying medicine is decreasing, according to the annual report on medical education in a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical association. In the last year there were 479 women studying medicine. This is one less than in 1911, 228 less than in 1910 and 245 less than in 1908. This year 115 women were graduated from medical schools. In 1911 there were 157 women graduated and in 1909, 162 graduated, while in 1904 there were 244 women graduated.

NEW CARS ON THE HEIGHTS

"Ocean Wave" Rides Will End on Highland Line.

Double Trucks Will Be a Novelty on the Hilltop.

Sometime today the street railway on Duluth Heights will be enjoying the novelty of having a new car, and about the first of next week will experience a duplication of whatever sensation is produced today. The first new car was taken up Mesaba avenue today and reached the Heights shortly after 10 o'clock. The trucks were sent up a few days later. It took eighteen horses to haul the body of the car up the hill today and it was no easy job for even that many.

Every Day Helps to Beauty

(From the Toilette Guide)

"To remove superfluous hair on face or forehead, make a paste with a little powdered talc and water. Cover the hair, leave on two minutes, wipe off, wash the skin and the hair will be gone. This treatment is less expensive than the electric needle and just as satisfactory in result.

"No woman looks her best when suffering from aches and pains. Mother's Salve is penetrating, entering the pores at once and giving almost instant relief. It is comforting and soothing for pains and aches in back or joints, sore muscles, bruises, rheumatism or neuralgia.

"The beautiful complexion of girlhood can be retained, or restored, if lost, by gently massaging face, neck and arms each morning with a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayonaise in a half pint of witch hazel. It leaves the skin smooth and white, soft and lovely.

"Do not wash your head too frequently, as water dries and deadens the hair. Just put four ounces of corn oil in a fruit jar and mix this with an original package of mayonaise. Rub a little on the head, brush out thoroughly and it will take with it all that, even old and dead hair. There makes the hair fluffy and beautifully lustrous.

"If the eyebrows are lighter in color than the hair, or thin and straggly, they can be improved by gently massaging persin into the roots with the finger tips. Persin will make the lashes grow long and evenly.

IN COURT ON STRETCHER

John E. Causley Lies in Courtroom While Suit Is Tried.

Asks $51,000 Damages for Injuries Sustained on Great Northern.

In United States court today the suit of John E. Causley against the Great Northern road was called and a jury drawn. The trial of the suit is occupying the attention of the court for the rest of the day.

Personal damages to the extent of $51,000 is asked by the plaintiff and something of a human interest touch is given to the case by the extremely pitiable condition of the plaintiff. Causley was brought from Superior in a full length on a stretcher. This morning he began his testimony and it is being continued this afternoon. The stretcher is placed in front of the clerk's desk and the attorneys in asking their questions have to sit beside it.

The plaintiff charges that on Sept. 10 of last year, while acting as switchman for a freight train, and necessarily riding on the freight on the Great Northern trestle, one mile west of Superior, he was suddenly jerked off the train and fell on the ground, some thirty feet beneath. He was badly injured.

The only view of the grand jury so far made was brought in last night, and indictments were returned against Tony and Frank Milano, who were arrested in a house on Garfield avenue some time ago, charged with counterfeiting. They were arraigned just before court adjourned last night and entered pleas of not guilty. It is expected that the grand jury will make its final report late today.

In the damage suit of Charles W. Ketcham against the Northern Pacific road, the jury returned a verdict last night for the plaintiff for $1,400. Ketcham was injured while riding on the road, claiming that he was caused to fall from a rapidly moving freight train when a sill step gave way.

LESTERS BEAT THE EMERALDS
One-Sided Hockey Game Is Won By Superior Team Work.

The Lesters defeated the Emeralds in a well played game at the rink last evening by the score of 12-0. The game was very fast and exciting. The Lesters displayed great team work and the Emeralds were completely out of the game. The Lesters' shooting was very much improved over the last game. Jepsen and Bartlett did the scoring for the victorious team. Clato played a fine game for the Emeralds.

OLDHAM SHOWS FORM.
Old Star Beaten By Dinham in Close Curling Game.

John Oldham reached the city yesterday and immediately returned to his old love, the curling game. Last night he organized a rink and played a great game against Billy Dinham's rink, the score being 9 to 8 in favor of the latter. The game was one of the best that has been seen on the ice so far this season, plainly showing that John Oldham has not lost his touch. He has not made him forget the art of putting the rock into the circle.

It is very probable that Oldham will skip a rink at the Northwestern bonspiel at St. Paul. Judging from his play of last evening he is in very good form.

LINCOLNS WIN FROM NATIONALS AT HOCKEY

The Lincolns defeated the Nationals by the score of 4 to 1 at the French club last evening. The game was played with great spirit and the Nationals were completely out of the game. The Lincolns displayed the better team work of the two.

The referee put a few players off the ice in the first half for tripping and slugging.

The second half, however, was much cleaner and better played.

CHICAGO IS BASEBALL CENTER FOR PRESENT.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The attention of the baseball world was turned toward Chicago today. Two important meetings, one of the national baseball commission, and the other of the club owners of the American association, were scheduled here.

Both meetings, it was announced, would be executive. The national commission was to hear the reports for the last year of President August Hermann and Secretary John Bruce, and elect officers. It was expected both of these officials would be re-elected.

The uniform contract, making it necessary for all clubs to use the same kind of contracts was to come up for discussion. The proposition for uniformity in the way of contracts was met with opposition by President Johnson who is said to favor club owners of smaller leagues who want contracts drawn according to their own ideas.

President Chivington was to call the American association meeting to order at 11 o'clock. It was expected to be taken up, it was said, was the number of circuit trips to be made by the clubs. The owners were said to be divided on this question, some holding for the four trips instead of three which was in vogue last season. It was said a committee would be appointed also to draw up a new set of rules. The usual dickering for trades generally was looked for.

THROWN FROM MOVING TRAIN

Andrew Ekola Says Brakeman Invited Him to Ride

—Wants $25,000.

Andrew Ekola of this city is in district court as plaintiff in a lawsuit against the Northern Pacific railroad, and James W. Ross, a brakeman in its employ, in which Ekola asks for $25,000 damages for being thrown from a train.

A peculiar feature of Ekola's story is that, once the brakeman charged having thrown him off, had prior to the incident coaxed him to get on the train.

Ekola boarded the train at St. Paul, free of charge, and was seated in a Pullman car. At Hugo station, a few miles from White Bear, he claims that Ross threw him off. The train, he says, was moving at a speed of twenty miles an hour.

In the fall, he sustained a broken leg, the case is being tried before Judge Dwyer and a jury. G. J. Larson, M. E. Louissell and John Saari are attorneys for the plaintiff and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are defending.

Mike on Thump Proves Fat.
Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16.—A bite in the thumb a few days ago resulted fatally for Michael Koschick, 29 years old, of this city. Joseph Schramkowski, who it is claimed bit the member during a melee, is being held pending the coroner's investigation.

Rheumatic Advice

Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription Easily Made at Home.

From your drugstore get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime. This is said to be the quickest and best remedy known to the medical profession for rheumatism and backache. Good results come after the first dose. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from the wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one-ounce sealed, yellow label package. For the worst cases were cured here by this prescription. Last winter, published by the Globe Pharmacy Laboratories of Chicago.

CLAN HONORS ROYAL TANIST

A. G. Findlay of Seattle Is Greeted By Scotchmen of Duluth.

Preparations Under Way for Celebration of Burns Anniversary.

Clan Stewart, No. 50, Order of Scottish Clans, held a reception last evening in U. O. F. hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, in honor of the royal tanist or vice president of the order, A. G. Findlay, of Seattle, Wash. About 200 members were in attendance. A most enjoyable program of Scottish songs and appropriate selections was rendered. Robert Mowbray performed several selections with the bagpipes while O. McCaskey gave Highland dances. The two were cheered repeatedly. Addresses were made by Royal Tanist Findlay and Duncan Ross, a former member of the Scottish parliament at Victoria, B. C. Others who participated in the entertainment were J. R. Batchelor, A. G. McKnight, James C. Myron and John Galbraith. A class of new members was initiated under the direction of Chief Alexander Anderson. Just before adjournment, all present joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Clan Stewart is making preparations for the celebration of the 15th anniversary of the birthday of Robert Burns on Jan. 25. An elaborate banquet will be held at the Spaulding hotel. A program of Scottish songs, dances and literary selections is being prepared for this celebration. Scotchmen will come to Duluth from great distances to attend this affair.

POLICEMEN'S BALL FEB. 3

The policemen are actively continuing their preparations for the annual ball which will be given at the Armory the night of Feb. 3.

Those in charge of the arrangements and decorations state that this year's affair will be better than those of past years. The hall will be tastefully decorated and the committee is now busy figuring out new designs.

Nearly every policeman in the city will attend the ball. Specials will be sworn to take the places of the regular men who have this year and only those who cannot leave the stations will be absent. The proceeds of the ball are devoted to the police relief association fund.

The several committees working for the success of the annual ball are as follows: Reception—Detective D. H. Irvine, chairman; Officer Mark Stewart, Detective E. F. Leht.

Tickets—Capt. Fiskett, chairman; Sergeant John Kenna.

Door—Lieut. John Drannen, chairman; Sergeant John Rogers, Sergeant David Hutchart, Sergeant Charles E. Peterson and Neil J. McNeely.

DISCUSS TWIN CITY HIGHWAY

A meeting of business men was held yesterday afternoon at the Commercial club to discuss the matter of a highway to the Twin Cities.

The meeting was well attended and much interest was displayed. The chief point to be considered at this end of the highway which is to be constructed, was the matter of choosing a route for a roadway to Wrenshall and Nickerson.

It proved to be the sense of the meeting that a committee be named to decide upon a definite route and that a petition be circulated in Carlton county. It was also voted that the county commissioners be complimented for the work done on roads between Duluth and the ranges, and hope was expressed that the roadways be maintained in good shape for the reason that chief among those who will benefit from the highway are the motorists from both the Duluth and Vermilion ranges.

USING MUCH BARK.

Tannery of Munising Leather Company Furnishes Good Market.

Munising, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Evidence of the fact that immense quantities of tan bark are required in the process of converting hides into leather is seen in the big receipts of that product of the hemlock which are arriving at the plant of the Munising Leather company. The bark is being shipped to Munising at the rate of twenty cars per week. The receipts of the bark will be maintained at that volume for the next sixty days. There are two tanneries in the factories in the peninsula, and these also are big consumers of the tanning material. These plants are at Manistique and the Soo.

WILL FINISH ROAD IN 1914

Grand Trunk Pacific Line Will Be Completed Next Year.

Canadian Railroad Contractor Tells of Importance of New Road.

Next year will see the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific ocean to ocean line, according to Duncan Ross, a railroad contractor employed in the construction of the new railway that is being built across Canada. Mr. Ross is visiting in Duluth, a guest at the home of his brother, John G. Ross, clerk of the municipal court.

Mr. Ross was a former member of the Canadian parliament, having represented a British Columbia constituency in the dominion house. In late years he has devoted his attention to the railway and the construction of the Canadian Pacific continental line.

The great advantage which will be derived from the opening of this line, says Mr. Ross, "is the opening up of the immense territory north of the original settlement line. In the past days when the Canadian Pacific was the only line through the Canadian West, settlement was practically confined to the territory immediately tributary to the railway, and south to the international boundary.

Now, with the opening of this line, and many branch lines are being constructed, there is a vast area of land there are millions of acres of the richest agricultural lands.

The Grand Trunk Pacific stands in a class by itself. The majority of the railroads in this country have been built in securing such grades across the mountains as would admit of cheap transportation of freight and passengers. The Grand Trunk Pacific, on the other hand, is built on a level grade, and the maximum grade is only one foot in the mile. This is a great advantage, as it will enable the line to carry a heavier load than any other line in the country.

The plan of campaign is practically as outlined in The Herald yesterday. The first thing to be done is to elect a committee of senators and representatives to be in charge of the bill. There are now sixty-three senators and 120 representatives, and it is likely that this number will be changed. There is considerable sentiment in favor of reducing the membership of the senate, which is the largest state senate in the country; but the difficulty of reconciling over-represented districts to a reduction of their senatorial representation is a great enough problem without he made greater still, if there were to be a change in the number of senators.

Chairman Victor L. Johnson of the senate reapportionment committee and chairman C. H. Winder of the house committee conferred yesterday, and agreed to call both the committees in session tomorrow afternoon. Probably a joint session will be arranged for tomorrow afternoon, and the work of the legislature under the new reapportionment will be decided. Then joint committees will be appointed, and they will work together in framing the new bill. The plan is to have one member from each congressional district on each subcommittee, to be elected by the members of the general committee. This will make a joint committee of twenty.

It is hoped to have completed bill ready in a couple of weeks, especially in view of the fact that the hard work was done by the Canadian committee two years ago, and to have the bill through both houses of congress and avoid complication with congressional reapportionment and other measures.

The redistribution of representation in the United States is a problem which has not been completely solved. The plan is to have one member from each congressional district on each subcommittee, to be elected by the members of the general committee. This will make a joint committee of twenty.

WORST TELLS ABOUT NEEDS

President of Tri-State Convention Discusses Several Things Required.

Dakotas and Minnesota Need More Farmers and Should Conserve Soil.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—President J. H. Worst of the Tri-State Grain Growers and Stock Association, who have been connected with the organization in one capacity or another since its organization, delivered his annual address last night before a large audience. He laid great stress on the need for more farmers in the Dakotas and Minnesota and spoke at length upon soil fertility, crop failure and kindred subjects. The convention, which has been a great success, will close tonight.

"North Dakota has room for more farmers," the president declared. "The same is true of Minnesota and South Dakota. No political issue, immediately or prospectively, more vitally affects the three states represented than that of increasing their rural population. The unoccupied acres of these states should be brought under cultivation."

"An agricultural state should emphasize three great principles," declared President Worst, in conclusion. "First, the conservation of soil fertility. Second, the conservation of water. Third, the conservation of labor."

"To foster a system of farm management that will accomplish this end and yet not impoverish the soil, the farmer must conserve his soil. To conserve a system of farm management that will accomplish this end and yet not impoverish the soil, the farmer must conserve his soil. To conserve a system of farm management that will accomplish this end and yet not impoverish the soil, the farmer must conserve his soil."

"Farming is a business. It requires a better business head than the present generation of farmers possess. It requires vision to farm scientifically. It requires a business head to practice in any of the popular professions. The farmer, therefore, must acquire business habits. He should rank as a business man. The shrewd business men of this generation are ever on the alert to increase their profits. They are not content with the status quo. They are ever on the alert to increase their profits. They are not content with the status quo. They are ever on the alert to increase their profits."

"The manufacturer is governed by the same laws. Captains of industry are ever on the alert to increase their profits. They are not content with the status quo. They are ever on the alert to increase their profits. They are not content with the status quo. They are ever on the alert to increase their profits."

would restore the equivalent of 23 1/2 cents' worth of soil fertility per bushel. If the bran and shorts of the grain were kept at home and fed to the livestock and that manure returned to the land the cost per bushel of raising the wheat and in soil fertility might be still further reduced about 15 cents. Under the old time methods present prosperity was being built up by discounting the future.

With North Dakota's 1912 crop of 150,000,000 bushels, each bushel robbing the soil of 4 1/2 cents worth of fertility, the state as a crop factory, was expending about $70,000,000 in capital to produce the crop.

To check the soil robbery, the speaker strongly urged the breeding and feeding of livestock. It would remove the necessity of raising so much grain, make the farmers less dependent on transient labor, cut up the larger farms and livestock was less affected by climatic conditions than growing grains, and best of all, the raising of stock would restore the fertility to the soil.

Another result would be the building of silos. North Dakota corn, while not the best in the world for mature grain, excelled in silage and the silage raised cleaned the land of weeds, retained the moisture, averted the soil, starved the fungi and prepared the land for future crops.

Attempts to engraft the white man's civilization upon the primitive people of the far north without a proper understanding of what the needs of the people are, have proved failures in the past. The conditions of the Eskimo should be kept out of the Eskimo regions; that the Eskimos have a religion of their own; that they have high moral standards, and that the determination of the needs of the Eskimo should be kept out of the Eskimo regions; that the Eskimos have a religion of their own; that they have high moral standards, and that the determination of the needs of the Eskimo should be kept out of the Eskimo regions.

Mr. Stefansson left today for New York and will continue his expedition with a little livestock. He expects to spend several years in the northern regions, continuing his study of the white Eskimo people and the geographical conditions of that country.

BAPTISMS IN PLUNGE.

Mormon Elder Selects Warm Water for Montana Immersions.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 16.—The large plunge bath at Gregory Hot Springs, a resort near here, was used by a Mormon elder in baptizing some converts.

Freddie Currow, Miss Myrtle Webster Odgers and Miss Clara Hold of Butte, were baptized into membership in the church of Christ of the Latter Day Saints. The guests of the Gregory Springs hotel were witnesses of the ceremony which was conducted by Elder H. W. Ballard of Benson, Utah, and was witnessed also by Elder Ira L. Kennington of Wyoming. It consisted merely of a brief prayer and the complete immersion of each candidate in turn. The officiating clergy were accompanied by a number of the candidates for baptism and the witnessing clergy wore hotel bathing suits.

COVEY RE-SENTENCED.

Self-Confessed Blackmailer Sent to Green Bay Reformatory.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 16.—Judge Wischman yesterday re-sentenced Howard Covey who pleaded guilty the other day to blackmailing Mrs. Charlotte Ross, a widow near Fairchild, Wis., and who was given an indefinite sentence at Green Bay. Covey was sentenced to four years in the reformatory. It turned out that a woman worded as a convict, given here, the law having been repealed, and so the court re-sentenced the prisoner giving him three years at Green Bay, the term beginning yesterday.

WEATHER FAVORS LOGGERS' WORK.

Conduway, Wis., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present moderate weather is ideal for logging. The loggers are being pushed to the limit by the loggers. About 1,000,000 feet of logs are being landed at a mill and other landing grounds for shipment in Southern Sawyer county.

With the present favorable weather continuing the winter cut in this county will be the largest in years. The loggers are being pushed to the limit by the loggers. About 1,000,000 feet of logs are being landed at a mill and other landing grounds for shipment in Southern Sawyer county.

MOVED SCHOOLHOUSE.

Thereby Violated Court's Order and Brought on Indictment.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 16.—Five Gilman men will stand trial on the charge of having violated an order of the court prohibiting them from moving the schoolhouse in order that the school might be left open as a result of the action of the grand jury last week. The schoolhouse was moved and their trial will be held shortly.

CALUMET HARD HIT.

Ice Piled Over Water System Intake Shuts Off City's Supply.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of heavy north-west winds and high seas piled ice up over the intake of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company's waterworks plant, which supplies Calumet's 2,500 people, shutting off the water, half the population of Houghton county was without water today. The water works were forced to close and 11,000 children had a holiday. Dynamite is being used to move the ice.

Plan Co-Operative Warehouses.

Rudyard, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of facilitating the marketing of local products, the Rudyard Farmers' Association is planning the organization of a co-operative company, capitalized at $20,000. LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR, NO DANDRUFF--25c "DANDERINE"

Hair Coming Out?—If Dry, Brittle, Thin or Your Scalp Itches and is Full of Dandruff—Use "Danderine."

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A Little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and thin the hair may be, just rub with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a Little Danderine.

A Lame Back or Sharp Pain NATURE GIVES A WARNING

Many people fail to recognize the warnings which nature gives, or they fail to act in time when they know the signs of a diseased condition.

A lame back, torpid liver, cloudy urine, inflammation of the bladder and painful passage of urine are indication that the system is deranged. If not promptly remedied diseased kidneys lead to the terrible Bright's disease, rheumatism or gout.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is made from the purest ingredients and for 35 years it has proved its efficiency. It has been used and endorsed by thousands and who have saved themselves from the consequences of neglect to check disease of the kidneys before more serious and fatal complications resulted.

"A Well Woman in Two Months" Two months after I began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy I was a well woman, no longer suffering with back-ache, headache and that run-down condition that makes one feel so out of sorts and depressed. Mrs. Emma Arnold, Keweenaw, Col.

WOMEN OUTLINE WORK FOR YEAR

Auxiliary of Central Baptist Church Makes Up Its Program for 1913.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, has outlined all its work for the year.

The activities of the auxiliary for the year were started yesterday afternoon by the mission circle at a meeting held at the church. The subject for the afternoon was "China's New Religion" and the discussion was led by Mrs. George Jewell.

The auxiliary includes also the Ladies Aid Society and the Missionary society of the church, both of which have just completed their programs of meetings for the year. From now on each society will alternate its activities during the month with the other organizations of the auxiliary. A mothers' meeting is also held once a month.

The programs for the societies were announced yesterday afternoon and are as follows:

Mission Circle.
Feb. 18—"China's New Religion." Leader, Mrs. Fred Hanson; hostess, Mrs. Lee Guntler.
March 18—"China's New Medicine." Leader, Mrs. Lee Guntler; hostess, Mrs. George Jewell.
April 16—"China's New Literature." Leader, Mrs. E. Churchill; hostess, Mrs. J. D. Campbell.
May 2—"History of the Mormons." Leader, Mrs. E. Churchill; hostess, Mrs. Signe Bradley.
June 18—"Methods of the Mormon Church." Leader, Mrs. C. H. Glover; hostess, Mrs. I. M. Mitchell.
July 2—"Pledge."
Sept. 17—"Mormonism As a Religion." Leader, Mrs. J. D. MacPhail; hostess, Mrs. Fred Hanson.
Oct. 15—"Mormonism As a Life." Leader, Mrs. J. B. Dye; hostess, Thomas Featherston.
Nov. 13—"Missions Among Mormons." Leader, Mrs. W. A. Bertridge; hostess, Mrs. A. Menzies.
Dec. 3—"Annual meeting of auxiliary."
Ladies Aid Society.

Sept. 2—Hostess, Mrs. Angus Campbell.
Oct. 2—Hostess, Mrs. C. H. Glover.
Nov. 2—Hostess, Mrs. Richard Locke.
Dec. 2—Hostess, Mrs. Richard Locke.
Two mothers' meetings will be held during the year, one on April 30, and the other on Oct. 29, with Mrs. F. A. Mitchell as leader. The meetings will be held at the church.

AUCTIONED OFF HIS WIFE FOR $5

Police Summoned on Riot Call During Quarrel Which Followed.

Because Harry Selmi auctioned off his wife for $5, a general riot call was sent into police headquarters shortly after 9 o'clock last evening.

The police received a report that a murder had been committed and as a result Detectives Toner and Frater, and Patrolmen Youngberg and Driver rushed to the boarding house at 1540 West Superior street. Selmi himself ran to a local saloon, where he told the bartender that a man and a woman had been killed. By the time the police arrived the boarding house was filled with excited men and women, none of whom were able to explain the situation.

Officer Fred Mahlen of the West end station was the first to arrive at the

They are sold everywhere and highly recommended as the greatest known blood remedy and skin beautifier.

BOAT CLUB WILL ADD TO QUARTERS

Campaign for New Mem- bers About to Open— More Room Needed.

If the plans of the Central Boat club materialize, a large addition will be added to the present clubhouse at the foot of Twentieth avenue west and a pavilion constructed over the two structures early this spring.

August E. With, president of the club, yesterday afternoon outlined the proposed plans of the recently organized Central Boat club for this year. A meeting will be held within two weeks to launch a membership campaign throughout this end of the city. If seventy-five members are secured at that time, then the boat house addition and pavilion are assured to the West end, says Mr. With.

A number of petitions have been received by Mr. With, requesting the club to build an additional boat house, as the present structure is already filled with motor boats. In an interview, Mr. With yesterday afternoon, the boat house addition will be erected early this spring. The pavilion houses the motor boats. The pavilion will be erected above the two structures and will face the lake. Steps will lead to a long landing, so that the members of the club may run their boats up to the shore and then go up to the pavilion. During the summer a program of hand races will be featured every Sunday evening. Refreshments and luncheons will be served the members at the pavilion.

As soon as the necessary number of members are secured, the club proposes to start a program of social events to continue throughout the winter and spring. These will include dances every month. In the summer, excursions will be featured by the club once each week, in addition to picnics and boat parties for the members alone.

The members of the club are meeting at present frequently and arranging the by-laws for the organization. They are: August E. With, president; Severt Aune, vice president; George Pare, secretary; and Al Blawett, treasurer.

ARGUMENTS FOR MOTHER TONGUE

Speakers Urge That Scan- dinavian Languages Be Taught in Schools.

Prof. J. N. Lenker, D. D., of Minneapolis and Rev. A. J. Rydeen of Svea, Minn., who are conducting an active campaign throughout the West for the establishment of Scandinavian courses in high schools, spoke last evening at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. Prof. Lenker spoke in Swedish and Rev. Rydeen in English.

The Scandinavians were the original pioneers and are today the largest race in the north of the Old World. The home of the Scandinavian nations is in the South. The Scandinavians civilized the Lap, Finn and Eskimo in Scandinavia, Russia and Greenland. They have dominated culture north of the Baltic and North sea as did the Greeks on the Mediterranean.

The Scandinavians formed an important element of the population of England and Scotland and of the early settlement in New England. They are the most like Americans of all the people coming to our shores. Hence their language should be maintained in order to conserve its culture and life.

The Scandinavian language should be studied for access to the ancient and modern literature of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Finland and Greenland. The literature of these countries, like their language and people, is the nearest related to the English.

"An argument we notice against learning the home language is that when the children enter active life it will have been forgotten. This argument is also made by educators who heard it when children in Pennsylvania from earliest days the children were being taught to read. The emphasis that in a few years no one would speak German or Italian or French. These advocates all proved to be false prophets.

All social institutions, the home ranks first and the school second; both are centered in the child. They together labor for his highest welfare. The children have the future, and in them we re-invest our lives. That is the reason the work of parent and teacher are so interesting and should be in perfect harmony. Parents give more for their children than they for themselves. The true teacher, who moves and has his being among children. The child is the center on which all noblest human activities revolve and from which it springs. Both parents and teachers have the gravest responsibilities and the greatest opportunities. They need one another's help.

"How often have we studied such homes and with sorrow witnessed the parents and children gradually growing apart because the child ignores the family language—the in the most inconsiderate, stubborn and dishonoring manner, and in a secretive, if not demonstrative way, poses as superior to their two-language immigrant parents. The parents naturally grieve and try everything to have the child answer in the home tongue. But silent and firm the child stands, resisting all parental persuasive devices. It understands all, but will not talk; far from being deaf and ignorant, it is conscious, a slight frown, the photographer and a study for the psychologist."

KNOW NOTHING OF PUPILS' STRIKE.

The report that the pupils of Jackson school at Herman, a town on the Swan Lake road, have struck and now refuse to attend school, has been known to the superintendent of the school district in the building, is now to the offices of the county superintendent of schools today and those in charge of the office say that no complaint has been received from the parents of the children regarding the conditions at the school.

LITTLE CORNUCOPIA AND HER NEED OF A HARBOR

Farmer, Fisherman, Fruit Growers and Merchant Tell Their Stories.

When the Wind Blows Settlement Is Cut Off From Civilization.

Ask Uncle Sam for $25,000—Have Exhausted Their Own Resources.

If the people in attendance at the hearing before the board of engineers of the United States army at the Commercial club yesterday had their say, Cornucopia, a little town on the South shore in Wisconsin, would have the harbor it asks of the government.

The board which conducted the hearing has no authority to recommend the improvement. It was requested by the board of engineers on rivers and harbors to receive testimony on the proposed improvement and forward it to Washington.

The testimony was given by five men, a farmer, a fisherman, a merchant and two fruit growers. They made a plain language, eloquent in its simplicity, of the difficulties they have had on account of the lack of the harbor. They told of being without flour and other provisions on account of the boats being unable to land at the town. They told of the loss of a boat of fresh meat being thrown into the lake by the boats for the same reason. They told of the loss of a boat of strawberries on account of the lack of a boat to take them away from them.

Mr. Jewell told of the building of a breakwater, 200 feet long and fifty feet wide, financed by the town. It was almost completed, when one night a northeast storm came along and swept it away.

"We didn't have the money so we didn't build it again," Mr. Jewell said simply. "We have a dock that is unsalvageable and is torn every storm. The town is keeping it in repair, but is sinking a lot of money into it. The town hasn't a legal right to spend money for such a purpose. Some day somebody will object, and then we won't even have a dock."

Cornucopia is twenty-two miles from a railroad, and is absolutely dependent upon lake transportation. Mr. Jewell explained that the transportation problem is holding the country back. The note of optimism and confidence in the future of the territory that Mr. Jewell sounded found favor with the audience, and at the conclusion of his talk he was given an enthusiastic burst of applause.

The fishermen. Charles Jones, a lean, lank fisherman, was the next claimant. "The fishing grounds are far out," said Mr. Jones in a low, drawling voice. "When we get back to Cornucopia, often we can't land. To say in Cornucopia with a boat is dangerous. It is impossible to go into Port Wing at night in a storm and it is almost impossible to get in at night in fair weather. The Apostle Islands are the nearest shelter, but going around Sandy Island in a storm is dangerous."

Mr. Jones said that Cornucopia has the best fishing grounds on the south shore and many other fishermen would locate there were shelter. A. Klossky conducts a store at Cornucopia. He is a little man with a foreign accent and an undying belief in the future of Cornucopia.

The farmers are raising lots of things and they come to buy to buy. I can't buy because I can't depend on the boats," he said. "Several times the boats have come and couldn't land. One time last summer many people were without flour for a week. The boats had to throw fresh meat away for a time. I came in one day and tied my boat to the dock. In fifteen minutes we were suffocated. I lost $1,000 and couldn't fish any more."

H. B. Reed said that he has an orchard with 1,100 trees, and growing strawberries on the side. Transporting them is a real problem, he said. "I went into the fishing business once. I came in one day and tied my boat to the dock. In fifteen minutes we were suffocated. I lost $1,000 and couldn't fish any more."

THE CITY BALLOTS—COUNTING THE VOTE.

Last night The Herald printed in these columns a sample ballot to show how the voters are to mark the ballots in the coming city election.

The names of several men of national prominence were used as most easily typical of the basis of the voter's choice and how he is to indicate it. The ballot was framed as if the men whose names appeared on it were candidates for mayor of Duluth, and each voter therefore was entitled to vote for one candidate in the "first choice" column, and for others as he pleased in the columns designated for second and other choices.

That sample ballot showed the extent of the voter's duty in the matter. Below is given an example of the way in which the votes are to be counted by the election officials, showing how the preferential system of voting insures the election of men acceptable to a majority of the voters.

Supposing these men named in the sample ballot to have been voted upon as candidates for mayor, the total number of votes cast being, for example, 134. The tally sheet on the election would be made up as follows:

Candidate.

First Choice.

Second Choice.

Third Choice.

Fourth Choice.

Fifth Choice.

Other Choices.

Total.

Champ Clark..... 10 10 40 80

Charles E. Hughes..... 10 10 40 80

M. E. Capper..... 10 10 40 80

Nelson W. Aldrich..... 10 10 40 80

Richard Croker..... 10 10 40 80

Knute Nelson..... 10 10 40 80

Joseph W. Folk..... 10 10 40 80

P. M. La Follette..... 10 10 40 80

Woodrow Wilson..... 10 10 40 80

William J. Bryan..... 10 10 40 80

Holmes Penrose..... 10 10 40 80

Peter Jones..... 10 10 40 80

Charles E. Murphy..... 10 10 40 80

In this case it was necessary for the winning candidate to receive 68 votes, a majority of those cast. We will suppose that some special interest has entered the field, and though no party designations are allowed, has decided to concentrate its strength on men whom it knows to be subservient to its will as opposed to the interests of the public at large.

There are several men among the candidates on whom this interest is sure it could rely to do its bidding, but for fear it may waste some of its strength, it passes out word to its henchmen to back Aldrich first of all. Croker is another of whom it feels sure, so it sends out word to cast a full vote for him as second choice, and to give other votes to Penrose and Murphy, on the chance that somebody else may vote for them and so bring up the ratio.

If every voter had but one chance to mark a name on the ballot, and the candidates were as numerous as is here shown, the result of the election would be determined by the standing of the candidates in the "first choice" column. That is, the minority that favors the special interest would be able, by putting its full strength out in favor of Aldrich, to secure his election, since he gets 60 votes, against 20 for Wilson, the next highest man.

But here is where the preferential system gets in its work. It requires 68 votes to elect, instead of a bare plurality, and as none of the candidates has received a majority, or 68, the second choice votes of all candidates are added to the first choice votes. Still there is no election, and so the "other choice" votes are added, with the result shown in the fourth column of figures. La Follette, though the first choice of but four of the voters, was acceptable to a majority of them, and the final count of the ballots shows that he is elected.

All this, of course, is beyond the task that is put upon the voter. His part in the election is only to mark the ballot so that it will show his first choice among the candidates, his second choice, and the men whom he would be willing to trust in office if neither of these is able to pull a majority of the votes cast. The preferential system means rule by a majority and the overthrow of any scheming minority.

IT IS COMING.

One more state—New York—has been added to the list of those that have ratified the amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators. Only a few more ratifications are needed to make the amendment effective, and with the example

A COMPENSATION LAW IS NEEDED.

The Herald respectfully calls attention of the members of the state legislature to the latest unanswerable argument in favor of a workmen's compensation and employers' liability law. It is found in the case of the injured workman who yesterday was awarded restitution from his attorney in a personal injury case in Duluth.

The Herald does not claim that such cases as this are typical or even common. It sincerely hopes they are exceedingly rare. But the fact remains that under the present system they are possible, and a just compensation and liability law is needed to abolish that system.

The press of the state has been virtually unanimous in favor of such an act. Members of the legislature already are pledged to vote for one if any shall be offered that is fair and just in its terms. The workmen of the state need it for their protection, and the employers of the state need it for protection and economy, for under such a law they could settle claims for injury without the uncertainty and expense attendant upon damage suits.

Minnesota needs a compensation and liability law. The legislature should enact one at the present session.

of New York state before them, the states still out of that class should fall rapidly into line.

Direct election of senators is coming, and coming soon. But none too soon. Whatever new avenues of difficulties it may open to the public service, it will do away with such incidents as the Lorimer case and others that have been as a stench in the nostrils of the people. Its establishment will be in the nature of a revolution in our national government, but it will be a revolution of the kind that advances a nation.

Now maybe you know the kind of thing that has made lawyers as a class the subject of ribald jests.

THAT CANAL DREAM.

It ought to take less than five minutes to lay the ghost of the Lake Superior-Mississippi river canal scheme. In the first place, the only thing that could be constructed would be a shallow water affair, and in the annual report of the commissioner of corporations it was shown that out of a total of 4,500 miles of canals built by this government, exactly 2,444 miles of shallow water canals have been abandoned because they were found impractical. This abandoned canal mileage cost the people of the United States $80,000,000. Now it is proposed to add a few more millions to that same entry in the nation's accounts.

Three engineering reports have been made on this scheme by United States army engineers. Maj. Seers made two reports and Maj. Fitch the third.

Every one of these reports declared the project feasible from an engineering standpoint, but worthless from a commercial standpoint. That is, the money could be spent and the canal constructed, but it wouldn't be worth a dried-up tadpole, commercially, after it was done.

Just one interest would gain by the canal, and that is the railroads. They would gain because they would have a permanent, government-built argument to maintain the present discriminatory rates and differentials from the west to the beginning of water transportation. For five months in the year the canal would be closed by the climate; its operation during the other seven months would have to be by means of a long series of locks, which means delay for the barges and slow night traffic, if any at all. It would not—it could not bring a fraction of a cent reduction in rates.

And for this the United States is asked to spend several million dollars. The backers of the project say that estimate was made on the basis of a seven-foot canal, and the men who appeared at the hearing yesterday declared that they demanded a nine-foot canal, which would add materially to the expense.

And even if the canal were built and ready for operation, what would it amount to? Nothing at all. The condition of the Upper Mississippi is such that traffic on it has been decreasing steadily for years, in spite of great government expenditures to keep the channel fit for use. Goods brought to the Head of the Lakes by barge would have to be transferred to the canal barges for transportation on the canal, and there transferred to trains, with a delay of many hours, possibly some days, compared with the time needed to transfer them to trains at the docks and send them on their way inland. Meanwhile the canal would be running up a maintenance cost that would enter the hundred thousands, which would have to be added to the millions of original cost in estimating the loss on the investment.

There are plenty of practical, necessary operations demanding the outlay of the people's money, without throwing a few million away on any such chimerical phantasm as this Lake Superior-Mississippi river dream.

Would it savor of contempt to hope that William Rockefeller's recovery will be as speedy—and as practical—as that of Charles W. Morse?

THE MODERN GIRL.

The modern girl, declared Miss Angenette Perry in an address the other day before the New York City Mothers' club, is unwilling to marry a man with an income of less than $10,000 a year. She said she based her assertion on interviews with "representative young girls, many of whom were just out of college."

The girl who demands that her husband, at the time they marry, shall have an income of not less than $10,000 is not fit to marry anybody. If he has such an income, let her be thankful for the fact, and make sensible use of the good the gods have provided. But the girl who insists on the $10,000 income as a prerequisite for marriage is not fitted for wifehood. What she needs is an incubator-like feed-bottle to her lips and stand ready to help her draw her breath whenever she develops a whim not to exert herself enough to do so alone.

Any girl who is fit to be a wife will be ready to help her husband make his way in the world. It is unreasonable to expect the young man of today to begin where his father (or the girl's) left off.

The girl who is fit to marry will do so with the intention of sharing her husband's struggles for their mutual prosperity and advancement. She will take up the marriage relation in the same spirit that actuated our mothers and grandmothers. If college training, or society training, or anything else, has encouraged the development of such selfishness and cowardice as are indicated in Miss Perry's statement, then they are all wrong and ought to be corrected as soon as possible.

The sugar trust agrees to a reduction in the duty on sugar. Now the pessimists will try to figure up how much the trust has been making under the old arrangement.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their views about the open court question. Letters should be signed and the address of the writer, though not published, should be given. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please tell me, through the Open Court, if President Jackson was any relation to the Jackson who fought at New Orleans, Jan. 15.

No mention of any relationship is made by historians, and if there was any connection whatever between the two families it was a very distant one.—The Editor.

"Telephone" Law.

London Mail: "Telephone law" is a form of ear trouble due to constant use of the telephone.

The argument is really a form of ear strain, an ailment which has been recently noted several cases, explained recently. "If the eyes are fatigued in one particular way, for example, through overwork in brilliant light, images of these lights continue to be seen even in the dark, or when the eyes are closed. In the same way, the person whose ear nerves are constantly being irritated by telephone sounds will have a similar effect on the nerves, heard buzzing and clicking sounds continuously when not using the instrument. In other cases the irritability towards this class of sound may result in temporary deafness."

"Without doubt the sudden jars to the auditory nerves brought on by the ear being constantly on the alert for the telephone bell, the painful buzz of the 'engaged' signal, and the straining to hear a 'bad voice' all tend to produce ear strain. Luckily the only treatment needed is abstention from the use of the telephone for a few days."

Rough on the Model.

Munch correspondence in the New York Sun: Ferdinand Hodler's picture "Das Mutige Weib" (the courageous woman) has been much discussed in art circles, especially in Switzerland, the home of the artist.

The look of terror on the woman's face is lifelike. The story of how the artist got the facial effects, depicting fright and determination, is interesting. Four models came to his studio to sit for the picture. He asked them in turn to wear an expression such as they would have on jumping into a lifeboat from a ship sinking in a storm. Not satisfied with the results, he took them up to the flat roof of his house, which is five stories high, and placed a chair on the extreme edge. The models were dreadfully frightened, and each in turn sat on the edge and rapidly sketched the face and upper part of the figure, though not at all too rapidly for the sitter.

No Bite.

He dropped a line to her knowing that marriage was his wish. He failed to bait with gold, and so went elsewhere to fish.—Judge.

A Word About Credit

By SACRARD.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—His testimony before the Pujol committee, J. Pierpont Morgan deposed under oath that he once loaned a man $100,000, though he knew that man was not worth a cent. And it is upon that foundation that traffic is built. When we get a little more civilized we will put that thing in the law, which is to say, there shall be no legal process for the collection of a debt. No doubt Alcibiades was taught in his childhood that honesty is the best policy. And honesty will be the only possible policy when the law grants no relief to the creditor against a defaulting debtor.

And "rarer than the phoenix" will be the dishonest defaulting debtor when character shall be the basis of all credit, as it was the foundation of the loan mentioned by Mr. Morgan. Fraudulent bankruptcies would be infinitely more difficult under the suggested change, and brazen fraud would be impossible. The man in debt, able to pay and refusing to do so, would be ostracized even by the scamps themselves who would steal if it were not sufficient to support a family. As it now is, regarded as a speculation nearly always disastrous. If character, and not assets, were the basis of credit, the rags would be forced to be honest, for though he had the cattle of a thousand hills he would have no money to pay, and the merchant without credit would be a beggar without food. Life without health; age without reverence.

As for that, traffic, as it is now conducted, the world round, is mostly based on character. No merchant will sell to a customer whom he suspects he will "have to sue for his money." I was in the private office of a well-known eminent banker, and a customer came in with a note for a considerable sum and requested that it be discounted. The banker refused. The customer departed, much hurt by his failure.

Questioned as to why he refused the paper, the banker said something like this: "I will not discount that note. It is a very rich and a very prosperous man who would consider it no reflection if sued for a debt that he honestly owed. Our friend will get his money back. He is honest and reliable. I would have indorsed it myself had he asked me and the other man's name not been on it."

That is business and that is the way all business will be transacted when all businessmen in America get to be as honest as this honest man.

There is no elsewhere in the world where credit is so good as it is in America. It exists to the degree it does in China. Poor, benighted heathens, as we in our arrogance and in our stupidity think of them. He has his civilization, we have ours. We look on him with a certain contempt. But he will pay his debts, and he will not let us take his money. He is a very rich and a very prosperous man who would consider it no reflection if sued for a debt that he honestly owed. Our friend will get his money back. He is honest and reliable. I would have indorsed it myself had he asked me and the other man's name not been on it."

OPPOSITION IS WORKING

Hot Fight Over North Dakota State Tax Commission.

Burke Appointees May Not Be Confirmed By Senate.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the forces opposed to the confirmation of Governor Burke's appointments to the state tax commission are in earnest in their movement is indicated by the fact that this week of organizing against Messrs. Birdsell, Wallace and Packard is advancing steadily.

The appointments are now in the hands of the state affairs committee of the senate, of which J. E. Davis is chairman, and it is probable that they will be called up for consideration this week by the committee.

Governor Burke appointed the commission under the law enacted two years ago. It was provided that the appointments should be made July 1, 1912, and at that time Governor Burke named the appointments. Now it is contended that the appointments should be referred to the senate, inasmuch as the commission will be working during his administration. There will be a hot fight on the floor of the senate.

The situation relating to the members of the board of control of penal and charitable institutions also presents interesting features, for the confirmation at this time of the Burke appointees, who also were named during the legislative recess, would mean that they hold over till July 1.

To Abolish Written Journal. It appears quite probable that the resolution presented yesterday abolishing the written journal will be passed. Hereafter, during the legislative session and for thirty days following, clerks have been engaged in writing the journal in long hand. The written journal is not indexed, and it is contended that it is practically valueless. The use of the printed journal, properly certified to, as the official record, is the plan proposed, and its adoption would mean a saving of about $5,000 in each session.

The question of making terms of officials four years is raised in the bill presented by Senator McLean yesterday. It will have considerable support on account of the fact that Governor Hanna made recommendations in his message that such legislation be passed. To increase the terms to four years necessitates the passage of the bill by this and the next legislature, and its approval at the polls two years thereafter.

World Remove Court. Because of the removal of the county seat of Pembina county from the city of Pembina to Cavalier, Representative Hendrick of Wash. county has introduced a bill proposing the removal of the court chambers to Cavalier. A rather interesting situation arose in Pembina county by reason of this change. The county seat was at Cavalier, but the court chambers were placed at Pembina, under a statute.

In the university appropriation bill, $5,000 is asked for the construction of a new school building, $25,000 for a chemistry building, $25,000 for a maintenance, and $45,000 for general maintenance, making a total of $100,000. Under the head of special maintenance is included equipment for the school of mines, school of medicine, library and extension work, as well as several other items.

Money For the Schools. The bill by Senator Talcott for $74,600 appropriation for the graded, rural and consolidated schools, is in accordance with the recommendations of State Superintendent E. J. Taylor. The bill proposes $38,000 annually for the graded schools, $25,000 annually for the consolidated schools, and $11,600 for the rural schools, and $6,000 for the state's salary and expenses. With these appropriations it would be possible to extend state aid to a greater number of schools.

Senator Jacobson introduced a bill yesterday relating to the licensing of milk and cream by so-called central creameries. It has been charged from time to time that the central creameries have gone into districts where there is a local creamery, offering a higher price for the product than the local company can pay, and when the latter is allowed to the wall, the prices fall again. Senator Jacobson makes this practice unlawful and provides a penalty for violations. The attorney general and the dairy department have both been interested in investigations into such alleged unfair discrimination during the past year or two.

To Revise the Code. It is quite generally admitted that a revised code for the state is necessary, as the last revision of the code took place in 1905. Two years ago a code commission bill was introduced, but it failed of passage. The bill introduced yesterday provides for the appointment of a committee to be appointed by the governor not later than April 1. It also contemplates the printing of a copy of the code for the state.

Must Have Stamps. North Dakota solons will pay for their own stamps this session, the senate yesterday voting down a resolution providing for the supplying of stamps to the members. A special committee had reported a proposal to allow $2 for each member for stamps.

A DULUTH REPORTER'S SCOOP

John Eddy Gave W. R. Hearst the Photographs of the Standard Oil Letters, and Was Fired While Hearst Was on Stand.

John Eddy, who was a newspaper reporter at Duluth twenty years ago, and whom many of the old-timers well remember, is a prominent figure in one of the greatest newspaper sensations that has occurred within recent years. The latest edition of Collier's Weekly, in an editorial entitled "Suppressing the Evidence," intimates that William R. Hearst, proprietor of the New York American, discharged Mr. Eddy as the result of a question asked Mr. Hearst during the taking of testimony in the Archbold case. It seems that Mr. Hearst discharged Mr. Eddy mentally from his employ within a few seconds after the asking of the fatal question.

Collier's states that the American on Tuesday morning, Dec. 17, had Mr. Eddy's name published at the top of the foreign page as correspondent at during the session, and several senators declared such procedure ridiculous, the result being that the whole proposition was voted down.

Representative O'Connor of Grand Forks proposes that hotels furnish eight-foot sheets and individual towels in wash rooms, together with other requirements, before a license is granted.

WASHBURN TALKS TO MISSIONARIES

Minnesota Professor Gives Series of Lectures on Agriculture.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Missouri State Dairyman's association and other agricultural organizations, including the two months' short course students, and the four-year students in the college of agriculture, listened this morning to the last of a series of talks and lectures by Prof. R. M. Washburn of the University of Minnesota dairy faculty. Missouri farmers and agriculturists listened with especial interest to Prof. Washburn's words because of the fact that he was the organizer and first head of the dairy and food commission of that state. He spoke this morning before the student body on "Minnesota in the Study of Agriculture," emphasizing the great demand for trained agricultural teachers and leaders because of the fact that the college of agriculture is having great difficulty in finding sufficient graduates to fill the need.

Yesterday morning he addressed the State Dairyman's association on Factors Controlling Efficiency in Dairy Cows," discussing at some length the importance of proper dairy type. Yesterday evening he gave a lecture illustrated by lantern slides on the study of agriculture before a general meeting open to all the organizations of state agricultural interests and to the general public.

In his address on the "Study of Agriculture," Prof. Washburn said: "Agriculture is not being studied for the farmer, but through him for humanity. It is a simple historic fact that when for any reason two-thirds or more of the total population of any country are required to devote their time to the production of food and clothing for the whole, progress is made very slowly, if at all. The political status of any country is determined very largely by her economic strength and this in turn is founded upon the production of human necessities—food, clothing and shelter. America has swung ahead among the nations because her machinery and methods were developed before the soil became impoverished. While the farmer of Japan produces nine times as much per acre as the American farmer, our farmer produces nine times as much per man."

EDITOR NEWETT TO MAKE FIGHT

Ishpeming Scribe, Sued By Col. Roosevelt, Has Filed Answer.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 15.—George A. Newett, editor of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, charged by Col. Roosevelt with criminal and civil libel in printing the statement the late Progressive presidential candidate was addicted to drink, has filed his plea in court here, through his attorney, W. E. Holden. This indicates that the civil suit for $10,000 damages will be brought to trial at a term of the circuit court.

The remaining steps are the filing of a notice of trial, by either party, and the filing of a note of issue, the formal notice that the case is to be taken up by the court.

Published in Good Faith. In his plea, Mr. Holden says that the defendant will, on the trial of the issue, set forth in the plaintiff's declaration, present evidence that "if the defendant ever published or caused to be published the words of the plaintiff, the words were published in good faith, and he did so in good faith and without malice and under circumstances creating the qualified privilege, to-wit: that, at the time alleged, when the plaintiff was a candidate for the office of president of the United States, his public conduct and his fitness for such office were properly subject to discussion as matters of common and general interest, and that at the time alleged in the declaration it was widely and currently reported that the plaintiff was then and there a habitual drunkard, and that the defendant had been informed through sources he deemed reliable that those statements and rumors were true and that he published the same in good faith."

Mr. Holden says that Mr. Newett will in defense give evidence and insist that at and before the time of publishing the words complained of the plaintiff was guilty of the facts charged and imputed to him.

MIGHT DO WORK WITH $50,000

Engineer Says Rock From Superior Street Could Be Sold.

City Engineer Wilson believes that $50,000 could be utilized to open Superior street through the Point of Rocks between Eighth and Fourteenth avenues west. Last Monday night he estimated the cost of the work at $302,000. This would be made by sale of the rock. The engineer believes that if a good plan be installed and the time extended over a period of years, the work can be done with $50,000 as a revolving fund. He says that there is a good local market for crushed rock.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Hillwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions are filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual diseases that come from that. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur) three times a day in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly colored for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets of grapefruit.

"Mrs. A. D." writes: "I have been cured by using the following: (Tincture) catnip 1 dram; tincture of wormwood 2 drams; compound of wormwood 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals."

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, all my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2 oz. package of Vaseline powder and add to it a pint of warm water, sniff the water from the palm of the hand three or four times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vasoline, or hard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp. 1 oz., compound of wormwood 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. bicarb. Mix by shaking well before using. This is a fine tonic and system tonic for old and young.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is falling and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 1 oz. jar of plain yellow Mineral Oil. Apply as per directions. This treatment is different from the one actually seen the astonishing transformation which results from its use. The dandruff and itching are cured and two or three applications, while it makes the hair healthy, shiny and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks or teasing people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hypo-Nuclease tablets, that I have become to regard them as a safe and reliable remedy for the treatment of all who are anemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRKLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JAN. 13.

Genesis 1:1. Man's First Sin.

CONNECTION.

We saw that the man was created innocent, but would not be moral till he had chosen to remain so in the face of temptation to do otherwise. His condition was ideal. Every thing a God could do to fit him to meet the temptation successfully had been done and he must stand back and let him work out his own destiny. God had arranged the test, had given the warnings and made the appeal. The test was not to be completed till the temptation was met. The temptation was to eat of the forbidden fruit. The test was to see if the man would stand back and let him work out his own destiny. The temptation was to eat of the forbidden fruit. The test was to see if the man would stand back and let him work out his own destiny.

THE LESSON.

The Sin, 1-8.

"Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which Jehovah God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of the tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, The fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat: But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, neither shall we touch it: lest we die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as God, knowing good and evil. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat: and she gave also unto her husband with her, and he did eat. And the eyes of them both were opened, and they saw that they were naked: and they sewed fig-leaves together, and made themselves aprons. And they heard the voice of Jehovah God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of Jehovah God amongst the trees of the garden."

1. PREPARATION.—His equipment for the attack on the home of the innocent nature capable of choosing the right and being perfected in holiness; the serpent, the voice of the devil, would furnish him all possible convincing nature and would lead him to seeking any forbidden thing so that he might be able to do it without any warning as to what was coming if he disobeyed; promises, implied at least, as to the reward of disobedience. The serpent, the voice of the devil, would furnish him all possible convincing nature and would lead him to seeking any forbidden thing so that he might be able to do it without any warning as to what was coming if he disobeyed; promises, implied at least, as to the reward of disobedience.

2. THE TEST.—It was perfect. Nothing was made by mixing without—had to be because he had no complaint, was entirely satisfied with what he was doing, and he was not to be moved from the shore of the world as well as most powerful and malignant source from the serpent, the voice of the devil, would furnish him all possible convincing nature and would lead him to seeking any forbidden thing so that he might be able to do it without any warning as to what was coming if he disobeyed; promises, implied at least, as to the reward of disobedience.

3. THE TEMPTATION.—The temptation attacked the man at the most susceptible point, his desire to reach his home, his desire to be perfect. At any rate that is the point of the attack of the one interested in convincing the man to do wrong. The temptation was to eat of the forbidden fruit. The test was to see if the man would stand back and let him work out his own destiny.

4. THE FALL.—The serpent, the voice of the devil, would furnish him all possible convincing nature and would lead him to seeking any forbidden thing so that he might be able to do it without any warning as to what was coming if he disobeyed; promises, implied at least, as to the reward of disobedience.

man does wrong he begins to look around for the trees of the garden. Commit iniquity and the first impulse is that of concealment.—Cory.

We believe there is a profound sense in which the human race is one. But, if there is an inheritance of sin, there is also an inheritance of virtue; if we sinned in the garden, we rose in the wilderness.—Lyman Abbott.

Satan was a cynic; he had lost faith in the integrity of God and man. He is so still. He sits in the corner of his mind, where the boys have come evenings to hear the men "swamp yarn," and he holds his cigar at a rakish angle in the corner of his mouth, and assumes a blasé air. Oh, Satan, how you have changed! You used to tell him anything about men being honest and women virtuous. They all have their weak spot—their fatal flaw. And you drink this in this in a longing way tomorrow, and wonder in his heart why, if all men are dishonest, he need be so straight-laced.—Cowan.

1. CONDEMNATION.—God knew at once and He had His witness inside the man which compelled him to confess, though he tried to lie out of it at first. Two things attract our attention—this confession written from him by God's self with the woman's sin. What he said was true, but it was not a justification nor was it a lie. It did not excuse the woman and it does not allow any woman to lead men into sin nor does it excuse the man who leads them into sin. The punishment also should have been the punishment of the man who leads them into sin.

2. PUNISHMENT.—God's knowledge of the man's sin was complete. The man's punishment, his banishment, so that he should not eat of the tree of life and gain an immortality of evil, and condemnation to hard labor. The punishment may include the angels or the truly or may be the period of misery. The tree of life had not been forbidden to eat of it. The man's punishment is a still greater dependence on her husband and much more on the man's sin. The object of the man's punishment is to lead him to a better life. BEARS REGAIN LOST GROUND

Partial Recovery From Big Wheat Bulge of Previous Session.

Small Offers of Flaxseed and Brisk Demand Boost the Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 16.—Wheat today had a sharp reaction on the markets of North America from the big bulge that took place yesterday, and most of the advance was wiped out. Duluth May wheat today closed 3/4¢ off and July 5/8¢ off. Cash wheat closed 2¢ under May. Durum closed 1/4¢ off, oats 1/4¢ off and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth January linseed closed 1/4¢ higher and May 1/2¢ higher.

There was quite a bearish reaction in the wheat pits of the principal grain markets of North America today. The big bulge of yesterday went too far. Primary receipts were very large, and, as usual, far in excess of those of a year ago. The situation, it is generally thought, is not so good as it was a year ago. The export demand for wheat was strong. The Eastern buyers, both exporters and millers, are eager to take all the wheat that can be shipped by rail to that part of the country, and the movement is limited not by the demand but by the limited supply. It is generally thought that the decline that took place this morning was but a temporary reaction. The Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at 50¢ asked, opened today at 49 1/2¢ and at noon was quoted at 49 1/2¢. There were lower quotations also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat today closed 1/4¢ higher. The firmness of the American markets yesterday, a sharp advance at Buenos Aires, and an improved demand for spot wheat with cargoes in good receipt, free bidding and free delivery of American wheat by the continent, and good buying on the Liverpool market.

Big Bulge in Flax.

The Duluth flax market was decidedly bullish this morning. The light and there was a good speculative demand. The London and American markets which have been quite bearish, took a bullish turn today, and thus preventing a big bulge on the North American market. The Duluth January flax, which was yesterday at 10 1/2¢, opened today at 10 3/4¢ and at noon today was 10 3/4¢. The Duluth May flax, which was yesterday at 10 1/2¢, opened today at 10 3/4¢ and at noon today was 10 3/4¢. The Duluth January flax, which was yesterday at 10 1/2¢, opened today at 10 3/4¢ and at noon today was 10 3/4¢.

CHARGES MADE AGAINST STATE AUDITOR IVERSON CONCERNING IRON LANDS

Claimed That He Unduly Favored Duluth & Iron Range Road.

County Aid to Settlers in Clearing Cutover Lands Proposed.

Fight Over Location of New Normal School Is Reopened.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Speaker H. H. Dunn made strong intonations in the house this morning against the administration of the state auditor's office in connection with his bill to forbid the patenting of any further railroad land grant lands to the Duluth & Iron Range unless the mineral rights are reserved. He had his bill recalled from committee and put on general orders by a unanimous vote, explaining that there was need of hasty action before any more minerals get away from the state.

Mr. Dunn charged that the patenting of this land grant had been curiously delayed, and that it had been accompanied by a curious activity of exploration, intimating that the state has allowed the matter to drag along until the company located mineral lands, and that then the state auditor has patented the land, and the settler given ten years in which to pay. The bill has the backing of the state bankers' association.

Normal School Fight Reopened.
The old normal school fight opened again this morning when Representative O'Neill offered a bill locating a new normal school at Thief River Falls. Representative McGarry promptly following with his bill for a normal school at Cass Lake, Ada, Bemidji, Park Rapids and other communities are expected to participate.

Representative Bendixsen is preparing a resolution, to be introduced (Continued on page 14, third column.)

TESTIMONY FOR STREET CAR CASE

Former City Editor of Old Duluth Paper Makes Deposition.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Rankin and Edward Whalen of Duluth were in St. Paul yesterday on their way back from a trip to Cranston, Wis., to get evidence relating to the beginning of the Duluth street railway's operations in Duluth to be used in the injunction hearing before the United States court next week. Carrying with them the files of the old Duluth Tribune of that day, they located D. L. Stanchfield, then city editor of the Tribune, who readily recalled the circumstances, identified the reports on the newspaper files regarding the failure of the company to begin operation within the year specified in its franchise, and furnished a deposition containing what may prove to be valuable evidence.

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

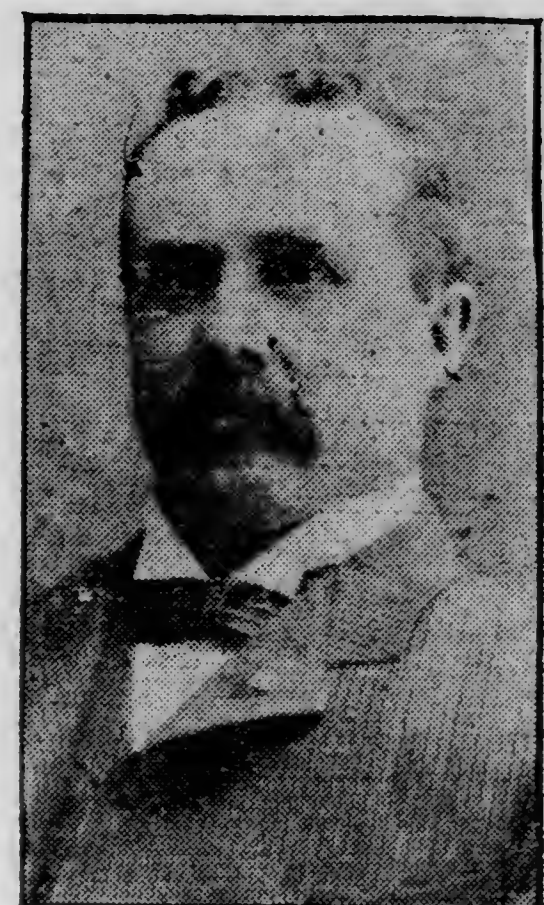

Distance Tariff Law May Be Passed at Present Session.

Hearings on the Cashman Bill to Begin Next Tuesday.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prospects for the enactment of a distance tariff law, for which the communities of Southern Minnesota have been fighting for years, could hardly be brighter than they are. Two years ago this measure would undoubtedly have passed had it not been for two things:

First—The Minnesota rate cases were pending before the United States court, and it was said that the passage of a new law affecting freight rate structures in Minnesota would make these cases "moot," cause the court to throw them out, and make a loss of all the large amount of money the state has spent upon them. Second—Many were led to vote against the distance tariff measure because it was so ineffectual as to make (Continued on page 9, fourth column.)

REPORTED FAVORABLY

"Votes for Women" Bill Reported By Senate Committee.

Interesting Discussion of the Recall of Elective Officers.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Votes for women" is the first measure to be reported out of committee in the large list of important measures to be considered by the legislature at this session.

The senate election committee yesterday afternoon voted to recommend for passage the proposed constitutional amendment by Senator Ole O. Sagen of Ottentail county, Populist, putting women on an equal basis with men in public affairs. The motion to report the bill favorably was made by Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth, and on a viva voce vote there were no negatives, though one or two members of the committee are personally opposed to giving women the elective franchise.

Two years ago woman suffrage came within one vote of getting enough to pass in the senate. It was not seriously considered in the house. This year it is believed that there is much doubt that the bill will pass the house, and there is said to be (Continued on page 5, first column.)

WILL NOT CUT DOWN SENATE

Membership Will Not Be Reduced in Reapportionment Bill.

Meetings to Promote Public Discussions Are Proposed.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work for reapportionment started off in both branches of the legislature yesterday afternoon, as per program, without a hitch. The preliminary work consisted of the organization of the two reapportionment committees and the appointment of sub-committees, charged with the drafting of a reapportionment bill.

Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth represents Northeastern Minnesota on the senate sub-committee, and A. L. Warner of Duluth is that section's representative in the house. Northern Minnesota is also represented on the house sub-committee by the chairman of the general committee, Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin. The sub-committees are as follows: Senate—Victor L. Johnson, chairman; First congressional district, Senator McGrath; Second, Senator Dues; Third, Senator Benson; Fourth, Senator Mackey; Fifth, Senator Elwell; Sixth, Senator J. D. Sullivan; Seventh, Senator Rustad; Eighth, Senator Boyle; Ninth, Senator Hanson. House—C. H. Warner, chairman; First congressional district, H. H. (Continued on page 5, second column.)

BUSINESS IN THE HANDS OF BIG COMBINE

Steamship Companies With Aid of Railroads Have Monopoly.

Practically in Control of Atlantic Coast Shipping Trade.

Witness Tells How He Was Forced to Sell His Ships.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Ship trust—Atlantic coast shipping trade is practically controlled by a combine of the Atlantic, Gulf & West India Steamship company, New York & Porto Rico Steamship company, Clyde line, Mallory line and Eastern line, and the Inland line, according to A. H. Bull, president of the A. H. Bull Steamship company, who testified today before the house shipping trust committee. The combination, Mr. Bull said, operated under agreements with the railroads, by which the railroads refuse to prorate with any independent lines on less than full cargoes. He added it was almost impossible for an independent company to secure wharfage facilities because the railroads owned or controlled the terminals at most of the ports, including New York, where the piers were leased.

Mr. Bull testified that after organizing the New York & Porto Rico Steamship company, a combination of circumstances forced him in 1909 to sell his interest and sign a bond not to enter the Porto Rico trade for ten years. The line then was taken into (Continued on page 14, second column.)

ASKS INDICTMENT FOR BROKER HENRY

Chairman Pujo Appears Before Federal Grand Jury.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Chairman Pujo of the house money trust committee testified before the Federal grand jury today asking the indictment for contempt of George G. Henry, a New York broker who refused to tell the committee the names of twenty-four national bank officers who, said, profited $50,000 to a syndicate flotation of California Petroleum stock. The committee has no authority to inquire into the affairs. The case promises to go to the supreme court.

CAPTAIN PERCHED ON THE PROPELLER

With Mate He Refuses to Leave His Sunken Ship.

Liverpool, Jan. 17.—The captain and mate of the British steamer Auchenard, perched on her propeller twenty feet above the water, refused to leave their vessel today after she had sunk in the mouth of the Mersey as the result of a collision with the British steamer La Blanca.

The Auchenard was just leaving port when it collided with the La Blanca, which was steaming into Liverpool from La Plata. The crash occurred during a thick fog and the Auchenard sank almost immediately. Although La Blanca was badly crippled, she stood by and rescued the sailors of the Auchenard and brought them into port.

The Auchenard had gone down bow first, leaving her propeller high above the water and the captain and mate took refuge there after refusing La Blanca's offer to rescue them.

Committee to Comply With Wishes of Governor Wilson.

He Thinks Functions Have Ceased to Be Necessary.

Large Expense Is Another Reason Why They Should Be Omitted.

Washington, Jan. 17.—"There will be no inaugural ball," declared William C. Eustis, chairman of the inaugural committee, today, after an informal conference with several members, over President-elect Wilson's letter requesting that the committee consider the feasibility of omitting the function. "The wishes of President-elect Wilson will be complied with," said Mr. Eustis. "The committee will take official action later."

Wilson Sends Letter.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17.—President-elect Wilson favors the abolishment of the inaugural ball. This became known when he sent a letter to William C. Eustis at Washington, chairman of the inaugural committee, asking him to consider the feasibility of omitting it. Mr. Wilson's letter follows:

"My dear Mr. Eustis:—After taking counsel with a great many persons and assessing as well as I could general opinion in the matter, I have come to the conclusion that it is my duty to ask you to consider the feasibility of omitting the inaugural ball altogether. I do this with a great deal of hesitation, because I do not wish to interfere with settled practices or with reasonable expectations of those who usually go to enjoy the inauguration, but it has come to wear the aspect of a sort of public duty, because of the large indirect expense upon the government incidental to it, and because (Continued on page 14, first column.)

REFUSES TO GIVE NAMES OF HIS ACCOMPLICES.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—James E. Perry, confessed leader of the band of automobile bandits who have committed a score of daring robberies in the past few days, was questioned by the police today in the hope that he might disclose the names of his accomplices. "There were four of us, but I'll never tell the names of my pals," he said. "I have told all I am going to tell about these holdups."

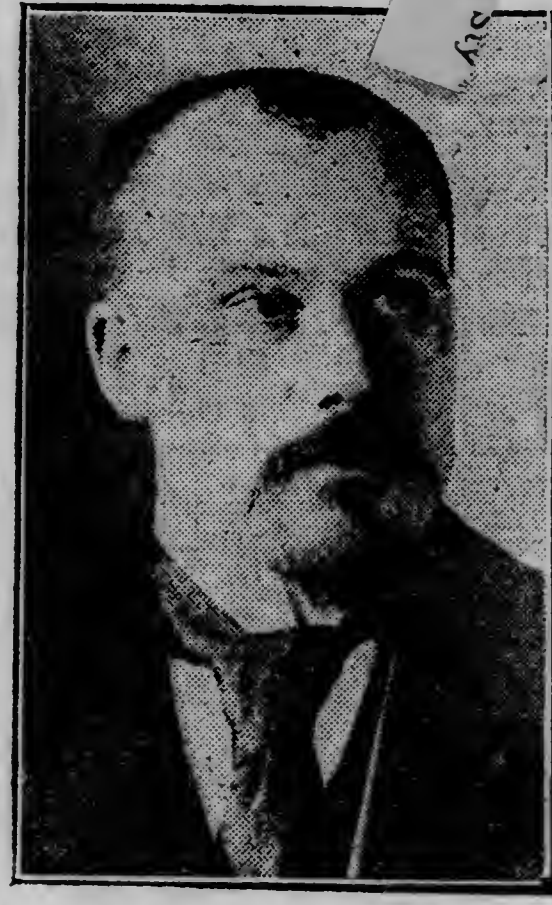

Although he has refused to talk about his family, the police believe Perry came from a southern city. He has a good education and is well dressed.

DEPENDS ON CONSENT OF SUPERIOR

Separate Customs District for Head of Lakes Is Favored.

Duluth, Superior and Ashland Would Be in New District.

Protests Against Abolishing Duluth District Pouring Into Washington.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Jan. 17.—Representative Miller's fight for the retention of Duluth as a separate port of entry in the customs administration has been successful to the extent that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, who is handling the matter for the department, agrees that a separate custom district should be created at the Head of the Lakes, to include Duluth, Superior and Ashland. The plan, however, requires the consent of Superior, which has not been given by Congressmen Leavitt.

The Wisconsin member insists that both Superior and Ashland shall be included in a district which will comprise the whole state of Wisconsin, with headquarters at Milwaukee. Representative Miller said today that he is gratified with the progress made at the treasury department, and that he hopes Superior will consent to the establishment of this enlarged district at the Head of the Lakes.

"If Superior continues to oppose the plan," Mr. Miller said, "I shall stand for the retention of the present Duluth district and fight for it to the end." Not less than 100 persons have come to Mr. Miller from parties interested, urging him to continue the fight for Duluth as a custom district. The commercial organizations of Duluth, without exception, have telegraphed protests against the abolishment of the custom district. Practically every business firm and corporation in Duluth has done the same, and telegrams have also come from towns in the vicinity of Duluth, including Ashland, Boyce, Hibbing, Blwabik and Moose Lake.

Mr. Miller has also received a telegram from William Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' association, endorsing the fight that he is making for Duluth.

Premier Selected By National Assembly to Succeed Fallieres.

Lacked But Six Votes of Election on First Ballot.

Led His Nearest Competitor Jules Pams By 100 Votes.

Versailles, Jan. 17.—Premier Poincaré was elected president of the French republic by the national assembly here today, on the second ballot, which resulted as follows: Raymond Poincaré, 483; Jules Pams, 266; Marie Edouard Mailland, 68. The assembly was opened this afternoon by Antonin Dubouché, president of the senate, who read the decree of convocation. Nine-tenths of the spectators in the galleries were women. Everybody present was listening with strained attention when suddenly a thunderous voice from the body of the hall shouted "We protest against!"

The rest of the phrase was lost in a tumult of cries and exclamations. The voice was that of the Conservative deputy, the Marquis d'Albion, who, when the uproar had subsided, started afresh: "We protest against the election of the president of the republic by parliament instead of by the people!"

The assembly was agitated anew by a shout from a Socialist deputy: "Down with the empire!" The Republicans replied by cheering, "Long live the republic!"

Senator Dubouché gradually restored order by admonishing the assembly that such interruptions were deplorable and futile as well as being contrary to the rules of what was merely an electoral college, where motions and speeches, whatever their character, were not permissible.

Premier Poincaré led Jules Pams, his principal opponent, by more than 100 votes on the first ballot, and was within six votes of the necessary absolute majority for election. The details of the ballot were as follows:

Raymond Poincaré, 429; Jules Pams, 327; Marie Edouard Mailland, 68; Deschanel, 18; Felix Ribot, 16; Leon Bourgeois, 4; Alexandre Millerand, 2; Alfred Buisson, 2; Theophile Delcasse, 2; Antonin Dubouché, 1; Henri Rochfort, 1; blanks, 5.

PREMIER INSULTED BY CLEMENCEAU

Duel Avoided By Satisfactory Explanation to Poincaré's Seconds.

Versailles, France, Jan. 17.—Premier Raymond Poincaré was insulted by ex-Premier Georges Clemenceau at the opening of the national congress for the election of a president. M. TOBACCO MEN HEARD FIRST Tariff Board Considers Duty on Tobacco and Paper.

Manufacturers From All Over Country Attend Session.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Paper and tobacco industries were today on the hearing program of the house committee on ways and means. A large representation of those interested in the pulp, paper and book industries, affected by Schedule "M" of the tariff law, were ready early to a city and among scheduled witnesses were men from Havana, Tampa, and other cities here as spokesmen for the wrangler of the tariff. The tariff law, which is now before the committee, is a result of the tariff and importing interests, who regard the consideration of Schedule "F" as vitally important.

The present law taxes mechanically ground pulp at wood pulp at 1 cent a pound, but admits it free from any production place which does not (Continued on page 14, second column.)

MARINE LIVINGSTONE IS RE-ELECTED

Lake Carriers' Association Closes Annual Convention at Detroit.

Two Duluth Men Involved in Changes in Board of Directors.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—William Livingstone of Detroit was re-elected president of the Lake Carriers' association at the closing session of its annual convention here today. All of the other officers were re-elected. Four changes were made in the board of directors. Thomas, Cleveland, was chosen to succeed Edward Morton of Cleveland and R. K. Oakes, Cleveland, named as successor to A. B. Wolvin of Duluth. The death of Directors J. J. Brown of Buffalo and F. W. Gilchrist of Detroit occurred during the last year and the successors chosen today are Joseph B. Rodgers, Buffalo, and L. C. Waldo of Detroit, respectively. G. A. Tomlinson of Duluth was placed on the executive committee to succeed the late J. J. Brown.

EASTON LAID UP FOR WINTER

The Booth line steamer Easton finished its season this week. This staunch little craft has been sailing along the north shore of Lake Superior for years, supplying the denizens of that part of the world with the necessities and some of the luxuries of life, and has never been damaged during her career outside of what happened to her a few weeks ago, when she went over a ledge near Thunder Cape and hung there a number of hours until her cargo was lightened. The Easton is of 450 gross tonnage, is 155 feet long and 20 feet beam. She was built in 1896 and is one of the staunchest little craft on the lakes.

TUGMEN WILL GO TO CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the International Tugmen's Protective association will be held in Detroit on Feb. 21 and three Duluth tugmen will attend, representing the local branch of the organization. They are: Capt. Martin Cole, who is president of the national association; Capt. W. E. Hoy, president of the local branch, and Frank Frost.

RAILROADS DAYLIGHT TRAIN MAY RUN SOON

Canadian Northern Official Says Amount of Travel Will Control.

J. R. Cameron, assistant general manager of the Canadian Northern railroad, who is in the city, told The Herald today that "it would not be surprising" as he put it, if daylight service is put on between here and Port Frances at any time. Said he: "There is no telling when daylight service will be necessary for our passenger service. I am told that it is growing right along, and that at any time we may have to install a train. No, it is not correctly reported that we will not put on a daylight train before the first of June. There is no date set. It may happen at any time. Of course business guides it entirely."

TO SUCCEED KENNEDY.

F. E. Nichols New Superintendent of Omaha's Eau Claire Division.

St. James, Minn., Jan. 17.—Several changes are announced on this division of the Omaha railroad. F. E. Nichols, superintendent here, is promoted to be superintendent of the Eau Claire, Wis., to succeed Division Supt. T. W. Kennedy, who becomes assistant superintendent at St. Paul. J. R. Welsh of Omaha becomes division superintendent here and E. E. Blundell, assistant superintendent at Eau Claire, goes to Omaha as superintendent.

ON TRIAL FOR COUNTERFEITING

Tony and Frank Milano Face Serious Charge in Federal Court.

After the sudden ending of the trial of the damage suit of John E. Causley against the Great Northern road in United States court yesterday, the case of the United States against Tony and Frank Milano was taken up. These men, brothers, were arrested last November, charged with being counterfeiters. The specific charge against them in this trial is that they had in their possession certain counterfeit money. They were arrested in a house on Garfield avenue, and when found, with them was found, it is claimed, a complete outfit of dies, moulds and other paraphernalia for the making of "ques" money. When indicted by the grand jury, they pleaded not guilty and are today being tried. The government closed its case when court adjourned for the noon recess.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Alfred Miller Admits Grand Larceny Charge Before Judge Ensing.

Alfred Miller yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty in district court before Judge Ensing to an indictment charging grand larceny, second degree. He admitted robbing Charles Saline of $104 and a gold watch. Miller was employed at the time of the robbery as a bartender in Egdahl's saloon, where the larceny took place. VACCINATE SOLDIERS.

Many Members of Wisconsin National Guard Immune Against Typhoid. Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—About 1,000 members of the National Guard of Wisconsin have been vaccinated during the past year with anti-typhoid vaccine, according to the report of Dr.

M. P. Ravenel, director of the state hygienic laboratory, filed with President Van Hise of the state university. The outbreak of typhoid in soldiers' camps has been so common throughout the country that Dr. Ravenel recommended to the surgeon general of the Wisconsin National Guard that its members be vaccinated. The serum used is claimed to render them immune from the disease.

FOX-FARMING A GOLD MINE.

Strand: Some years ago one Lamb (a Canadian farmer of that name, and not a quadruped cherishing a hereditary resentment), while hunting some strayed cattle in the woods, found two silver fox pups, a male and a female, in a hollow log. He contrived to carry them home, and swapped them with a neighbor for a cow and a few dollars to boot. The neighbor experimented for several years with various kinds of pens and treatment, but finally became discouraged and sold the foxes for $50 to another neighbor, who also was no more successful than the late owner. This second man gave over his experiment to a third man, who lived on an island in Cascumpe bay. The quiet of the new place, the increasing tameness of the foxes and the intelligence of the new keeper produced conditions that relieved Mme. Reynard's nervous apprehension for her young's safety, and three pups were reared to maturity in two seasons. This success, the result of eight years' experimentation, gave a strong impulse to a brand-new industry. Farmers have not many new industries to turn to nowadays, and this one began in earnest. About six men possessed a knowledge of the fine art of rearing foxes in captivity, and jealously guarded their secret until 1910. Up to that time no live foxes were sold except some light "silver" to distant places.

The surplus animals were killed and the pelts marketed in London. One dark silver pelt was sold for $2,000 at a London auction, and in 1910-11 prices of $2,700 and $2,500 were obtained. Since then as much as $3,500 has been realized, the highest price ever paid for the pelt of any kind of animal. Now that the secret is out, fox farms are springing up in Canada in all directions, and henceforth it would seem only a problem for the animal husbandman. Perhaps the day will soon come when books of fox marten, otter and mink pedigrees will be published. One fox farm recently visited by the writer on the banks of the St. Lawrence contained eighteen animals, for which the owner demanded $75,000.

M'COMBS NOT TO BE IN CABINET

Chairman of Democratic Committee Is to Go Abroad.

New York, Jan. 17.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has informed President-elect Wilson that under the advice of physicians he must refrain from all official and political activity after the inauguration at Washington March 4. This means that Mr. McCombs will not enter the cabinet of President Wilson.

Dudley Field Malone, son-in-law of Senator James A. O'Gorman, has been tendered and has accepted the post of secretary to President-elect Wilson. He will assume the duties of this position after March 4.

It is stated by friends of Mr. McCombs that within a few days after the inauguration he will leave the United States for an extended visit to one or more of the German seaports, and that after he has taken the cure there he will go to Italy or to the south of France for an indefinite stay.

One friend who not long ago accompanied him to Washington to attend a dinner with him tells how the Democratic campaign leader was driven almost to distraction by the importance of office-seekers.

"You see how what it means, don't you?" Mr. McCombs pathetically inquired of his friend after they had finally escaped into a Pullman state-room that had been reserved for them for their return passage to New York. "I can't stand it," McCombs added, "and I'm sorry I shall have to ask Governor Wilson to leave me out of his plans after he is inaugurated."

MAY INVESTIGATE HILL BANK MERGER

Pujo and Undermyer Confer on Minnesota Bank Changes.

Washington, Jan. 17.—James J. Hill's merger of financial institutions in and around St. Paul may be made the subject of an inquiry by the Pujo committee now probing the affairs of the so-called money trust.

It is understood that Chairman Pujo and Samuel Undermyer of New York, counsel for the committee, have been in telegraphic communication of late. Persons in Minnesota supposed to have knowledge of Mr. Hill's recent financial operations, Messrs. Pujo and Undermyer were in consultation relative to Mr. Hill's alleged purchase and consolidation of a chain of banks in Minnesota.

The information which led Chairman Pujo and Attorney Undermyer to take the question under advisement was that W. H. Dunwoody, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwestern National bank in Minneapolis, and A. L. Ordean, president of the First National Bank of Duluth, would become members of the board of directors of the First National Bank of St. Paul. The Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis controls the Minnesota Loan & Trust company of that city. The First National Bank of St. Paul controls the Northwestern Trust company of St. Paul. Mr. Hill recently purchased the First National bank, the Second National bank and the Northwestern Trust company of St. Paul. He has merged the two national banks.

WHY MYLIUS IS KEPT OUT

Secretary Nagel Gives His Reasons for Excluding Journalist.

Law Which Rejects Anarchists Also Applies to Mylus.

Washington, Jan. 17.—In denying admittance of Edward F. Mylius to the United States, Secretary Nagel said: "I cannot assume that a law which excludes anarchists and persons who advocate the overthrow of government, or the assassination of public officials, was intended to admit the publisher of a false charge of bigamy simply because he advances a political purpose or motive for the act, or because the false charge was directed against a king among others, or because the court in which the trial was conducted had regarded the political aspect of the case as an aggravation of the offense."

Proponents of Mylius' defense that he was convicted of serious libel—a political crime—; that his trial in London had been a farce; that in circulating a story about the honor of the king of England, he was aiming a blow at monarchical government in the interest of republicanism, which should make him a welcome and not an unwelcome visitor to free country.

Marriage Charged.
The alleged libelous story, published in the Paris Liberator, and for the distribution of which in England Mylius was convicted, charged that King George V. when a prince, contracted a morganatic marriage in 1899 with the daughter of Sir Michael Seymour, an admiral of the British navy, now the wife of Capt. Trevelyan Napier.

In ordering the deportation of the journalist, Secretary Nagel was confronted with the unique situation that, although Mylius was not eligible to enter America, he was not barred from returning to England, where his alleged crime was committed.

The only question left for discussion, said the secretary, is whether the offense should be regarded as purely political, not involving moral turpitude, and therefore meets the exception in the statute.

"Primarily a false charge of bigamy is a common crime. In this instance that charge was directed not only against the king, but by inference against Mrs. Napier. While conviction in a properly constituted court of a charged country is for all purposes conclusive upon us in the consideration of such cases, it is proper to add that the alien admits the circulation of the libel, that upon the trial no evidence was offered to substantiate the charge, and that Mrs. Napier, her father and her brother, and other witnesses, testified without contradiction or cross-examination to its entire untruth."

Sole Argument.
The sole argument so advanced in favor of treating this offense as a purely political one as that the writer of the article in Paris and Mr. Mylius in England intended it as an attack upon a phase of a monarchical institution, and in justification of good morals and true religion, and that the crown in its proceeding treated it as a political offense.

"I have not found a clear definition of political offense. The accepted rule seems to be that to constitute a political offense, it is necessary to show something in the nature of concerted action."

The alleged crime lacked this character, the secretary further said, and was not part of a political controversy, uprising or common movement, but Mylius depended entirely upon his own motive or purpose to give his act the required political character.

"Such a contention is to be rejected," added Mr. Nagel, "there is no crime in the calendar which cannot be provided with the proper coloring by the offender himself."

BAKERY PIES AND HARD-BOILED EGGS

Indorsed as Articles of Diet By Dr. Woods
Hutchinson.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson, famous specialist, yesterday exploded some of the pet theories that have held sway for years in regard to eating, and strongly indorsed the eating of hard-boiled eggs, but that the good old-fashioned pie that mother used to make was not healthy, as the crust was too soggy, but that the modern bakery pie was generally a good article of diet. He declared the theory of simple living was wrong. He also said that hard-boiled eggs, the harder the better, and stir up any conflict in man's internal organs when eaten, but on the contrary was readily digested.

Here are a few of the tips on eating handed out by the noted specialist: "Pie—Almost a necessity to life. Hot mince, cold mince, lemon (with or without the pumpkin), apple, raisin or almost any kind of fruit pie, is good. Take one slice after the midday meal and big slice after the evening meal, if the evening meal is your principal meal."

"Pie—Harder they come the better, if you know how to eat them. A hard-boiled egg is generally better than a soft-boiled egg, because you instinctively chew a hard-boiled one while you just gulp the soft one. If you know how to eat the soft one it is just as good as one cooked hard."

"Steak—Every one should have his steak served frequently. If you like it rare, have it rare, but often. If you like a steak well done, have it well done. One is as good as the other. There is no real choice except in matter of taste."

John E. Causley Gets Heavy Damages From Great Northern Road.

The damage suit of John E. Causley against the Great Northern road, which was on trial in United States court yesterday and was reported in The Herald, came to a sudden end late yesterday and a settlement was agreed upon between the parties. The result was that Causley is to receive $15,000.

He was suing for $57,000 for injuries received, 10 lost white goods and a switchman and white performing duties attendant to that position. He was injured on the Great Northern road and lay full length while testifying.

AN INCENDIARY FIRE CAUSES $150,000 LOSS

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Damage estimated at $150,000 was caused today when fire destroyed the hay, grain and feed warehouse of Pearson & Herron, on the West side. A letter that the fire was of incendiary origin was expressed by one of the firemen.

The lives of firemen fighting the blaze were imperiled by four explosions of grain dust, but no one was injured.

Depositor Stolen.—Marquette, Wis., Jan. 17.—It leaked out today that the depositor of "Ethel Austin," the woman in the perjury case against Assemblyman A. S. Hewitt at Detroit, has been stolen from the vault of the Marquette county jail in Detroit.

Cruiser Ready to Sail.—Washington, Jan. 17.—The cruiser Denver ordered to Acapulco, to protect Americans endangered by the rebel Padilla and his band, will steam from San Diego, Cal., today. She will get to Acapulco in about five days.

CATARRH OF THE PHARYNX

Causes Spitting and Coughing

Catarrah of the pharynx is very common among men or women who are good liver. People who drink some, smoke much, late suppers, in the morning they hawk and spit and gag. Bad taste in the mouth. Sometimes it is noon before the pharynx is in a decent condition. Tongue somewhat coated, voice husky, feeling cross and crabbed and generally out of sorts. This is a condition of the pharynx closely resembling catarrh and is generally the direct result of habits, although not always.

Hawking and Spitting Cured.—Get a bottle of Peruna. The first thing in the morning, before you get your clothes on, take a dose of Peruna, a tablespoonful, not more, not any less. By the time you are ready for breakfast your stomach will be ready also. The first dose may not clear up things exactly. You may gag and spit a little, but keep right on every morning, a tablespoonful the first thing. Also take a tablespoonful before dinner and before supper.

Let me repeat. You had better cut out all those late suppers and drinks. Cut out the smoking also. Better live as I do, in which none of these things are used. Go to bed early. Get up like I do, early in the morning and take a cold bath. Then you will realize the joy of living. But if you won't do this, take Peruna as I have described, and you will count yourself a lucky man or woman that you happened to read this article.

H. Presley company vs. Illinois Central Railroad company, affirmed; Ramsey county; Hallam, J.
Crosler vs. H. P. Nelson Manufacturing company, affirmed; Hennepin county; per curiam.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The authority of the state board of medical examiners to refuse a license in its discretion to physicians from other states, without right of appeal to the courts, is upheld by the state supreme court in a decision handed down today.

The case is that of Boyd T. Williams against the board. Dr. Williams was licensed to practice in Ohio, where he advertised as a cancer specialist. When he applied for admission in Minnesota under the reciprocal statute, which allows the admission of outside physicians with or without examination in the discretion of the board, his application was rejected. The board claimed that in advertising a cancer cure he had been guilty of unprofessional conduct.

Dr. Williams appealed to the Ramsey county district court, where his case was dismissed on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction. This action of the lower court is affirmed.

LOUNSBERRY IS FOUND GUILTY

Verdict Calls for Sentence of Ten Years in Prison.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—"Guilty" was the verdict returned in the Federal court in Kansas City, Kan., today, in the case of Wells Lounsberry of Medford, Or., who in August robbed a mail car on a Union Pacific overland train between Kansas City and Lawrence, Kan.

The verdict was returned on one count. According to the instruction of the court, each count calls for a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary. The plea of the defense was insanity. The government introduced expert witnesses, as well as citizens of Medford, Lounsberry's home, to refute the plea. Lounsberry held up six mail clerks, forcing one to bind the others, and blindfold them. After rilling the registered mail sacks and placing his loot in a bag, he stepped off the train at Lawrence, boarded it again a moment later and fled in a Pullman berth, where he was captured by the conductor and detectives as the train entered Topeka.

THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE BREAKFAST TABLE

Kansas City Star: We have come to know that the pleasure of eating any article of food is to be enhanced by the manner in which it is served; thus it is that we are interested in the best arranged ways of laying the table and serving meals.

No that meal what it may, the table is laid in one of two ways, i. e., either for serving the food from the table or from the side table. Serving the food from the side table calls for the assistance of at least one capable waitress. In either case the laying of the table as far as the "cover" is concerned is the same.

The term "cover" includes a plate, tumbler, napkin and such silver as is needed by one person in partaking of the various dishes of the meal, laid in suitable space. The plate occupies the center of this space; at the right of the plate the knives are disposed in order of use, the one farthest from the plate being the first used. Beyond the knives are disposed the soup spoon (bowl upward) and fork for oysters, when these articles are included in the menu.

At the point of the knife the tumbler is placed, and on the plate the napkin, neatly folded. When the plate holds oysters, melon, fruit cocktail, etc., the napkin is laid beyond the forks. At the left of the plate the forks, tines upward, are disposed in the order of use, the ones farthest from the plate being the one first needed.

For other meals than dinner a butter plate, or a bread and butter plate with "spread" across one side, may be used; this plate stands above the forks and a little to the right of them. When the meal is served from the side table the space within the covers is reserved for flowers, with possibly a dish or two of bon bons which serve as part of the decoration.

After jellies, pickles, olives, rolls, wafers, etc., have been passed, they are returned to their respective places on the sideboard, as no food other than that on the individual plates appears upon the table. The waitress keeps an eye upon the plates and is quick to note and supply the needs of anyone.

When the meal is served from the side table a plate should always occupy the center of the coverspace until the table is cleared for dessert. When the meal is served from the table less space is given to floral decoration; the dishes, as roast, fish, salad or main dish of the dessert are set between the "cover" of host or hostess and the decorations, the center of the coverspace being occupied by the host or hostess.

Jellies, olives, pickles, butter and water may be given a place on the table, but all articles pertaining to the course, as cucumbers served with fish, must be removed from the table before the next course is put in place. That is, no articles should be upon the table when those pertaining to the course in progress.

PLAYING THE "FIRLINFOENS."—Wide World Magazine: At Brianza, in Lombardy, there exists a most curious band, all the members of which play the same kind of instrument, known as the "firlinfoens." This curious band is constructed of reeds fastened side by side, the bass pipes being often several feet long, while the others gradually decrease in size. The "firlinfoens"—as the players are called, after their instruments—are, as a rule, ignorant of music, and they learn their tunes by heart—from from a gramophone. It is said that the pan-pipe players experience all the sensations of intoxication after a march, due to their energetic blowing and the constant wagging of the head to and fro. The music, by the way, although curious at first, is not unpleasant.

De La Motte Claims Golik
Was Not Innocent Victim.

Attorney J. De La Motte, who figures as a principal in the now famous Golik case, which has recently engaged the attention of the Duluth bar and courts, and who was recently ordered by the court to make a restitution of $210.31 to his client, Paul Golik, who has yet to see his first cent out of $1,100 recovery secured three years ago, yesterday gave out a lengthy statement as to his connections with the case.

At the outset, he states that he does not wish to appear in the light of criticizing Judge Dibel, whose order requires him to pay over certain monies to Golik. The statement, he says, is offered with the view of clearing up some points in the case which have not been made plain to the public heretofore. The statement follows:

In justice to myself and friends, and after having secured permission from Judge Dibel to do so I am going to set out in full my view of the situation referred to in the article which appeared in The Herald of Jan. 15, with reference to the Golik case.

I want to make clear some of the findings and references to persons of the court Dibel, which may be not very clear to the ordinary citizen. I am not going to assert any facts in this case with reference to the parties who were immediately concerned in that portion of Judge Dibel's findings with reference to the time that the judgment was obtained, the amount it was obtained for, and the proceedings had in court subsequent to the rendition of the verdict. It is perhaps not necessary to dwell upon that, as the findings stated substantially the facts which occurred. I wish it to be understood that I am in no way criticizing Judge Dibel's action in this matter, he undoubtedly acted from his viewpoint of the situation and perhaps, through some sympathy for the unfortunate Golik.

The Golik Contract.

"Mr. Golik claimed that he had a contract with me for 10 per cent and strenuously stuck to that all through this hearing. It appears from the evidence taken in the case that the contract which was in writing was for 50 per cent, and was read over to him in Austrian and that he was told in English (in which language he can converse and understand simple words) that the contract was for one-half, and he was satisfied. Before this contract was made, he had been in my office a number of times endeavoring to have me take his case for 10 per cent, and I believe would not have consented to it. I have written out and consulted some other attorneys and found that his charges would be the same as mine, that is 50 per cent, and not 10 per cent, as he claims is borne out by the testimony of at least four witnesses, two of whom he admitted to them it was 50 per cent. Mr. Hollister testified on the trial that on the day that the trial to recover for his injuries was had, and before the commencement of the trial, Golik had come to his office and admitted to him that his contract with me was for 50 per cent. At that time Mr. Hollister offered him $1,000 to settle his case clear to him, and expected to pay me one-half of that amount or $500, which Golik refused.

"We then went on to trial, and a verdict was obtained for $1,100. Mr. Hollister testified that, after the verdict had been rendered, Golik came to his office, trying to settle the case and all this was done without my knowledge or consent. Golik himself testified on the stand that he had been to Hollister's office once after the trial to try and settle the case and that he had been told by Hollister that he would have settled the case with Mr. Hollister if Mr. Hollister had paid him his money. This also was without my knowledge or consent.

"The court found that the contract was not 10 per cent as Golik claims, but was in fact 50 per cent, I to pay the expense.

Interview With Ross.

*Prior to the commencement of this proceeding, Mr. Ross of Ross & McKnight, came to my office and requested information with reference to the Golik matter, and I gave him all the information I had. He at that time requested of me the doctors' bills which were in my possession, two of them, and I gave them to him. A short time after that Mr. Ross rushed into print in his own paper, over his own signature in an hysterical article, meaning the fact of poor Paul Golik. Subsequent to the publication of the article in the paper this proceeding was instituted, and Mr. Ross testified in court upon the stand, that prior to the time that he had commenced this proceeding he had made investigations through which he ascertained that the bills of the three doctors had been raised by Mr. Bogelovich from $25 to $75, and that they had received the money amounting to $25 each he knew, and he also knew who the attorney was that received the money upon those bills, knew who procured the bills and in the face of all this, instead of making all of the parties concerned, parties to this proceeding, he commenced an action against me alone, who received no part of the money from the doctors' bills and who had been trying to get this matter out of the court in some way to have it proportioned by the court so that there could be no charge of a kind brought against any one on account of the misappropriation of any of the monies that rightfully belonged to Mr. Golik. On that point I will state that subsequent to the procuring of the judgment, supplementary proceedings were in process of institution, and the order in the supplementary proceedings was signed by Judge Cant. At that time I stated to Judge Cant that I wanted to see the entire fund when it was obtained, paid into court and then divided among the three doctors, so there could be no possible question that Golik obtained all that he was entitled to receive. Unfortunately, however, the fund was not paid in in the manner I anticipated it would be paid.

Waiting With Sheriff.

"Now, the situation when this money of Golik's was taken by the sheriff. Prior to July 25, 1912, had sent to the sheriff, Carlton county, an execution against the property of the principal action, and shortly after that Mr. Marshall, who succeeded Mr. Hollister as attorney, called on me and telephoned me that they would pay me the money and to have done so. Within a day or two after that, I received a telephone communication from Mr. Marshall asking me to come to his office and saying that the sheriff of Carlton county was there and that they were ready to settle the Golik case and would pay the money over to me. I asked him to come over to my office with the sheriff, as I had all the papers here, and he came over here and five or six men here and who want to see you. I then went over to Mr. Marshall's office and upon my arrival there I found Mr. Marshall, Mr. Courtney, Mr. Marshall paid over to me in cash, the money that was due me. Immediately upon my receiving the money Mr. Magle came over to me while the money was in sight upon the table and served five different executions against Golik for the bills and doctors' services upon me amounting to $577.90. I objected to paying this, and asked him to take the matter up in court and pay it over to the court and he refused to do so. I then paid the money over, but under great protest immediately after that Mr. Courtney served a garnishment upon me for St. Mary's hospital for $41 and some cents against Golik. I disclosed in the municipal court in that case that the money that was still due Mr. Golik in my possession, $14 of which, however, was due to the Bethel hospital which I felt myself bound to pay, having sent Mr. Golik to the Bethel hospital to furnish him with board and lodging and I disclosed over and above the $14 mentioned, $25.50 that was still in my possession belonging to Mr. Golik and submitted to judgment being taken against me in that action in municipal court, after the municipal court rendered a judgment against Mr. Golik and it was impossible to secure payment from him.

"The testimony in court showed as Golik procured the claims from them for the purpose of 'getting even with me' for some fancied grievance. Mr. Bogelovich denied that, but the doctors all testified to the same proposition. The claims were turned over to Benjamin L. Goldberg, who commenced an action against Mr. Golik by giving him ample notice of my withdrawal from the case, so that he could procure another attorney; the service upon him of the papers in the suits by the doctors, his knowledge that he should have procured the services of an attorney evidenced by his going to see Mr. Nelson and endeavoring to get him to take the cases for him; his admission in court that he had gone up to see Mr. Hollister after the trial without saying anything to me and attempting to settle the case with him, and that

Stomach Troubles

MR. C. H. KEISER

This short, right-to-the-point letter of Mr. C. H. Keiser tells his story completely. He could not say more.

Cases such as this, of which there are thousands upon thousands, are what have given Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey its unequalled record with steadily increasing sales. It is truly the world's greatest medicine.

"Would say Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best medicine on earth. It cured me of Stomach troubles that no other medicine could touch." C. H. Keiser, South Langhorne, Pa.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

aids and improves digestion. Therein lies one of the most important reasons why it is so valuable. All the nourishment in the food eaten is assimilated and taken into the blood, and the whole system, in consequence, becomes stronger and able to ward off disease.

Sold in sealed bottles only, by druggists, grocers and everywhere. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us, and we will tell you where to buy. Booklet and doctor's advice free on application.

cases; my withdrawal from the case in municipal court when he said he was going to get another attorney. I insist, however, that the court protect Mr. Golik by giving him ample notice of my withdrawal from the case, so that he could procure another attorney; the service upon him of the papers in the suits by the doctors, his knowledge that he should have procured the services of an attorney evidenced by his going to see Mr. Nelson and endeavoring to get him to take the cases for him; his admission in court that he had gone up to see Mr. Hollister after the trial without saying anything to me and attempting to settle the case with him, and that he would have settled the same if Mr. Hollister had paid him enough; would seem to me to place Mr. Golik in the light of anything but an innocent victim, but would rather show that he failed in his attempts to victimize someone else.

All of the statements which I have made herein can be verified by the record of Mr. Stillman, court reporter, excepting one statement, that with reference to the conversation I had with Judge Cant at the time the supplementary proceedings in this case were being instituted and I believe that upon inquiry Judge Cant will substantiate what I have stated.

"From the amounts shown in court it appears that there was paid out for Mr. Golik the sum of $610.75, $25 of which was a charge for an appeal to the district court from the municipal court in the Otalich case which the court has disallowed and which I claim, according to my figures, would be $19.87 more than Golik's share of the amount of the judgment and disallowing the $25 would be $512 less than what Golik would be entitled to receive.

As stated at the commencement of this matter, this communication of mine with reference to the article in your paper was written with Judge Dibel's permission and in an endeavor to show both sides of the story, as shown by evidence in court.

J. De La MOTTE.

Big Increase of Cattle Imports From the United States.

Steel, Woolen, Lumber and Tinplate Industries Seek Protection.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 17.—There is a big increase in the importation of cattle from the Western states into the Canadian Northwest. Government statistics show that during the last year 100,000 head of cattle were imported from Montana into the province of Alberta. It is estimated that during the present year these figures will be doubled. The importations have been made for feeding and breeding. The Alberta government is doing all it can to encourage the beef industry and is meeting with much success. Thousands of small ranchers are ready to go more largely into the stock business providing grazing lands. They are desirous of obtaining suitable leases and are in communication with the government for certain alterations in the system. A matter for some time and its report will be submitted to the government in a very short time.

CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS"

More Effective Than Calomel, Castor Oil or Salts; Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Bowels Without Nausea or Griping. Children Dearly Love It.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something to-night."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without griping, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it can not cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

Rightly or wrongly there has been a good deal of sympathy in certain quarters for the woolen manufacturers because it is argued that they have been hit more or less by the British preference. In fact, this was realized some years ago, and a slice was taken off the preference to satisfy the woolmen, but they want more. There is, of course, considerable opposition to this, because Canadians, for the great part, buy British goods, and will continue to do so no matter what the tariff is. Those who buy Canadian goods are the poorer classes, and they are least able to stand any increase. So there is not likely to be an immediate change in woolens.

There is a tinplate industry at Morrisburg which is asking for a duty on tinplate which comes from Wales as raw material. Several efforts have been made by this industry to get a duty on tinplate, but it was always declined, though the industry had considerable backing when approaching the government for the demand. It is said that the tinplate men are more hopeful now.

BIG PROTEST BY MAKERS

Pure Shoe Law of Louisiana Has Aroused Opposition.

Shoe Adulterators in Panic of Fear Over Future.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 17.—Opposition to Louisiana's new pure shoe law has arisen, and there is every indication that the adulterators of footwear all over the country are alarmed at this piece of legislation, which aims at the protection of the consumer. The opposition is coming from within the ranks of the National Boot and Shoe association. The new law will go into effect on July 1.

The shoe adulterators are in a panic of fear that other states will follow the lead of Louisiana in protecting their people against paper shoes. A certain group of manufacturers are making a futile attempt to nip this great popular movement in the bud by petitioning Governor Hall of Louisiana to call a special session of the legislature for reconsideration of the shoe law, with a view to having it repealed.

NEW YORK CITY'S GREAT AQUEDUCT

Five Years' Work Representing an Expenditure of $25,000,000.

New York, Jan. 17.—New Yorkers travel miles to see the Panama canal; they journey to Egypt to see the great irrigation dam at Assuan; and to Switzerland to marvel at the Semmering, Saint Gothard and other famous tunnels, but right here in Manhattan under their very noses, or rather under their feet and unnoted, is a great triumph of engineering, being accomplished—the building of the city aqueduct.

A few figures will give an idea of the size of this undertaking. The main stem of the aqueduct is seventeen and one-half miles long and tapers from a diameter of fifteen feet down to a diameter of three feet. The total length of the aqueduct from the Ashokan reservoir to Richmond is 125 miles. When completed, it will have required the work of 5,000 laborers for five years and will represent an expenditure of $25,000,000.

TOWN ENDS FIFTY-YEAR FEUD OVER A WELL.

Kingston, Mo., Jan. 17.—Settlement of a town well feud, which has divided Kingston against itself for nearly fifty years, is believed to have been accomplished through the action of a committee of citizens raising a popular subscription list for the building of a concrete bandstand over the site of the well.

On New Year's eve, while citizens of some cities drank champagne, factional feeling in Kingston was laid aside, and men, women and children gathered about the old town well and drank each other's health in its sparkling liquid.

The band played and the mayor made a speech. It was decided to yield forever to the contentions put forward in the past that the open well was unwholesome and to seal up for good the mouth of the shaft.

No More Gray Hair

Try This Simple Home Made Preparation on the Whitened Locks.

"Silver Threads" may be capable of inspiring the song writers, but they are anything but inspiring to men and women who find them coming in their own locks, thus announcing the approach of age. These "footprints of time," however, may be readily covered up by using a simple, inexpensive formula which can be prepared privately in your own home. You can get from any druggist a little cost an ounce of bay rum, a quarter ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound; then dissolve the Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water, add the other two ingredients and you will have a preparation that cannot be excelled for darkening gray hair, removing dandruff, correcting humors of the scalp and invigorating the hair follicles. It does not make the hair sticky, does not rub off or color the scalp. It is equally as good to darken the beard as the hair. There is no other ingredient that can take the place of Barbo Compound in this recipe, so if your druggist is out of it, ask him to order it from his wholesaler for you.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 17.—Nemesis, after following Henry Zeigler for twenty years, overtook him in a remarkable manner.

GOOD ATTENDANCE.

Minstrel Show for Colored Social Center Draws Large Audience.

Plenty of good minstrel entertainment was afforded in the show put on by the Frederick Douglas club, a local colored organization, last evening at the Lyceum theater. The attendance was large and the receipts, it is understood, will go a long way in the establishment of a busy social center among the colored people of the city during the winter.

The show featured J. P. Bond in black and white, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Holder, Angie White, W. A. Porter and Joseph Miller in singing and dancing sketches. Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Mitchell put on a well-staged "Trip to Africa."

SALE OF LINOLEUMS

This is clearance time, and this week we get after all short rolls of linoleums with a cut price that will do the work. These rolls contain enough for one or two rooms each and we will sell

WEST END

ANNUAL ELECTION OF TRINITY CHURCH

The congregation of the new Trinity English Evangelical Lutheran church held its first annual election last evening in the church parlors of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church,
Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. F. O. L. Hanson, who arrived last Saturday to take charge of the church, presided at the meeting last evening and met the members of the congregation informally last evening.

The meeting was opened with a scripture reading by Rev. Mr. Hanson, following which reports were made by the temporary officers elected when the church was organized several weeks ago. Ernest Peterson, translator, and J. G. Anderson, superintendent of the Sunday school, both made favorable reports.

The following directors were elected during the evening: Dr. D. E. Seashore, C. Kirkus, Clarence Magnus, C.
St. Landquist and J. G. Anderson. The trustees for the year are: Dr. A. Osterberg, Ernest Peterson, Otto Swarstrom, Leonard Peterson and A.
Haines. E. P. Gibson was elected secretary and J. G. Anderson, organizer.

Next Wednesday afternoon the women of the congregation will meet and organize a ladies aid society. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Jens Anderson of West Fourth street.

Considerable pressure is being brought to bear by the city and county to have the lot on Superior street between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west.

These behind the movement claim that the children in this end of the city have no place at all to skate, and that they are compelled to travel to Lincoln park or Fortieth avenue west. That a skating rink at Twenty-second street would serve the most thickly populated section in the West end is the claim of local residents.

The site recommended is next to the Moe building and lies in a small ravine.
This could be developed into a skating rink. The owners of the lot, it is believed, will agree to loan it to the city for this purpose.

WANTS DAMAGES FROM THE CITY.

Although the city is willing to settle with David Adams for damages for the property at Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, Mr. Adams will not accept the offer. He has begun suit at the city upon the recommendation of the board of public works, but refused to do so.

The damage to Mr. Adams' property was caused by the grading of Twenty-seventh avenue last fall. Hugh Steele, the contractor, in filling the ravine at this point of the thoroughfare, threw considerable dirt over the property of several of the property holders.

The most damage was done to Mr.
Adams' lot, his property being on the southeast corner.

In his suit for damages Mr. Adams will be represented by Attorney H. H.
Phipps.

The grading of Twenty-seventh avenue last fall is the preliminary work for the paving of that thoroughfare next spring. Over $20,000 is yet to be spent in improving it yet.

Sleighride Party.

The Versant club entered at a sleighride party to Arnold for its members last evening. A program of dances and games was given by the club members at Arnold. The guests were: Misses Ella Johnson, Myrtle Mayhew, Gertrude Gertrude,
Schubert, Florence McArthur, Marie Hubert, Permelia Maestri, Lydia Bouford, Vina Page of Saginaw, Mich., Lombra Longtin of Superior, and the WILD WHEAT DISCOVERED

Prototype of Cereal Which Is Basis of Food Supply.

From It Plant May Be Developed for Desert Places.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—The alluring prospect that some day—and that not long distant—the arid highlands of New Mexico, the sun-parched plains of Texas and other vast areas of so-called desert lands in the west may be converted into richly productive wheat fields is held forth by Aaron Aaron-sohn.

Mr. Aaronsohn is the discoverer of wild wheat, and has been conducting an agricultural experiment station in Hal-fa, Palestine, he is conducting a work which is not only of value practically, but is regarded by scientists as of immense importance biologically and historically.

The discovery that American domesticated wheat had an existing wild ancestor was announced through scientific journals some time ago and created a sensation. It had been supposed the prototype of the cereal had long since been exterminated in the course of natural selection.

The most interesting part of Mr.
Aaronsohn's work had to do with experiments made in Palestine with this wild ancestor. In this connection Mr.
Aaronsohn ventured the prediction that species may be developed which can grow profitably in places where no vegetation exists at all now.

Eighteen Varieties.
In the experiments at Haifa eighteen varieties of wild wheat have already been developed and are adapted to varying soil conditions and climates.
Eventually, he hopes, a plant may be evolved which, possessing all the food values of domesticated wheat, may still preserve the ancestor's hardiness.

"I found my first wild wheat plant," said Mr. Aaronsohn, "growing in a cave of a rock in a vineyard in Palestine. It was in four inches of soil.
Later I discovered that it was indigenous to all of the salt-humid regions from the water's edge to the borders of the mountain snowfields.
It grows naturally in a rocky, alkaline soil. It is immune to practically all of the diseases which domesticated wheat, particularly rust or other fungous diseases."

Mr. Aaronsohn's belief that the plant can be developed until it has a tremendous commercial value is based on what his investigations have led him to believe in its history.

"Before the beginning of the prototype," he said, "it was the scientific theory that the plant from which wheat had its beginning had become extinct centuries ago. It was supposed to have disappeared from the face of the earth. I could not agree with this theory because I could not conceive how our ancestors should have had the shrewdness to select this one particular indigenous plant which had developed into its present high efficiency for food production. I could not agree with this theory because I could not conceive how our ancestors should have had the shrewdness to select this one particular indigenous plant which had developed into its present high efficiency for food production. I could not agree with this theory because I could not conceive how our ancestors
should have had the shrewdness to select
this one particular indigenous plant which had developed into its present high efficiency for food production."

Prospects are bright.

No provision for such a case as where one longer, connect two communities.

These reasons will avail them nothing if the rate cases have been submitted to the supreme court of the United States since 1911, and no harm can be done to them now by further legislahave much weight anyway, as those the long-delayed decision of the su-

Stops Falling

Secret Formula That Makes Hair Grow Wonderfully and Stops Hair Falling. Used by the Beauty Queen of the Stage, Valerka Surati.

"One of the most remarkable formulae
I have ever used is the hair recipe which I now use to the exclusion of everything else. I have had an opportunity, as all stage people have, of thoroughly testing out best articles of various kinds. I have tried scores of hair treatments, some prominently known, others less so, but none produced the result I craved for, but this formula.

As a result, my hair grew so wonderfully, so silky and full of life, that I am known today as the only woman on the American stage who does not have to wear puffs, switches, turbans, wigs or other artificial devices.

Your comb will never have on it a tangled mass of dead, sick and falling hair. It will grow in and profusion if you will make up your mind to use this formula. It is not a secret, but discards everything else you may be using as a hair treatment.

It is a half pint of alcohol with half a pint of water, then adding one ounce of hair oil and one ounce of hair oil. It will then be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported rum instead of the alcohol.

"The beta-quinol you can get at any drug store for not more than fifty cents."

"This formula should be applied very freely to the scalp after brushing the scalp generously for a few minutes at least. Rub the hair thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips."

calculation in arithmetic to see that

SAGE TEA BRINGS NATURAL

Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff.

Most every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff,
itching scalp and stops falling hair.
Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.
Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's," which can be depend upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well-known downtown druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments, by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

THE LAST CALL OF THE FIRE, SMOKE AND WATER SALE!

→ 123 WEST SUPERIOR STREET, DULUTH, MINN. ←

Everything that is left of the fire stock must get out. We must vacate the building so the contractors can start rebuilding; they have been after us and now insist on having the building in the next few days. The goods have to be sold. Rather than ship them to the Chicago auction house, we have made a deeper cut on every article in the store—so low that no doubt the public of Duluth and vicinity will take advantage of these bargains and help us clean up. There are a great many goods in this stock that are perfect; do not even smell of smoke, as they were still in boxes when the fire occurred. Store will remain open every evening during this sale.

PROTEST BY LAKE CARRIERS

Resolution of Association Against Consolidation of Customs Districts.

The Lake Carrier's association, in convention at Duluth yesterday, adopted a resolution protesting against the proposed action of the government making Duluth a sub-port of St. Paul. The information was conveyed to G. A. Tomlinson, in a message received last evening. Mr. Tomlinson believes the action of the Lake carriers will have influence on the government as the association speaks for the shipping interests of the Great Lakes. William L. Heston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, sent a message to Washington Monday protesting against the proposed change. The action of the association in convention following up the telegram of its president, is expected to have great weight with the treasury department. Mr. Tomlinson also received a message last evening notifying him that he had been named a member of the executive committee of the association. He served on the board for several years, but resigned three years ago on account of press of business.

INAUGURAL BALL TO BE ABOLISHED

These balls have ceased to be necessary to the enjoyment of the visitors. I hope most sincerely that this request will in no way embarrass you, and that I have not too long delayed in making the suggestion. With cordial regards, sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."
Among several conferences held by Governor Wilson today, was one with Senator-elect Broussard of Louisiana, who had been invited by the governor to talk over various matters, particularly the question of abolishing the commerce court. Mr. Wilson had no comment to make on the subject after the conference. Mr. Broussard expressed himself as in favor of maintaining the commerce court or a court of equal jurisdiction.
No Convulsive Dances.
Washington, Jan. 17.—Should there be an inaugural ball despite President-elect Wilson's wish, the contrary there may be no turkey trotting, bunny bugging, nor grizzly bawling. If it is held in the pension building, Representative Roddenberry today offered an amendment to the resolution authorizing the use of the pension office which is worded as follows:
"That the grant of the use of the pension building for the inaugural ball is expressly vetoed; the resolution is amended so that the pension building is not to be used for the celebration of acts of public indecency the following so-called dances are barred and prohibited:
"Grizzly bear gyrations, the bunny hug, tenderloin movements, the turkey trot contortions and all like vulgar-

BUSINESS IN THE HANDS OF BIG COMBINE

The Atlantic, Gulf & West India steamship company, with a principal line into an agreement to maintain rates. He added he had been offered $2,000,000 excess of the regular rate for the route to keep out of the Porto Rican trade. The witness said it was almost impossible for an independent to charter vessels for the Porto Rican trade on account of agreements between ship owners and the combine.
I think for the good of the public you should take this to the department of justice," said Representative Hummel.

Herbert Barber, president of Barber & Co., New York stock and bond broker, testified that a line operated by the combine between New York and Havana, and also between New York and Manila, was maintained to maintain rates with various other lines in the same trade.

by license fee or export charge of any kind, restrict the exportation of printing paper, wood pulp or wood for use in wood pulp manufacture. This restriction, wherever made, is added to the United States tariff on these products from the country making such charges. Printing paper subject to a sliding scale from three-sixths of a cent a pound to 15 per cent ad valorem and manufacture of paper take 25 per cent ad valorem.
The tariff now assesses wrapper tobacco and filler tobacco mixed or packed with more than 15 per cent of wrapper tobacco and all leaf tobacco the product of two or more countries when mixed or packed together, if unstemmed, $1.50 a pound; if stemmed, $2.50 a pound; other filler tobacco, if unstemmed, 25 cents a pound; if stemmed, 50 cents; all other tobacco and snuff, 50 cents a pound; cigars, $4.50 a pound and 25 per cent ad valorem.
The schedules have been considered by the committee in connection with the tariff revision program of the next congress until today.
Tobacco Men First.
Tobacco men first were heard. The leaf tobacco boards of trade of Philadelphia and New York, represented respectively by John E. Young and John Dux, advocated a reduction in the rate of duty on imported wrapper tobacco from $1.50 to $1 and assessment of duty on tobacco at weight at time of withdrawal from bonded warehouses. Mr. Young asserted that while the so-called tobacco trust by its methods had forced many manufacturers out of business, a large number had been compelled to drop out by the cost of the raw material, especially of the wrapper, made by the $1.50 duty. Both men contended that the reduction would result in increased importations. The Cigar Manufacturers' association, introduced through a delegation headed by Edward J. Stachelberg similarly advocated a reduction. Opposition to reduction was voiced by J. A. Herr, president of the Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, Tobacco Growers' association, who declared any reduction would injure the tobacco interests of Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

The stock of merchandise of H. H. Luery, Bankrupt, No. 17 East Superior St., consisting of ladies' suits, coats, dresses, fur, etc., which inventories $3,579.37, also store furniture and fixtures, $2,353.00; and accounts receivable $738.10, will all be offered for sale in bulk at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, at the store building, Jan. 22, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., subject to the approval of the Court. The inventory or stock can be inspected by applying to Mr. S. Marshall, Receiver, No. 632 Manhattan Building, Duluth, Minn. The Trustee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Governor Eberhart will send a special message in Monday urging appropriations for the Perry celebration, the Panama canal exposition and the reimbursement of the Red Cross society for $2,200 spent in relieving sufferers in Baudeville forest fires.
Senatorial Election Tuesday.
On motion of Representative Lydard, the house voted to make the election of a United States senator a special order for noon, Jan. 21.
The house adopted a motion by Representative Nolan directing the committee on public accounts and expenditures to investigate the governor's recommendation for a reorganization of state departments, and to report a bill. Senator Moorman's resolution providing for a joint special committee to do this work, which has passed the senate, is referred to the same house committee.
The house unanimously passed the time resolution by Representative H. H. Dunn and Greece asking congress to make Federal judges elective.
A moving picture concern will make a film of the house proceedings Jan. 28.

Uniform Marriage Law.
Representative Southwick introduced a uniform marriage law bill, requiring five days' notice before marriage licenses are issued.

Senator Cheate in the senate and Representative Borgen in the house introduced bills to reduce John McAlpine of Duluth from the obligation to pay for state timber which he did not cut.

An eight-hour working day for all women and children in the state is provided for in a bill introduced by Representative Preston, who also offered a bill prohibiting the employment of aliens in any public position.

The senate passed the bill legalizing the Virginia electric light bonds and Representative Knapp's similar bill introduced in the house, will be passed Monday.

Land Sale in March.
Representatives Knapp and Walter Anderson joined in a bill providing for an additional annual state land sale in March.

Other bills introduced: Representative Burdard—$150,000 for state and county fairs.
Representative Conley—Allowing juries to return verdict of "guilty but insane," and requiring court to send persons so convicted to the state hospital for criminal insane for the full term and longer if necessary.
Representative Brown—Prohibiting sale of opium, morphine and other drugs.
Representative Porter—Providing for investigation of the plan of having a state constabulary.

Representative Orr—Putting the president of the state board of regents in place of the chief justice of the supreme court on the state investment board.

Representative Conley—Requiring lumber to be full dimensions.
Representatives H. H. Dunn, Carey and Sargent—Requiring sanitary conditions in places where food products are made, stored, sold or prepared.

Senator Maycraft—Proposed constitutional amendment allowing constitutional amendments to be voted on at special elections, and to be adopted by a majority of those voting in the proposition instead of a majority of those voting at the election.

Senator Cheate—Regulating the practice of midwifery.
Senator G. H. Sullivan—Repealing tax on grain in elevators.

The house adjourned to Monday afternoon and senate to Tuesday morning. STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

RAYMOND POINCARE ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FRENCH REPUBLIC

tators and deputies of France arrived in small groups throughout the forenoon today to take part in the election of a new president of the republic. President Faure's 7-year term expires on Feb. 18.

Nominally 597 representatives of the people were entitled to vote today in the national assembly convened in the ancient residence of the kings of France. The official electors included 597 deputies and 300 senators, but the number was reduced owing to vacancies caused by deaths and resignations or by illness.

Large crowds of people, who had come from the capital to watch the arrival of the politicians and statesmen, disturbed the repose of the quiet little suburban town. Little relatives of the people appeared and they were greeted with rousing cheers.

Most of the senators and deputies came out from Paris on Versailles, provided by the government and a few arrived on motor cars or carriages. With them came some 1,000 relatives and friends and persons notable in official society.

Premier Raymond Poincare and the members of his cabinet arrived together some hours before the voting began. Jules Pams, the minister of agriculture, was in the lead. He had sent to the premier early in the morning a note containing his resignation from the cabinet and notification that he had accepted the candidacy for the presidency.

Earlier Poincare immediately designated Fernand David, at present minister of commerce, to take over also the portfolio of agriculture.

For several months preparations had been under way for the sitting of the national assembly. Although there is a permanent force of men at the place, whose business it is to keep the building in readiness for such elections, the place had not been completed at the last moment.

Several Ballots Necessary.
It was thought on this occasion owing to the multiplicity of candidates mentioned in the constitution that it was necessary before any one candidate obtained the necessary absolute majority of votes. According to the constitution if three ballots are cast without a result the candidates are chosen as president.

A force of the main presidential elections which have been held since the foundation of the third republic in 1870, seven have been decided on the first ballot. Only at the elections of Sadi-Carnot in 1887 and of Felix Faure in 1895 were two ballots necessary.

Each ballot occupies almost three hours as the deputies and senators are called upon separately in alphabetical order to place their ballot papers in the urns.

Brilliantly Decorated.
The interior of the palace, which dates from the time of Louis XIV, was brilliantly decorated. The floor of the congress hall itself was arranged with 800 chairs covered in dark leather. No special seats were assigned to the members of the two chambers, who took their places in accordance with their political groupings.

Outside the palace in the spacious grounds there was great animation all day, the park being filled with motor cars and carriages, while many liveried domestics and thousands of curriers and footmen were employed for the purpose of keeping order.

Within the palace many lively luncheon and tea parties were given by the various functionaries, while the members of the smaller rooms were occupied by artisans of the various trades discussing the tactics to be pursued.

The broad lobbies were filled with senators and deputies and hundreds of reporters, for all of whom the government provided tobacco, cigars and cigarettes.

Twelve special telegraph wires had been laid from Versailles to Paris for the use of officials and newspaper correspondents and dozens of special telephones were installed to insure rapid communication.

The buffet of the palace was heavily stocked with large quantities of all kinds of food and thousands of bottles of mineral water. Throughout the morning two huge cauldrons of soup steamed constantly in the palace kitchen, and cups of this were passed around at various intervals.

Considerable commotion was caused by a stranger seeking to obtain entrance into the palace. When he was stopped by agendarme and asked his business, he pulled out a revolver and shouted: "This election shall not take place!" He was at once disarmed and arrested. A number of other suspects also were taken into custody.

The government took unusual military and police measures along the railway lines from Paris to Versailles, which were guarded the whole distance by military men posted at intervals of 100 yards.

A force of 2,000 policemen drawn from all cities of France was brought here this morning, as well as detachments of troops of all arms, while the garrison of Versailles was confined to its quarters.

Sketch of Poincare.
Mr. Poincare has constantly been in the public eye since he founded his remarkable ministry on Jan. 13 of last year. He has been in politics since 1887, when he entered the chamber of deputies as the representative of one of the little towns of France. Since 1903 he has been senator for the department of the Meuse, and is everywhere recognized to be a true Lorrain, with all the qualities of that sturdy and tenacious race of Frenchmen. At the age of 52 he was minister of public instruction in M. Charles Dupuy's first cabinet, and in 1894 and 1895 finance minister in the second and third Dupuy cabinets. He was also minister of instruction of public instruction in M. Ribot's third administration, which lasted till the end of 1895. In the following year he was minister of finance in M. Sarrien's short-lived cabinet. In foreign affairs his prime ministry and tenure of the ministry for foreign affairs and proportional representation, important French initiatives in connection with the present near Eastern crisis, while in home affairs he has identified himself with electoral reform and proportional representation, which, for many years, he had been the zealous advocate. He is in his 55th year.

Bridgman and Nash with their Shilohs River Valley Montana Wheat, on the Northern Pacific Railway, won first prize under most exacting rules and tests at the Northwest Products Exposition, November, 1912. Their yield (which was banner yield in the contest) was 59 1-3 bushels per acre on non-irrigated DRY-FARMING LAND—no better land than much of Uncle Sam's 40 million acres of homestead land in the Northwest available to you for proving up under the revised and easy homestead laws. FARGO MEET RECORD ONE Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' Gathering Is Most Successful.

Subjects of Interest to Soil Tillers Are Considered Last Day.

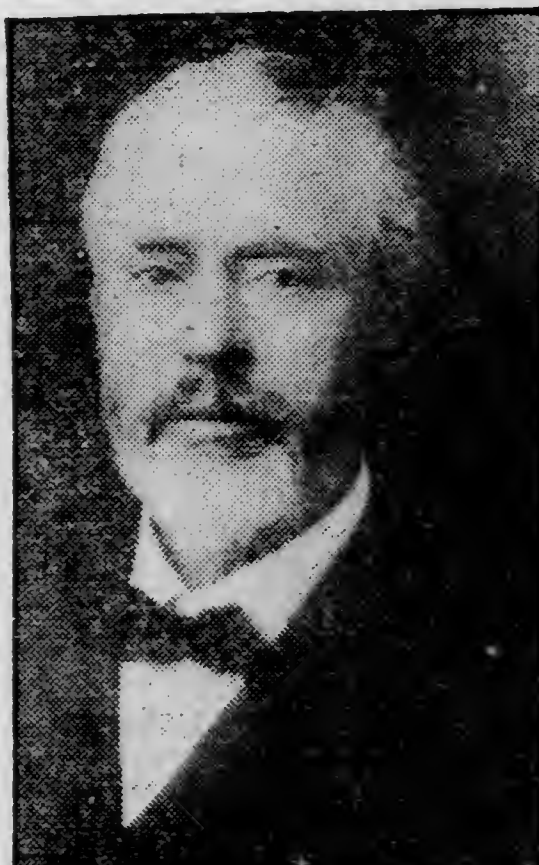

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the final day of the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention which has broken all records for attendance, interest and weather. The crowds have been so large that many people frequently have been turned away. This will be remedied at the next annual session as Fargo will erect an auditorium with a seating capacity of 4,000 to 5,000.

The program provided by President Worst was so general in their scope and so free from "hobby" ideas that there was something to interest and instruct every visitor.

This afternoon there will be the annual election of officers, the reports of the various committees and some other business matters to come before the organization and at 4 o'clock the biggest session of the fourteen meetings of the tri-state farmers will be closed.

Today's program provided for these addresses: "The Relation of the Agricultural Newspaper to Farm Management," D. A. Wallace, St. Paul; "Marketing Farm Products," Former Speaker Twitwell of the North Dakota legislature; "The Capitalization of Agriculture," President McVey of the North Dakota university; "Seven Years of Farm Demonstration Work," W. R. Porter, state superintendent of that department; "What the Department of Chemistry Is Doing for the Farmers," Dr. Ladd, state chemist; and an illustrated lecture on "Trees and Shrubs for North Dakota," by Prof. Waldron of the department of horticulture at the agricultural college.

The poultry, corn, home products and electric shows will run through tomorrow to give local people an opportunity to see the exhibits.

Prof. H. L. Bolley, crop expert at the North Dakota experimental station, in his address at the Tri-State meeting yesterday afternoon had some fun with the bankers, railroad managers and others who are continually volunteering advice to the farmers.

This superabundant supply of advice continues to hold out," said Mr. Bolley, "and not a few new and revolutionary improvements in agriculture result from them."

Referring to the experiments of James J. Hill, who said that he had made a discovery whereby the crops of the Northwest would be doubled, Mr. Bolley said:

"Even Mr. Hill's publicity agent is responsible for the statement that Northwestern farms, apparently both old and new, throughout the three great spring wheat producing states need 300 pounds of phosphate to the acre. This is a sad case if it is true. No one I think will question that the remedy ought to accomplish something in the country. Let us hope that the publicity agent has misquoted him."

The Farm Managers' association, which is holding its convention in conjunction with that of the grain growers, elected officers last night. The following: President, Charles J. Wright, Fergus Falls, Minn.; vice president, Carl Gauntz, Minn.; secretary, R. G. Donahue, Fargo.

KILLS BIG WOLF WITH HIS KNIFE

Shells All Gone, Man Attacked By Beast Uses Steel.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 17.—A story of the thrilling adventure of a lone man had with wolves a few days ago about fifty miles northeast of here in a wild section in which he fired away the last of his ammunition then killed the last of four brutes that attacked him with a pocket knife, has reached here.

The man, whose name has not developed, is employed as watchman by a Minneapolis concern that has a dwelling in the town. A few days ago he went hunting taking only a few shells. A pack of wolves bore down upon him and he turned about and ran toward his cabin. Four big brutes followed him, the rest, gave chase and he fired as he ran killing the third with his last shell.

The only other weapon he had was a pocket knife, so he soon got that out and as the last wolf jumped at him he slashed his hand with a heavy glove on and the wolf jumped at his hand, while he was tearing at his hand he slashed his throat open with his pocket knife. Henry O'Neil of Crookston saw the hand two days after and also the dead wolves, which told the tale of a near tragedy of the Northern Minnesota woods.

STATE WELCOMES BUSINESS AGENT

Western North Dakota Is Anxious to Have Latent Resources Developed.

Hebron, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hanson's address made a great hit with the business men of the western part of the state by his recommendation for a plan for the development of the state. This section of North Dakota has strongly felt the need of the exploitation of its natural resources. With 500,000,000,000 tons of coal underneath it almost at the surface, no section of the country can compete with this in cheap power.

With the great Missouri river the ideal location for immense water power and manufacturing plants is found. These advantages, properly shown manufacturers, could be great success.

NAME DULUTH DOCTOR

On Committee to Reorganize Faculty of University Medical College.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The faculty of the University of Minnesota has named the committee of members of a medical college which will be reorganized the faculty of the university college of medicine, as follows: Dr. Charles L. Green, member of the state board of health; Dr. J. D. Wilson, of Rochester; Dr. L. Tuohy of Duluth; Dr. Theodore L. Brown of St. Paul; Dr. J. E. Vincent, as member ex-officio.

The resignation of the faculty members will take effect in February.

CHOP HORSE OUT

Animal's Fore Feet Had Sunk Into Fissure in Earth.

Berg, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stage Driver Peterson had a queer experience while driving in the dark. His team stopped suddenly and an examination showed one of the horses down and apparently fastened into the earth. Peterson went to a farm house a mile away, secured a lantern and help and on his return found the fore feet of the horse sunk into a fissure in the earth about four inches wide. The earth had to be chopped out to release the animal. The heavy rains of last fall and the fact that there has been little snow this winter has caused great fissures to form in many localities and the farmers are afraid to take teams out in the night because of the danger of accidents.

FARMER USES CRADLE

North Dakotan Harvests His Crop With Old Style Implement.

Boyd, N. D., Jan. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the only man in North Dakota who harvested his crop with an old-fashioned cradle lives near here. He is James Goldberg, who has a homestead southwest of here. Last summer, not having a binder and fearing he would be unable to secure one, he secured the assistance of his neighbors, he secured a cradle and cut all his crop with that man-killing process. His crop went sixty bushels per acre and his wheat thirty. The cradle is the first advanced step over the sickle that was used in this time. It was not known that North Dakota, where all work is done by machinery, even possessed one until Goldberg recently related his experience.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

ALREADY there is a decided interest in the preliminaries of the rowing season. There was a meeting this week and there is another one planned for Monday evening, when Coach Ten Eyck will give a talk to those interested in getting together the best squad in the history of the club. Julius H. Barnes, president of the club, who has taken a greater interest and done more for rowing than any man at the Head of the Lakes, and John E. MacGregor, captain of the rowing department, will give talks on rowing in general.

The boys are going to out and line up a lot of material. In former years this work has devolved upon the officials of the club, but the interest shown by the members of the squad, there is the early promise that the largest squad that has ever reported for work will be on hand when the grinds on the machines start.

For years Duluth went along trailing the procession. But there are some men in the Duluth Boat club who wouldn't know what the word meant, were it not for Webster's unabridged. These men gave time, money and encouragement to the rowing department, and last season the reward came in the greatest showing of any of the clubs at the Northwestern international regatta.

Now the whole city of Duluth is interested in the rowing game—and, in fact, willing to help. One man in this city has contributed not only time and money, but more importantly, of his own money to keep rowing alive. Duluth received some very good advertisement out of the great showing of the D. B. C. crews at the National. Wouldn't it be a generous and thoroughly good boosting idea for some of the business men of Duluth to contribute? The crew this season promises to be the best that the club has ever turned out; at the National it will be one of the best advertisements for Duluth that the city can possibly receive in any way, and therefore some contribution upon the part of the citizens would be the nature of the part of appreciation of the city as a whole.

VIRGINIA comes tonight for the really first big hockey game that Duluth has had in a long number of years. Officers of the Duluth Curling club are earnest in their efforts to give this city the best hockey team in the Northwest, also to gather a team that can compete upon even terms with Detroit, Cleveland and the best teams of the West.

For several weeks the curling club has been working under the direction of Joe Linder, captain, and coach. Duluth has been awaiting with eagerness the opportunity to get the first look at the boys in action, and with Virginia represented with what is reported to be the strongest team in the history of the Queen City of the range, the game promises to start the season off with a rush.

SUPPOSE Paul, that Frank "Chance" Sheldahl, the fielding star at No. 7, and finish in the back, back in the dust—what would the wild raves of the fans be saying? A player once great can come a bum, if he remains in the same.

The same thing goes for a ditch digger. How about a manager? That's the question, the public forgets the deeds of the past, and the public forgets the deeds of the past, and the public forgets the deeds of the past.

One of the particularly keen speculations of the winter league, is whether the Fearless Leader will renew his success at the Eastern baseball terminal.

NEW from the Pacific coast comes a sensational youngster who is not old enough to cast his first vote, but who has been practically matched with Bombardeur Wells, the best heavyweight England has produced since the days of Charley Mitchell.

The battle between Wells and McCarty will bring together the cleverest pair of heavyweights in the ring—for we have ceased to reckon Johnson in the running—except when it comes to going away.

Like big Luther, Wells stands well over six feet. He is built on the order of the greyhound. He has a terrible kick and put Luther down for the count twice in the first round of their Madison Square meeting.

But McCarty is no Al Palzer. He beat the Iowa man with ease, according to the authority of the Pacific coast scribes, and if he continues to improve as he has in the past, starting with his victory over Carl Morris, he is going to be a tough youngster to beat when he hooks up with the best big man in the sport, little else.

There is going to be some excitement, Bill, when the Elks and the militia boys get together. Jack Desmond was practicing yelling the other night and his voice is in great condition. Old man C. Bennett says the militia boys are going to place some team in the field—or in the Army, and we are all going to see it.

Word for it. Look at the lineup and judge for yourself. The team that loses will be eviscerated all over the village, and Superior street is long and has lots of people on it.

Shane was not charged with public gambling, but it was alleged that he "did privately make several bets."

The information also failed to allege that Shane was one "who engaged" in making bets, but rather stated that he was a bookmaker, which is a different matter.

For these many years they have been tagged for the discard he bobs up with a good showing and rejuvenates himself.

Why Murphy is Remarkable. What is there remarkable about T. Murphy? He is a scrapper who has been able to keep pegging away when others have given up.

FIRST GAME OF THE YEAR

Duluth Will Play Virginia Hockey Team at the Big Rink.

Virginia and Duluth will this evening formally open the hockey season here with the first regular game of the season in the big rink of the Duluth Curling club.

The contest is set for 8 o'clock. There will be music by the Third Regiment band before and during the intermission of the contest, and there will be skating at the conclusion of the contest.

It is expected that the largest crowd by far that ever witnessed a hockey game in Duluth, will be present. Interest in the great winter sport has reached a high degree, and with the realization of the long cherished dream of an enclosed rink, the formal dedication of the season of winter sport has been the cause for over a week.

Duluth will place on the ice the best balanced and strongest team that has ever represented the Zenith City. Virginia has the best team that has ever been organized on the range, according to the reports that have been sent to the Duluth Curling club.

While the fans believe the local seven will be returned the winner, there is considerable speculation over the outcome. Fans here will have their first opportunity of seeing Johnny Mahan, the crack Houghton player, who is making his home here, and the great Joe Linder, captain and coach of the Duluth aggregation, who is considered to be one of the greatest hockey players in the West.

Under the coaching of Linder the Duluth players have shown a wonderful amount of improvement. Al Cummings, in the old days, one of the greatest players that Duluth ever produced, is back in the game and is as good as ever, according to the members of the team.

Started boxing in 1905. Tommy started boxing in 1905, when he was 15 years old. First of all, he was born in Harlem—hence the name. He liked the game so much that he used to box in the street, and some pointed out that he was wasting his time; that he could get as much as a dollar a fight for the same sort of work.

He opened his career as an amateur and semi-professional before the Polo club in New York. The purses ranged all the way from $1 to $2, depending upon the importance of the fight.

At late as 1900 he was still mixing boxing with work. At that time he had a night job in a glass manufactory plant technically known to the "profess" as "carrying in and stacking." In short, he carried in the glass to the furnace for the second heating.

"WEDDED BUT NO HUSBAND"

Michael Cudahy Found His Wife Had Another Spouse Living.

Judge Annuls Marriage and Gives Him His Freedom.

Michael Cudahy, saloonkeeper, residing at 2230 West Superior street, is no longer playing second fiddle in his wife's matrimonial band. Under findings of Judge Dibell ordered yesterday, his marriage to Carrie Cudahy is annulled on the grounds that Carrie was the wife of another man before she annexed the name of Cudahy.

Cudahy is 42 and the woman is 39. They met in St. Paul about four years ago and on Aug. 3, 1909 were married in due form—or at least he thought so.

Not long after the wedding, Cudahy discovered that his bride was not his wife at all but that she was still legally married to another.

Cudahy investigated and dug up the fact that Carrie had been legally married to one George E. Kruse at Mora, Minn., on June 27, 1907.

He left her soon afterwards and two years ago came to Duluth where he is now engaged in the saloon business.

This morning, Judge Dibell granted a divorce to Caroline Knudsen Green from George E. Kruse, to whom she was married at Chicago on Feb. 12, 1910. She claims that he deserted her in Omaha on July 9, 1912. He was a photographer. The court allowed her request to resume her maiden name, that of Caroline Knudsen. She is 22 years old and is a well known West end girl.

Fatal Rabbit Hunt.

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 17.—Lauritz Johnson of Black Hammer township, a farmer, 35 years old, died in a hospital here from a gunshot wound in his abdomen. He was hunting rabbits in the woods near his home when the accident happened.

NO REGARD FOR DIGNITY OF COURT

Baby Enjoyed Itself While Witness Was Being Sworn.

Baby Solheim, whose mother was a witness in a lawsuit yesterday before Judge Dibell, had too little regard for the dignity of the courtroom and at times during the progress of the trial the little fellow was one of the real issues before the bar.

Young Solheim's most noticeable antics were pulled off while his mother was taking an oath to be sworn in as a witness. W. H. Hanne, defendant, in whose behalf Mrs. Solheim testified, had the youngster in custody at the time.

To keep the child in good humor, Mr. Hanne allowed him to play with his watch chain. But Babe grew curious, and when Mr. Hanne wasn't looking, pulled out the watch and started juggling it.

Mr. Hanne grabbed for the watch but not before it had become unfastened from the chain and had become lodged in the cool recesses of a water pitcher on the attorney's desk. Mr. Hanne made one desperate effort to retrieve the jewelry but only succeeded in upsetting the pitcher.

All this was going on in the short space of time that is required to administer an oath. Clerk Alex Hamilton, who was watching the baby at the same time he was swearing in the witness, declares that he would have lost himself had he not given the oath so many times that he could repeat it in his sleep.

The baby grinned through it all and seemed well satisfied with the fun. Judge Dibell, the court attaches and attorneys were forced to laughter, and Mr. Hanne conceded that the joke was on him.

A CALL TO ARMS.

Cincinnati Times-Star: "Bang!" went the rifles at the maneuvers. "Ooo-ooo," screamed the pretty girl—a rifle, a decorative surprise little scream. She stepped backward into the surprised arms of a young man. "Oh," said she, blushing, "I was frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon."

"Not at all," said the young man. "Let's go over and watch the artillery."

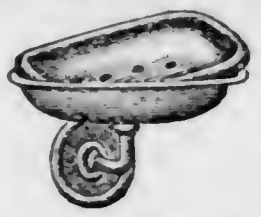

RED CAPS A PROTECTION.

New York Sun: Red caps have come to be a regular hunters' uniform in Pennsylvania. To the hunter, the cap is credited the fact that not an accident has been reported since the hunting season opened.

Whenever a hunter ventures into the woods without his "blood-rembler," he is met by some hunter, properly equipped with the safety device and advised to buckle on regulation headgear, entering under penalty of being mistaken for a deer and shot. Red caps are throughout the hunting season.

GLEAINED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

LEAVES FROM A REPORTER'S NOTE BOOK BY X

Mary Mark, 22 years old, married, comely and the mother of one child, looks upon the world since yesterday less cheerfully than she did.

Yesterday afternoon she was arrested at her home near the steel plant on Pennsylvania. To the hunter, the cap is credited the fact that not an accident has been reported since the hunting season opened.

Whenever a hunter ventures into the woods without his "blood-rembler," he is met by some hunter, properly equipped with the safety device and advised to buckle on regulation headgear, entering under penalty of being mistaken for a deer and shot. Red caps are throughout the hunting season.

William Grout is having troubles of his own. His wife is suing him for divorce, he has one or two other legal suits on his hands and last night he was arrested on a charge of being drunk. This morning he denied that he had been under the influence of liquor. The officials stated that even after a night in the jail he had a breath which would shame a Bowery gin mill at the zenith of the spring rush.

Ben Younger took up on whiskey of quality as extremely doubtful as it was undoubtedly potent yesterday.

Then he heaved a sigh and said that he could see, and drilled from one Bowery joint to another. In none of them did he see a man who looked tough enough for him to tackle, until he started out of a joint which boasts mirrors on its swinging doors.

Coming up to the glass he saw a man about his own size, a guy who looked about as tough as himself. Ben looked at him and the other leered at him and the other leered at him and Ben shook his fist in the other's mug and he got a fist coming straight back at him. That made Ben mad. It got his fighting blood up. He yelled a curse at the karabo who had the gall to stand up to him with a face like that.

When the other just continued to make motions at him and turn up his nose at him and didn't swear back he got into a towering rage. He drew back his arm and started for the geek and the geek came right for him. With all the force of his big arm he drove his huge fist between the other's eyes. He smashed the mirror into thousands of pieces and his arm came out the other side of the mirror.

The bartender called a policeman and Ben was bundled off to headquarters with a deep ugly gash on the top of the averaging right hand. The other guy who looked further it will grasp let him get away without marking him. The wound bled freely and Ben was quite rational. He admitted that he had been drunk, very drunk. The policeman was summoned to dress the wound.

This morning in police court Ben was quite rational. He admitted that he had been drunk, very drunk. The policeman was summoned to dress the wound.

Half a dozen "souces" formed the gist this morning. With the exception of one who denied that he had become voluntarily intoxicated, all were given suspended sentences. Those who were allowed liberty promised to lose no time in seeking jobs.

Hygienol Hair and Scalp Tonic stops itching and soreness of the scalp almost instantly, prevents dandruff and keeps the hair healthy in a normal and healthy condition. Sold by Lyeum pharmacy.

HUMAN SENSES IN PLANTS.

London Standard: A highly original plot for a detective story was suggested by the Rev. Prof. G. Henslow, who lectured on the "Senses of Plants" before members of the Royal Horticultural society.

"A distinguished gardener," said the professor, "was doing in a chair in his drawing room one sultry afternoon, and a bottle stood on the table by his side. Suddenly the bottle began to move stealthily across the table. The sleeper awoke, the bottle began to move, and he was astonished, which might have been anticipated had the bottle contained anything except a bunch of blossoms, he set out to investigate."

In the midst of his meditations the thief fortunately gave audible warning of his proximity. Glancing out of his window the horticulturist saw an astonishing sight. The tinkle-tinkle he had heard was a Virginia creeper rattling the bottle against the window pane.

The lecturer pointed out that little back his arm and started for the geek and the geek came right for him. With all the force of his big arm he drove his huge fist between the other's eyes. He smashed the mirror into thousands of pieces and his arm came out the other side of the mirror.

parlor tricks of this sort were quite a favorite pastime with the creeper. "The adhesive pads on its tendrils are irritated by anything it touches and it sticks to it like a leech. Really, it may be quite feasible to train a plant to pick pockets."

"The fashionable sweet pea if touched on one of its tendrils with a stick or rubbed gently for half an hour will begin to twist round the stick. If teased further it will grasp the stick with its tendrils and pull it up with its tormentor. Beside the twisting motion it has another which has been described as 'bowing around' or 'circum-mutation.' This is an endeavor to fasten on something. It was undoubtedly its success in 'bowing around' or 'circum-mutation,' my dear Watson, that enabled the creeper to carry off the bottle."

"Though we have yet to find plants that can hear or smell, many of our common growths are sensitive to touch, taste, sight and thirst."

"Plants in fact are just as sensitive as we are. Insectivorous plants can undoubtedly taste what is given them and refuse it as certainly as the gourmet would an inferior dish at the dinner. They only lack nitrogenous substances: sugar, starch, oil and such fat-tending carbohydrates they have no use for."

"The craving of plants and trees for water has sometimes led them to terrible extremes. A poplar has been known to burrow beneath a wall, under a road, and down a well—all in search of water, and a pernickulous turnip which got the tip of its root into the crack in a field drain went on and on until it was six feet long in the drain. So sensitive is the tip of the root on the water question that Darwin declared it must have a brain in it."

"If ever a book is written on 'vegetable mechanics' one will find that plants have made levers, screws, columns, wedges—everything in fact that engineers do."

MORE WHEAT IN ARGENTINA

Larger Estimate of Exportable Surplus Lowers the Prices.

Flaxseed Offers Not Large But Market Drops Near the Close.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 17.—There was a downward movement in wheat markets over most of the world today by reason of the publication of an enlarged estimate of the exportable wheat surplus of Argentina. Duluth wheat closed 1/2¢ under the May price. Flour closed 1/4¢ up, oats 1/4¢ off, and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth January flax closed 1/4¢ off and May 1/4¢ off.

There was a general downward movement in wheat on the markets on both sides of the North Atlantic this morning. This seemed to be due in large measure to the enlarged estimate of the exportable surplus of Argentina. The Flaxseed market was quiet. The Flaxseed market was quiet. The Flaxseed market was quiet.

HEARINGS ON TONNAGE TAX BILL TO BEGIN

House Committee to Start When Both Sides Are Ready.

New Two-Cent Passenger Rate Bill Now Being Prepared.

Farmer Members of the Legislature Form an Organization.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chairman T. T. Ostlund of the house committee on taxes and tax laws said this morning that his committee would take up the Frank-son-Bjorge tonnage tax bill as soon as both sides are ready for hearings. The first meeting of the committee under the new schedule of committee meetings will be next Friday and the bill will be considered then if its authors are ready to present their case; otherwise it will be taken up a week from that day. The disposition of the committee is to act upon this measure as soon as possible and to get it before the house for its disposition.

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Redwood early next week will introduce his new two-cent passenger rate bill, reference to which has been made in these reports. It will provide that all

"DEACON" WHITE HAS PASSED AWAY

Former Friend of Henry Ward Beecher and Treasurer of Church.

New York, Jan. 18.—Stephen Van Cullen White, a Wall Street broker, familiarly known as "Deacon" White, died today. He was a picturesque figure and for many years treasurer of historic Plymouth church of Brooklyn.
He was in the financial district where he was born and lost his fortune through attempts to run "corners" in stocks.
"Deacon" White was born in Chamberlain county, North Carolina, in 1831, but had lived in Brooklyn since the Civil war.

BANDIT LEADER REMAINS SILENT

All Attempts to Make Perry Reveal Accomplices Fail.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Police Captain Lavin today made another unsuccessful effort to induce James B. Perry, confessed leader of a gang of automobile bandits who committed more than a score of robberies in Chicago during the last two months, to reveal the names of his accomplices.
"There were four of us and that is all you will ever get out of me," said Perry. "I would rather hang than give my pals away. I have confessed but I am not going to drag any of the other fellows into trouble."
The police also questioned Walter Scott, the youth, who was arrested with Perry. Scott went when the police talked to him about his mother but denied having been connected with Perry in committing any of the robberies.
"I only met him three days before we were arrested and I never knew he was a holdup man," said Scott.
The police believe Scott acted as chauffeur for the bandits.

PRINCE KROPOTKIN DYING IN LONDON

Famous Russian Exile Said to Be Nearing His End.

London, Jan. 18.—Prince Kropotkin, the famous Russian exile, is reported dying here, where he has lived for many years. An aristocrat by birth, Kropotkin has devoted most of his life to the propaganda of nihilism. In the dress of a workingman he preached freedom to the people of Russia till he was arrested and sent to prison. He escaped and went to Switzerland, where he founded a nihilist paper. He was expelled from Switzerland. Going to France, he was arrested with Louise Michel and others at Lyons, tried and sentenced to five years in prison. He served three. Since his release he has lived in London and Holland and has devoted his time to writing. He has done much scientific work of value and is a member of many scientific societies. His full name is Prince Alexander Kropotkin. He is a great friend of George Kennan, the famous American writer on Russia.

TWO HEARTS APEICE. Mother and Her Three Daughters Are Well Supplied.

Easton, Pa., Jan. 18.—A family in which the mother and three children are each provided with two hearts, a case said to be unequalled in medical science, has been discovered here, according to Dr. James Morgan Stein.
He has called several fellow physicians in to examine the family and they have verified his statement. In each case he found both of the hearts performing their functions, one in each side of the chest. The mother and children have always been normally healthy. The mother is Mrs. Burton Perkins and her children are Anna, Allen and Doris, aged 13, 11 and 4, respectively.

FOUR CITIES IN THE FIELD

Others Expected to Seek North Dakota's New Insane Asylum.

Inheritance Tax One Feature of Probate Commission's Report.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be an interesting fight in the legislative assembly for the location of the new insane asylum for the insane that has been recommended because of the overcrowded condition in the Jamestown asylum.
Already four cities are in the field for the honor, and within the next few days it is anticipated that the field of entries will be materially increased.
Essendine, Rugby, Leeds and New Rockford are present bidders for the asylum, and to this list probably will be added Lakota, Devils Lake, Tower, Granville, Minot, Williston and several other places. The fact that the Jamestown asylum is in the southern part of the state, on the main east and west line of the Northern Pacific, strengthens the position of the cities along the Great Northern, east and west line, about 100 miles to the north, and if any new asylum is located, it probably will be established there.
In connection with the proposition to establish the new asylum there is also the proposition of establishing a new normal school in the southern part of the state, the plan being to abolish the present normal school at Minot was taken up, the idea of

MAKE CHARGES AGAINST FISHER

Deposed Members of Council File Memorial With House.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Seven deposed members of the Osage Indian council, recently removed by Secretary Fisher because, the secretary charged, it had been shown that undue influence had been used among the Indians to prevent consummation of valuable oil land leases, have filed a memorial with the house Indian affairs committee, charging that the secretary's action was taken to "coerce the Indians into executing the kind and character of oil and gas leases he desires and to the persons he desires."
When the secretary removed the councilors, he declared that the most advantageous bid for oil lands the tribe ever had received had been rejected by the council in favor of a less favorable one and when the interior department interposed it was found that one oil company had influenced the council from executing another lease.

SAVED FROM DEATH BY MEMORY OF MAN.

Ottawa, Kan., Jan. 18.—While halfcrazed friends ran about town trying to discover the combination, Frank Baldwin, ex-county clerk, faced death, in a prisoner in the big steel vault at the courthouse. Only the good memory of John Bell, county clerk eight years ago, who gave the combination over the telephone from Salina, 250 miles away, saved Baldwin's life.
Bell and Baldwin were the only persons who knew the combination. Baldwin was accidentally locked in the vault by F. G. Freshaw, his successor, while explaining to him some details of his new office.

ROYALLY WELCOMED ON RETURN TO PHILIPPINES

GOVERNOR GENERAL FORBES.
Manila, Jan. 18.—Governor General William Cameron Forbes received a great ovation when he returned here today. A parade of marines, which was formed in his honor, attracted great crowds and a number of receptions were held. The governor general had been absent since March, last year, on a vacation in the United States.

TOOK FAMILY DOWN LADDER

North Dakotan Saved Wife and Twelve Children From Fire.

Drove Mile to Neighbor's
With Temperature 32
Below.

Bottineau, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ferdinand Zhike carried his wife and twelve children down a ladder from the second story of his home near Russell while the house was on fire.

With the thermometer 32 deg. below zero, the father walked to the road with only his underwear and a bath-robe for protection, while several of the children escaped only with their nightgowns.

ENGINEERS STRIKE ON MAINE RAILROAD

Firemen Go Out With Them Crippling Bangor &
Aroostook.

Bangor, Me., Jan. 18.—The engineers and firemen of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad struck today. The directors had refused to grant an increase in wages.
The road extends from the Canadian border to Penobscot Bay, affording the chief outlet for the great paper mill at Bangor. The possible effect of the strike on the shipment of paper gives the moment national importance.
Officials of the road say men have been obtained to replace the strikers, but that service will not be interrupted.

JOINT NOTE OF POWERS BITTERLY ASSAILED BY OTTOMAN AMBASSADOR

Says Europe Promised to Maintain Existing State of Things.

Now Powers Make Allusion to Possible Loss of Constantinople.

Osman Nizami Pasha Declares Their Promises Are Worth Nothing.

London, Jan. 18.—Osman Nizami
Pasha, the Turkish ambassador to Germany, who is in London in connection with the peace negotiations, issued a statement today bitterly arraigning the European powers for their attitude in the joint note delivered to the porte.

"Four months ago," he said, "Europe declared its determination to maintain the state of things existing before the war whatever the result of the conflict might be. Now the powers are making open allusions to the possible loss to Turkey of Constantinople and some of the Asiatic provinces.
"What reliance can Turkey place on the powers' promise to exclude all menace to the security of Turkey when Europe has just given tangible evidence of how little her promises are worth?"

PRESIDENT GUEST OF CLOVER CLUB

Makes Speech on Roof Garden Shortly After
1 a. m.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—President Taft, who had a busy time of it last night attending three dinners and delivering as many speeches, was the guest of honor this morning at a breakfast given by the officers of the Clover club. The president made his third speech of the night shortly before 1 o'clock this morning on the roof garden of a 20-story hotel to the Medical club of Philadelphia. Mrs. Taft is expected to join the president here today before they leave for New York at 1 o'clock.

Will Resign As a Fellow.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 18.—While the officers of Yale university have not been informed of his intentions, it is thought likely that at the corporation meeting next Monday President Taft will resign as a Fellow upon accepting the formal tender of the Kent professorship of law.

It is understood the president feels that he does not wish to be his own employer, although the governing rules of the university are not conclusive on the point whether a professor may also serve as a Fellow or a Fellow accept a chair. President Taft was re-elected a Fellow last June for a six-year term.

Homesteader Found Dead.

CUTS THROAT IN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Walter B. Moer Tries to End His Life With Razor.

Unconscious Body Found in Pool of Blood By Landlady.

Has Been in Despondent Mood Since the Death of His Mother.

With his Bible spread open at Proverbs beside him, Walter B. Moer, 20 years old, attorney and former candidate for county attorney, was found in a pool of blood with his throat cut and his body slashed in his room at 600 East Third street this morning.

Unconscious and weak from loss of blood it was thought that he was dead, but Dr. F. F. Clark was summoned hurriedly. After examining the man he ascertained that the jugular vein was not cut and he was hurried to St.
Mary's hospital in Totman's ambulance. Moer was put under the gas influence of an anesthetic and his wounds dressed. Although so weak from loss of blood that he could not talk, Dr.
Clark states that he will recover.
No reason is known for Moer's attempt to end his life, which he had been acting queerly for several months and was recently examined in probate as being sane. He was said to be an incompetent but was not committed.
Having no control over his emotions,
Moer could not tell anything himself and his friends believe that he was overcome by a fit of despondency in a desperate moment.

Several Hundred Women En-

in New York.

Police Have Hard Work to Protect Male Strike Breakers.

New York, Jan. 18.—With hatpins and umbrellas several hundred women fought the police today in one of the fiercest riots since the beginning of the garment workers' strike. A policeman who tried to protect male strikebreakers was severely beaten.

The officer arrested one woman but had to summon twelve more bluecoats before he could get his prisoner to the station.

The police accomplished this by forming a hollow square which was beset on all sides by the battling garment workers.

Five women were arrested in another riot which started when the women assaulted a truck driver delivering mattresses for the use of strikebreakers.

May Strike in Sympathy.
Chicago, Jan. 18.—Forty thousand Chicago garment workers may be called out on strike next week in sympathy with the New York strikers.

The average of 500 beggars letters sent each day, said Mr. Greene today. "They ask financial aid in order to keep here to be filled. They assert that unless shipments of goods is stopped at once a general strike will be ordered in all the shops controlled by the employers' association."

FRENCH CABINET READY TO RESIGN

Fallieres Has Them Remain Until Successors Are Appointed.

Paris, Jan. 18.—The French cabinet met today at the palace of the Elysee under the chairmanship of President Fallieres and all the ministers formally offered their resignations as a sequel to yesterday's election of Premier Raymond Poincare as chief executive.
President Fallieres requested all the members of the government to retain their portfolios until their successors had been chosen.
President-elect Poincare took his coffee at an early hour this morning and then went for a brisk walk in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne at a time when few persons were about. Afterwards M. Poincare proceeded to the foreign office on the Quai d'Orsay, where he worked with two secretaries clearing up the arrears of national business.

"IZZY THE PAINTER" BEFORE GRAND JURY

Gives Information Concerning Workings of New York Arson Trust.

New York, Jan. 18.—The indictment of three men as alleged incendiaries and the arrest of one of them, Robert J. Rubin, a fire insurance adjuster, developed in the district attorney's prosecution of the "arson trust" described by Isidor Stein, the convict known as "Izzy the Painter."
Stein, who was brought from Sing Sing prison to aid the state in prosecuting suspected members of the "trust," told his story to an extraordinary grand jury, reiterating in substance his confession to District Attorney Whitman.
The district attorney's office gave out a statement concerning the allegations of "Izzy" to the jury. It says "Izzy" accused Rubin of being a member of the "arson trust" and of being city houses and arranging with influential persons to have them set on fire. "Izzy" became the firebug at Rubin's direction, according to the former's statement.
An abstract of "Izzy's" confession made public by the district attorney says:
The average amount paid to him for a fire was between $2,000 and $5,000 and he set about one or two each week.
Stein states that the "arson trust" was frequently well shaken down the insured, taking advantage of the situation, and collect anywhere from 50 to 60 per cent of the amount the company paid. In numerous cases good furniture and good clothing were taken out of the flat, and old furniture and old clothes were substituted.

SIX YEARS FOR MILANO

Counterfeiter Must Serve Long Term in Federal Prison.

Younger Brother Acquitted on a Similar Charge.

Tony Milano was convicted of having in his possession the requisites for counterfeiting by a jury in United States court last night, but his younger brother, Frank, was acquitted of a similar charge. Tony was at once sentenced by Judge Willard to six years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, and in addition to this must pay a fine of $100 and the costs of the case.

Tony was arrested last September in Cleveland together with other Italians on the charge of counterfeiting. He got out on bail and jumped it. He was traced to Duluth and last November he and his brother were arrested in a house on Grand avenue and a complete outfit for the making of "plones" half dollar coins found at the same time. The outfit is said to be a rather crude one. Frank Milano could not be connected with the making of the spurious coin and therefore the government failed to make a case against him.

WARMER WEATHER AND SNOW COMING

Warmer weather is promised by the local observer tonight and there will be snow tonight or tomorrow. Last night the mercury went to 7 below zero but tonight it is not expected to be lower at any time than 10 above. There is a light breeze tonight of about six miles an hour from the northwest. This will probably wear to easterly before evening.

COUNTY OPTION BILL IS TO BE INTRODUCED DURING COMING WEEK

Representatives of the first class cities. Nothing has come of this, and the bill is to be introduced will cover the whole state.

It is figured by the friends of county option that members from the three large cities who are in favor of county option have no objection to having their counties included and that those who are opposed will vote against the bill anyway. Probably there is little prospect that either Minneapolis, Ramsey or St. Louis county would vote "no license" under a county option law. Though the existence of such a law would give those who believe in "voluntarily" out the chance to bring the question before the voters of those counties at regular intervals if they desired to do so.

Extends Present Option Law. The county option bill, in a general way, merely extends the existing local option law, which gives villages and towns the right to vote out the sale of liquor. It is, in fact, giving the voters of each county the right to say whether or not they shall have saloons.

In other words, the local option unit is enlarged from this measure from the town and village to the county. Probably a county option bill will not pass at this session. The house is so close, it is said, that nobody will venture to predict what will happen to the bill in that body. The senate two years ago voted down county option pretty decisively, and probably will do so again, though advocates of county option say that some of the senators have changed their views and that the fact that the senators are two years nearer re-election than they were at the last session may make some changes.

There is no question which bulks so largely in the minds of the districts men are elected to the legislature not because they are peculiarly fitted to represent the people of their section and the state, not because they are for this or that, but because they are for progressive legislation generally, or against it, but because they are either for or against county option, depending on the sentiment that exists in the district.

And in some of the districts the sentiment is so dangerously undecided that the most agonizing moment in the legislative career of their representatives is the time when they are asked to vote for or against a county option bill. They know they will be damned if they do and damned if they don't, and it isn't pleasant.

The organization in both branches, though each organization contains progressive members from districts that are decidedly against county option, is probably on the whole dominated by county option forces.

Opposed to Woman Suffrage. It is curious and interesting thing that at this session, more is being heard about the opposition of the legislature to the woman suffrage bill than about their opposition to temperance measures.

Though in no states where the franchise has been extended to women has there been any noticeable force, it is plain enough that the "wet" interests fear the influence of women at elections.

And on the whole, at this writing it seems much more likely that a woman suffrage bill will pass than that a county option bill will go.

Little doubt is expressed about the house. It seems to be taken for granted that the body will put through an amendment to the Constitution striking the word "male" from the clause which limits the vote to men citizens. The senate is more dubious, but the house is more certain that Minnesota will have strong hopes there, too.

Passing a bill doesn't mean giving votes to women, of course. That can be done only by amending the Constitution. It is the legislature's duty to submit such an amendment to the people.

What would happen to the amendment if it is submitted by other means? It is a little prospect that either spread of the movement in other states, the increasing interest in it among the people, or the fact that the state east of the Mississippi has yet given the franchise to women, will make it no means certain that Minnesota will. Though if the sentiment for it increases each two very important elements in the present voting population, there isn't much doubt about the Germans, they are against it, and they haven't been citizens long.

The Scandinavians in their native countries have been more generous to their women citizens than the American states, yet a number of them have stated recently their belief that the majority of their people are against votes for women.

However, the bill is not through the legislature yet.

In Treatment of a Settler. A bill to be introduced in the house next week by Representative P. H. McGarry of Walker has behind it an interesting story that illustrates the general stupidity of the state's present policy toward its land business, and toward those whom it should cherish the most of all its people—the settlers who are turning its waste and idle acres into productive and fruitful farms.

Twelve years ago Henry A. Greene bought of the state a piece of land in section 26, township 35-29, in Itasca county. He settled on it, and started his homestead. He located his line, as well as he could with the help of timber cruisers and others who had some knowledge of land surveys, but there were difficulties. The mark at the corner obliterated, and the northeast corner lay in a lake three miles long.

Greene made his home on the land, and built a loghouse in 1902 that cost him $200, and afterwards a frame barn that cost $300. He cleared and put under cultivation twenty acres of his holding.

In 1908 the United States government surveyed this land for fowage rights, and this survey showed that the house and barn and about four acres of Greene's cleared and plowed land were on land belonging to the state. So Greene had this land appropriated and bought it from the state.

How did the state reward the enterprise of this settler?

It added to the value of the wild land and the value of the house and barn which Greene had cleared and plowed, and increased the value per acre because of the fact that Greene had plowed some of it and put it under cultivation.

In other words, it made Greene pay the state for improvement which he had made at his own expense and through an innocent mistake. That this was done is evident from the fact that $75 was added for the buildings—forty-ninety for Greene the state was made in its estimate of the value of his improvement—and the land was priced at $25 per acre when adjoining land of precisely similar character, though better, it is claimed, was at the same time appraised and sold for $7 per acre.

Representative McGarry's bill provides for reimbursing Greene the amount the state exacted of him, beyond the value of the wild land, for the improvement which his own toil and money provided.

Greene was the first settler in that section. He blazed the first trails, cut the first roads, and built bridges over creeks and rivers that were used exclusively for years by incoming homesteaders.

He is asking to have returned to him the money he paid the state for the privilege of improving a little piece of the state's great land holdings. And the state's policy in the handling of its public domain is such that he is compelled to go before the legislature and get a law enacted in order to get what is manifestly due him.

Marriage Law Changes. The bill introduced yesterday in the house by Representative John Wick of Wells, and briefly referred to in these reports, makes radical changes in the existing marriage laws.

It is based, in brief, on the theory that the existing laws are too much divorce in this country grows out of systems which make marriage too simple and too easy to get.

The bill proposes that a marriage ceremony may be entered into as a legal marriage without the usual formalities of a civil ceremony. It is thought that this will be a wick is attempting to reach by his bill will be illustrated by the conditions that prevailed in Duluth before Wisconsin made its marriage law more rigid—though not as strict as the Southwick bill will be. In the days when it was possible to take a car over to Superior, get married, and return, about a dozen marriages were performed in Duluth before the district court in Duluth were the result of marriages in Superior. And in the Twin Cities marriages performed in Hudson, Wis., frequently resulted in new business for the divorce court.

Then Wisconsin enacted a law requiring three days' notice before the issuance of marriage licenses, and the divorce industry in Duluth was almost entirely destroyed. If there has been an increase in the number of divorces in Duluth since that time it has been from other causes.

Certainly there has been a marked decrease in the number of divorces based on marriages in Superior. The Southwick bill is based on the uniform law standard urged by the American Bar association, and it is proposed that the bill be introduced in the house.

Both parties to a marriage must be of legal age, and must be of sound mind and body, and must be free from any existing marriage. The bill also does away with the so-called common law marriage, always of dubious social effect.

Common Law Marriage. Monday the house doubtless will agree to the program of committee on marriage, and the bill will be introduced by a meeting of the chairman of committees, the results of which will be reported to the house.

The purpose is to create order out of the chaos of the present marriage laws. The plan of having a regular schedule will give parties interested in pending bills ample opportunity to be heard.

The schedule is as follows: Monday—Committee on drainage, public accounts and expenditures, towns and counties, workmen's compensation, compensation of public officials.

Tuesday—Cities, temperance, roads and bridges, insurance, game and fish, public domain.

Wednesday—Appropriations, transportation, grain and warehouse corporations, banks and banking, Thursday—General legislation, elections, claims, commerce and retail trade, education.

Friday—Taxes and tax laws, telegraph, railroads, and other public utilities, horticulture, dairy products and livestock, agricultural schools, public health, and pure food laws, and reformatory.

All senate meetings will be in the afternoon, at hours to be set by the chairman.

Bounty for Tree Planting. The senate committee voted to recommend for passage the bill proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the existing state bounty of $250 per acre for tree planting.

The bill is limited to one acre for each individual, and by striking out the word "acre" in the existing law is made to cover the whole field.

school at Cass Lake, and the old fight is on again.

Other Northern Minnesota communities are also engaged in a normal school fight, but only one of the interesting side issues of the session.

Senator Knute Nelson will be re-elected to the senate next session. Tuesday both houses will vote separately, and Wednesday the vote will be canvassed in joint session. Most of the house Democrats are pledged to support the bill to vote for the man nominated by the people who is Nelson—and aside from the Populist and Socialist members, one each, the vote may be unanimous.

The senate is not pledged, but most of the senate Democrats will vote for Nelson also. STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

tempt about 8 o'clock this morning. He was discovered half an hour later by Mrs. Cowden, his wife.

Moer was partially dressed. He had removed his shoes and coat and was sitting on the floor, his head against the wall. It is stated that he was in the act of cutting his throat with a razor.

At the last general city election he was a candidate for judge of the municipal court. He was defeated by Judge D. B. Moore. He was then engaged in the practice of law with a prominent firm. He died about three years ago, leaving a wife and three children.

After Dr. Clark had been notified, he came to the house and found Moer in a state of unconsciousness. He was taken to the hospital and died there.

Friends of Mr. Moer say that his attachment to his mother was exceptional, and that he never seemed to recover from the mental shock of her death.

With the establishment of a normal school in the south end of the county, it is contended that the state's needs in the way of educational institutions would be filled by a collection of institutions well distributed to the various sections.

The report of the probate commission, which was made to the legislature yesterday and was referred to the committee on probate, contains a recommendation that the state's needs in the way of educational institutions would be filled by a collection of institutions well distributed to the various sections.

Senator Frank Talbot of Cass county proposes to abolish the handling of the probate business by the probate court, and to have the probate business handled by the county clerk.

THE HOME BOOSTERS' CHORUS

Every time you come down town
And start to throw your money 'round
Say "Duluth goods are the stuff for me,"
Because they mean prosperity.

A dollar you send to the Eastern shore
Says: "So long, Bill, for evermore."
So keep it here and you'll hear its sound
When it comes back to hang around.

The folks around are getting wise—
There's a way to beat those "furrin" guys,
Who pocket your coin and never come 'round
With enough of the stuff to feed a hound.

We love Duluth—the great North gate—
Our motto is "co-operate."
If you want good times and a groaning table, Always ask for the Home Made Label.

MAKING IT EASY FOR THE FARMERS TO GET IN AND OUT OF DULUTH

A surfaced trunk road over the hill from the boulevard on an average grade comparable to that of Superior street between First and Second avenues east may sound too good to be true, but it promises to be a fact before many years have gone by.

The road will be an extension of the Farrell road, now graded to a width of thirty-three feet from Sixth avenue east and Eleventh street to the Villa Scholastica. Its completion will open vast possibilities for the settlement and development of the extensive territory tributary to Duluth, connecting as it will with practically every road leading to Duluth from the north, northwest and west, and affording an easy means of entering and leaving the city.

At the time Bert Farrell made the survey of the present Farrell road, he continued his work and found that there is an excellent route available for a highway leading past the poor farm to Duluth Heights and thence to the rich farming country lying beyond. He ascertained that at comparatively reasonable cost a road can be built which will eliminate the steep grades which now confront the traveler or farmer who wishes to come to or from the city over any of the present routes.

Mr. Farrell was a member of the city engineering force for more than twenty years. He has been over every foot of the ground several times, and states that not only is a large stone quarry available within approximately fifty feet of the proposed road, but that a hard bottom is present the entire distance. He believes that a macadam surface could be laid at a price which would meet with favor, and asserts that when it is constructed there will be no stretch over which a horse could not be trotted in either direction.

Room to Farmers.

This would mean much to the farmers living back of Duluth. All of them have difficulty in hauling heavy loads into the city, and particularly back to their farms, because of the continuous long steep hills. Such a road would also be a potent argument in opening up unsettled property inside the city limits as well as the farming lands beyond.

From Sixth avenue east and Eleventh street the present Farrell road runs on the side of the hill to Eighth street.

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Beautify It! Invigorate Your Scalp! Danderine Grows Hair and We Can Prove It

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store, toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

TALES OF THE BARNACLE CLUB

Harrowing Story of Sufferings of Men Adrift at Sea Told By Former Salt Water Sailor Now Living in Duluth.

Alderman W. A. Hickson, a member of the Barnacle Club, told The Herald a sea story some weeks ago, and so successful was it in arousing interest among the reading public, especially the old sailors, that Mr. Hickson was urged to tell another. He has done so.

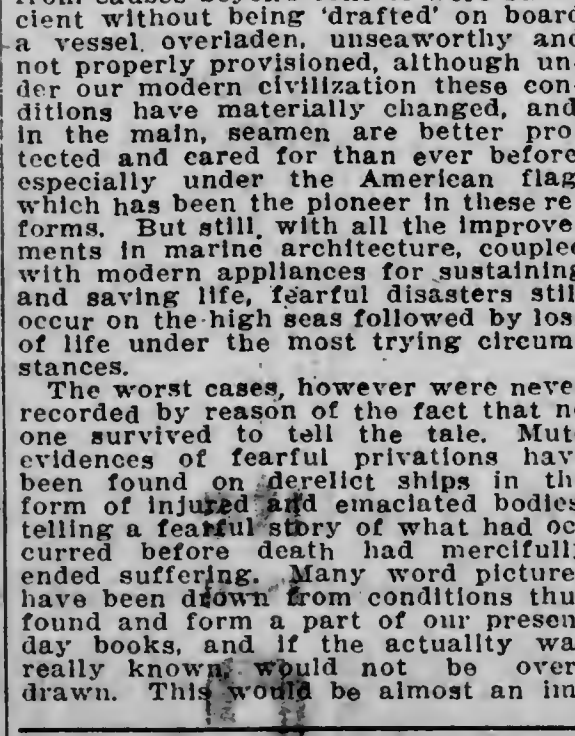

Mr. Hickson had these actual experiences when he was at sea before the war and afterwards as an officer. This story tells of a wreck, and of the people who were forced thereby to undergo the most trying of experiences.

The tale follows:

"The experience met and the dangers that beset them that go down the last century in sailing vessels, on the great waters, have for ages been told in poetry and prose and will continue to be interesting reading for future generations in view of the changes that have taken place during the last century in the matter of deep water sailing. Modern steamships, appliances and the accompanying conditions have improved conditions wonderfully regarding seaworthiness, and the accompanying conditions and sustenance of seamen. To ship before the war the sailor had to be a man of the sea, and the sailor of the sea was about the same as being a galleyslave in the middle ages, and many were the poor fellows who went to 'Davey Jones' locker' with less ceremony than that of casting the sounding lead."

"The risk of privations by shipwreck from causes beyond control were sufficient without being drafted on board a vessel overladen, unwieldy and not properly provisioned, although under our modern civilization these conditions have largely changed, and in the main, seamen are better protected and cared for than ever before, especially under the American flag, which has been the pioneer in these reforms. But still, with all the improvements in marine architecture, coupled with modern appliances for sustaining and saving life, fearful disasters still occur on the high seas followed by loss of life under the most trying circumstances."

The worst cases, however, were never recorded by reason of the fact that no one survived to tell the tale. Mute evidences of fearful privations have been found on derelict ships in the form of injured and emaciated bodies, telling a fearful story of what had occurred before death had mercifully ended suffering. Many word pictures have been drawn from conditions thus found and form a part of our present day book-lore, and the actuality of really known would not be overdrawn. This would be almost an incredible tale.

reached from Kenwood on platted streets. By cutting away a part of the hill at Chester creek it will afford easy access over the Howard-Green road to the Hartley road. An easy connection can be made from the top of Meadaba avenue. The road will intersect Arlington avenue at Duluth Heights and offer an excellent highway to Pike lake and Rice lake. It now runs within about a block of the ski jump.

The small grade of the route surveyed by Mr. Farrell brightens the hopes of those who are anxious to see street car service extended to the farming country back of the city. At no place is the road too steep to make the operation of street cars, loaded or unloaded, difficult. Those who have examined the map, state that their own opinion will be feasible and that the settling of the country they state that it should be a profitable investment.

Mr. Farrell says that the sketch road, the survey of which he superintended, will serve substantially the same purpose for the western end of the city as the other road does for the central section. He expects that it will become a trunk road into West Duluth and that it will not be long before a street car line is constructed over it to Bay View Heights, Proctor and adjacent territory.

possibility in the face of disasters that have occurred and where rescue came in the nick of time, and what would have been a mystery, becomes an established fact.

"One instance I recall and which I will never forget was in the summer of 1878, on board the brigantine Idalia five days before arriving in Boston, the lookout reported an unexplained object floating low in the water about a mile distant. The 'glasses' were brought to bear on it, and it proved to be a derelict. The captain gave orders to bear down on it, and shortly we were close to the lee side of the bulk, lowered a boat and sent a crew to 'investigate.' It proved to be a waterlogged schooner of about seventy-five tons, both spars had been broken off, and the masts about six feet from the deck and the foremast close to the deck. Part of the spars and rigging were still floating alongside. Her cabin and forecabin were under deck and filled with water. The crew was got out and had in tow. We hoisted it on board our ship about four inches below the elbow, and evidences of gangrene having set in on the remaining part, and looked as though an amputation had been made with a coarse saw, the protruding end of the bone being cut square. We concluded the poor fellow had had his hand and forearm crushed by falling spars, and in an attempt to save his life amputation had been made by some one of the crew, none of whom now survived. The body and his suffering must have been terrible indeed until relieved by death. Not a man viewed the remains without a tear-dimmed eye as he thought of the sad and sorrowful ending. We carefully wrapped the body in a canvas shroud, the inner end of the feet neatly sewed it up and prepared for the burial, which at sea is a very touching scene. All hands were lined up on the port side just forward of the gangway. A board about six feet long was placed across the van just so that it balanced, the body was placed thereon, and with head toward the cabin read, solemnly and reverently, from the service for burial at sea. And when he uttered the words, 'We therefore commit his body to the deep,' the inner end of the board slowly raised and the body slid off, dropping like a plummet into the sea. There to remain until the sea shall give up her dead."

After the close this eventful day and when in company of the first officer seated at the table in the cabin under the dim light of a hanging lamp, the discussion relating to the wreck brought forth from him a story, the harrowing details of which would cause strong men to shudder. He stated that between 1820 and 1830, his father was serving on a British man-of-war. Part of the time she was cruising on the Atlantic ocean, in search of derelicts, and one morning

NO FROST IN ISLE OF PINES

"It's all wind that blows nobody good." California's misfortune advertised to the world the great advantages of the Isle of Pines. With absolutely no chance of frost the grover of fruit must look to the Isle of Pines. Besides the Isle of Pines has many other advantages over California—cheaper freight, nearer to market, no irrigation, land at 10 per cent of the cost of land in California. No better investment is offered today than land in Isle of Pines. See me for easy terms.

MAIN AS SERVICEABLE AS WHEN LAID, SAYS ENGINEER

Water Board's Expert Says Steel Portion Has Never Been Repaired.

Only Breaks Have Been in the Cast Iron Accessories.

Time When It Is Cheaper to Renew Still Far Distant.

E. W. Kelly, engineer of the water and light department has prepared a report on the condition of the big force main at the time of the recent break, and has submitted it to the water and light board. The report is as follows:

"At the time of the recent break of a check valve in the 42-inch steel main at Fortieth avenue east and Superior street, I entered the main and inspected a section extending from a point about 100 feet east of the break to about seventy-five feet west thereof. This main was laid in 1897. At the point examined, it consists of riveted steel plates nine-thirty-seconds of an inch in thickness. It was coated with Trinidad asphalt and dead oil.

"An examination of the interior coating at this point showed it to be almost entirely uninjured, and, of course, the metal protected by it was in like condition. Lack of time and facilities prevented gathering any but approximate data as to the present condition of the pipe. Over 99 per cent of the surface is entirely uninjured, with coating intact. Numbers, etc., painted on the interior of the pipe in 1897, as directions for laying, are still plainly legible. The coating is smooth, slightly glossy, and adherent to the pipe. The coating is not sticky, as when new, and can be quite readily separated from the metal by scraping. Whenever the coating was scraped off, the metal was found in perfect condition—bright and smooth.

"On every sheet of the pipe examined some tubercles or knobs or rusty appearance were found. They are more numerous toward the bottom of the pipe than elsewhere. These tubercles are quite solid, but can be broken up and removed with a knife. Under each is a dark spot in the steel, considerably smaller than the tubercle itself. The largest 'pit' so found was about two square inches in area, and extreme shallow—not more than a roughening of the surface. The deepest pit was about as large as a dime and nearly one-sixteenth of an inch in depth in the deepest part. Nearly all tubercles removed covered pits one-eighth to one-quarter of an inch in diameter and about one-thirty-second of an inch in depth. The total area of pits estimated to cover less than one-half of 1 per cent of the surface of the pipe. A little rust also showed around rivet heads, but was insignificant in amount.

"Since entering the employ of the department, I have had opportunity to examine the outside of this pipe at Fortieth avenue east, and at two points near Thirty-fourth avenue east, as well as at Fortieth avenue east, and the portion formerly inclosed in a frost-box at Thirty-fourth avenue east. At each of these places a trifling amount of rust is present around rivet heads, but otherwise no corrosion was found. The coating being still intact, somewhat glossy and elastic, and tenacious, adherent to the metal.

"Supt. Keefe informs me that the main appeared to be in similar condition at Sixtieth avenue east, when the valve was repaired at that point on Dec. 29. There is now in this office a 24-inch disc that was cut from the main at the Lakewood pumping station in 1907. The metal of this piece is intact. The outside coating is very glossy and adheres strongly to the pipe. The inside coating is in poorer condition, brittle, dull and raised in numerous 'blisters.' The metal under these 'blisters' is not corroded more than five years' exposure to the air would account for, and there are no tubercles or pits; so I conclude that at the point this cut was made the pipe is probably in as good condition as at the portion examined at Fortieth avenue east.

"As Good as New." "From these observations, it appears that the main is probably in practically as good condition for safe operation as when new, and that the time when it will be cheaper to renew than to repair is still in the somewhat distant future. The steel portion of the main has never had 1 cent's worth of repairs done to it, nor needed it, so far as I can ascertain. The only breaks in the main have been in its cast iron accessories, and these at but two places, the check valve at Fortieth avenue east, which failed on Dec. 29 last, and a 16-inch branch connection to the rider main at Sixty-third avenue east, which blew off in 1906. These facts would seem to prove conclusively that the main was of high excellence in design and workmanship.

"I also wish to direct your attention to the manner in which the steel main proper would fail in case a break in it should occur. This would not be a burst, as in cast pipe or accessories, but a tearing out of a few rivets, and could be quickly and easily repaired. If corrosion were allowed to proceed even to perforation, the integrity of the main would not be at all threatened, and the annoyance of the leak would be readily and cheaply stopped—in most cases by plugging, without emptying the main.

"When the useful life of the main is ended, it will become apparent not suddenly, but gradually, and will be shown by the fact that annual repairs cost too much, not by our waiting up some morning without any water.

"To prevent further serious interruptions of service, the following precautions are being taken: (a) A set of enlarged and clearer plates than were formerly in our possession is being made in pocket form, to be used in the field so as to insure quicker shutting-off of water and starting repairs. (b) A semi-annual inspection of all valves and appurtenances on the line will be made.

"I recommend that steel sections similar to that inserted at the Fortieth avenue break be made and kept on hand for temporary insertion in case another check valve or gate valve should fail.

"I feel safe in guaranteeing that a similar break can be repaired in from fifty to sixty hours from the time notification of break, if these precautions are taken. The lack of proper plates alone delayed repairs on the Fortieth avenue break over twelve hours.

"To prolong the life of the main I recommend that each section be cleaned and recalcined inside this season. Properly this section should be that between Reservoir 'A' and the gate at First street. After the lapse of a year from the performance of this work, an inspection of the treated portion should be made, and if results are satisfactory, the remainder of the main should be similarly treated, one section at a time.

"In view of the fact that the present pipe line has a capacity equal to about four times the present pumpage, and that it is in excellent condition, it appears to me that a supplementary main from Lakewood to Reservoir 'A' would entail a large expense that is at present uncalled for.

"However, if it should appear advisable to reinforce the present main, I recommend that this be done by laying parallel to the 42-inch main a cast main of smaller capacity to be used only in emergencies. By connecting this emergency main to the present pipe on each side of each gate, the water pumped can be diverted from the steel main around the section that is out of commission, while the large main is utilized for the remainder of the distance. By thus using only a small length of emergency main, an amount of water sufficient for daily needs can be delivered through a comparatively small and cheap pipe. The emergency main could be laid on the surface, at least east of Sixty-third avenue east, so saving the cost of excavation.

"In conclusion, I wish to quote extracts from an address before the American Water Works association in 1911 by the eminent authority, Allen Hazen:

"A steel pipe one-quarter of an inch in thickness may be, and often is, stronger than a cast iron pipe an inch thick, and is commonly cheaper."

"The oldest steel pipe lines now in use are about twenty years old. They are still in good condition. Little has been spent on them for repairs, and there is every prospect that they will continue in useful service for a long time."

"The weakness of a well-made steel pipe is its liability to perforation, and little trouble is to be expected from them as the years go by."

"The writer believes that in many cases there is a reason for preferring steel to cast iron which is more important than the saving in cost, namely, the greater strength and reliability of steel.

"With hundreds of miles of steel pipe in service in the last twenty years, nearly all of it in large sizes, there have been but few recorded breaks, and so far as the author knows, not a single case of a break of a destructive character; no such record can be shown for cast iron pipe.

"Small Openings. "With cast-iron pipe, in case of breakage the side of a pipe blows out, and all the water that the pipe is capable of carrying is discharged until the reservoir is exhausted or the supply shut off. On the other hand, the few breaks that have occurred with steel pipe have resulted in comparatively small openings which allowed the escape of some water, but not by any means the full discharging capacity of the pipe. In two cases the pipe has broken squarely off, leaving a circular opening all the way around through which water passed. Two ends of the pipe, however, remained intact and nearly in position, and the openings were of limited size and the pipes continued in service until arrangements could be made for repairing them by sleeves.

"In another case there was one defective joint that broke under the test pressure that was applied before the pipe was put in service, tearing out and leaving an opening of some size, but this was repaired before the pipe was put in service.

"The perforations of steel pipe that have sometimes occurred and that have been much talked about in the last years, resulting from the rusting or other corrosion of the metal and going entirely through the plate in some cases, result in a relatively small leak which does not interfere with the continued operation of the pipe and which leak can be easily, completely and permanently repaired without shutting the water off.

"All of which is respectfully submitted.

Taft's Appointments Still Deadlocked. Washington, Jan. 18.—When Friday's executive session of the senate adjourned, the deadlock between the Democratic and Republican senators over the confirmation of President Taft's appointments was more pronounced than at any previous time. No progress was made, and there was very little effort to confirm any one. Ostensibly the army negotiations were still under consideration and had there been action upon any of them, the nomination of Lieut. Col. Brewer to be colonel, would have been affirmed.

When it appeared that a vote was about to be taken, Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania discovered that the attendance of senators was still lacking and made the point of no quorum. The roll call failed to bring in a majority of the senate and an adjournment was taken immediately on motion of Senator Gallinger.

PRESIDENT WISHES WILSON GOOD LUCK

Taft Advises Democrats to Keep in "Middle of Road."

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—President Taft, guest of the Clover club here last night, wished good luck to Mr. Wilson, his coming term in the White House, predicted prosperity for the nation under ordinary circumstances, but gave warning that in his opinion the people at the polls in November decided against radicalism as well as against conservatism, and advised the Democrats to "stick to the middle of the road."

"I sincerely hope that the course taken by it will make you prosperous—will not interfere with that prosperity which, but for some obstruction, is certainly coming to this country."

The president's word of warning followed a smiling review of the November results. He said the Democratic party found itself a victor between the Republican party, deemed conservative and the Progressive party, called radical.

"It would be well for the incoming administration to preserve that position and not try to 'out-Hierod Hierod' said the president.

"I cannot be convinced that the American people have reached the point where they are willing to adopt a new method of government without any limitation on the majority. We're awaiting a new dispensation, and as Americans we're all hoping that the choice of the people will redound to the benefit of the country."

The program of his successor, the president called "ambitious" and he mentioned briefly tariff revision, the "proposal to emancipate the poor" and "militant spirit that is grinding down all wrong and elevate all right."

If this program cannot be carried out in one or two or three terms, decades," Mr. Taft said, "we would be glad to await its coming."

course along, which lies real progress for mankind."

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Taft was made the 1913 candidate of the Clover club. His speech was interrupted frequently by cheering.

FOOLED OFFICERS.

Murderer Borrowed Woman and Children to Travel With Him.

Portland, Or., Jan. 18.—John St. Clair, arrested here on suspicion of being a postoffice robber wanted in Sun, Or., has confessed to a total of eighteen robberies in Oregon and California, and the murder of John Miller on a ranch at Vina, Cal.

St. Clair was not suspected of the latter crime until after his arrest on a robbery charge, when his resemblance to photographs of the slayer of Miller was noticed.

St. Clair told with some glee of the ruse he adopted to avoid suspicion after his crimes. He had induced a friend's wife to elope with him, taking along her two children and in his travels was taken for the substantial man of family and was not molested. On several occasions he said he enjoyed the spectacle of Federal officers searching trains on which he rode, and always passing him by because of the woman and children with him. He had committed fifteen postoffice robberies in the vicinity of Roseburg before the deception was discovered. Government officials will turn St. Clair over to the California authorities prepared for the killing of Miller, a crime for which robbery was the motive.

GREAT WORD CONTEST DIRECTIONS
READ CAREFULLY!

To make the name ELLSWORTH well known in every home, we have inaugurated this great word contest. Take the two words ELLSWORTH PIANO and see how many words you can make USING ONLY THE LETTERS CONTAINED IN THE TWO WORDS "ELLSWORTH PIANO". Use any of these letters as many times in word as necessary. Use any letter in either word to spell words.

EXAMPLE 1—In the word ELLSWORTH you have the letters of which you can make the word "worth" or the word "row" or the word "lost". The letters used in the words worth and row and lost are all found in Ellsworth.

EXAMPLE 2—In the word PIANO you have the letters of which you can make the word "pan" or "pin". The letters used in both the words pan and pin are found in piano.

EXAMPLE 3—Mix the letters of both when you must with such words as "pass" or "north."

To the person making the greatest number of words of the letters in ELLSWORTH PIANO we will give absolutely free this $350.00 piano.

To all the other persons making the next greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, ELLSWORTH PIANO we will give absolutely free the above premiums as listed, and in order of merit. All words must be contained in Webster's unabridged Dictionary. Replies must be at our office or mailed to us at the closing of this contest. Only one person in a family can enter. In event of a tie, duplicate premiums will be given. All persons entering the contest will receive free a premium. You will be notified by mail and all premiums must be called for within ten days from closing of contest.

FREE To every person entering the contest the piano manufacturers, who control and who are distributing this advertising appropriation, offer the choice of the following valuable premiums: BEAUTIFUL SONG FOLIO OR ART PICTURE, also they will give each contestant a BONAFIDE MANUFACTURER'S CREDIT VOUCHER, ranging from $50.00 to $140.00, according to your answer. This Manufacturer's Credit Voucher will be good only on the purchase of any new piano in our store.

For many years piano manufacturers and dealers have tried to reduce the selling expense of pianos, the old way of paying solicitors, paying teachers' commissions and engaging great artists to play their pianos at fabulous sums are being eliminated, and now it is the question of the best advertised piano, and one in which the purchasers are given the greatest possible value. This is the age of co-operation and the manufacturers correctly believe that the best way to market and introduce their product is to spend the advertising money in making special offers to the people rather than employing world-famous demonstrators at fabulous expense and making the people pay for such methods by asking a heavy price for the piano.

Minnesota Pioneer Dies.
Mrs. Ingrid Okerstrom, 34 years, a pioneer resident of Minnesota, died Thursday at the home of her son at Port Wing. Before coming there she lived at Anoka for many years. She was well known and many friends mourn her death. The funeral took place today at Port Wing.

Virginia Is Prosperous.
Virginia, Minn., is going ahead at a phenomenal rate, according to Assistant County Attorney E. L. Boyle of that city, who was in Duluth today. He appeared in the divorce action of Albertina Johnson against August Johnson. Mr. Boyle declared that every body was busy. There were no idlers. The town was visibly growing. The mining superintendent had been instructed to get out more ore than ever before. The Minnesota Electric railway was now connecting Virginia with Gilbert and Bull and by next week cars could be running. Mr. Boyle also remarked that Virginia was sending three rinks to the hospital at St. Paul and would do what it could to have the hospital held annually in Duluth.

Meets Monday Evening.
The Duluth Ad club will hold its annual election of officers at the Commercial club Monday evening. Arrangements have been made to serve dinner at 6:30, after which the election will open for the election of a president, secretary, treasurer and first, second and third vice presidents. It promises to be a warm campaign and a full turnout is looked for.

Stone Thrown Fined.
Oscar Anderson, who pleaded guilty before Judge Ensign this week to an indictment which charged him with having thrown a stone at a street car on Sept. 19 last during the strike trouble, was yesterday fined $40 or sentenced to pay a fine of $40 or spend sixty days in the county jail. Anderson paid the fine.

Former Alderman William Bernard addressed the members of the French Nationalization club last evening at the St. Jean Baptiste hall. West end, on

The See-Eye league last year was composed of Duluth, Superior, Grand Forks and Winnipeg, Virginia and Fargo may be added to the circuit, to make it an eight-club league with the Twin Cities.

Brennan Signs.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—William Brennan today signed and mailed to President Lynch of the National baseball league his contract for 1913 as umpire. It is understood here that the contract provides for an increase of $1,000 over Brennan's salary last year. Brennan lives in St. Paul.

the matter of voting at the coming election under the new charter. The club decided to have further discussions on the subject in order to educate the voters as to the preferential system of balloting. A blackboard will be used by the speakers in order to illustrate how the plan works.

Auxiliary to Meet.
The Women's Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association will hold an important meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Commercial club. All members are urged to be present.

Will Wed in Chicago.
Charles H. Starry of Joliet, was licensed in Chicago today to marry Miss Freda Sandberg of Duluth.

Street Car Case Postponed.
The injunction against the city officers to prevent them from taking steps to have annulment proceedings started against the Duluth Street Railway company's franchise, did not come up today in United States court as was expected. The court was busy with a jury trial so the matter has been put over until Judge Willard will be at liberty to hear the case without interruption from other business. The date of hearing will be announced in a few days.

Ribbenack House.
E. R. Ribbenack, member of the legislature from the Fifth district, is in Duluth for the week-end recess. He says that the legislature is now down to business and he looks for results in beneficial legislation soon.

Mystic Workers Meet.
Zenith lodge, No. 1015, Mystic Workers, held their installation of officers at Kalamazoo hall last evening. Mrs. L. C. McDonald installed the officers, and Mrs. I. B. Christian acted as supreme conductor. The officers installed are: C. E. French, president; Charles Renick, monitor; J. A. Olson, banker; Emil Olson, secretary; E. B. Weimer, marshal; Thomas Walzak, warder; H. Burnett, sentinel; M. Neuman, supervisor; M. S. Hirschfeld and E. E. French, physicians. The meeting closed with a musical program and dancing.

F. A. Heinze Here.
Augustus F. Heinze, once a copper magnate and millionaire of Butte, Mont., was in Duluth yesterday afternoon, holding conference with some of the leading mining men of the city. Mr. Heinze's visit excited considerable comment, though he was in the city only a short time and kept out of sight as much as possible.

Boys' Department Meetings.
The repairs on the heating system of the Y. M. C. A. have been completed and everything will be in full swing again Monday. The regular schedule of gymnasium and club activities will be in operation. The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 8 o'clock and Bert Wheeler will be the speaker. Miss McCaslin will sing. The older boys' meeting at 8 o'clock will be addressed by Dr. M. E. Fitch. George Ward, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will play a violin solo. All members are cordially invited to attend one of these meetings.

Banquet Postponed.
The conference and banquet of the Minnesota Progressive Republican league, which was to have been held at St. Paul next Wednesday, has been postponed until Thursday. Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa, who is to be the principal speaker at the banquet, will be unable to reach St. Paul until Thursday.

After Fish Hatchery.
As a result of a meeting of the Northeastern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association, held last night at the Commercial club, a committee was appointed to endeavor to have the legislature establish a new fish hatchery somewhere in the vicinity of Duluth. The committee consists of Walter Dacey and George Flynn. The election of officers was to have been held last night but the meeting was postponed until the next meeting which will be held next Thursday evening, Jan. 22. The date of the next meeting was first fixed for Friday, but was later changed to Thursday.

In Duluth for Winter.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rich of Virginia, who were married at St. Peter's Catholic church on Jan. 10 last, will remain in Duluth for the winter, residing with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. The Eastern Salvage Co. Must Dispose of the Entire Stock and Fixtures at Once, at Store, 325 West First Street.

We have bought this entire stock and fixtures from C. E. Adams, trustee in bankruptcy for the creditors of the Duluth Fur Company. We have secured this stock at a very reasonable price, less than 35c on the dollar, and we are perfectly willing to share the profits with the public of this city and vicinity. The stock consists of the very finest ready-to-wear furs, made for this season's trade, such as Muffs, Neckpieces, Complete Sets, Ladies' Fur Coats, Hats, etc.; in fact, everything that a first-class fur manufacturer carries in stock. The sets are made up of the very finest selected furs, such as Eastern Mink, Red Fox, Black Fox, Near Seal, Lynx, Jap Mink, Wolf, Sable, River Mink. The Ladies' Fur Coats are of the very best Near Seal, Pony, River Mink and Hudson Seal.

You may talk about all your cheap sales in the city going on now, but nothing compares with this sale, and we absolutely assure you that this is the greatest slaughter on furs ever known in this city. We must get rid of this stock within 10 days; positively no longer time, and prices will not stop us from doing it. You will be astonished when you come in and look our prices over on high grade furs—one-half price is not in it. We have marked some of these furs as low as one-quarter the regular value. The old price is on every garment with the new price on red tickets. Be sure and look at the red ticket for price—no matter if the Duluth Fur Co.'s price ticket is marked $100, the new price may be $20, and that goes. Central Link lodge, No. 175, held a basket social on Friday night and it was so much of a success that the committee was instructed to make arrangements for another at an early date. About 150 people sat down to the banquet that was served in the large dining room. The table decorations and arrangement of the lights were original. This lodge will hold regular monthly socials. The attendance is entirely by invitation. A committee of the members of the lodge, La Brosse orchestra furnishes the music for all the socials held in this hall. Arrangements for special cars to care for the guests from all parts of the city have been made.

ACQUITTED BY SECOND JURY

Frank Stone Found Not Guilty After Being Convicted Once.

The second jury which tried Frank E. Stone, 51, sailor, for robbery, viewed the evidence differently from the jury which sat upon the same case at the November term of court and last evening returned a verdict of not guilty. When tried at the November term,

Stone was found guilty. His attorney, Werner E. Whipple, moved for a new trial. Judge Ensign granted the motion on his finding that he had committed an error in law in not submitting two special questions to the jury, as requested by the defendant.

Stone was charged with having robbed William Koski of a roll of $125. The robbery was alleged to have taken place in the Koski boarding house on West First street. Koski is a 19-year-old boy. The date of the alleged hold-up was Oct. 12.

The first jury, which found him guilty, was out but ten minutes. The second jury, which acquitted him, required from 2:30 to 2 p. m. yesterday to make its decision.

Stone was released from custody. He has been in jail most of the time since Oct. 13, the date of his arrest.

What the Night Schools Are Doing for the Foreign-Born Duluthians.

A TYPICAL NIGHT SCHOOL CLASS.

LEARNING TO SPELL.

Although the night schools of Duluth were established but two months ago, the success of this venture is already apparent.

In no other place but a night school can one see such a cosmopolitan group of people. Night schools are the melting pots for it is not alone the education a student receives in the night school, but the ideals of American manhood and womanhood, that are impressed upon him.

The establishment of night schools in the Duluth schools followed a special request sent to the board of education by Superintendent of Schools Robert E. Denfeld, who then felt the immediate need of an institution of learning for the working classes, who are deprived of the public schools, unfortunately open only during the days.

Mr. Denfeld's request was granted and night schools were established last October at the Duluth Central high school and the Irving school in West Duluth.

At the high school, classes were conducted every evening, except Sunday, while classes at the Irving school but three nights a week, changing each week. The attendance at each school grew rapidly, until at the close of the first semester last month, there were six teachers employed at the high school and three teachers in charge at the West Duluth institution. The schools reopened this week. Of the various races in attendance and reported to Mr. Denfeld the Finns predominate. They have more attending the classes than any other race. The Swedes come next, with the Germans third. There are more men at the night schools, on the average, than women, although the former do not outnumber the latter by a very large majority. The average daily attendance at the high school is 140 and at the Irving school 40.

The pupils include iron workers, carpenters, plumbers, factory employees, mill hands, store clerks and numbers of others. There is hardly an industry or business not represented by a worker at one of these night schools. The teachers report that they are all diligent workers and exceptionally bright in their studies.

Among the subjects at present taught are arithmetic, spelling, reading, writing, history, geography, commercial writing, drawing and languages. It is planned to introduce several more advanced subjects, such as typewriting, shorthand, mechanical work and high school subjects, as soon as the classes have reached that stage of learning.

"We have been most successful in this venture," said Superintendent Denfeld in speaking of the night schools as a feature of education. "The working people have taken up the idea in the most sensible way. The pupils at our schools are exceptionally bright and we can already see the improvement in them. We hope to enlarge the classes and scope of the teaching. There is no doubt of the value of the movement. It is a duty we owe these people, and it is their duty to take advantage of it."

Making Americans by night not only means the education of the immigrants, but also the teaching of the ideals of American manhood and womanhood. The children of these immigrants will receive a better education for this knowledge gained by their parents. Making Americans by night means making better citizens for the next generation.

Still, Commissioner Does

Have Monopoly.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Daniel Dillon, commissioner appointed by the supreme court of Missouri to take evidence in the ouster suit filed by the attorney general to oust the alleged packers' combination from the state, reported to the supreme court today that he found the six companies named in the proceedings in an agreement to control prices.
"But I do not think," the report adds,
"that the evidence is sufficiently specific in regard to the volume of business done by others to warrant the finding that the combination constitutes a monopoly."
The six companies named in the pro-

WILL BUILD CLUB HOUSE

Y. M. C. A. Without Religious Feature Planned for West Duluth.

The West Duluth Commercial club will erect an institution similar to the Y. M. C. A., but without the religious features.

At the regular meeting of the club last evening it was decided to abandon the plans for the proposed reorganization, and to start a subscription campaign for funds, with which to erect a building to be used by all local social and commercial organizations. The members hope to secure the assistance of the West Duluth branch of the W.
C. T. U. The present West Duluth boys' and girls' club at 208 Central avenue would be housed in the new building.

The present plan of the club follows the plan made by the other Y. M. C.
A. buildings, and is to erect a building of 1,000 to 1,200 feet, and to start an active subscription campaign among the residents of West Duluth.

Just what plans are to be followed will be completed at the meeting of the club next evening. An organization will be perfected at that time, including all the residents of the club.
In this way the members hope to secure the assistance of those in need of club rooms at a meeting place.
The building will be similar to the Y. M. C.
A., but will be more of a social center than a religious institution.
The club endorsed the plan of the Oneida club to put Grand avenue at an expense not to exceed $175 a lot.
The members, however, refused to refrain from making a movement.
President A. G. Macaulay reported that he had sent a telegram to Congressman Miller, stating that the club is unanimously opposed to removing the customs office from Duluth to St.
Paul.

THREE SYNODS MAY BE MERGED

Duluth People Interested in Conference Being Held at Minneapolis.

Union of the Norwegian Lutheran synod of America, with other branches of the denomination, the United Church and the Hauges synod, is now being discussed by the councils of the three synods in a gathering at Minneapolis.
That the union will take place within the present year is the belief of Rev. Theodore Austad, pastor of Bethesda Norwegian Lutheran church, whose synod will be affected by the change. The other churches which would be brought under the same denomination are Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street and Imma-nel's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Roosevelt street.
"The matter is now being discussed," said Rev. Mr. Austad, this morning, "and in all probability the union will be perfected this year. It means that the three local churches will then be under one denomination and synod.
Although the churches will not unite in Duluth, they will have the liberty to do so. In some communities where the congregations are very small the churches may unite into one congregation, with one pastor."
The pastors of the other two churches which may be affected are Rev. J. C. Heiterson of Our Savior's church and Rev. J. E. Roshold of Imma-nel's church.

found herself obliged finally to appeal

EKERN SUSPENDS
L. A. ANDERSON

Wisconsin Commissioner Tries to Head Off Governor.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 18.—L. A. Anderson, whose appointment as insurance commissioner has been sent to the senate, was today suspended as actuary in the insurance department by Commissioner Herman L. Ekern. The suspension is for defaulting on the senate. The action was taken after service was obtained on Anderson at Rock Island, Ill. This action by Ekern is intended to head off the governor's plan of claiming that as an employee Anderson was already in the office and no legal proceedings would be required to put him into the commissioner's chair.
Anderson's suspension is based on the charge that he destroyed his books and papers in the department by making it impossible for the head of the department to cooperate with him in the best interests of the state. Anderson is charged with being in secret consultation with the governor,
"planning and conspiring with him to illegally and without cause, and solely without purpose, to remove your superior as head of this department from office and to place you in his stead."

DEFENDS REBATING AND ALSO POOLING

President of Shipping Company Tells Committee of Their Use.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Defense of rebating, pooling arrangements and rate agreements in ocean freight trade featured in the testimony today of Herbert Barber, president of Barber &
Co. of New York, before the house shipping committee. Mr. Barber told the committee yesterday that lines represented by his company in the trade between New York and South America, South Africa, China, Japan and the Philippines were among those operating under rate agreements, having pooling arrangements in some instances and giving rebates in the trade to the United States.
He said today that rebates as given by his company were nothing more than discounts to shippers who entered into long-term contracts or agreements.
The committee heard from Joseph T.
Lilly of Norton & Co. of New York, more about rate and pooling agreements and pooling arrangements between lines in the trade between New York and South Africa, Australia, Japan, China, the Philippines and India.
Some lines represented by his firm, the witness said, were in these conferences.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

AT THE LYCEUM

"The Country Girl," which comes to the Lyceum theater tomorrow matinee and night, is claimed by both press and public of other cities to be one of the very best tabloid musical shows traveling. Special scenery, good clean comedy of the better sort and a bevy of pretty dancing girls go a long way to make "The Country Girl" the success it has been. The story of "The Country Girl" is centered around a theatrical troupe who are making an overland trip in an automobile, which has broken down compelling them to spend the afternoon and evening at the farmhouse of Uncle Josh. The southerner of the company is made up with Uncle Josh's hired boy, Hiram. When things are just running along smoothly the county sheriff shows up with a warrant for the arrest of the manager of the company, claiming that they had stolen four towels out of Hen Puffy's city hotel. Many good comedy scenes follow the arrival of the sheriff, interpolated with many excellent musical numbers, prominent among the most prominent being "Adieu Melody," "Chicken Rag," "La Danseuse," and "Dance of the Thimble." They are finally adjourned when the sheriff receives a telegram that the towels have been found and that Hen Puffy's wife used them for a busbie. Uncle Josh, and the former opera star, Miss Emma Abbott in the role of Trix, the southerner, and the violinist, Miss Trixie De Vere, a violinist, plays the orchestra leader of the company on the stage and during the action of the comedy contributes an excellent specialty.

In presenting a star of the magnitude of Valeska Suratt, it is sometimes thought unnecessary to pay a great deal of attention to the supporting company, but in the case of the production of "The Kiss Waltz," due at the Lyceum next Tuesday and Wednesday, the management, it is said, has gone to the other extreme and provided a cast which would make any less talented artist than Miss Suratt look to her laurels. The supporting chorus whose vocal abilities are said to be but a shade below that required for grand opera and whose personal charm is fully up to the standard. "The Kiss Waltz" is the big four-and-a-half New York Casino musical success, and is heralded as the very prettiest and most successful of all the Casino musical productions. The music of this opera is by Zieheer, who composed "Mile, Mischief" for Fritz Schell, while the American version is by Edgar Smith and the lyrics by Matthew Woodward. Neville Ellis designed the gowns, including the eleven magnificent drop-curtains of the beautiful star, which are, perhaps, more responsible for the success of the opera than any one other detail, save the composer's delightful music and the fair Valeska's personal charms.

The plot of "The Kiss Waltz" hinges around the irresistible fascination that Guido Spini, a composer, exercises over all the women he meets. He makes love to a flirtatious baroness because of her influence, which is invaluable to him in his profession, but in reality his affections are centered on a cousin of the countess, Miss Suratt. The jealousy of the countess' husband is aroused during the many ludicrous complications but it becomes apparent that the count himself, for all his jealousy, is in the habit of industriously making love to every woman he meets. Much dramatic as well as singing ability enters into the cast, which necessitated more than ordinary care in its selection. During the first act Miss Suratt will appear in her famous $10,000 diamond dress, just now the talk of the fashion world.

The story of "The Quaker Girl," that much talked of opera, which comes to the Lyceum early in February, deals with the adventures of a Quaker maiden who is cast adrift by her own people, and who goes to Paris to see the world. She falls in love, quarrels with her sweetheart, and makes it up again, and goes to grand ball as the guest of a prince, all in the space of twenty wonderful songs. The first act is laid in an English Quaker village; the second in a dressmaker's salon in Paris, and the third in a cafe on the outskirts of Paris. The three atmospheres are as unlike as could be imagined. In fact, the entire production is one grand surprise, from the demure and rather prim title clear through to the finale. The expected thing never happens, but something thrillingly interesting does each time, and the songs which carry out the story are typified by "Come to the Ball," the great waltz which is being whistled and hummed all over London and New York, where the play has had record-breaking runs.

Most people are stay-at-homes from necessity rather than desire; the restless wanderlust pervades the whole nation, the cravings of a progressive spirit and the restlessness of nervous vigor make Americans a nation of travelers. Since so few can gratify this inclination by actual traveling, much of the great popularity of Lyman H. Howe's travel festival may be ascribed to this longing to travel because Mr. Howe's reproductions really are a most excellent substitute. It is a splendid equivalent of actual travel and therefore it is quite natural that the announcement of his return engagement at the Lyceum in March should arouse anew the longing to accompany him to other parts of the earth to see the activities, industries, events, history, art, architecture, customs and sports of lands remote from ours. Other factors that greatly enhance the value of Mr. Howe's exhibition are the breadth and detail of the subjects and the artistic skill manifested not only in photographing them but also in their arrangement. They offer a live stimulus for thought by sheer force of their grandeur, realism and fascination. There is an indelible charm in them which is to be found in no other exhibition and they make spectators feel that they are really present—they are on the ground partaking the pleasure of an actual traveler and enjoying the innumerable sources of human interest that travel offers.

There are many strange sights of wild animals drinking, feeding and fighting in the jungle of Africa to be seen in the remarkable motion pictures of Paul J. Rainey's African hunt, which will be exhibited at the Lyceum in March.

An Abyssinian wild dog is shown as one of the rarest specimens of wild animals which Mr. Rainey captured and presented to the Bronx park zoo in New York. There are two of these dogs known to be in captivity today; and this one and another in Regent's park, London. It is said that Hagenbeck, the famous animal dealer of Hamburg, expended several thousand dollars in an unsuccessful attempt to procure a specimen of this rarity in the dog family.

Another picture shows a herd of Grant's gazelles, one of the most difficult animals to approach because of its timidity. In this instance the camera man succeeded in getting within forty yards of this little gazelle, which is said to be so nervous that the shot of a gun often frightens it to death.

It is proven by these pictures that the lion, which has always been regarded as the king of beasts, will turn tail and run away when it has met its superior in courage as was the case when a specially trained pack of Mississippi hounds fearlessly attacked it.

"The Rose Maid," Verba & Luescher's great musical success, which will be presented at the Lyceum in the spring months of a cast of minkin actors in addition to its splendid company of musical comedy favorites. The "Kite Kiddies," who bring on their top performers during the laughable "Rambling Song," and who won the hearts of thousands of New Yorkers during the run of "The Rose Maid" on Broadway, also introduce their dolly in the dancing number to the great delight of the audience. Each "Kiddie" has named her dolly or Teddy bear after her favorite, thereby adding such celebrated names to the cast as Maude Adams, Christie MacDonald, Mary Barnard, Miss Holmes, Elsie Janis and Gene Lunska. The "Kite Kiddies" number is one of the highlights of the opera, making this success a delightful entertainment for the children as well as for the grown-ups.

The publishers of the score of "Madame Sherry," the new musical production, report that more than 2,000,000 copies have been sold of the "Pity Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own," song, which will be played at the Lyceum on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, by an excellent cast of players.

"Robin Hood," with a special cast of grand opera singers, headed by Bessie Abbott is one of the early attractions at the Lyceum.

"Ben Hur," the glorious monument to the life of Christ, which is a gift to posterity, dramatized from the master work of the distinguished scholar and statesman, will be at the Lyceum for four days in February.

"Louisiana Lou" built up around the picturesque scenes surrounding the famous Louisiana Lou, which is one of the early attractions at the Lyceum.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," with Charlotte Walker, is one of the early attractions at the Lyceum.

Henry Miller in "The Rainbow," Chauncey Olcott in "The Isle of My Dreams," William in "Crawling," the Senator keeps House, Maude Adams in "Peter Pan," Frances Starr in "The Case of Becky," and John Drew are among the well known stars booked at the Lyceum in the spring.

AT THE ORPHEUM

"The Top of the World Dancers" will top the Orpheum bill for next week, beginning with tomorrow afternoon's matinee. Dancing is almost the universal art for it appeals alike to serious spectator who sees in the art, wedding which seems a most happy one, of several of the arts, and dancing is popular too, with the average vaudeville goer who cares nothing about parties to the artistic contract but who does delight in the rhythmic motion, the color and gaiety of the whole affair.

The dancers who have become known as the Top of the World dancers comprise one of the best dancing acts in vaudeville. The performers are a group of boys and girls assisted by a famous and novel "Collier" ballet of which the personnel is a half dozen finely bred and beautiful collier dogs. "Kris Kringle's Dream" is the subject of the piece in which the company appears and the characters are those who might naturally appear in the Far North, either toy or human, and the dogs are also drilled to go through their part in the dances. The act is a delightful one, unusual and unusual and is well staged. It is quite different from any other dancing acts seen recently on the Orpheum stage.

Will Dillon, who until recently devoted most of his time to song writing in which he won much success is no less pleasing as an entertainer. He presents his own songs and of course a composer can do his own things better than any one else. Mr. Dillon has displayed a fine comedy sense and with quick changes, most of which consist in changing hats he achieves ludicrous effects that have proved immensely popular with Orpheum audiences. Mr. Dillon will be at the Duluth Orpheum next week.

Another team who appear in a act of songs and stories that come in a welcome patter suit keeps the audience attentive to keep up is McHaffey and Cyril, who present new songs and new stories in a bright and clever manner. This is their first visit to Duluth and their act which has won much approval in other cities will undoubtedly find much favor here.

"Cleopatra's Needle" is the title of the sketch in which Miss Peggie Lennie toured England for several seasons. She has brought the sketch to America where it has been as popular as with the English audiences. "Cleopatra's Needle" is a fantastical sketch telling of the journey of two travelers of opposite sex along the banks of the Nile, and also involves the legend of one of the Egyptian temples. A vaudeville flirtation and practical joke form the basis of the comedy.

Miss Lennie is assisted by Walter East, an English player, who has recently been identified with the comedies of Graham Moffatt, author of "The Cuckooed Red," seen on the Orpheum stage last season.

"Jojo and the French Maid" is the subject that the Kyles have chosen for their aerial novelty act. The act combines acrobatics, tumbling, balancing, juggling and comedy work. Some of the tricks which the Kyles are said to be most sensational.

Del-a-phone and mimic are an act which proves universally popular for when such skill as this performer displays is achieved with an accomplishment that every one has in part, it is only enough to call the dog in from outdoors. It is bound to be of much interest to the audience. The what-ifs are not the only source of interest however, for Del-a-phone also proves a most clever mimic.

Grabetta and Lavondre have been called Europe's greatest transformists and audiences watch with the keenest interest and wonder. The woman in the act is said to be the only woman on the vaudeville stage impersonating great men.

The Rhodrome, which almost invariably proves of as much interest as any portion of the bill will be shown as usual and the orchestra selections will be as usual prove an attractive feature of the bill which will open tomorrow with the matinee and continue every afternoon and evening next week.

Miss Napierkowska, the renowned Polish danseuse classique sailed from Liverpool, Saturday, Jan. 11 aboard the Holland-American line steamer Nordam, to begin her tour on the Orpheum circuit. "Les Mille," the choreographer, which Miss Napierkowska will use in America, is considered her crowning triumph.

Another imposing tabloid musical comedy has been routed over the Orpheum circuit. It is "In a Persian Garden" with Louis Simon and Kathleen Osterman, sharing stellar honors. Miss Osterman is particularly well known in the West, having appeared at the head of her own company for many seasons.

Vaudeville has again scored a coup when Ellen Beach—the celebrated operatic soprano, whose upper range contains the highest perfect note known in musical circles—has just arranged for a tour over the Orpheum circuit.

Miss Cecilia Loftus is seriously considering enlarging her repertoire to include many celebrities in public life besides theatrical stars. If this idea becomes a reality, Miss Loftus will be known in the West, having appeared in addition to her Footlight Impressions, imitations of women prominent in national affairs.

All of the two songs which Irene Franklin intends singing during her trip over the Orpheum circuit are used exclusively by her. In fact, the lyrics for each was written by Miss Franklin and the music by Burt Green, who plays her accompaniments.

The company playing in Gus Edwards' "Song Review" is composed almost entirely of kiddies, all of whom is motivated by Mrs. Edwards. A tinctor however, is carried on tour with the company over the Orpheum circuit, and there is a regular session of school every morning from 9 until noon.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

At Philip Bartholomae's request William A. Brady has released Leander Richardson, for the past two seasons the head of the bureau of publicity, and Mr. Richardson will join Mr. Bartholomae in a partnership capacity in his various enterprises as a producing manager. The change is to take place next month. The first independent production under the new direction will be a musical comedy called "When Dreams Come True," with book and lyrics by Mr. Bartholomae and score by Silvio Hain. In this Joseph Santley is to be "featured" in a company which thus early includes John C. Slavin, May Vokes, Rita Starnow and others.

"THE DANCING PIPPINS" In "The Country Girl" at the Lyceum Tomorrow.

Maeterlinck, it is announced in Paris, will appear in her husband's latest play, entitled "Marie Madeleine," which is to see its first presentation in the Municipal theater at Nice on March 15.

Maxine Elliott was offered the leading part in "Turandot," which will be produced in London, at the St. James theater, under direction of Prof. Max Reinhardt, but she refused it, as she did not think it suitable. Miss Elliott finds the enjoyment of social life more to her liking, and she is not especially eager for stage work just at present.

John Cort has accepted the manuscript of a new play written by Alexander Brown, a well-known lecturer in New York on the drama and kindred subjects. This is the first play of Mr. Brown's to reach production.

It is a comedy, the exact nature of which is not yet revealed. Mr. Cort plans to star Catherine Courtiss in the leading role of the new play, and will bring it to performance in New York as soon as three other plays, already arranged for, have been produced. These three plays are "The Glassblowers," an operette, by John Philip Sousa; "The Elfin of Life," and "Scales of Justice." The names of the authors of the last two plays, together with the casts that will act them, will be publicly announced later.

Adeline Ritchie, now appearing in "All the Ladies," with Sam Bernard, will, after termination of her present engagement, devote herself to comedy without music, in which she is star. She announces that she has secured a suitable farce.

Lina Abarbanell, who has just closed in "The Princess," is rehearsing in a new musical play, the name and authorship of which have not yet been made public. Miss Abarbanell confides under the management of John Cort.

Hamilton Revelle, who is now playing the sinister viceroy in "Kismet," will probably become the new season under the management of Harrison Grey Fiske if the proper vehicle for him can be found. It is said that Mr. Fiske has the manuscript of a big Spanish-toned drama, in which the principal character a Mexican, which was written by Rita Johnson Young, and it is thought to be the play that will solve the problem.

Stella Mayhew and Billie Taylor returned to vaudeville last week at Proctor's Fifth Avenue theater, where their new character songs, with proper costume changes.

Leo Brinsk's comedy, "The Pool's Dance," "Marentanz," which has been a sensational success in Europe and is now running in Munich, Hanover and several other cities in Germany and Austria, has been purchased for America by Kiaw & Erlanger. Almost every producing manager of importance in America has been after this play. The scenes of "The Pool's Dance" are laid in Russia and tell in a comic vein the story of a self-instituted revolution by the governor of one of the Russian provinces.

Tyrone Power has resigned from the cast of Faversham's "Julius Caesar." Rumor has it that Faversham did not relish the regularity with which Power got the cream of the press notices. Another reason behind his withdrawal is a plan to do a little starring in Shakespearean roles on his individual account. A manager has come forward, eager and willing to finance Mr. Power's tour, and preparations to this end are already under way. Mr. Power hopes to appear as Macbeth and Othello.

J. Fred Helf is said to be back of a scheme to amalgamate the minstrel ability of George Evans and Neil O'Brien.

"Romance," a new drama by Edwin Sheldon has been placed in rehearsal by the Messrs. Shubert, and will be given a hearing in New York city in about two weeks. For this play the managers have been particularly careful in selecting a company and will feature in two leading roles Doris Keane and William Coutuany.

There is a new Alan-a-Dale in the "Robin Hood" company. She is Henrietta Wakefield, and she entered the cast in Indianapolis last week. Following the engagement in Chicago which begins tomorrow, a route has been

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The lack of a general and speedy exchange of "employment needs information" is apparent at every turn—and distressing. At certain seasons when the business is hot, laborers need all kinds of help and are willing to pay for it, but can't get it; at the same time we see men walking the streets of our cities able and willing to work at any thing, but not knowing where to go. The same is true among us has not wanted something done and wondered how he could secure the service, while just the man for the job might have been passing the door anxious for the postoffice. The greatest loss of the postoffice is the one that can supply the remedy.

It can do it at negligible expense to employer and prospective employee. It can do it for less than it costs to itself and meanwhile be doing a magnificent service to the people and to the country at large. Make every postoffice in the land an employment bureau, too. Any one wanting work may go to any office and there the people hiring labor are looking for the

I am not seeking to pauperize any class of people by having the government do things for them for nothing. A system of stamp payments could be easily arranged by the use of office experts and the few penalties required for such registration can be fished-up by any man, somehow, some way, however hardup, down and out he may be. Access could be had to these registers of employment offered or taken up and the stamps for the cancellation of certain stamps. If local employment only is desired the postoffice work would end there, but if a man wants to find work at some other place, or if an employer wants to hire a man from such a distant district, the postoffice for the requisite fee in stamps, would place that "want" in the postoffice of the locality desired. It would serve as a greatly clearing house for labor. Even when it is particularly expedient to have work in any other locality, the postoffice department would soon become expert in "feeling" the conditions about the country and would hasten the question, "Is this good for the community, and the long pull; or is it for an individual, or a clique, or day?"

Let us inspect our machinery. Here are grange, school, church and ladies' aid society (with its library illustrating the advisability of placing lesser things under few main heads). Now come the Y. M. C. A., an athletic organization—and there are social enough.

We would fairly view our resources—social and material.

Ladies' aid society.—The story of its School—Better education in this section you must have. The solution is the central graded school. I know the unusual obstacles here no logical center, isolated valley and poor roads, but you cannot retreat in the education of your children.

Church—The church will go on here, doing its beneficent work; but whether in its present places and ways, or drawn to centralize, by the same quiet forces, will be determined later.

you will think on this, and will say: "But there's too much to do," etc. Play has never yet in this country lessened the work product of a community—has rather increased it. Business men are providing for it in their plants.

Sanitation—The villages and the farms are now acknowledged to be behind in sanitation. Surely little can be accomplished in this line save through wide-spread education of the laborer, who refuses modern treatment of diphtheria and sends abroad a GERU carrier, kills your child or your young husband, miles away, almost like a murderer with a gun.

"The rest of the world is advancing rapidly; it is not enough to advance a little here. The task which faces us here is the patient year-long upbuilding of the community; one that shall not only educate the mind, but shall so educate the heart that the things in American life that must remain will stay, or come back, and taking our thinning hands say: 'I've been around, and seen, and I'll live here—'

At the picnic of the home and invited granges at Hickory Grove, Pa., last summer, Dr. Brush delivered to his old neighbors an address of unusual exciting and suggestiveness in its loss of the communal life—the operative life. Not failure in farm or money-making, but degeneration of our society in its broader sense.

The past is ever acting part on it we of necessity rebuild. Come back with me then a little time in the story of our countryside. Care treatment of grave rural problems following are extracts:

My subject is all in the word HERE. We must have you consider with me to stay this place—not Washington or anyhampton, but Hickory Grove and a few miles around.

Let us at once come at the Main investigation reveals that four or five houses were occupied where is no one. There were full church schools of thirty to seventy, bees, debating societies, picnics, singing schools, parties, quail, militia drills, big hunts, and fishes, shoot matches, fife and drum corps, sug making, and two goose-feather by

First, this is one of the best places on earth to spend life in. Second, this was, up to 1880-85, a first class rural community. Third, it is now a second class rural community. It is desirable to go back to first ranking, and how?

on home rule, when that necessity reaches the house of lords. It is said that the Ulster peers and many of the English Unionist lords, who were very energetic supporters of Mr. Chamberlain's policy, are willing to throw overboard reform to save the Union, whereas the Irish are willing to carry home rule in some form or other, hoping thereby to obtain an early election on tariff reform. Some of Mr. Chamberlain's followers have already canvassed the possibility of the Irish Unionists joining the Ulster Unionists in opposing the bill, but believing that when that is out of the way the bill will pass, they have returned to the country, and the road will be cleared for their pet hobby.

REALTY MARKET HEALTHY FOR THIS SEASON OF YEAR

Good Inquiry for Factory Sites and Residence Properties.

Duluthians in Syndicate That Purchases the Superior Hotel.

 WEEKLY REALTY RESUME *****

	Number of Known Transfers, sidings	Value
Monday	12	$2,240.00
Tuesday	6	$355.00
Wednesday	17	$2,580.00
Thursday	3	$1,140.00
Friday	15	$11,060.00
Saturday	15	$10,525.00
Total	66	$19,925.00

In spite of the fact that there is a noticeable decrease in the number of real estate transfers put on record during the past week, the local realty market appears to be enjoying a healthy movement for this time of the year. Trading has not been particularly brisk, but a better tone has been manifested in the inquiry. Factory sites, business locations and residence properties are in good demand with good prices offered. Those who contemplate building in the spring and have not already picked their home site or business location as the case may be, are now doing so. Inquiry for acreage tracts near Duluth is good and there also appears to be a good demand for St. Louis, Lake and Carlton county farm lands. Owing to the cold weather, dealers have been handicapped in showing their properties.

W. A. Wagner, a well known liquor dealer of this city, heads a syndicate which has taken over from the W. B. Silvey estate, the Hotel Superior property at Belknap and Tower avenues, Superior. The deal, which was closed this week, has been in progress since shortly after William B. Silvey of this city lost his life in the Titanic disaster. It involved a consideration of $100,000 in real estate, securities and other collateral.

Besides Mr. Wagner, other Duluthians who hold interests in the syndicate are A. A. Bechtel, E. P. Towns, George W. Buck and Whitney Wall. Mr. Bechtel was secretary of the Lake Superior Hotel company, the holding company of the Silvey estate and is the present manager of the hotel. Mr. Wagner, the principal owner of the hotel property, holds extensive interests in Duluth and is accounted as a man of considerable wealth. He owns two saloons and some valuable Superior street frontage in this city.

The hotel property, taken over by Mr. Wagner and associates, has an interesting real estate history. In the early days it was purchased by Frank Matchette, who later sold it to the improvement company for $750,000. The building and the entire block was included in the sale. Matchette afterwards sold the building and the lots on which it stands for the purchase price and took the unimproved lots for profit. Mr. Silvey who purchased the hotel from Matchette, sold the lots under the building to the Hillsdale college at Hillsdale, Mich. The hotel company taking a 100-year lease at a graduated rental. The deal left Mr. Silvey with a title to the building at a small investment. Mr. Bechtel will remain in charge as manager under the new ownership.

The Ajax Land company, organized to deal in lands, tenements and general insurance, filed its articles of incorporation yesterday with the register of deeds. The company is capitalized at $50,000 and the incorporators are given as Frank Crasswell, Arthur H. Crasswell and Elmer E. Blue. They are also the first board of directors and officers.

E. D. Field & Co. advise that several good sized deals are in the air and that inquiry is brisk. This company during the past week received an offer of $50,000 for a small factory site property in the mill district at West Duluth. It is understood that the deal will be closed. The purchasers are buying for investment purposes and do not contemplate improvements at this time.

A recent transfer of Douglas county, Wis., property, which may be of interest here, was the sale of the Tamarack farm, consisting of 8,000 acres, located between Gordon and Foxboro roads, near St. N. D. The consideration was $120,000 and in the neighborhood of $120,000 and the deal one of the largest acreage transactions which has been closed in Douglas county for some time. It is the intention of the purchasers to stock the farm with 1,000 head of cattle and 3,000 sheep. The Tamarack farm is a well-known property. There are about 200 acres under cultivation.

An active movement in Gary property during the past week is reported. The Steel Plant investment company disposed of thirty lots for Watson S. Moore. The Home Realty company, according to E. W. Lyons, sales manager, sold four lots to purchasers in Montana and in St. Paul.

Charles M. Johnson has transferred to Johannes Johnson for a consideration of $2,550 a property fronting twenty-five feet on the upper side of Fifth street between Eighth and Ninth avenues west.

Mary H. Lapschle has sold to William Lofdal for $350 a 56-foot corner at Fifth street avenue east and Osgood street, Crosey park.

The real estate transfers of the week follow: George J. Lench et ux to Fred C. Lench, 1/2 sec. 24, 1/2 sec. 25, 1/2 sec. 26, 1/2 sec. 27, 1/2 sec. 28, 1/2 sec. 29, 1/2 sec. 30, 1/2 sec. 31, 1/2 sec. 32, 1/2 sec. 33, 1/2 sec. 34, 1/2 sec. 35, 1/2 sec. 36, 1/2 sec. 37, 1/2 sec. NEW KIND OF WAREHOUSE

A totally new kind of warehouse building used for storing iron and steel castings has been completed at the works of the American N. J. It is known as a marine warehouse because its roof construction embraces the principle of the hatchway on a ship. This new departure, the only one of its kind, consists of a building eighty-five feet long, thirty-eight feet wide and thirteen feet high to the rafters, which gives it a capacity of over 40,000 cubic feet. The peak of the slightly sloping roof is fifteen feet high. In each side of the roof there are six big hatch covers 12 feet 10 inches by 10 feet 10 inches, resting on a strongly built coaming protected by metal sheathing. A ten-ton traveling crane, on tracks high enough to give sufficient clearance for the largest castings, is used to drop them into place through the hatchways. This method of handling the castings not only saves the cost of putting in an industrial railway, but also the space necessary to move around the large castings. The hatch covers are so large that the castings can be put down anywhere and thus the space can be utilized. The hatch covers themselves are also moved by the crane, which is hoisted on steel rods across their tops, secured to them on the side and center.

The structure is of wood on concrete foundations. The floor consists of solid earth and concrete, with clinders to absorb the moisture. The walls are of concrete, and the complete and cost less than 50 cents a square foot.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT SHARES MAY SOON COMMAND A VERY HIGH PRICE.

The third dividend of 50 cents per share was declared today, payable February 15th, to stockholders of record at close of business February 28th.

Here is a truly bonanza mine—the earnings of this month alone will be about $30,000.00 net, and Mr. Stone, superintendent of the mine, states in a telegram to Mr. Hugo that in February and March, earnings should be much heavier. Think of it. This mine will earn over $100,000.00 net in the next three months, or 10 per cent on $1,000,000.00 in three months. When the share is down to low levels and mining of copper begins, what interest on your money can this mine earn when it is today earning 10 per cent per annum on $1,000,000.00, which means 10 per cent on a $500,000 stock? I say, hurry for the Scott mine, and to the people in Butte who are the big purchasers of the shares, I say you should soon get 200 per cent profit on shares bought from Duluth.

PURITAN MINING COMPANY

Will, I believe, develop into another such a success. I say Butte-Alex Scott is the greatest success now before us in the mining game.

The week closes with the market situation much more satisfactory than it has been at any time during the past five weeks. For the first time in that period, stocks are showing investment buying, and an excellent undertone. It is, therefore, in our opinion an excellent time to take on any of the good stocks. The market, during the decline, has discounted a great many unfavorable things, and it is now on the upturn for higher prices without doubt.

The past week has witnessed the breaking through of the third raise of the south drift of the Red Warrior into the ore body, and reports state the ore is of excellent grade and good size. This mine is developing very fast into a good, big property, and its stock will surprise some people by advancing to much higher prices in the near future.

Scott has held steady and trade has been largely shut out to break weak, but this stock should sell much higher, and will. Calumet & Sonora has reacted to quite an extent, but resuming of production should cause a rally in this issue. Carman has been strong all week on reports of stringers of rich ore being encountered. Keating holds well, and should do decidedly better. Butte & Superior is very cheap at this level.

From all angles the market promises much better things the coming week. We would buy the good stocks Monday and hold them for higher prices, and the advance will come quick in our opinion.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Jan. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co. Review of Trade says: Trade in most important branches continues to show a satisfactory gain over last year. In volume of transactions, business sentiment, however, while confident, is conservative. A marked development is the marked increase in railroad activity. While track construction is at low ebb, the railroad and cotton markets display considerable irregularity. Foreign commerce statistics continue to show a remarkable exhibit of expansion in our trade with other countries. Railroad earnings continue large.

INJURED MINER ASKS DAMAGES

Anton Lindstrom Sues Inland Steel Company for $15,000.

The only case up in United States court today is the personal damage suit of Anton Lindstrom against the Inland Steel company.

Lindstrom, in his complaint, charges that he was very severely injured on July of last year while at work in the Thompson mine near Crosby, Minn., the property being owned by the defendant company. Lindstrom claims that at night while in discharge of his duties about the mine, where he was employed, he fell into a shaft, forty-five feet deep, because of the fact that no adequate warning was placed about the opening as the law demands there should be. He was injured, as he claims, by falling into a pool of water at the foot of the shaft.

For all of this which he charges, Lindstrom asks damages to the amount of $15,000.

"LIVED ON THE SQUARE LIKE A TRUE MARRIED PAIR"

Immigration Agent Is Called Upon to Break Up a Happy Home in Wisconsin.

Governmental, state and municipal officers grow hardened to cases of human suffering, but a case has come into the zone occupied by Immigration Inspector Brown McDonald, which, he confesses, has "got his goat." He has asked The Herald not to publish the names of the people involved nor the name of the place from whence they came.

In a small town in Austria a woman was married to a man who brutally used her. She quit him and took their little daughter—now about 11 years old—with her. She got a divorce on statutory grounds. A man, whom she found to be a good man, was married to another woman, whom he did not like, but from whom he could not get a divorce. It was the old, old story. They loved each other, and finding that they could not be legally married, came to America together. For several years, as Kipling says, they lived on the square like a true married pair in a small town in Wisconsin, where the man was employed, and life ran along like a song.

Somebody, signing himself as "G. Brown," wrote the immigration authorities at Washington, telling the circumstances, having found out in some way or other, and as such things are prohibited by the immigration laws, the latter forwarded here the result that Assistant Inspector Daly went to the town where the alleged immorally existed and brought the two to Duluth today. They will be sent back to Austria.

Since they have been living together a little daughter has been born to the man. Both father and mother are apparently devoted to each other and to the two children.

The man says that he only wishes that he is a good woman, and that he could marry the woman for he declares with native ardor that he loves her and that she is a good woman.

The woman is spending her time sobbing and weeping, and she is saying that she is having a hard time of it herself.

WANTS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY. Virginia Woman Says Husband Has Publicly Humiliated Her.

August Johnson, Virginia saloon keeper, is made defendant in a divorce suit filed in district court yesterday by his wife, Albertina Johnson, 11 years his senior, who charges him with drunkenness and cruelty. She asks for a separation, alimony, the custody of their 7-year-old daughter, Alice Marie, and a restraining order to keep him from visiting her during the pendency of the divorce action.

The Johnsons were married Dec. 22, 1901, and both are natives of Norway. The wife has been publicly humiliated by her husband for several years and has been publicly humiliated by her husband for several years and has been publicly humiliated by her husband for several years.

IN KILLED IN NORRIS. Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Struck by a chunk of ore, which fell from the back wall in shaft B of the Norris mine, while he was drilling with his partner, Thomas Pasco, aged 60, one of the oldest local miners, was killed Friday.

Pasco had lived here for twenty years, and is survived by his widow and four children: Thomas, Jr., of Detroit; Mrs. R. J. Molard, Mrs. Richard Rowe, and Miss Marie of Ironwood.

England's National Air is Old. London, Chronicle. According to Prof. Cambourne of Athens the tune of "God Save the King" is one of the oldest we have. Six years ago the professor discovered, among the manuscripts in the National Library of Greece, the words and music of an anthem composed in 1457 in honor of Emperor Constantine Palologos.

The anthem opens with the line, "Long may our sovereign reign be extended three times." The musical notation is of an obsolete type and had to be transposed into modern notation.

It was then found that the tune of the fifteenth century anthem is almost identical with that of "God Save the King."

DULUTH WOMAN IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. P. L. De Voist of Duluth today was chosen president of the Minnesota Women's Suffrage association, to succeed Mrs. A. T. Hall of St. Paul, who resigned recently to leave the state. The selection of Mrs. De Voist was made by the executive committee of the association in session here.

LIVING ROOMS OF AMERICA.

New York Evening Post: Formal furnishing is coming to be better understood and its ideals more nearly attained in America, yet at its best, it is to be hoped that Americans will grow less and less tolerant of it, except at its best, its appeal is restricted to a small class of wealthy people, whose command of money enables them to invest formally, whether of Italian garden, or drawing-room "in a period."

Exquisite as dream places are some of the gardens of American country estates, they are fundamentally American about them, not only with pictorial completeness as parts of a whole, but with an enchanting argument for the reality of existence on their plane of luxury and harmony. That is to say, they do not intoxicate the senses with symmetry and color and suggestion that you repudiate tenements and Harlem flats and upper West side apartments as mere phantoms, not the real thing at all.

But the week-end ends—into your Monday shoes, and considering the matter dispassionately, know that either an Italian garden or a Marie Antoinette bedroom, and for obvious reasons, never can be. Just as America may be expected to evolve her own scheme of house harmony—and it is not likely that in the end she is going to stand committed to any formal kind of living or of furnishing.

Of all the signs of the times the "living room" is perhaps the most significant. It is superseding parlor, or drawing room, in the towns and cities, and out on the plains it is rapidly displacing the "front room" of the center of the family life in a cordial way, often around an open fire, it allows place to the guest without making of him a thing apart and disturbing the grouping. It accustoms the family to their own outside best, and possibly, thereby brings them to their own best. It is a really book-strewn, its furniture is frank and strong and useful. It is democratic and communal—there is something American about it and its sensations.

ENGLAND'S NATIONAL AIR IS OLD. London, Chronicle. According to Prof. Cambourne of Athens the tune of "God Save the King" is one of the oldest we have. HOUSEKEEPING A SCIENCE

Mrs. Frank A. Pattison Has Eliminated the Servant Problem and Reduced the Cost of Living.

American Magazine: In Colonia, a pretty little suburb of Central Jersey, lives one of the most efficient housekeepers in the land. Mrs. Frank Ambler Pattison has eliminated the servant by the installation of the best of modern scientific house-keeping methods, testing her theories not only in her own home, but also in the house-keeping experiment station of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, conducted under her direction in a building on her own property. It is the only institution of its kind in the world. To estimate the contrivances therein is to complete an inventory of a sort of Arabian Nights palace.

An electric stove with no heat-conducting walls and a heat gauge, automatically shutting off the current when it reaches the temperature indicated by the housekeeper, who is supplied with insulated shutters, which, when lowered, retain the heat and cook the foods on the top of the stove without further expenditure of gas.

A metal cleaner brightening your silver with water, salt, and baking soda.

A washer whose output in two hours is a white as snow wash that takes the ordinary handmaiden a day to finish with poorer results.

These, and the sixty-five contrivances inside the china plates to be destroyed in the paper haphkins, the handsome silver net can thus be turned to the shelves with very little, if any, cleaning.

A disappearing ice box.

A motor which can be easily carried from washer to coffee mill, or knife sharpener, bread mixer, or knife sharpener.

And a host of ingenious et ceteras.

Not a Mere Toy Shop.

This is not a mere toy shop. The majority of the machines are efficient helpers, and the cost is not appalling.

The initial outlay of the more important (one of the most expensive items, the electric cooker, is only $85) can be recovered in a short period by savings in servants' wages, board and waste.

The accurate mechanical nature of the materials results in economy. In a small wash, for example, at least 5 cents less soap is necessary.

Mrs. Pattison rises at 6:45. Her housework on the average occupies about five hours of the day, and, even to the most laborious detail, is accomplished without assistance, even when entertaining, except in two instances: a handy man cleans the cellar and washes the sixty-five contrivances (she attends to the inside).

The address spends a half hour each month at the washing machine.

Standardization is an important principle. As the best system of book-keeping or the quickest adding machine is adopted in banks or offices everywhere, so should house-keeping devices and methods be investigated and compared and the best adopted in every household.

Mrs. Pattison declares that house-keeping must be raised to its rightful place as an art and a science.

The servant as a servant must go. She herself manages famously without them. For those whose large establishments demand assistance, trained helpers, women of natural intelligence or graduates of domestic science courses can be called upon as practical proof of a profession socially recognized. At present, after careful canvass, no graduate of any such course has been found anywhere in the country actually employed in domestic service and working for wages.

STRAW AND GRASS FOR WOOD.

America: The annual consumption of wood in the manufacture of matches is incredible. In view of the scarcity of lumber and its consequent high prices, Carre, an Englishman, offers what he claims to be an efficient and economical substitute. It is a composite made of straw and dried grass and is called artificial wood.

The straw is passed through crushing rolls, thence through cylindrical cutters which divide it into strips, afterward supplied with an adhesive. The strips

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC DOMAIN IS PROPOSED IN MEASURE BY KNEELAND

Would Be Under Single Head But With Five Divisions.

To Take Over Work of Various Boards and Offices.

Commissioner Also to Have Charge of State Lands.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald)—The creation of a department of public domain, under a single head but with five divisions is proposed in a bill which Representative Kneeland of Minneapolis will introduce this afternoon. It provides for the appointment by the governor of a commissioner at $6,000 a year, who is to take over the work of the following boards and offices, which are to be abolished: State drainage commission, the timber commission, the forestry board, the state forest and the secretary of the forestry board, the surveyors general of land and lumber, the board of immigration and immigration commissioner, the reclamation board, the game and fish commission and its executive agent.

So far as the constitution will permit, the commissioner is also to have charge of state lands, which are now tied up with the state auditor's office by a constitutional provision which Representative Kneeland proposes to repeal in a bill providing for a constitutional amendment, already introduced.

The commissioner is to create the following divisions: Agricultural and domestic lands, including drainage, waterways and water power, mines, game and fish, forestry, including timber and log reserves, state lands and forest reserves. The commissioner is required to specify as to the lands, determining which are fitted for agriculture and what kind of agriculture they are best suited to, and to the waterways, timber, waterways and water power, in order to provide the information likely to be required by prospective settlers. In making these surveys preference is to be given to agricultural lands near existing settlements. The commissioner is empowered to employ necessary division chiefs and employees.

Counsel for Osage Indians So Declares to Committee.

Washington, Jan. 20.—T. J. Leahy, representing the Osage Indian councilors recently deposed by Secretary Fisher, occupied the entire time today before the house Indian affairs committee hearing charges that the secretary, acting favorably to the Standard Oil company, had been using the Indians to lease their lands to the Standard Oil company. Mr. Leahy declared that he had no objection to the Indians leasing their lands to the Standard Oil company, but that the committee should not be misled by the charges of the Standard Oil company.

The department of justice is about to present the result of its investigation regarding the charges that the secretary, acting favorably to the Standard Oil company, had been using the Indians to lease their lands to the Standard Oil company. Mr. Leahy declared that he had no objection to the Indians leasing their lands to the Standard Oil company, but that the committee should not be misled by the charges of the Standard Oil company.

WOULD IMPEACH THE JAP CABINET

Plans to That Effect Being Made By Constitutionals.

Tokio, Jan. 20.—Plans to impeach the Japanese cabinet at the resumption of the diet tomorrow have been made by the Seiyukai or Constitutional party, which has a majority in the lower house, but it is thought probable that an adjournment will be taken until Feb. 5, when it is expected the budget will be introduced.

TEN THOUSAND GIRLS REFUSE SETTLEMENT.

New York, Jan. 20.—Ten thousand girls of the 27,000 affected by the agreement Saturday between shirt waist and dress manufacturers and their employees, rebelled today at the proposed settlement and remained on strike. The other 27,000 went to work at increased wages. These 10,000 girls say they are dissatisfied with the 5 to 10 per cent raise in pay offered them.

There are still approximately 125,000 workers on strike in all branches of the garment trades. Several clashes occurred during the day between the strikers picketing at the police.

PAUR RESIGNS AS DIRECTOR OF OPERA.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—Emil Paur, formerly director of the Berlin opera, suddenly resigned today as conductor of the royal opera at Berlin.

His action, according to press reports, was due to difference of opinion with Emperor William. Paur took the place just a year ago.

LEGISLATOR WHOSE SEAT IS CONTESTED

J. H. COATES.
Member of the Minnesota House from Benton County. Whose Election is Contested by Former Lieutenant Governor Charles A. Gilman.

COMMITTEE IS DIVIDED

On Confirmation of North Dakota State Tax Commissioners.

Joint Exhibit With South Dakota at Frisco Is Proposed.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald)—Final disposition by the senate of Governor Burke's appointees to the state tax commission is scheduled for this afternoon. The state affairs committee, to which the appointments were referred at the opening of the session, reported Saturday afternoon in favor of the confirmation of two of the commissioners, F. E. Packard and L. E. Birdzell, and against the confirmation of George Wallace. A minority report from the committee exposed the confirmation of any of the commissioners and advised that the entire matter be referred to Governor Burke.

Another interesting question has arisen in connection with the proposed law creating the tax commission providing that, in the event of vacancies, appointments be made by the governor, such appointments must be confirmed by the senate before the third Monday in January during the legislative session, else the terms of the commissioners so appointed automatically expire.

It is contended by the present members of the board, and their friends, that the law does not affect the first term of the commissioners, but that the terms of the commissioners have already expired, and that Governor Hanna is now in position to submit the appointments to the senate.

PACIFICATION IS TO BE TRIED FIRST

Commissioner Will Try to Settle Trouble With Utes.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Measure of pacification instead of force are to be tried first on the band of Ute Indians holding a posse at bay eighteen miles from Cortez, Colo., and refusing to give up Big Rabbit, one of their tribesmen, charged with the murder of a sheepherder.

Acting Commissioner Abbott of the Indian office today wired Agent Spearhead at the Ute reservation, to urge the state authorities to take no hasty action. Indian authorities here say the trouble came about through a misunderstanding over the possession of lands soon to be conveyed by the government to the Indians.

At last reports fifty Utes were holding a camp in the mountains threatening to fight to the death rather than give up Big Rabbit.

INEXPERIENCE ONE CAUSE OF WRECK.

Washington, Jan. 20.—An unlighted switch lamp and the "inexperience" and "lack of alertness" of a freight train crew, are assigned by the interstate commerce commission as the causes for the accident on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad near Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 15, in which 15 passengers were killed and 24 passengers and employees were injured.

NO VIOLATION OF ANTI-TRUST LAW PROVEN

Minnesota Companies Not Liable in Suit for Damages.

Charged With Driving a Competitor Out of Business.

Supreme Court Also Sustains Rights of Commerce Court.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Holding that the charge of combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law had not been sustained, the supreme court today held the Creamery Package Manufacturing company and the Owatonna Manufacturing company of Minnesota, not liable to three-fold damages on the charge of driving a competitor, the Owatonna Fanning Mill company, out of business.

The Owatonna Fanning Mill company sought to monopolize the chaff and better worker trade, and when Virtue's company declined to sell out to them, they brought suit for alleged infringements of patents for the distinct purpose of monopolizing the trade.

The court of appeals for the eighth circuit filed against the Virtue company.

Commerce Court Has Right.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The theory advanced by the government that the interstate commerce commission has absolute jurisdiction over evidence in rate cases to the exclusion of courts, was struck down today by the supreme court in deciding that the commerce court had a right to examine a claim that there was no relevant evidence presented to the commission upon which it could have based its order in the Alabama rate case.

Justice Lamar, in announcing the opinion, said an examination of the statutes showed that in cases where an unfair hearing had been granted by the commission or where no substantial evidence had been put into the record, the courts could review the commission's order and evidence.

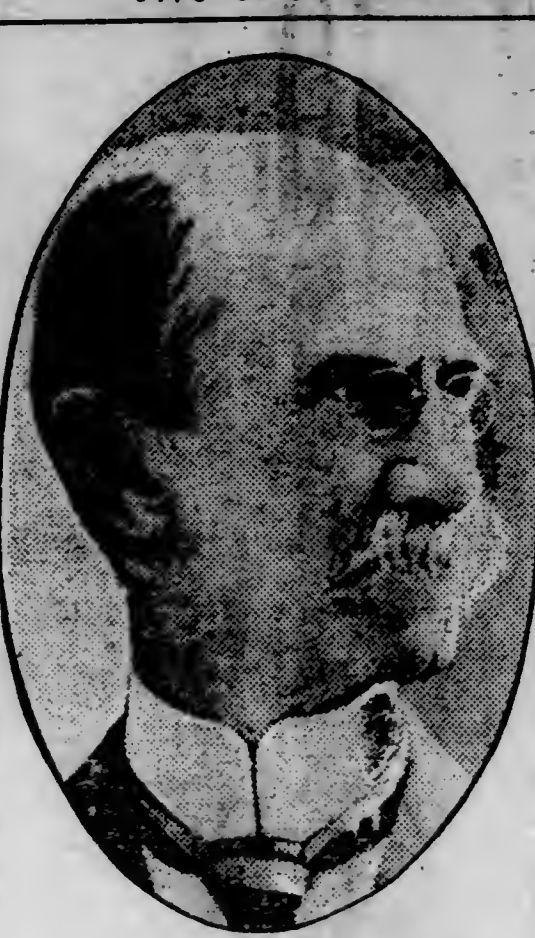

Having held that the commerce court could review the order in this case to see if any substantial evidence had been produced, the supreme court decided, however, the commerce court had no right to review the commission's order.

The case involved a contest between the interstate commerce commission and the commerce court. It also attracted attention because a letter concerning the case bearing the name of former Judge Archibald, and written to a railroad attorney at the time the judge was preparing the court's opinion, was made the basis of one of the charges in the impeachment proceedings against him.

ASHLAND ALSO SEEKING CHANGE.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 20.—A petition for a special election for the commission form of government has been filed in the city clerk's office. Mayor Dodd will fix a date next month.

COLORADO NOW HAS TWO U. S. SENATORS

CHARLES S. THOMAS.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Colorado now has two United States senators for the first time since the death of Senator Charles J. Hughes in 1911.

Former Governor Charles S. Thomas today was sworn in as senator from that state to fill the unexpired term.

The senate also received the new credentials of William Alden Smith of Michigan, who was re-elected last week.

COLLECTOR WOULD DIVIDE HIS TIME

Plan Suggested to Make Two Ports Headquarters for Customs.

Washington, Jan. 20.—To conciliate cities protesting against the loss of the office of collector of customs and its location with a nearby rival, the treasury department is considering a compromise in its tentative plan of customs reorganization. The suggested scheme would make both ports in such cases headquarters of a customs district, the collector dividing his time between them.

The department is under consideration the application of this proposition at New York and Norfolk, Va., St. Paul and Minneapolis and Duluth and Superior.

HEARINGS OF STEEL MEN ARE POSTPONED.

New York, Jan. 20.—Hearings in the government suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation, under the Sherman anti-trust act, which were to be resumed here tomorrow, were postponed today until Wednesday.

E. Corey, former president of the corporation, will be the first witness. It is expected that Theodore Roosevelt will be called in the course of the hearings. He will be asked to testify in connection with the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the United States Steel corporation during the panic of 1907.

Forgoan Fails to Appear.

Washington, Jan. 20.—James B. Forgoan, the Chicago banker, scheduled to testify before the currency reform committee of the house, did not appear and the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow.

Dead Beside a Bottle.

Berthold, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald)—Henry Kandler, a farmer living near here was found dead sitting beside his table on which there was an empty bottle and from a letter he left the authorities believe he was killed because of financial troubles.

President Taft, in recent speech, tells Democrats to keep in the Middle of the Road.

AGRICULTURAL SCHEDULE OF TARIFF IS UP

Portion of Payne-Aldrich Law Appealing Most to Farmers.

Many Witnesses From All Sections Will Be Given Hearing.

Material Reductions in Many Articles Confidently Predicted.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The agricultural schedule of the tariff came up today before the house ways and means committee. It is the portion of the Payne-Aldrich law which appeals most to farmers. Many witnesses were on the program.

Some of the provisions of the schedule now in effect represent reductions from the Dingley law.

Representative Payne, who was chairman of the committee when the present tariff was started on its path through congress, and who is now ranking Republican on the committee, estimated that the consumption value of articles on which the rates of duty were increased or decreased in the present law was: Articles on which duties were increased $185,450,627; articles on which duties were decreased $438,045.

Democratic members of the committee stated today that there would be material reductions from the present law on many articles in the schedule.

Rate on Pineapples.

R. Tyler Smith of Baltimore asked for a uniform rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on pineapples. He claimed that under the present law imposing a higher rate, the Hawaiian pineapple packers had nearly and would soon entirely secure a monopoly of the trade in pineapples, to which sugar is added.

E. W. Durkee of New York, for the American Spice association, wanted the present tariff on spices to remain. R. M. McCormick of Baltimore contended that a prohibitive rate on spices should be maintained for protection against impure food products from abroad.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Man Hit During Strike Disturbance Dies of Wounds.

Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 20.—Joseph Harris, a shoe worker, died today from a bullet wound received during a strike disturbance here last night. Charles Eaton, who had refused to join the shoe workers' strike, is under arrest on a charge of manslaughter. It is alleged that Eaton, angered by the sound and threat of a crowd of strikers who had been following him, fired a shot which hit Harris, the son of a local shoemaker.

DESIRES TO COMPLY WITH WILSON'S WISHES

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 20.—When President Wilson arrived at the state house today he found the following telegram sent last night by William C. Eustis, chairman of the inauguration committee:

"Your letter in reference to the omission of the inaugural ball has not reached me, but I hasten to assure you of our desire to comply with your wishes in every way."

TURKEY GIVEN FOURTEEN DAYS TO ACCEPT TERMS OR RESUME HOSTILITIES

DUKE OF TALLYRAND, Husband of Former Anna Gould, Who Married Him When He Was Prince of Sagan, Has Arrived With Wife and Son to Attend Marriage of Miss Helen Gould.

London, Jan. 20.—Bulgaria, Serbia and Montenegro today presented an ultimatum to Turkey giving the Ottoman government fourteen days in which to make a favorable reply to their demands, according to dispatches from Constantinople.

Full power to declare the resumption of hostilities against Turkey was telegraphed today to Dr. S. Daneff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation and his colleagues by the Bulgarian premier, S. Guechoff, who told them to exercise their best judgment in furthering peace negotiations became useless.

The representatives of the Balkan allies will therefore directly notify Guechoff, the Bulgarian commander-in-chief, that there is no hope of the peace plenipotentiaries reaching a mutually satisfactory arrangement. Hostilities will then commence four days afterward.

DARROW ON TRIAL AGAIN

Charged With Corrupting Juror in Trial of McNamara Brothers.

Acquitted of Similar Charge After Long Trial Last Summer.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—Clarence S. Darrow, lawyer, accused of seven crimes, was placed on trial today for the second time on a charge of having attempted to corrupt a juror in the McNamara case.

After a trial lasting nearly all last summer, Darrow was acquitted of having bribed George N. Lockwood, a salesman called in the trial of James B. McNamara, now serving a life sentence at San Quentin prison for building up the Los Angeles Times building. Today the lawyer was put on trial on the charge of having bribed Robert F. Bain, the first juror chosen in the case.

Bain and his wife testified at the Lockwood trial that Bert H. Franklin, a detective employed by the McNamara defense, had given him $400 with the promise to bribe the juror.

District Attorney Fredericks is authoritatively predicted that the present trial will not last more than two weeks, but subpoenas for defense witnesses were late in reporting at the various tasks. Telegraph wires were affected although not demoralized.

OVER 30,000 ASK PARDON FOR DIETZ.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—Governor McLaughlin is expected soon to take up the matter of the application of John Dietz of Cameron Dam for a pardon from Waupun, to which prison he was sentenced for life for the death of Oscar Harp, a deputy sheriff. Petitions signed by 30,000 persons asking for executive clemency are on file with the governor.

HEAVY SNOW STORM RAGING IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—A heavy snow storm greatly impeded traffic in this city today. With trolley wires and third rail covered with snow and street cars barely more than crawling over their routes and thousands of persons were late in reporting at the various tasks. Telegraph wires were affected although not demoralized.

Currency reform committee postponed its hearings until Tuesday.

DETECTIVES MAKE RICH HAUL OF SILKS.
Chicago, Jan. 20.—Police today seized 17 trunks and 3 large packing cases filled with bolts of silk and cloth valued at $25,000.

Two men were leading the trunks and cases on an express wagon in front of a house on the north side of the city. The trunks were being rolled out of the basement of the building, when two detectives passed the place and stopped to investigate.

When questioned by the detectives the men were unable to give a satisfactory explanation and were taken to the police station. The trunks and cases were taken to a station and opened.

The men said he was a teamster and the other claimed to be a carter. They both admitted they intended to convey some of the trunks and cases to a railroad station, but refused to tell where the goods were to be shipped.

Weather: Fair weather tonight and Tuesday; lowest temperature tonight 20 to 25 deg. below zero.

PROTRUDING KNEE REVEALS FUGITIVE

John Gordon Found Hidden Behind Women's Clothes in Closet.

John W. Jordan didn't escape arrest in his home at Bay View Heights yesterday morning by burying himself under a pile of feminine wearing apparel in a large closet.

Jordan didn't know it, but he neglected to cover his knee and when the detectives saw a patch of corduroy protruding from the women's garments they lost no time in investigating. A couple of sweeps brought Jordan into view.

Jordan is wanted at Winnipeg for grand larceny. While employed as a switchman he was arrested in Canada for the alleged theft of $400 worth of goods from Canadian Pacific box cars.

He pleaded not guilty and was released on bonds of $2,000 to appear for trial in July. He jumped his bail bond and fled to this country, where he has been since. Recently he has made his home on the Heights back of West Duluth, and, according to his own statement, was to start work for the Soo railroad today.

Jordan was arrested by Detectives Schulte and Irvine and an operative of a Winnipeg detective agency, who has been trailing Jordan for two months. Jordan announced that he intends to fight extradition.

Novel Program of Entertainment

American, Irish and Scandinavian Nights Planned at Irving School.

The faculty and students at Irving high schools are planning a new "evening" or series of them, which will take place next month, the date still to be settled upon. These will be three "nationality" nights.

There will be an American night on which all numbers will be American, an Irish night, on which all the program will be Irish in character, and a third will be Scandinavian night.

Three teams will be chosen to arrange for the programs and a prize will be offered for the best one. It is believed that the contest will be a very successful one as every student in the schools seems enthusiastic over it.

Officers Installed at Joint Meeting.

The Hibernian lodges of West Duluth held their annual joint installation Saturday evening at Gilley's hall, 222 North Central avenue.

Two lodges, each consisting of a cut glass, heavy bowl and set of silverware, were presented to Mrs. Nellie Brotherton, installed for the eighth consecutive term as president of the Daughters of Erin, and Mrs. M. A. Willison, the retiring insurance secretary. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of St. James Catholic church, made the presentation. Among the state officers who were present at the installation were State President F. L. Ryan, State Vice President Foley of Brainerd, Archie Power of St. Paul, member of the auditing department, and Miss Mac Hamill, state vice president of the ladies' auxiliary.

The following were the officers installed: Division No. 4—Frank Sears, president; James Bothwell, vice president; P. H. McGraw, treasurer; James Godfrey, recording secretary; Rev. D. W. Lynch, chaplain; Alice Morrow, sergeant-at-arms; Lyle Baker, sentry, and James Dolery, marshal.

Daughters of Erin—Mrs. Nellie Brotherton, president; Mrs. E. W. Pank, vice president; Miss Margaret Mackey, insurance secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, recording secretary; Mrs. Johanna Madden, treasurer; Mrs. Seraphine Murphy, mistress at arms; Mrs. Mary Blum, secretary; Mrs. Mary McVeigh, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Annie Fisher, Mrs. Mary Taggert, Miss M. O'Brien, Mrs. Mabel Labadie, standing committee.

Annual Dance of Senior Class.

On Thursday of this week the senior class of the industrial high school will give its annual dance. The affair will take place at Great Eastern hall on Central avenue, and will be chaperoned by the teachers of the school corps.

Otto Blaise has been elected captain of the Irving school hockey team. The Irving school students had a sleighride party on Friday night. About sixty took part.

Debating Society at Irving School.

Prof. S. L. Potts of the Irving school is forming a debating society among the students, and will soon be in a position to make further announcements regarding the society. He expects the pupils quite taken with the idea. There is said to be some fine debating material among them, and it is expected that they will soon be striving for honors against other debating societies.

Watching for Burglars.

Two men yesterday noon burglarized the Northern Pacific station at Clouet, and the police at West Duluth are watching out for them, as it is believed they headed this way. They obtained $157 in cash, $9 of that being in pennies. The robbery happened when the ticket agent and station master were at lunch, entrance being obtained through a screen in a toilet room window.

MRS. MAURICE B. FLYNN.

Mrs. Maurice Flynn has been known to the stage as "Irene Clare." Her real name was Rena Leary and she came from Holyoke, Mass., where her family still lives. She is 22 years old. About two years ago she came to New York to be a show girl and she has been appearing in the chorus at the Winter garden. She married Flynn suddenly, though the marriage was no surprise to their friends who knew that they had been interested in one another for some time. They are now living in Mrs. Clare's apartment on Central Park west. Mrs. Flynn says she will leave the stage for the present and Flynn says he is going to work.

HOTEL ROMANCE TO BE CULMINATED

A pretty romance which had its inception several years ago in Minneapolis will culminate tonight in the wedding of Miss Elsie Yahn and John William Conrad.

The ceremony will take place at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hall, 1001 East 12th street.

Mr. Conrad is head waiter at the St. Louis hotel and Miss Yahn was formerly employed at the hotel as a cashier. They met in the Mill city in one of the large cafes where both were engaged.

The invitations which have been sent out for the wedding are unique and quaint. The majority of the guests will be men and women following the same vocation as Mr. Conrad. The front of each bears an individual caricature depicting the characteristics of the one to whom it is sent, together with something suggestive of his profession. All of them are black and white pen sketches and are combinations of art and cleverness. Numbered among those present will also be several prominent singers of Duluth, together with the young women who have become well known to Duluth people through their nightly entertainments in the larger downtown cafes.

Increase in Wages Granted.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 20.—A substantial increase in wages has been granted blacksmiths, machinists, boiler makers and their helpers at the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company. Announcement being made here today. About 4,000 workmen between Albany and this city will benefit.

ENGLISH EARL COMING TO STUDY THE CANAL

EARL POULETT.

William John Lydston, Seventh Earl Poulett, is on his way to this country. He will visit Panama to study the canal and then pay a visit to New York city, where he has many friends. He is the nephew of the late Earl of the title in 1899. However, his right of succession was disputed by a man claiming to be his half brother and it was not until 1903 that his title was made secure by decision of the courts.

Five years later he married Sylvia Lilian Storey, the daughter of a well-known actor and dancer. The countess will accompany him.

HAS "WHEELS" IN HIS HEAD

Thorwald J. Aaneke Says Brain Machinery Works too Fast.

Is Candidate for State Hospital for Insane at Fergus Falls.

Thorwald J. Aaneke, 40, and Lawrence Klobucar, 25, who since Saturday afternoon have been accommodated at the county poor farm, stand an excellent chance of being successful candidates for Fergus Falls.

Aaneke's assertions that he has "wheels in his head" have led the poor farm authorities to believe that he is not far from the truth, providing that his statement is not taken too literally.

Aaneke told Charles Shogren, clerk of the poor board, Saturday, that the "indicator" in his head worked so fast one day that the friction caused smoke to ooze out through his ears.

From what the poor authorities have learned, the man is a sort of a wanderer. He told them that he had recently been in Canada and in the Dakotas and that he had worked for a short time in a number of camps in the Minnesota woods.

When he drifted into the poor commissioner's office Saturday afternoon, Clerk Shogren was in a quandary. The probate court was closed and it was too late to have him examined. The sheriff refused to take him without a warrant and he was taken to the poor farm. He will be brought in tomorrow for an examination.

Klobucar has been at the poor farm on three previous occasions. Although a young man, he is said to be a physical and mental wreck. He will be brought to the probate court tomorrow for an examination. He came in Saturday from Virginia.

Ask yourself this question: "Can I afford NOT to advertise?"

CONTRIVANCES TO DIVERT PURSUIT

Imitations of Horses and Cows' Hoofs Found in Burglars' Cache.

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 20.—What is believed to have been a safe blower's cache discovered at an edge of a swamp near here today, yielded several ingenious contrivances apparently intended to divert pursuit after the commission of a crime. They were a pair of imitation horsehoofs carved out of pine and fitted with straps so that they could be adjusted to a pair of shoes. An imitation cow's hoof fastened to a cane evidently was intended to be used in conjunction with the others to give the impression of a man on horseback driving a cow.

In addition to the horsehoofs the police also found a complete burglar's kit and a bottle of nitro-glycerin together with a change of clothing.

DAMAGES ASKED FOR INJURED BOY

M. M. Gasser Company Is Defendant in Personal Injury Action.

The M. M. Gasser company is defendant in a $10,000 personal injury suit now on trial in district court. The action was brought by Annie Nelson for the benefit of her 4-year-old son, Lawrence Nelson.

The Nelsons live at 1118 West Superior street. It is claimed that one of the delivery wagons of the Gasser company was backed on to the boy while he was playing in a neighbor's front yard last November. The driver was Elmer Jensen.

The boy, it is claimed, sustained a fracture of his left leg between the hip and the knee. It is alleged that his injuries are of such a nature as to leave him a cripple for life.

AMICABLY ADJUST NORTON'S ESTATE

Adopted Daughter of Late Fargoan Will Share in Property.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hanson today set aside the will of the late Col. C. A. Norton of Fargo, and divided the estate of $325,000 equally between Mrs. Norton, her young son and Mrs. Morton Page, an adopted daughter of the decedent.

The original will left Mrs. Page out entirely. She had been adopted during the life of Col. Norton's first wife. She brought suit and an amicable agreement was reached for a distribution of the estate. Some realty had been decided to a young son prior to making the will; otherwise the shares are equal.

After the death of his first wife Col. Norton was seriously ill in St. Paul, and romantically entered into his second marriage with Miss Anna Helen Swanson, his nurse at the hospital.

THRESHES HIS GRAIN MERCURY 20 BELOW.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final threshing in this vicinity was completed last Saturday by O. C. Hanson. During the winter he ran the machine one day when the temperature was 20 deg. below. He claims the cold weather champion-ship threshing record of the state.

GLEADED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

get to work. John failed to join the ranks of labor and was picked up Saturday night when he bumped a stranger for money. This morning he admitted that he had been begging and got fifteen days.

Although the police say that Gust Nelson nearly went into delirium tremens last week and got so bad that a policeman picked him up on the street outside his home several nights ago, only so his underwear, he pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness when brought in with the trial this morning. The trial was set for 2 o'clock today.

John Ryan, woodsman—not the John Ryan pinched for begging—admitted this morning that he had stolen three pillow cases and a table cloth, all valued at $2, from the Bethel hall Thursday. He sold them to a second-hand dealer and devoted the proceeds to strong drink. He pleaded guilty this morning and got 30 days and costs or sixty days in the county jail.

Sleevit O'Brien, a police character, waived examination today when he was arraigned on a charge of having stolen a suit of clothes and two razors from the room of Harry Wright of 422 West First street. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Florence King, an inmate of a Superior resort, acquired a big reputation between that side and this yesterday and wound up in the rooming house at 101 East Superior street. There she got into a ruction with a male roomer and in a few minutes had added a blue tinge to the atmosphere. Patrolman Wainwright got more than a whiff of her lurid conversation as he was walking his beat and made an investigation. The upshot of it was that Florence was nabbed on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. She pleaded guilty in police court this morning and paid a fine of $15 and costs.

Joseph Ganeski pleaded not guilty this morning when arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. Stans Sankoski forfeited $15 bail when his name was called to answer the same allegation. Ganeski's trial was set for this afternoon. It is claimed that the two got into a quarrel over a card game.

The authorities at Los Angeles, Cal., are trying to establish the identity of a man believed to have committed suicide at Ocean Park last April. The circular makes the gruesome statement that they have the head, left hand and arm and right foot of the dead man, all in such excellent condition that they can be identified.

The story is rather unusual and is told by the authorities as follows: "Will you kindly have the officers of your command make inquiry on their parts of all jewelers and persons who repair watches, if they have repaired a Waltham F. S. Bartlett movement, movement number 6082540; case number 112249; jeweler's repair scratch number 2472; under which is the number 504. This watch is a solid gold, 14k engine turned, hunting case watch."

I got this watch from a dead man whom a woman by the name of Miss Jordan identified as her husband and collected $5,000 insurance. Since I have located this watch, this Jordan woman's husband, and have arrested him, maintaining of a curfew ring, obtaining money under false pretenses, and she is now held before the superior court in this county.

"Therefore, I wish you would make a special effort to locate the jeweler who repaired this watch, and give me the date, name, address and description. If possible, of the man for whom he repaired it."

If you locate any one who should know the owner of this watch, I would be pleased to have you send me their address, as I have the head, left hand and arm and the right foot of the dead man, all of which are in excellent condition and can be identified.

This man was supposed to have committed suicide at Ocean Park, Cal., on April 25, 1912, and I am now trying to establish his identity."

AGENT SUED BY HIS EMPLOYERS

Claimed He Neglected to Cancel Insurance Policy When Ordered.

The suit of the Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance company against Herbert N. Harding is on trial in United States court before Judge Willard today. This is the second trial of this case. The last time it was being a year ago this month. At that time a jury gave a verdict in favor of the defendant, but the case was carried to the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis and the decision was reversed on error in law.

Harding claimed that from the defendant for the amount of damages by fire which the plaintiff company had insured him against. He was the agent, had been notified to cancel the insurance policy in time, but he had not had time after receiving the instructions to cancel before the fire struck the building insured, which was a power house at Cass Lake, and it was consumed in the ensuing fire.

In the damage suit of Anton Lindstrom against the Inland Steel company, Judge Willard on Saturday afternoon, directed a verdict in favor of the defendant. Lindstrom, who was the agent, had been notified to cancel the insurance policy in time, but he had not had time after receiving the instructions to cancel before the fire struck the building insured, which was a power house at Cass Lake, and it was consumed in the ensuing fire.

CHEROKEE SENTENCED.

Given Two Years and Half at Medora, N. D., for Various Crimes.

Medora, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sentence of two and a half years has been imposed on Jack Delton, a half-breed Cherokee prisoner, who had committed a number of offenses in Billings county. While he was in jail he made an ineffectual attempt at escaping jail and was overpowered after a desperate struggle. He fought the officials when they attempted to bring him to the court room for his trial.

Eric Wixon and John Hooper, two young horse thieves, the latter a Cherokee, were sentenced to one year each.

dent; F. E. Stout, secretary, and Dr. K. H. Hoorn, treasurer. The club is organized for social pleasure and for maintaining of a curling rink. Membership is restricted to fifty, each of whom must be a stockholder of one share at $100.

HOUSE ON HIS CLAIM.
North Dakotan Plays in Luck in Making First.

Bowells, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—To be able to file on a homestead, already improved and with a $2,000 house, is an experience that doesn't often occur, but was recently the good fortune of Richard King of this place. Some years ago King had here a claim eight miles from here and afterward made final proof. Because of some irregularity the land-office recently cancelled the entry.

Several people heard of it at the same time, but King beat the others in race. There are about 100 acres under cultivation and nice buildings have been erected.

Crosby Beats Brainerd.
Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crosby's basket ball quint beat the Y. M. C. A. team at Brainerd Saturday afternoon 24 to 23. In a fast and interesting game at Wadena the Brainerd high school team defeated the Wadena quint by a score of 9 to 6.

Girl Dies Suddenly.
Tolna, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Heart disease caused the sudden death of Tolna Halverson, a 14-year-old daughter of a farmer living here. The girl was attending school in this place and had been home on a visit. On her return she was stricken by the ailment and after taking a step or two fell dead.

RUPTURED PEOPLE--
Give This a 60-Day Trial

Here is something you can try sixty days—just as a test—without having to risk a cent.

Something which in the last twenty-four years has saved thousands of ruptured people from having to undergo operation.

Something so strengthening to the ruptured parts that you can work right along while getting better—

Something absolutely guaranteed to keep rupture from coming out. If it doesn't it won't cost you a single cent.

You Don't Have to Risk a Penny
You don't ask you to pay out a penny on the strength of any mere promise or claim.

We will make you a guarantee rupture holder especially for your case—make it to your measure—and let you try it sixty days—

Let you give it a thorough test without asking you to risk a cent. If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a cent.

See What It Does
This guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Clute Truss—has been made on an absolutely new principle. It is far more than just a truss.

You see this truss—unlike all others—is self-adjusting, self-regulating.

The support it gives automatically increases when there is any sudden movement or strain—as in walking—so no strain can force your rupture out.

And, in addition, a Clute Truss provides the only way over discomfort for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

While relieving the weak ruptured parts of all strain, this Truss is constantly strengthening the ruptured parts.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is explained in our free book.

300,000 People Have Tested It
The Clute Truss has such a remarkably strengthening and beneficial effect that it has cured some of the worst cases on record.

Among them men and women 80 to 100 years old, who had been ruptured from 20 to 50 years.

Suffragettes Hopeful.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—After years of effort, the advocates of women suffrage believe a constitutional amendment, which, if approved by the people, will give the women of New York state the right to vote, will be passed by the legislature during the coming week. The measure has been made a special order of business in the assembly on Monday night and the senate promises to consider it on Tuesday.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Duluth People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.

Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Duluth evidence proves their worth.

Mrs. T. Vint, 116 Twenty-sixth St., W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them very good for my kidneys. I had often read in the newspapers how Doan's Kidney Pills had cured Duluth people of kidney complaint and I gave them a trial. They cured me of backache and pains in my sides and made me feel better in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Thomas F. Feigh Gives $30,000 to Build Addition to St. Mary's Hospital.

Also Contributes $30,000 for Three New Catholic Church Buildings.

Thomas F. Feigh, well known land and mining man of this city, has made a gift of $60,000 to Bishop McGolrick for charitable purposes. Half of the sum, $30,000, will be spent for an addition to St. Mary's hospital for the free treatment of deformed children and the balance will go for new churches at New Duluth, International Falls and Chisholm.

The addition to the hospital will be built where the nurses' quarters now stand and work will be started at the earliest possible moment. An architect will be put to work on plans this week with instructions to get them out as soon as possible.

Mr. Feigh believes that many children could be saved the pain of going through life with deformities if they were treated in time. He has a slightly deformed left foot himself which he thinks could have been remedied had he been given proper treatment when a child. If necessary other sums will follow for the equipment and maintenance of the ward for deformed children.

Mr. Feigh is a bachelor with quarters at 725 East Superior street. He has made his home in Duluth for many years and has many friends and acquaintances.

CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION

Mass Meeting Will Be Held to Make Plans for Work.

Voters Will Be Instructed in Use of Preferential Ballot.

A mass meeting will be held at the city hall tomorrow evening to discuss plans for a campaign to educate the voters on the use of the preferential ballot.

The preferential system of voting, which is a feature of the new charter, promises to be a source of great confusion among the voters unless systematic efforts are made to familiarize the voters with its operation.

Frank Crasswell, who was chairman of the charter campaign committee, has called the meeting for tonight. The plan of campaign will be outlined and a list of speakers obtained to conduct the work.

Charts will be prepared, showing the preferential ballot. The charts will be in the form of illustrations. Sample ballots will also be prepared, and demonstration elections will be held. The plan of the campaign will be outlined and a list of speakers obtained to conduct the work.

City Clerk C. S. Palmer is also planning to conduct a school for election judges. He will call the judges together as soon as they are appointed and instruct them in the tallying and reporting of the ballots under the new system.

GIVES SERMON ON SIMPLE LIFE

Rev. W. F. Hovis Says Simplicity Is a Good Heart Being Natural.

"The Simple Life" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church. Rev. Hovis quoted considerably from Shakespeare, Emerson and Hawthorne. He incidentally gave a rendition of Shakespeare's satire on Antonio in Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice. His sermon was in part as follows:

"The simple life is an artless life. Artifice is acquired. Man has to study to deceive; they have to learn to lie. The child's life is simple, and therefore great, because it is frank, open, ingenuous, and knows no distinctions of art or station. Artificiality is destructive of simplicity. The natural flower with morning dew upon its face reveals God, the artificial, fair imitation of the real only proves the skill of man. The moment life is taken out of its natural settings its beauty is impaired.

"The mother rejoices in the simple beauty of her child. She never sees her offspring, grimed with evil, nor bent with sin, nor even scarred with age. In the old nest the brood is ever young. A man's best life is the child-life over which his mother's crown, before he ran away from home to feed on the husks and spoil the sweetness of his soul. True grandeur is simplicity. Christ's word to hardened sinners was, 'Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye cannot enter heaven.' Back, then, to the days of the innocent heart, the days when thy heart was clean."

"Simplicity is a state of mind. The rich may have it as well as the poor. It is a wholesome, good, sincere heart. The simple life is the life that God gave man, unhampered, unhindered, unalloyed. It is simply a good heart being natural. A man's life is simple, and therefore great, because it is frank, open, ingenuous, and knows no distinctions of art or station. Artificiality is destructive of simplicity. The natural flower with morning dew upon its face reveals God, the artificial, fair imitation of the real only proves the skill of man. "Simplicity is a state of mind. The rich may have it as well as the poor. It is a wholesome, good, sincere heart. The simple life is the life that God gave man, unhampered, unhindered, unalloyed. It is simply a good heart being natural. A man's life is simple, and therefore great, because it is frank, open, ingenuous, and knows no distinctions of art or station. Artificiality is destructive of simplicity. The natural flower with morning dew upon its face reveals God, the artificial, fair imitation of the real only proves the skill of man. EASTER WILL COME EARLY Church Festival Will Be Observed March 23 This Year.

Ash Wednesday, Opening Day of Lent, Falls on Feb. 5.

The Lenten season will come earlier than usual this year. Ash Wednesday, which marks its opening, falls on Feb. 5 and Easter Sunday falls on March 23. Not since 1856, has there been a Lenten season which started as early as Feb. 5 and according to computations, a similar event will not occur until 2008 A. D.

The Gregorian calendar fixes the date for Easter as the first Sunday after the full moon appearing upon or next after March 21.

If the full moon should appear on March 25 and that day was Sunday, Easter would not come for a week. This makes March 22, the earliest possible date. The last Easter on March 22 was in 1812.

According to the Gregorian calendar, the full moon always occurs on the 14th of the lunar month which has twenty days. It is usually the same as the astronomical full moon but not necessarily so.

If the full moon happened to fall on or before March 20, Easter could not be observed until after another full moon had passed, which would appear the next month on or about April 13.

In the case that the full moon fell on Sunday, April 13, Easter would fall one week later, April 25, the latest possible date for the celebrated feast.

DELEGATES TO GRAND LODGE

Duluth Masons Will Be Well Represented at St. Paul.

Duluth's three Masonic "blue" lodges will have representatives at the annual meeting of the Minnesota grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, which will be held at St. Paul Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Palestine lodge, No. 79, will be represented by Hugh L. Joyce, W. M.; H. E. Gresser, S. W.; and Phil Joyce, J. W. Ionic lodge, No. 186, has a delegation consisting of E. L. Longren, W. M.; Edward Armstrong, S. W.; and Chauncey Colton, J. W. Euclid lodge, No. 188, of West Duluth, will be represented only by its worshipful master, W. R. DeChell.

The grand lodge meeting will be preceded by a school of instruction for officers, which will be in session today and tomorrow. A number of the local delegates are in St. Paul today to attend this.

The principal business to be taken up at the grand lodge meeting this year will be the matter of financing and establishing a Minnesota Masonic Home for the aged.

Interest in the grand lodge session among Duluth Masons may be found in the fact that Robert E. Denfeld, a member of Ionic lodge of this city, is in the line of officers. Last year he was progressed to grand senior warden of the grand lodge.

There are about 250 "blue" lodges in the state, all of which will be represented at the grand lodge meeting by one to three delegates.

GETTING POSTED ON WASHINGTON

President-Elect Wilson Acquires Guide Book of National Capital.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 20.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson, who has been in Washington since he has obtained a guide book of Washington and is reading assiduously in spare moments.

Mr. Wilson practically will be a stranger in Washington when he takes office. He has visited there but little since his youth, and has not seen some of the government buildings erected within the last fifteen years.

When he enters the White House on March 4, it will be the first time he will have seen the interior of the executive mansion.

The springlike weather brought a number of friends to call at the Wilson home today.

When President-elect Wilson arrives in the railroad station at Washington on the night of March 3, he will be greeted with a Princeton "face" cheer issuing from the throats of a thousand undergraduates, according to plans for the honor of the trip.

Ceremonies being made by the Princeton University Woodrow Wilson Club. Active preparations for the trip will be begun here tomorrow when those in charge of the arrangements will start a canvass in order to ascertain how many students will attend the inaugural ceremonies. It is expected this number will reach 1,000.

PROTECTION FOR MIGRATORY BIRDS

Duluth School Children's Aid Enlisted in Support of Legislation.

Duluth school children are expected to join in a nation-wide appeal to congress for the passage of a law protecting a number of native birds, which are said to be in danger of extermination.

Ernest Thompson Seton and John Burroughs, two of the most famous naturalists, are behind the movement. R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of Duluth schools, is interested locally.

Duluth children will write to Congressmen Miller and Senators Clapp and Nelson asking them to use their influence in passing the bill, which provides for the Federal protection of migratory birds.

Seton and Burroughs have issued a circular, which reads in part as follows:

"The destruction of bird life is costing American farmers millions of dollars annually through the constantly increasing devastation of harmful insects on their crops. The bill, which provides for the Federal protection of migratory birds, is a measure of self-defense."

GOES BACK TO CONFERENCE

Senate Rejects Report Made on Immigration Bill.

Would Exclude Majority of Jewish Emigrants From Russia.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Following a vigorous fight upon it, led by Senator La Follette, the conference report on the Burnett-Dillingham immigration bill was rejected by the senate today because of a clause which, it was claimed, would exclude a majority of Jewish emigrants from Russia and Roumania. At the request of Senator Lodge, the bill went back to conference, which will be asked to eliminate the feature. The rules and regulations of the senate and house have been so framed and so built up as engrafted upon by precedent as to put the legislation of this congress in the hands of a few men, declared Senator La Follette, speaking against the conference report on the immigration bill. "I hope the time is coming when these two bodies will be made more democratic and responsive to the public will," he added.

Senator La Follette attacked the clause put into the bill by the conference committee by which immigrants might be deported from the United States unless they brought certificates of character, when their native country had a law authorizing such certificates.

Should Not Have Power. "He declared that conference committee of the house and senate should not have the power to put new provisions into bills over which the two houses had disagreed. Such action, he declared, put the legislation of important questions into the hands of six or seven men.

A determined fight was made on the "certificate of character" clause. Senator La Follette declared it went far beyond the purpose of the supporters of the plan and turned over to other countries the determination of what class of emigrants should be acceptable in the United States.

Would Exclude Jews. Practically every senator received a telegram from Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish league, saying the inevitable effect would be to exclude a majority of Jews coming from Russia and Roumania.

Senator La Follette declared Russia could prevent its people leaving, but the United States by refusing to issue certificates of good character.

PREPARES FOR DEATH'S CALL

Joseph Elsiar Sends Children Away and Goes to Poor Farm.

When Joseph Elsiar, 35, widower, awoke to the realization that the white plague was tightening its grip upon him and that his means of support were gone, he sent his two children to Sweden and then applied to the county poor commission for a home and treatment.

Elsiar was taken to the tuberculosis hospital at the poor farm Saturday. While his condition is not critical, his chances of recovery are not any too good. With the best of treatment, it is possible that he might regain his health.

Elsiar came to this country with his wife a few years ago. His wife has since died, leaving two children. Soon afterwards, he contracted pulmonary tuberculosis. The children were sent to the home of his mother-in-law in Sweden.

SIX WHITE DOGS DRAWING SLEIGH

Superior Street Pedestrians Witness Odd Sight During Morning.

Superior street pedestrians were treated to an unusual sight this morning.

Six dogs drawing a sleigh were driven along the street by a young man. The dogs were beautiful white collies, but because of their unusual markings looked more like Esquimaux dogs. They were hitched to the sleigh tandem style, and they made a very pretty sight.

The dogs are appearing in one of the acts at the Orpheum theater this week, and the owner has his first try at method of giving the dogs exercise. He states that this was the first try for the dogs, as he has just succeeded in breaking them to harness.

REFUSES TO PAY FOR BURGLARY

Insurance Company Claims That No Goods Were Stolen.

Mathilda Zeln is in district court today in a lawsuit before Judge Cant and a jury in which she seeks to collect $1,000 from the National Surety company on a burglary policy insuring her home at 121 East Second street. It is claimed that clothes, jewelry and other valuables worth in the aggregate $1,771.75, were stolen from the Zeln residence some time during Jan. 24 and Jan. 31, 1912. A burglary policy on the personal property in the house had been renewed on Jan. 2 by Mrs. Zeln and was in effect at the time. The insurance company refused to pay. The refusal of the company to pay over $1,000 the amount named in the policy, it is understood, is based on the contention that the house was unoccupied at the time. It is also alleged in their answer that if the plaintiff's property was removed, "it was so removed by and with the authority and consent of plaintiff." The defendants refuse to admit that there was any burglary.

HAUPTMANN'S VILLAGE. "Did you ever hear of the village Obersalzbrunn in Germany?" writes a correspondent from Dresden to Die Buhne. "Probably not. Gerhart Hauptmann was born there, but even that fact could not have made the name of the place well known. It rested with the little local government to bring the name of the place to notice and now it will always be remembered. When Hauptmann celebrated his 50th birthday some of the citizens wanted the village to present to its distinguished son a birthday gift. But the proposition, although it involved a ridiculously small sum, was voted down, and Obersalzbrunn had become famous. What the colorful Volpi did for Kopenick the thrifty village fathers did for Hauptmann's home."

BOTH CITIES JOIN HANDS

Fargo and Grand Forks for State Fair on Alternate Years.

Fight on Permanent Location in Either Place to Be Abandoned.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city and Fargo will not wage war this winter over the permanent location of the state fair in either city. Both cities, it is said, will unite forces before the legislature to secure the passage of the bill introduced by Representative Wardrobe for a $25,000 appropriation each year for the fair, the appropriation going to the fair association of Grand Forks on the odd numbered year, and to Fargo on the even numbered year, and the state fair alternating in that manner.

The fair association managers of the two cities have reached the conclusion that the continuance of the old contest over the fair location is detrimental to the interests of the state fair, and they have agreed to join hands in an effort to give the state greater and better state fairs each succeeding year.

Eight years ago Grand Forks made a bid before the legislature for the location of the state fair in this city. Previous to that time a fair has been maintained in Mandan under the name of state fair, and Grand Forks bid for the fair resulted in the loss of the interest, and a hot fight developed. A compromise being finally agreed upon under which the fair was placed on "wheels," being held in Fargo one year and in Grand Forks the next.

Two years later the fight was before the legislature again, Fargo seeking to have the fair located there permanently, but the movement failed. About the same time the Fargo association brought action in court against Grand Forks, charging that the local association had failed to make good the provisions laid down in the state fair law relative to premiums paid.

Four years ago the last bitter fight for the state fair was staged before this assembly, but once again the legislative stand by the state fairs.

Since then the two associations have been working together, and the result has been seen in the great improvement of the fairs in both cities. The spirit of harmony has resulted in bigger fairs in both cities, while the other year fair, maintained in each city by local enterprise, also has grown materially.

LOGGING ROAD BEING TORN UP.

Hayward, Wis., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Wisconsin Lumber & Manufacturing company on Jan. 25 will complete the tearing up of twenty miles of the logging road, which extended northwest of Hayward, which by branches, etc., amounts to about forty-eight miles. The road belongs to the Omaha road and is being taken up by the Omaha road.

How about six miles belong to the Edward Hines Lumber company, which is shipping it to Gulfport, Miss., where it will be used in their Southern operations. The Ashland and the Hayward teams won from Hayward here Friday night by the score of 23 to 27. The first half was very close, the score being 20 to 17 in favor of Ashland. In the second half the Hayward defense and the visitors piled up a big score.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Martinson Tuesday. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thibodeau Monday.

Ironwood Man Marries.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcements have been received of the marriage of Jerry Shea, son of Judge J. F. Shea of this city, and Miss Mayme Mayworm of Milwaukee in Gesù church, Milwaukee, Thursday morning. The bridegroom is an old Ironwood boy, receiving his education in the public schools of this city and graduating from the Luther L. Wright school with the class of 1910.

Mrs. McPherson of Iron River, Mich., spent a few days with Rev. and Mrs. Healey at the Methodist parsonage on her way to Duluth.

The Misses Hargrave of Lake George are visiting at the home of Mrs. John Luxmore and Mrs. Edwin Collick, Mrs. George Luxmore has returned to her home at Houghton, Mich., after spending three weeks here visiting her parents, Capt. and Mrs. John Luxmore.

MINNESOTA FARM GROWTH IS GREAT

Remarkable Advancement in Thirty Years Shown By Commissioner Maxfield.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Comparative figures compiled by H. J. Maxfield, commissioner of immigration, on Minnesota farm statistics covering the period of thirty years from 1880 to 1910 show the remarkable strides of agricultural development in the state during that period.

From 92,288 farms in Minnesota in 1880 to 156,127 in 1910 gives a gain of 63,839 farms or an average annual increase of 2.12 farms. Of the 92,288 farms in 1880 but 5.41 per cent of the land was improved. However, 1910 figures show that of the 156,127 farms, 71 per cent was improved, a gain of about 47 per cent.

In 1880 there were 7,246,693 acres of these farm lands improved, while 1910 figures show that there were 12,615,523 acres, a gain of 5,368,830 acres or an average annual increase of 162,228 acres. Perhaps the most remarkable figures of all are the values in 1910. Minnesota farm lands were valued at $1,274,411,127, a gain of $1,068,717,160, and an annual increase of $5,897,238. The value of improvements and machinery on Minnesota farms in 1880 was $1,059,780, and in 1910 it amounted to $1,776,411,737, a gain of $716,631,957, or an average annual increase of $23,842.

While these figures show a steady and substantial increase in the value of the land in Minnesota, I predict that during the next few years the value of the land will increase along this line," says Mr. Maxfield. "In fact, I believe that we will accomplish as much in the next ten years as we have in the past thirty, and there are many things that indicate that the value of the land will increase in the future. Almost every one, who is at all observing will agree that there is a universal land hunger and that this back to the farm movement has a firm foundation upon which to build.

The professional man, the capitalist, the farmer, the laborer, the mechanic, the householder, all have in the past years, been seized with the desire to own a farm, so that today thousands and tens of thousands of landless men are either buying or planning to buy a farm.

"It is true that the free homestead lands and the irrigated lands, highly advertised Canadian grain lands, are keen competitors with Minnesota, but this does not in the least discourage me in the sanguine belief that Minnesota will get her share—or more—of the land. The prudent purchaser will surely acquaint himself with the important facts of the Minnesota where it will be 'dry farm,' that we do not have to irrigate and we do not suffer from dry and disastrous frosts; that our lands are, considering their fertility, and cheapness and the fact that they will produce and that we have never had a crop failure. With these facts and figures before me, I am in the opinion that when I say that Minnesota will accomplish more in the way of agricultural development in the next ten years than she has in the last thirty, I feel that I have a safe ground."

NEW PHONE COMING.

Manager Assures Ironwood Club System Will Be Installed.

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last meeting of the Commercial club Manager Wilcox assured the members of the club that the telephone company had already allowed from $50,000 to $75,000 for the work to be done.

Light company reported that they would move the poles from the streets when ordered and it is expected that the telephone as well as electric light lines will be removed in the very near future. Chairman Adolph Mueller of the fire and water committee was present and told the members of the club that a site would soon be chosen at which to build the new fire house, which will be located in the near future.

A committee was appointed to confer with the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern railway concerning the erection of the new freight station, which was proposed in 1912, but is now assured for the coming year.

Believes Shooting Accidental.

Hankinson, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The father of Mrs. John Pecor, who was shot by her husband, is said to be a great admirer of the shooting was accidental. Pecor lived with his wife's relatives for some time and his father-in-law insists the couple were happy. Pecor

WOULD SLICE OFF BILLINGS COUNTY

Agitation in North Dakota to Make Amidon New County Seat.

Beach, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another effort will be made at the first opportunity to still further divide Billings county. Two years ago the proposition to create both Golden Valley and Slope carried but the latter dropped out when the matter was taken to the supreme court. The most extreme of the North Dakota people continued the fight and won.

Inspired by their success the residents of the southwestern corner of the county are now planning a re-division of the county. This movement is the result also of the creation of the new town of Amidon south of this place. It is almost the center of the territory that was to have been Slope county and certain individuals, who claim to have inside information, claim it is at a point where the most extensive of the North Pacific and the New England extension of the Milwaukee line are to cross. The town of Amidon is now a boom town.

SETTLE TREASURER MATTER IN COURTS.

Linton, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emmons county probably will provide a solution of the question of the treasurer's office, with the situation growing out of the change in the time that county treasurer's office. A bitter factional fight has developed here, and it is probable that action in the court will be taken. The county board tendered the job to W. O. Irwin, treasurer-elect, but he refused it because of the possible effect such action would have upon his chances of election two years hence. The Constitution limits the terms of officials in the county to four years, and matter of serving during the four-month period intervening between the time they formerly took office and the new time fixed by law.

In Sargent and Grand Forks county the old treasurers were continued over the four-month interval.

FIND HYDROPHOBIA KILLED H. STEIN

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 20.—That Herman Stein of Lakeland died of hydrophobia is the conclusion of the experts of the state university laboratory who participated in an autopsy and what a laboratory investigation. A full report on the case has been made by the experts.

It was reported that two rabbits, infected with portions of the brain of the dead man, became sick the day after inoculation and died the following day.

AROUSE INTEREST AMONG FARMERS.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most notable things of the seventeen conventions and shows held in Fargo last week was the great interest displayed by the farmers in the movements that tend to benefit them and advance their methods. The cause contributing to this have been the missionary work of the agricultural college, the tri-state convention, the farmers' institutes. These three agencies have created conditions that make it possible for newer agencies to reap rich results.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON AND THE ALLEY SLUMS OF WASHINGTON

The Late Governor of Minnesota Saw Cancer Spots in Nation's Capital--Traveled Through Filth and Suffering Among the Blacks to See Conditions for Himself.

Allen D. Albert in the Minneapolis Tribune: The newspaper correspondent of the national capital had a particular interest in John A. Johnson of Minnesota. In him they saw the long-awaited Moses of Democracy. When he came to Washington, therefore, not about five years ago, the men of the press galleries crowded around him thick as bees.

Everything he did gratified their interest. While other governors and their ladies lunched in state at the new Willard, John A. Johnson slipped away to a kind of counter lunch for women which he had heard described as one of the distinctive institutions of Washington. In another type of man this would have been regarded as a pose by the sophisticated Washington correspondent. But John A. Johnson's wonderful charm of manner disarmed suspicion.

Minnesota's governor was seated upon a revolving stool at this counter with the correspondents of the four leading newspapers of the Twin Cities. One of them spied the writer of these lines, then the editor of the Washington Times, and with a fine disregard of the smart costumes and rigorous conventionalities all about him, this correspondent called:

"Come over here, the governor wants you to tell him about your Washington alleys."

A dinner of the children club was to take place that night. Governor Johnson was to speak. That speech was fraught with the largest potentialities for his future. It was his introduction in person to the press of the nation.

Tramps for Hours Through Alleys. Nevertheless, as a story of Washington's cancer and the nation's shame was outlined to him, he twirled around on his revolving seat and asked quietly: "Can you take me to see some of these alleys?"

From 1 o'clock until after 6 these two walked the alleys together. The guide knew them as a little boy. As a worker in the cause of social service he had been through them many times. He made use of a device to gain entrance to places of interest which is familiar to all social service workers. "I want to see your plumbers," he would say, and the two would pass into the house without delay.

It was interesting to his guide as revealing perhaps something of John Johnson's character that he was never once content with the presence, harmless as it seems. To negro mummies, to half-drunken "bucks," to bed-ridden mothers and fathers he found some quiet and unoffending way of telling the truth. "I do not live here," he would say. "I represent a state which has a great pride in the national capital. I am here to help me to see some parts of it I have never seen before."

What he saw almost no one has seen.

Ownership Is Concentrated in Hands of a Few Men.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The concentration into the hands of a few powerful interests of an enormous percentage of the timber lands of the United States has created a problem so grave for the nation. In the judgment of Luther Condit, Jr., commissioner of corporations, that he has recommended to President Taft that the existing national forests not only be retained by the federal government as far as practicable. This note of warning was sounded by the commissioner in forwarding to the president the full text of part I of the bureau's investigation of the timber industry made by direction of congress. The commissioner says:

The report shows a concentration of ownership in the ownership of standing timber in the United States. The area covered by the bureau's investigation contains about 80 per cent of the privately owned timber of the country. In this area three holders have 14 per cent of the privately owned timber, ninety have two-fifths, and 195 nearly half. Marked concentration in the area outside the bureau's detailed investigation also is indicated. Since the amount of standing timber is steadily diminishing and its value rapidly increasing, this concentration involves problems of far-reaching public importance.

Due to Land Policy. In view of the facts already published, no extended comment appears necessary at this time. It seems proper, however, to emphasize that the present conditions of timber ownership are largely due, as clearly set forth in this report, to the land policy of the federal government, especially the great Federal land grants to railroads and the faulty operation of some of the general land laws. Instead of securing a wide distribution of the public domain in the hands of a vast number of independent owners as apparently contemplated, the practical result of this legislation, at least so far as timber lands are concerned, has been a high degree of concentration of ownership. The report shows that the great land grants have directly resulted in enormous single holdings, while other great tracts of standing timber, transferred from the public domain in small parcels to private interests, and usually with no important return to the public treasury, have been gathered into large holdings by timber speculators. Concentration in the ownership of this timber, moreover, tends constantly to increase.

The national-forest policy inaugurated in the '90s, and now in successful operation, marked a fundamental change in the ideas which had formerly prevailed as to the handling of public timberlands. The basic principle of this policy is the retention of the fee to the land and the sale from time to time of the timber only, with a view to the wisest use of the supply and to its proper conservation. By this policy the government is able to secure for the public the full market value of this timber at the time of cutting, and at the same time to retain the land itself for reforestation or for such other use or disposition as may later seem advisable.

Attempts, however, are still made to secure the transfer of public timberlands to private owners under the same plan of settlement which in the past often proved wholly specious and insincere.

Good Only for Timber. "Much of the timberland still remaining in public ownership is adapted only for timber purposes. All that could be properly asked by a bona fide settler is the surface of arable land after the timber has been removed, but too frequently back of the argument made in the name of the settler is the desire to acquire the timber or other natural resources rather than the soil itself. It seems desirable, therefore, to direct public attention to the fundamental difference between disposing of agricultural lands to settlers and the disposal of timberlands directly to the material and social upbuilding of the community, and the alienation of virgin timberlands, which do not require, and in fact hardly permit, of improvement by private owners, and the value of which is rapidly rising because of reduction in the supply and the increase in population. The public service in the sale of the timber and the holding of this timber for an advance in price, under present conditions of settlement, is a very real and important one. When, moreover, such lands become concentrated in a comparatively

The three alleys to which he devoted that afternoon represented 275 such thoroughfares with a population of approximately 16,000. They represented conditions so unwholesome that one out of every three children born in these districts dies within the first year of its life. They represented a core at the American capital so rotten that it snuffs out life twice as fast as in the streets outside.

Some of the Things He Saw. In one house the governor walked on wooden blocks to keep above the cesspools which hid the floor under a shining cover of fluid mud. In another he saw plumbing so defective that his drip, with all that such a drip might imply, splattered the cook stove of the family below. In the third alley he was told that its 204 men, women and children had provided 129 arrests in the twelve months preceding.

He stood silent before a house which sheltered the immorality of colored children. Over cinders, ashes and pans of garbage he picked his way to the side of a tubercular old man and watched as with unerring accuracy this black center of contagion made a cuspidor out of a big tub filled with white folks' clothes.

In one home the furniture was a bed, a couch which opened out to a half-bed, a small stove, a broken chair and a cupboard, all in the most filthy condition. Here Minnesota's governor talked to the drunken colored woman in charge, and by his own skill and kindly questioning he disclosed the fact that the mother was a housemaid in an institution which cannot be described here, that the son had been in the workhouse almost continually since his eighteenth birthday, that the daughter was a purveyor of headache medicine—which was, of course, cocaine—that the mother, though not yet 40, had buried eleven children.

Out of these pest holes John A. Johnson walked with head bowed. For possibly a quarter of a mile he said nothing. Then he unfolded the skeleton of a plan to bring these things to an end.

Men of Northwest Would Act. "Our men of the Northwest here in congress do not know these things," he said. "They have only to be told of them. They may not differ from the men in any other section. I suppose they do not. But the men in congress from the Northwest are too humane, too big, too manly, to let a wrong like this go on if they can stop it."

All the way to the hotel he mused—now silent, now aloud. He asked about landlord opposition, about statistics. He seemed to be widening his life to include within it the concerns of these colored unfortunate. He had found a new responsibility and he did not fear it.

That night the Gridiron club applauded, applauded and cheered as it wondered at the winning manliness of this man. And as it received with pure delight the kindly blows he gave, it did not know that the man it heard with such pleasure had only that afternoon given out more of his sympathy to black strangers than most men give to their brothers.

Government a Large Holder. "Without entering into a discussion of possible solutions of certain grave problems involved in the present concentration of timber ownership, it may be pointed out that the government today still owns, exclusive of the forests of Alaska, about one-fifth of the country's total supply of merchantable standing timber. It is the agency best adapted to practicing reforestation on a large scale. Recently important suits for forfeiture of extensive timberlands have been brought by the government on the ground of non-fulfillment of conditions imposed in the grants by which these lands were alienated from the public domain. For these reasons, it would appear, therefore, that the government may later be able to materially strengthen its relative position as a timber owner."

The facts set forth in this report clearly point to the desirability of maintaining the integrity of the national forests and of extending to other publicly owned timber, including forests in Alaska and timberlands that may be recovered in forfeiture suits now pending or subsequently instituted by the government, the cardinal principle of the national-forest policy, namely, the retention of the fee to such lands at least until the timber is removed. Decision will then have to be made between retaining such lands for reforestation and disposing of the surface for agricultural purposes. It seems clear, moreover, that the fundamental principle to be followed in the sale of the timber is that the terms of sale should be such as to insure to the public treasury substantially the full stumpage value at the time that such timber shall be actually cut.

Those who buy advertised things, buy "in the light"—after comparison and consideration, and with a knowledge of the stores.

few hands, there is, instead of a public service, a serious public danger.

For these reasons, it would appear, therefore, that the government may later be able to materially strengthen its relative position as a timber owner."

The facts set forth in this report clearly point to the desirability of maintaining the integrity of the national forests and of extending to other publicly owned timber, including forests in Alaska and timberlands that may be recovered in forfeiture suits now pending or subsequently instituted by the government, the cardinal principle of the national-forest policy, namely, the retention of the fee to such lands at least until the timber is removed. Decision will then have to be made between retaining such lands for reforestation and disposing of the surface for agricultural purposes. It seems clear, moreover, that the fundamental principle to be followed in the sale of the timber is that the terms of sale should be such as to insure to the public treasury substantially the full stumpage value at the time that such timber shall be actually cut.

Without entering into a discussion of possible solutions of certain grave problems involved in the present concentration of timber ownership, it may be pointed out that the government today still owns, exclusive of the forests of Alaska, about one-fifth of the country's total supply of merchantable standing timber. The UNITED STATES DUNLOP TIRE is the premier automobile tire of the world

The Genuine Dunlop Tire

represents what thousands of motorists regard as the ideal type of tire. It is in no sense a new tire.

The Hartford Rubber Works practically introduced it into this country more than ten years ago, and it has always been one of the standard Hartford (now United States) tires.

No other tire has ever been imitated so widely as has this tire, and yet in no other tire has the original principle been so firmly adhered to.

The illustration on this page is of the original Dunlop tire, stripped of any and all the so-called "improvements" which some of the Dunlops have shown. As an indication of the growth in favor which this genuine Dunlop has enjoyed, it may be stated that the United States Tire Company has, without the blare of trumpets, actually taken care of

More than a 600% Increase in Sales in Less than a Year's Time

So insistent has the demand become for this tire (in the face of the most strenuous competition on the part of other tires of a similar type), that we have been obliged to add immensely increased facilities for its manufacture during 1913. From now on the United States Tire Company will undertake to supply all the genuine Dunlop Tires demanded by the trade. Bear in mind—this Dunlop is the only Dunlop possessing all the merits of this extraordinary tire.

"COMMON SENSE" NOT ALL

Judgments of Youth Formed With Complete Assurance, Give Way to Higher Thoughts, Says Pastor.

"The Eternal Mystery," was the subject of a sermon preached by Rev. George R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday.

"The characteristic of the child is its complete faith in its senses and what they reveal; it is seeing is believing; it will never doubt its own senses," he said. "But when the child becomes a youth, this faith in the senses is very apt to be augmented by absolute trust in the infallibility of common sense. We might almost say that to the normal young man, the young man brought up in the atmosphere of mental freedom, trust in the truth of his understanding is the supreme thing. There is no blame or censure for the young in this; many of us have shared in this supreme confidence of youth. And we, too, know how many great things have been thought and been accomplished by youth. Yet, if we look over the accomplishments of such brilliant youth, we realize that the 'blessed assurance' which they had was indeed a factor in their success, but that such youth also possessed an exceptional wisdom, which essentially belongs to the older and more experienced. In thinking of the great things youth has accomplished, we are reminded of the things youth has done. No doubt much of the evil in our political life may be traced to the action of youthful actors, which seen in every change it advocates, a mighty stride forward, careless about the direction. This youthful assurance is often best seen in religion. Here the self-reliant, reliant, upon-common-sense youth, will often knock down things which are of great worth to others. Whatever does not fit in his common-sense philosophy he will call 'superstition,' without realizing that perhaps this superstition harbors a truth, a value which is beyond the apprehension of common sense. Indeed the common sense young man never even dreams that there might be more things in heaven and earth than he dreams of in his philosophy. But there comes a time in the development of the truly normal human being, when the insufficiency of common sense is realized. The youth loses confidence in his own judgment, he begins to feel that, excellent as common sense is, it is not the measure of all things. It is then that the youth becomes truly a man, and not only puts away the childish things, but the youthful childish judgments. A higher common sense will show him that there is nothing common and foolish in things which help human life. We are that a belief, which to us might be degrading, might be to another uplifting. Such an attitude toward others is a vast commendation of usefulness, tolerant, but sympathetic; it is the attitude of a mind inwardly conscious of the common underlying verity. And such a mellowed, ripened mind also looks tenderly upon the beliefs of its own childhood, and finally begins to see that there was much deep truth even in the childish things.

Goethe, so superbly wise in his old age, said to his friend, Eckermann, "The greatest blessing that can befall a thinking man is to fathom what can be fathomed, and silently adore the unfathomable. Here is the agnosticism of faith, the agnosticism of the humble mind. It is the faith which many souls have found after vainly striving to see and prove God. It is a faith which makes the poorest life rich, and without which the richest life is poor and empty."

LA TEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Gossip, Comment and Sporting Editorial Review as Written By Bruce.

TO A number of newspaper men at St. Paul last night, among whom was the writer, Jess Willard, the Tall Texan, gave a glowing send-off to Luther McCarty, the present champion pugilist of the world and credited by some sharp critics of the fighting game with being the greatest fighter produced since the days of Jim Corbett.

"McCarty is a great fighter," said Willard, which, by the way, is unusual for a rival pugilist. "When he fought me he showed beyond the least doubt that he is game. McCarty is also aggressive and strong. He takes punishment without flinching and always keeps coming back for more."

"I would like to fight McCarty before he fights Bombardier Wells. I think that we two are the best of the present lot, and the meeting would create a lot of interest."

There are many who believe that McCarty will beat Charley Cutler's charge, if the two hook up. In a way Willard looks the part of the fighter, and then again he doesn't. He didn't work in Sault Ste. Marie and there was no opportunity of judging of him in action.

The Texas man is tall; one might believe that he is too tall for a fighter. He is good natured, extremely so, in fact, and appears like a big kid in action. Somehow his shoulders don't look quite heavy enough to carry a hitting force to his blows. But that point remains to be seen, as in his few fights to date Willard has shown some real fighting ability.

MINNEAPOLIS is preparing to give Luther McCarty the greatest reception any fighter has received since the first appearance of Jim Corbett after his victory over the great and immortal John L. Sullivan.

The big conqueror of Jim Flynn and Al Paizer will make his appearance here before the appearance of the Mill City and the fans will be able to judge of the youngster who is looked upon by some as perhaps the greatest of all modern day pugilists.

It is now generally believed that Johnson is through—not because the authorities would not let him fight; rather because he has passed the stage where he can even train.

Marty Cutler, brother of Charley, the wrestler and former sparring partner of Johnson, is authority for this statement, and he is one who should know. He declares that McCarty will defeat Johnson today.

At any rate Duluth will have its first world's champion here since the last visit of Big Fitzsimmons, following the Carson City victory over Jim Corbett.

RAY C. MEEHAN, secretary of the St. Paul baseball club, last night stated that he believed there would be little trouble in coming to an agreement on the conditions under which the teams of the See-Eye league would play in the Twin Cities.

"I voted the Lennon proxy on the letting down of the bars," said Meehan, "and Milwaukee and Columbus are two of the other cities of the A. A. that are to permit teams to play in their parks. It is a good move and one that should create additional interest in baseball rather than kill the following of either of the leagues."

WALTER MILLER is training like a Trojan for his battle with Mike Yokel. The Pole has completed arrangements with Fred Beell and will work with the little Wonder of Marshfield for at least a week and a half prior to the meeting with the great little man of Salt Lake City.

In St. Paul there is a great amount of interest being manifested in this meeting, and the indications are that a large delegation will come here from the Apostle town.

WHEN it comes to comparing the St. Paul and Duluth curling club homes—ah, Bill, there's nothing to it. The Duluth structure has it on the new club in St. Paul by incomparable degrees. There are twelve sheets of ice at the St. Paul house, but the building in general will not class with the magnificent home of curling, skating and hockey that has been erected in Duluth, and it is doubtful if there is any curling house in the country that can surpass the citadel of winter sports that stands as a monument to the perseverance and enthusiasm of Duluth.

OTIS CLYMER A REGULAR CUB

Former Miller May Play Left Field for Chicago Team.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Manager Evers' problem of filling the left field position on the Cub team is practically solved if Outfielder Otis Clymer of Minneapolis is as good as is reported. President Murphy of the American association athlete through the draft and considers it a lucky draw.

Clymer is not a youngster, nor could he be called a recruit, but he has done well in the American association, where the local magnate was advised to draft him. He is expected to be a keen contender for a place on the West side team.

Clymer has been playing baseball a long time. He has been in both major leagues before, having played with Pittsburgh and Washington. He has been a considerable misfortune while in major league company. First he broken an ankle, and then he was sent back to the minors. He was injured again in a game, and he was sent back to the minors. He was injured again in a game, and he was sent back to the minors.

WELSH CLAIMS WORLD'S TITLE

Fred Welsh, the wizard of Wales, boldly announces himself as the lightweight champion of the world. He bases his claim on his victory over Willie Ritchie in a twenty-round bout, Nov. 30, 1911. Welsh won the decision.

Ritchie, deprived of the world's title last fall, but Welsh believes that by holding the only refereed decision given to Ritchie, that the championship really belongs to him.

Welsh is off to again after a brief period of adversity. Welsh lost the English title to Matt Wells in February, 1911. He came to America and beat a number of American lightweights, including Ritchie and Matt Baldwin.

Welsh returned to England a few months ago, and last November surprised the British public by winning back the title from Welsh. He immediately claimed the world's championship.

On Dec. 16 last, Welsh whipped Hughie McEwan in a twenty-round bout. McEwan is a tough Australian, but the fast Welsh was too much for him. Welsh profited big by his victory. The men fought for a side wager of $5,000, the largest bet in modern English ring history.

In this case the money was actually put up.

Welsh's share of the purse was $3,500, so his triumph netted him exactly $3,500.

Welsh has had a wonderful career. He has met all the leading lightweights of the world, and he has never been knocked out. Only Packey McFarland and Wells have had referee's decisions over him, and in subsequent battles he reversed the verdict with Wells, and fought Packey McFarland to a draw. He probably will be Ritchie's next opponent.

Freddy is a wonderfully clever boxer, but is not regarded as a strong hitter, although he has knocked out men like Ray Branson, Harry Treadwell and Frank Casey.

Champion Wins Again.
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—Robert McLean of Chicago, International champion ice skater won both the mile and the five mile races at the Western Skating association carnival, which ended a three-day session here. BONSPIEL ON MANY TO SEE AT ST. PAUL AUTO SHOW

Eighty Rinks Are Already Entered—Twelve More Coming.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—The twentieth annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association opened here this morning with eighty rinks already entered and at least twelve more expected today. The bonspiel will continue all the week.

The following cities are represented at the opening: Winnipeg, Selkirk, Pipestone and Cambridge, and Seaforth, Ont. and Port Arthur, Ont. Grand Rapids, Mich.; Portage, Phillips and Superior, Wis.; Butte, Mont.; Duluth, Virginia, Eveleth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

Two of the rinks from Port Arthur, Ont., shipped their staves by express and will be here by tomorrow. Officials at the border pending an investigation. As a result they will be unable to enter the game until the arrival of the staves.

Many of the larger factories and auto dealers are taking much interest in the Minneapolis show, which will take place, beginning on Feb. 8 and ending Feb. 15. There is no question, it is thought, but that Duluth will be largely represented, not only dealers attending but scores who, during the week of Feb. 8, will take this opportunity of seeing about their disposal of the new models.

For the first time, the annual Minneapolis show is a national affair. The members of the Minneapolis Automobile Trade association have annexed to the show, a display of the latest models of the year, which will be shown in the Minneapolis show, the week of Feb. 8, and will be a display of the latest models of the year.

PROCTOR EASY FOR BOAT CLUB

The Duluth Boat club basket ball team successfully defended its title to the Northern Minnesota championship in the game with Proctor Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, winning by a score of 69 to 18.

Although one-sided as far as the score is concerned, was hotly contested throughout. The Proctor team played a hard, scrappy game from start to finish and developing flashes of team work which would carry the ball two-thirds of the length of the rink, only to be stopped by the strong defense of the boat club guards when they got the ball within shooting distances.

The boat club five played a fast game, showing good team work. Boerner played a fine game and his accurate passing was a feature.

"Bunk" Harris and Osman both did splendid basket shooting, Harris scoring some beautiful shots from difficult angles. For the Proctors Wiles and Hodapp played a very hard game, with Averson showing the best scoring ability.

Score: First half—D. B. C. 30; Proctor Y. M. C. 18. Final—D. B. C. 69; Proctor Y. M. C. 18.

Lineup: Boat club—Boerner, "Bunk" Harris, forwards; Osman, center; Solheim, Lathrop, guards. Proctor Y. M. C.—Wiles, Averson, Renaud, forwards; Shelton, center; Hodapp, Anderson, guards.

Detailed score: Field baskets—Harris, 14; Osman, 10; Boerner, 6; Solheim, 2; Lathrop, 1; Averson, 5; Wiles, 3; Free throws—Harris, 3; Averson, 1; Renaud, 1.

BASEBALL PROMISES TO COME INTO ITS OWN WITH TWIN CITY INVASION

For the First Time in Years Duluth Promises to Be in Worthy Baseball Company ---Meeting of Officials to Be Called.

According to H. A. Blume, president of the Central-International league, commonly called the See-Eye league, there will be a meeting called of the proper representatives of the league to take action in invading the Twin Cities.

"Some time ago it was stated that in the event of St. Paul and Minneapolis placing teams in the See-Eye league, Fargo would be very willing to raise money and buy a franchise in the league. The question as to whether six or eight teams will make up the league is of the many matters that are to come before the magnates for serious consideration.

While a great deal of speculation has not been made as yet, it is only natural to suppose that Mike and Joe Gantillon will control the team that Minneapolis is to put in the new league goes through without a hitch, and that George E. Lennon and Ray McLean will be the bosses of the St. Paul team.

It is also likely that the league meeting will be held in St. Paul instead of at Duluth, as was the original intention.

Speculation is part and parcel of winter baseball, just as dope is part of the life of all sports. Therefore, while the league is not an actuality as yet, speculation will be rife until the season of play actually starts—presuming that all conditions will be agreed to and that the See-Eye league invades the A. A. territory.

Blume Out of It.
H. A. Blume has stated that he will not be a candidate for re-election, Mr. Blume declares that he does not want the position. All of his future time, he declares, is to be given over to the Duluth club along with the declaration of Blume that he will not be a candidate for the job he holds at the present time comes the belief that the next president of the league will be a Twin City man.

With Minneapolis and St. Paul having teams in the league, baseball will enjoy its greatest success here the coming season. In the past there has been somewhat of a lack of interest in the game because Duluth was thrown with cities considerably less than half its size.

The golden dream of several years past has apparently come true. Some of the fans are beginning to believe that it is too good to be true. There have been cases on record where there was a slip twice the ring and the lip. But the long barrier is down, and under ordinary circumstances it seems likely that we will have teams in the Twins, or that the Twins will have teams here, just as you will, and that for the first time since Duluth was a member of the old Northwestern league along with St. Paul and Minneapolis, we are going to be in a classy organization.

In the event of the arrangements going through it might be a good idea to suggest some improvements at the Duluth end. Barring hitches in negotiations, we are going to be in a very classy league, and some of the improvements should be done at the baseball park.

Blume is delighted with the decision, more so, since few of the followers of baseball in these parts believed that the American Association would take favorable action.

Mr. Blume says that he is going to have one of the best leagues in the country, said Mr. Blume today. Winnipeg is really big enough to be in the American Association, and Duluth and Superior should long ago have been in the Western league, but geographical location has kept the two cities at the head of Lake Superior far below their real baseball class. Apparently, we have accomplished what we have been striving for during the past few years, and it is up to us to get into the game, fans and baseball magnates, and have the best year in the history of the game here."

Dr. J. A. McCuen, president of the Duluth club, is naturally elated over the action of the A. A. magnates. He says that one of the positions the genial doctor takes upon. He has long wanted to make the game a real institution in Duluth, and with the league going through as it now looks as if it will, baseball and the doctor's long cherished hobby promise to come into their own.

Lennon Is Willing.
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—President George F. Lennon of the St. Paul baseball team of the American Association, declares that both he and President Carlton of the Minneapolis club will welcome the Central International league if Duluth and Superior arrangements can be made for the use of Lincoln park when the team is on the stand.

"Mr. Carlton and myself have been in favor of letting down the bars for the minor leagues, and the athletes will but there has developed opposition to this at recent meetings of the American Association.

"If the officials of the Central International league are sincere in their plans to include St. Paul and Minneapolis in their circuit, I am more than willing to meet them half way on their proposition."

Last season the Central International league included Duluth, Winnipeg, Superior and Grand Forks in its circuit. At present plans materialize for Fargo, N. D., Minneapolis, St. Paul and Virginia, Minn., will be added.

brary car, in addition there will be battles, barriers and ladies' aid, make things comfortable for the scribers on route a miniature newspaper office will be fitted up in the cars, with typewriters and other necessities.

Murphy says that baseball clubs want fewer superintendents criticizing the bench and more enthusiastic quick-thinking players. He alluded to Chance when he says that the time to remove a player is when he has been thrown away and not after the game is over and lost. McDuff, he says, saved many a game by his quick wit in removing a weakening pitcher at the right moment.

"My enthusiasm, however," continues the Chicago magnate, "is pretty much confined to those men who can play the game and not to those who wish to do it."

Murphy states that his 1913 club is going to have a better team than the 1912 team, and that he expects to have a better team than the 1912 team, and that he expects to have a better team than the 1912 team.

The "special" is due to arrive at Paso Robles hot springs the morning of Feb. 24, the afternoon previous to the night to be spent at the hotel. Work will be the order of the day, as soon as the athletes get to the hotel, they will be in the hotel, and they will be in the hotel, and they will be in the hotel.

WHITE SOX TRIP ALREADY PLANNED

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Everything is now in readiness for the get-away of the White Sox on their spring pilgrimage to California. Exhibition dates have been booked, the day of departure set at Feb. 20 and the day of arrival at the Paso Robles camp Feb. 24, while the route to be covered by Comiskey's White Sox special on the outside journey was announced yesterday.

The line of travel picked for the trip to the spring camp is over the route through Omaha, Ogden, Salt Lake City, Reno, and San Francisco to Paso Robles. The trip out of Chicago will be over the Northwestern line with the Union Pacific beyond Ogden. For the journey a special through train will be provided, the malice on wheels being scheduled to run solid to the camp without change.

On wheels being scheduled to run solid to the camp without change. Northwestern terminal at 3:30 p. m. on the day set for the departure. The train will carry President Comiskey and family, personal friends and officials of the club, a full squad of athletes and a flying squadron of war correspondents. According to the advance word, the special will have a number close to seventy people, will travel in the most up-to-date equipment, and will be a new class of train embodied in new all-steel sleepers turned out within the last year.

Eight cars will comprise the "special" and will be accompanied by a baggage and buffet car, another a dining car, and the eighth an observation car.

FARGO-MOORHEAD BALL TEAM RUMOR.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo and Moorhead may unite in organizing a baseball team and enter the Central International league during the coming season. For many years the baseball for the two towns has been on the Fargo side of the river. The failure of successive managers to get together any winning aggregations resulted in baseball enthusiasm in both towns dropping a low and finally the owners of the old grounds sold the property for city residences and the grandstand and fence were razed.

The proposed plan is to interest local men in both towns and erect a grandstand and locate the grounds in Moorhead.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis

In Probate Court.

THE PETITION OF Gertrude M. Clark, having been filed in this court, representing among other things, that she is the widow of the late Gertrude M. Clark, deceased, and that she is a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is a daughter of said deceased, and praying that letters of administration of the estate of said deceased be granted to Edward W. Hedges.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said county, on Monday, the 17th day of February, 1913, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said estate and in said matter are hereby notified to appear at said time and place, to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in the Duluth Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer, of St. Louis County, not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing, and by mailing a copy hereof to each heir and interested party at least 14 days before said day of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., January 20th, 1913.

By the Court, S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.

Attest: ARTHUR E. TEMPLETON, Clerk of Probate.

(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis Co., Minn.)

E. P. TOWNSE, Attorney for Petitioner.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, executed by LeRoy Chapin, sometime known as LeRoy Chapin, and recorded in Book 267 of Mortgages in page 603 on the 15th day of February, 1910, at 2:45 o'clock p. m., that the action of foreclosure has been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by such mortgage, or any part thereof.

That said mortgage was on October 24th, 1912, duly assigned by an assignment in writing by the said LeRoy Chapin, mortgagee, to Donald S. Holmes, which assignment was recorded on October 24th, 1912, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in the office of said Register of Deeds in Book 293 of Mortgages on page 553; that the amount now due and claimed to be due upon the said mortgage is the sum of Eight Hundred sixty-three dollars and thirty-five cents ($863.35); that the premises described in the mortgage, and are described as follows: to-wit, the north half of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter (NW 1/4 of SE 1/4) of Section ten (10) in Township 35 North, Range 18 East of Range 18 East of the Fourth Principal Meridian, according to the United States Government survey thereof.

That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgagee and assignee, do hereby give notice of public sale of the premises at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the Courthouse in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock a. m., to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, and the taxes, if any, due on said premises, and the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00), attorneys' fees stipulated in said mortgage, together with the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated this 15th day of January, 1913.

DONALD S. HOLMES, Assignee of Mortgage.

WAGES FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Senator Boyle Has Bill Creating Minimum Wage Commission.

All Rates Ordered Are to Remain in Force One Year.

Unlawful to Employ One at Less Than Minimum Wage.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—With backing of the State Federation of Labor, Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth within a day or two will introduce a minimum wage bill applying to women and children.

The theory of the bill is that the police power of the state gives it the right to make such interference in private business as is necessary to insure to female and minor workers wages that will support them in sound health and good citizenship. In other words, that wages lower than this level are against the well being of society.

Many hold that the same reasoning should give the state power to establish minimum wages for male workers and that it would apply here with even greater force. But the disposition appears to be not to carry the experiment so far in the beginning.

The bill proposes the creation of a "minimum wage commission" of three members, one of whom may be a woman, to be appointed by the governor for terms so arranged that after (Continued on page 5, third column.)

INCENDIARY FIRES HAVE FALLEN OFF

Prosecution of the "Arson Trust" Reduces Number of Conflagrations.

New York, Jan. 21.—With the grand jury, the district attorney and the fire commissioner at the heels of the "three tups" and other comprising New York's "arson trust," the number of incendiary fires kindled in the city has fallen from eighty-eight per week in January, 1912, to thirty-seven per week this year, according to estimates by the fire commissioner. In the house Nelson received the unanimous vote.

In the house there were three absences. In the senate two, Nelson was nominated in the upper house by Senator G. P. Wilson of Minneapolis. Seconding speeches were made by Senator S. D. Works for the Democrats and Senators Gundersen, Putnam, Boyle, Sullivan, Stebbins, Schaller and Dunn for Republicans.

In the house Nelson was nominated by Representative H. H. Dunn, seconding speeches being made by Representatives Paeder Bjonson, Lydard, Knapp and Lundeen.

Joint Session Wednesday.
The legislature will convene this vote in joint session tomorrow and announce Mr. Nelson's re-election.

The vote on the United States senatorship in the legislature today was controlled by the state law patterned after the Oregon law, which binds the general assembly to abide by the state primary vote, which was first for Henry Taft in 1912 and lastly for Mr. Taft. COMMISSION CONFIRMED Appointees of Governor Burke Will Retain Their Positions.

Hanna's Opposition Fails to Affect North Dakota Senate.

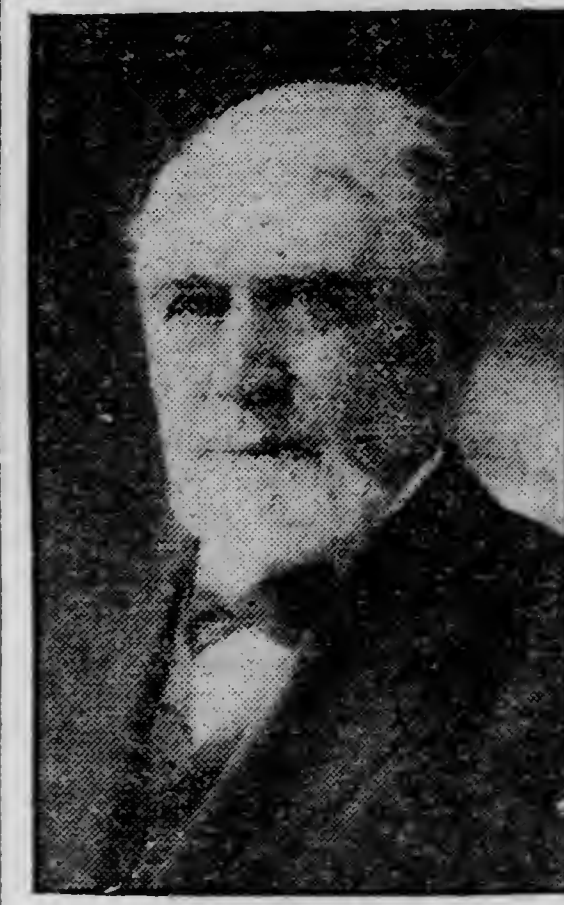

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna's opposition to the confirmation of the appointees of Governor Burke to the state tax commission failed to head off favorable action by the senate on such appointments. Yesterday afternoon the confirmation of the commission was brought about in an executive session of the senate, there being an interesting and spirited fight behind the closed doors.

The commission members are F. E. Packard, six years; George Wallace, Washington, four years; and L. E. Birdzell, Grand Forks, two years. They were named by Governor Burke last July. It had to be confirmed by the senate this session to be qualified for the positions for the remainder of the term.

The question that had been raised in connection with the senate's failure to confirm before the third Monday in January seemingly has been (Continued on page 4, second column.)

House Directs Probe of State Grain Inspection Department.

Bill to Reserve Mineral Rights in Land Grants Passed.

Senator Works Would Abolish State Board of Visitors.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning provided for a sweeping investigation into the organization, management and control of concerns engaged in handling grain and livestock at terminals, and of the state grain inspection department. This was pursuant to a resolution by Representative Bendixen, which the house adopted unanimously. Representative Spooner said that even if it cost $20,000, such an investigation would be worth while because it would develop facts that would aid in the grain growers of Minnesota.

The house also passed unanimously a bill to reserve mineral rights in land grants to railroads unless mineral rights are reserved. Representative Knapp of Chisholm (Continued on page 4, third column.)

WOULD CONTINUE TARIFF BOARD

Chamber of Commerce Wants President's Plans Carried Out.

Washington, Jan. 21.—When the first annual convention of the United States chamber of commerce of the United States was called to order today, it found a formidable program of business prepared for it by its board of directors. Two of the principal ends of the convention will be to accomplish what will be the continuation of President Taft's tariff board or some tariff sifting body organized on similar lines, and Federal incorporation for the association by act of congress.

Organization of the chamber was the first matter on the program. A constitution and by-laws had been prepared by the directors and it was decided that the discussion of the various provisions would not be prolonged. The nominating committee, composed of one member from each state delegation and ten members representing national trade organizations, got down to work early and will bring in a ticket to be voted on Thursday.

SITUATION AT VERA CRUZ IS DISQUIETING

American Warships May Be Sent to Mexican City at Once.

Continued Disorders and Rebel Activities Alarm People.

Madero Government Providing Little or No Protection.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Disquieting reports of a grave situation at Vera Cruz, Mex., today caused the state department to seriously consider detaching one of the warships from the first division of the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo for immediate duty at the Mexican port. If no reassuring news comes during the day this may be done.

Continued disorders and widespread rebel activities continue in Southern Mexico, where according to official dispatches, small towns and ranches have been pillaged, women have been carried off and bandits have demoralized the populace. Apprehension is felt here for the safety of Americans in the disturbed zone.

The federal government was providing little or no protection for foreign interests again has been made evident by the recent action of American planters in announcing that they proposed to pay tribute to the rebel Zapata to protect their growing crops against other rebel bands and raiders.

State department officials admitted today that their reports were of a condition so grave as to indicate that the (Continued on page 4, third column.)

SURRENDERED BY HIS ATTORNEY

Member of Motor Bandit Gang in Hands of Police.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Frank Madia, owner of a Michigan avenue garage said to be used as a "hangout" and rendezvous by the "motor bandit," was surrendered to the police today by his attorney after information concerning his whereabouts had been furnished by Isabelle Hastings, in whose apartment Detective Peter Hart was shot and killed yesterday by Robert Webb, wanted as chauffeur for the robbers. Madia admitted that he had purchased diamonds and watches from James H. Perry, confessed leader of the gang, but said he did not know they were stolen.

I knew Perry for some time and he frequently came to my place of business," said Madia. "Usually he was accompanied by two other men. Perry was always referred to by his companions as 'Cigarette Bill,' because of his habit of smoking cigars.

Fifty detectives today led in the city wide search for Webb. A house to house canvass of the neighborhood in the vicinity of the building where the shooting occurred has been ordered by Capt. Levin in hope that Webb's hiding place may be discovered. Orders also have been given to search every public and private garage on the South side in the hunt for the murderer.

CITY'S HANDS FREED IN SUIT TO TEST FRANCHISE OF TRACTION COMPANY

Temporary Injunction Issued By Federal Court Is Vacated.

No Longer Any Need for Real Estate Exchange to Act.

Two Courses of Procedure Are Now Open to the City.

The city of Duluth is free to proceed through the state courts to test the validity of the franchise of the Duluth Street Railway company. The city had been restrained from proceeding since Nov. 22, when Judge Page Morris of the Federal court issued a restraining order in an action brought against the city by the Central Trust company of New York.

The restraining order was vacated by Judge C. A. Willard of the Federal court late yesterday afternoon, after Oscar Mitchell, acting for the Central Trust company, had withdrawn his motion for a temporary injunction, and had consented to the entering, without argument, of an order vacating the restraining order of Judge Morris. The petition of the Central Trust company for a permanent injunction is still pending before the Federal court.

In a short time it is expected that quo warranto proceedings will be instituted in the district court of St. (Continued on page 4, third column.)

PRESIDENT-ELECT MISUNDERSTOOD

Declares Mrs. Wilson and Misses Wilson Would Attend Reception.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—President-elect Wilson today declared that if arrangements were made for a popular reception at the capitol as a substitute for the inaugural ball, Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Wilson would attend. The governor said the impression that the members of his family would not be present probably had arisen from his letter to William Corcoran Eustis, the inauguration chairman. "Perhaps I did not make it clear in my letter," said Mr. Wilson today, "but I meant simply that the ladies should not be expected to stand in line and shake hands."

The governor said that while he himself did not fear the strain of the handshaking ordeal, he thought his family should be excused.

The governor took occasion to deny published reports that he and Mrs. Wilson had favored the abandonment of the inaugural ball because of the possibility that the dancers might indulge in "risky frolic" and similar dances. He said he had opposed the idea on an inaugural ball chiefly because of the indirect expense to the government.

"The reasons for my opposition," he said, "are set forth in my first letter to Mr. Eustis. I am glad to have been the instrument through which the institution was abandoned."

Reserve of $12,500,000.
By having all banks in the United States contribute from 7 to 10 per cent of their deposits to a central reserve, Mr. Fowler estimated a gold reserve of upward of $12,500,000 would be created to be held in trust for all commercial zones and its distribution in times of need would be controlled by a board chosen from all the zones. Such a plan, Mr. Fowler told the committee, would enable such an organization as the Federal Reserve board to move money of gold to and from the United States and enforce a discount rate for gold transactions.

Its chief results, he said, would be to make each bank independent of another and completely decentralize all bank credit in the United States. James B. Forgan, the Chicago banker, who was to have appeared yesterday, is scheduled to testify later in the week.

BRIAND PRESENTS HIS NEW CABINET

French Premier Selects Men to Hold Portfolios.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Aristide Briand, the new French premier, completed the formation of his cabinet today and submitted the list to President Faillieres. The official list follows: Premier and minister of the interior, Aristide Briand; minister of justice, Jean Barthou; foreign affairs, Charles C. Jonart; war, Eugene Etienne; marine, Pierre Baudin; finance, Louis L. Klotz; public instruction, Jules Steeg; public works, Jean Dupuy; agriculture, Jean Morel; commerce, Fernand David; colonies, Gabriel Guist-Hau; labor, Rene Bonsergent.

SELLING EGGS AGAIN.

Philadelphia Women Begin Another Crusade on High Prices.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 21.—The Housekeepers' league of this city which recently brought about a reduction in the price of storage eggs, began another crusade today, placing on sale "strictly fresh eggs" for 27 cents a dozen. The eggs, it was said, are "Western, Southern and nearby" and none more than two weeks old. They are sold from seventy-five stations throughout the city.

The price is a reduction of about 12 cents from that previously charged by grocers.

SUFFOCATED BY FUMES IN CONDENSER

Father of Eight Children Meets Death in Zenith Furnace Plant.

Found Unconscious on the Floor By Fellow Workmen.

Widow and Eight Little Ones Are Left Without Support.

Dan Ematuzio, 35 years old, father of eight children, was suffocated to death by gas fumes at the condensing plant of the Zenith blast furnace at West Duluth this morning. No one was present when Ematuzio was overcome and he was found lying unconscious upon the floor by a fellow workman who passed that way some time later. He called other workmen and summoned a physician. Together they worked over him for an hour and a half in a desperate effort to resuscitate him but without success.

It was the duty of the victim to attend the machine which separates moisture from the gas before it is sent into the main. The fumes escaped through the pipes and he evidently remained too long, being overcome before he realized fully what was happening to him. As usually as can be judged the accident occurred about 10 o'clock today.

Ematuzio made his home with his wife and eight children at 223 South Fifty-sixth avenue, west. He was known to his fellows as a hard working and generally careful man. He had been in this country for several years. The body was removed to the morgue of M. J. Filiault at West Duluth where it is being held pending funeral arrangements.

STANLEY URGES FAVORABLE ACTION

Appears Before Committee in Interest of His Measure.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Jan. 21.—With a declaration that the Minnesota iron range railroads, which are operated by the United States Steel corporation, pay over 100 per cent annually on inflated capitalization, Congressman A. O. Stanley of Duluth today appeared before a house committee on interstate and foreign commerce to report favorably on the measure.

The measure has for its purpose the abolition of railroad ownership by mine operators and manufacturing concerns. Mr. Stanley argued that the United States Steel corporation, by mine operators was giving the United States Steel corporation an advantage over competitors in the mining of the industry.

He said other mine owners are forced to patronize the "Steel Trust" railroads, so that the profits on their business as well as on that carried from the Steel corporation mines all goes into the pockets of the corporation.

NEW LONDON, OHIO, HAS A BAD FIRE.

New London, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Fire which threatened to wipe out this town, broke out in the business section today. By a high wind, the flames had consumed almost an entire block and caused an estimated loss of $100,000 when brought under control seven hours after it started.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE FLEE

Volcano of Colima in Mexico Breaks Into Violent Eruption.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Jan. 21.—The volcano of Colima broke into violent eruption last night. Thousands of people are fleeing from the village, and ranches in the vicinity. It is believed that there has been some loss of life.

Hundreds of refugees arrived in this city this morning on a train composed of boxcars which had been picked up on a siding at a nearby village. The fleeing people had found it necessary to shovel away a quantity of volcanic sand before they were able to move the cars and for many miles along the way the train had to be stopped frequently to permit the track to be cleared.

Very little lava was ejected from the crater, which, however, sent vast quantities of smoke and sand and suffocating gases formed an unusual feature of the eruption.

Gale Saves People.
A gale was blowing from the northwest and this probably saved many of the inhabitants of the surrounding districts, as it caused the flying sand and deadly gases to pass over their heads.

The activity of the volcano decreased during the night. The railroad station agent at Zapotitlan, who abandoned his post, reports that the volcanic sand covered the tracks in places to a depth of several feet.

The last violent eruption of Colima occurred in 1908.

REVISION OF MARRIAGE LAWS RECOMMENDED.

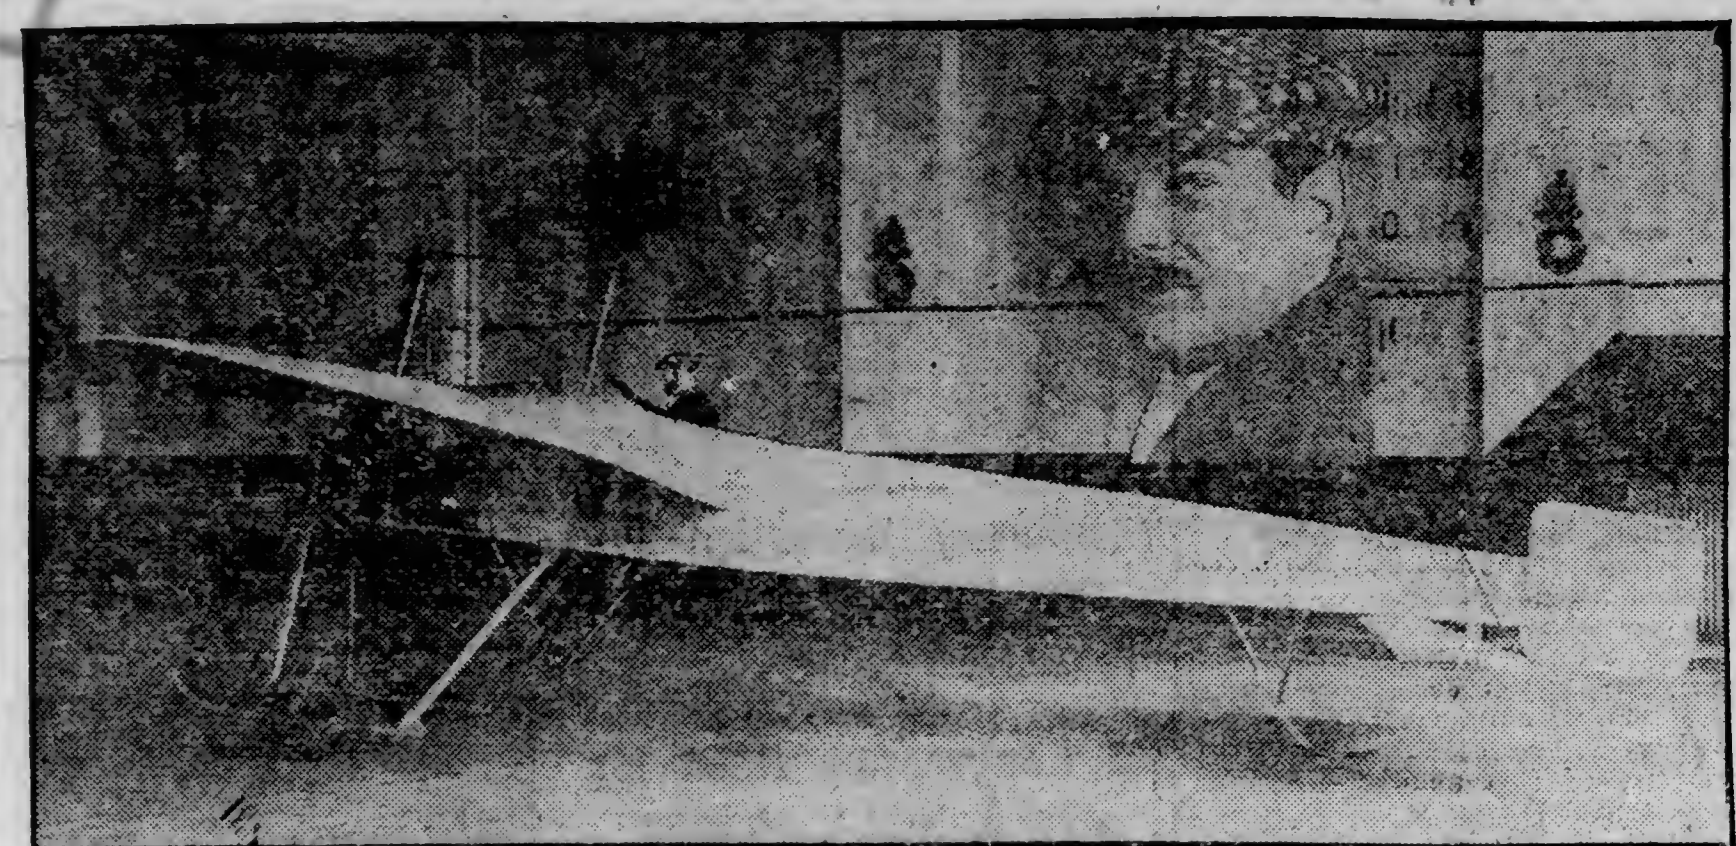

Denver, Dec. 21.—Revision of the marriage laws of the state "in order to restrain youthful, hasty marriages, and to prevent elopements into our state from other sections of the country," was the principal recommendation of Governor E. Miller in his inaugural address today.

Governor Miller is a Republican, while all the other state officers are Democrats. The Democrats also control the legislature and will select a United States senator to succeed Harry A. Richardson, Republican.

Have You Tried This Simple Prescription Said to Work Wonders for Rheumatism

This has been well known to the best doctors for years as the quickest and most reliable cure obtainable for rheumatism and backache. It has been published here for several winters and hundreds of the worst cases cured by it in a short time. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." Results come the first day. If your druggist does not have Toris Compound in stock he will get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take some patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original, one-ounce, sealed, yellow package. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical Laboratories of Chicago.

DULUTH MAN WILL FLY FROM ICE IN HARBOR, IN HOME MADE AEROPLANE

O. A. ROSTO AND HIS AEROPLANE.

Some time within the next week Duluthians may expect to see a strange bird-like aeroplane flying over the city.

The aeroplane is the property of O. A. Rosto of 1012 East First street, and was made by him. He expects to fly the machine the first clear, still day. He will start from the ice on the harbor, and alight there after making a flight over the city. He may not essay the flight over the city on the first attempt, but may spend some time practicing over the ice, not going far from the surface.

Mr. Rosto has been working on the machine for many months. He spent several years in Germany and France before coming to this country, and made a study of aeroplanes there. The new machine is a new model embodying many of his own ideas. It is a monoplane, but of a new type. When Jimmy Ward, the aviator was here last fall, Rosto showed him his plans and the partly finished machine, and Ward was most enthusiastic over it. He wanted to buy the new machine, and offered Rosto a handsome profit over its cost, but Rosto refused the offer, and said he was determined to become an aviator himself. The machine has been at the Auditorium for some time, but as soon as the weather moderates it will be taken down to the harbor for its first flight.

Mr. Rosto is also planning to build a hydro-plane, believing that it will offer more opportunities for flying in Duluth than an aeroplane.

LIST OF CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR IS INCREASED

Petitions Appear for the Nomination of W. E. McEwen.

Harry Nesbitt, W. I. Prince and Dr. D. H. Day Talked of.

Petitions appeared this morning for the nomination of W. E. McEwen for mayor. Coincidentally there was talk on the street of Harry Nesbitt, W. I. Prince and Dr. D. H. Day being candidates for the same office.

Up to this time the list of candidates for mayor has been smaller than that for the other places on the commission, but many men evidently intend to rectify that condition.

Although petitions are out for only a few candidates for mayor, the certainty of other citizens being candidates for the office is established.

Those for whom petitions are out are Marcus L. Fay, W. E. McEwen, John H. Norton and Morris Kaplan. M. C. Culham, E. B. Dowling and E. S. Bernstein are considered certain to be candidates and Harry Nesbitt and W. I. Prince are said to be about ready to enter the race.

Dr. D. H. Day, who was one of the most active advocates of the adoption of the new charter, is still undecided. "If some candidate appears, who stands for what I stand for and whom I consider to have a better chance of election than I, I will not become a candidate," said Dr. Day this morning.

"If none of the candidates appear, the views for which I have fought, I will enter the race and make an active campaign. Whether I will be a candidate for mayor or for one of the other places on the commission will be determined when I decide to become a candidate, if my decision is in this city."

Another prominent business man, who prefers to be unnamed for the present, is also considering being a candidate. He also is holding himself in reserve until the character of the candidates generally is determined.

"I feel about this just as The Herald feels about the election of strong men to the legislature," he said this morning. "I am interested in seeing the new system of government used for the best results in this city. I am interested in the election of men of judgment and business ability, who are not foreordained to failure. I have confidence in a success of my own business and I believe I could make a success of the city's business, but I will not enter the race unless I believe I can do better in one of the places on the commission than any of the men already in the race."

Of the five men, whom I believe to have proper qualifications become candidates, I will come out and support the one I do not believe that any man ought to make the mistake of supporting candidates on any consideration other than their fitness for the place. We want the strongest men we find in this city to inaugurate the commission form of government. They must be men who have been tried and have not been found wanting. They must be men who are absolutely trustworthy and can be depended upon at all times to do what they believe to be best for the city. Honesty, sincerity and ability are the primary requisites, and I will personally be willing to lend my support to any candidates having those qualifications."

cards the dates of registration and election and an injunction to voters to vote first choice for one candidate for mayor, two candidates for commissioner for four years and two candidates for commissioner for two years.

The statement has been made that the expenditure of candidates is limited to $500 each. The charter plainly limits the expenses of candidates to $500 for all purposes. The charter provision reads: "All expenditure of money in aid of the election of candidates, except for holding public meetings and printing and distributing literature, is prohibited, and the total expenditure on behalf of any one candidate, whether directly or indirectly, and whether by himself alone or otherwise, shall not exceed Five Hundred Dollars ($500)."

INSTRUCTION ON SHEEP RAISING

Northern Minnesota Farmers to Get Pointers at Bemidji Meeting.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Invitations have been issued to 1,400 Northern Minnesota farmers to attend the sheep discussion meeting in the high school gymnasium here Feb. 6.

Professors A. E. Chamberlain and E. R. Grantham, agricultural experts for the Great Northern Railway company, will speak on raising sheep in this country. This is an outgrowth of the Commercial club meeting at which J. H. Griffith, state agent for the Great Northern, offered to instruct Beltrami county farmers on how best to utilize sheep, especially in clearing land. Prof. A. E. Nelson, director of agriculture in the Bemidji schools, has charge of the meeting. It is probable that a lunch will be served by the girls of the high school domestic science class.

Nine Beltrami county farmers have taken advantage of the eight weeks' short course now under way in the high school here. Charles and Archie Severance, Peter and Ella Sorenson, Denny Bangard, Hanna Provial, Signa Anderson, Gordon Burns and Marjorie Stedile.

This course was organized under the direction of A. E. Nelson, director of agriculture in the high school here, and will continue until March 7. It has been so arranged that pupils whose homes are within five miles of this city can drive to school and return before sunset. The course includes elementary work in agriculture, including soils, field crops, animal husbandry and farm machinery, arithmetic, farm bookkeeping and grammar, for both girls and boys, and separate courses in manual training for the latter and domestic science for the former.

DAM NEARLY READY.

Cuyuna Range Power System Soon to be in Service.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 21.—The Cuyuna Range Power company's concrete work at their big dam on the Crow Wing river, a few miles southwest from Brainerd, is about completed and work will soon be commenced installing the water wheels, generators and other electrical machinery. It has been computed that 2,000-horse power can be generated. The steam auxiliary at Deerwood generates 300-horse power. This company at present is utilizing only the steam power plant, supplying electric light and power to Deerwood, Crosby, Oreland, Cuyuna, Ironton, the Pennington mine west of Crosby and Ironton, the Armour mines, the Carlson-Williams hydraulic mine and to many other small farms. The water will be let into the powerful turbine wheels when the machinery is installed, and then current will be supplied to the town of Brainerd on south range, six miles from Brainerd.

CASE HELD UP BY DEMURRER

Judge Dancer Hears Arguments in Litigation Over Stephens Estate.

Detroit Woman Charges Fraud and Misrepresentation in Land Deal.

Final arguments on the demurrer which has been interposed by Mrs. Clarinda Stephens, plaintiff, to the answers of the several defendants in the Stephens land case now pending in district court, were heard before Judge Dancer today. The court heard arguments Saturday at special term. They were not finished at that time, however, and an adjournment was taken until today.

The Stephens case is one in which Mrs. Clarinda Stephens, wife of the late Henry Stephens, Sr., a wealthy Detroit man, is suing the heirs of her son, Henry Stephens, Jr., claiming that she was defrauded out of her rightful share of a one-third interest in the Minnesota holdings of the Stephens estate, which are valued at $2,000,000, and asking that the estate be given to her son, who died April 10, 1911, be set aside.

The property in litigation consists of 4,500 acres of timber and mineral land in Lake and St. Louis counties. The Oliver Iron Mining company, the Alworth-Stephens company, the Northland Lumber company and the Minnesota Lumber company are the defendants. The Oliver Iron Mining company, the Alworth-Stephens company, the Northland Lumber company and the Minnesota Lumber company are the defendants. The Oliver Iron Mining company, the Alworth-Stephens company, the Northland Lumber company and the Minnesota Lumber company are the defendants.

The demurrer which the plaintiff has interposed to the answer of the several defendants is based on the contention that the answers do not set up a proper defense to the case.

"Fraud is charged," Mrs. Stephens in her suit makes the allegation that through the falsehood and misrepresentation of her son, she was induced to turn over to him, one-third interest in the estate of her late husband in Minnesota, he deeding that this would facilitate the handling of the estate. She compiled and signed a deed conveying the land to her son, and the second for $23,333.33.

Mrs. Stephens claims that her son told her that the Minnesota property was forest waste and was not worth more than $100,000. He represented to her, she says, that it would be to her best interests to dispose of it. She then gave him the deed.

Some time afterwards, she claims, she learned that the Minnesota property had been cut from the land and that the mineral rights are worth upwards of $2,000,000. SAVES ELDERLY PEOPLE FROM KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Sleep Disturbing Bladder Weaknesses, Backache, Stiff Joints, Rheumatic Pains Disappear After a Few Doses Are Taken.

While people along in years are naturally more subject to weak kidneys, they can avoid the tortures of backache, and rheumatism, and be saved the annoyance of getting up at night with disagreeable bladder disorders for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly relieves the most severe and obstinate cases.

Croxone cures these conditions because it removes the cause. It is the most wonderful remedy ever devised for ridding the system of uric acid. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. Croxone makes the kidneys filter the blood and sift out all the poisonous acids and waste matter that cause these troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped-up, inactive kidneys like water does a sponge, dissolves, and drives out every particle of uric acid

CHANGES IN LAW URGED

Report of Judicial Reform Commission to the Governor.

Would Limit Appeals and Increase Supreme Court Justices.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Judicial reform commission, which has made its report to Governor Eberhart, included Chief Justice Brown, District Judges Brill, Hale, Dibel, McClenahan, and Attorneys John G. Williams, Stiles W. Burr, Dean Vance, Pierce Butler, H. C. Carlson, George P. Flannery and Price Wickersham.

The report follows:
"The question as to whether there should be an increase in the number of associate justices of the supreme court was discussed and it was the unanimous opinion of the commission that the number of justices should be increased, and that measures should be taken to induce the legislature to increase by proper action the number of associate justices to six, so that the supreme court would have seven members."

Limiting Appeals.
"We suggest that you recommend to the legislature that subdivision 4, of section 4365, R. L. 1905, which now reads as follows:

"From an order granting or refusing a new trial or from an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer."

"Be amended so as to read as follows:

"From an order granting a new trial, or from an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer, providing that when an order granting a new trial is based exclusively upon errors appearing in the trial and it is so expressly stated in the order or memorandum of the trial court, an appeal therefrom may be taken, but in such case only."

"Provided further that when upon the entry of an order overruling a demurrer, the trial court shall certify that the question is one of fact, and the demurrer is in its opinion important and doubtful, and such certification is made part of the order overruling the demurrer, an appeal from such order may be taken."

"We recommend that section 4364, R. L. 1905, be amended so as to eliminate the word 'and' and to read: This may be accomplished by striking from the section the last sentence thereof. We recommend that section 4364, R. L. 1905, which now reads as follows:

"Upon an appeal being perfected, the clerk shall transmit to the supreme court a certified copy of the judgment roll or order appealed from, and the papers upon which the order was granted, at the expense of the appellant. When a case is made or of exceptions allowed, it may, for the purpose of appeal, stand in place of or be attached to the judgment roll and certified to the appellate court as aforesaid."

"Be amended so as to read as follows:

"Upon an appeal being perfected, the clerk of the district court shall immediately transmit to the clerk of the supreme court a certified copy of the notice and bond upon appeal, and the filing thereof shall vest in the supreme court jurisdiction of the cause, and upon request of either party, the clerk of the district court shall transmit to the clerk of the supreme court the original judgment roll, settled case or bill of exceptions, and such papers as may be on file in his office, the same to remain in the case until disposed of and then returned to the clerk of the district court."

"We also recommend the enactment of a general law providing that appeals from all municipal courts of the state shall be taken to the district court, and such other terms of said court, any provision in the municipal charter to the contrary notwithstanding."

Closing Argument By State.
"A majority of the commission recommends that section 5364, R. L. 1905, which now reads as follows:

"When the evidence shall be concluded upon the trial of any indictment, unless the cause shall be submitted to the jury or the jury shall be discharged, the defendant shall commence and the state conclude the argument to the jury."

Report of Judicial Reform Commission to the Governor.

Would Limit Appeals and Increase Supreme Court Justices.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Judicial reform commission, which has made its report to Governor Eberhart, included Chief Justice Brown, District Judges Brill, Hale, Dibel, McClenahan, and Attorneys John G. Williams, Stiles W. Burr, Dean Vance, Pierce Butler, H. C. Carlson, George P. Flannery and Price Wickersham.

The report follows:
"The question as to whether there should be an increase in the number of associate justices of the supreme court was discussed and it was the unanimous opinion of the commission that the number of justices should be increased, and that measures should be taken to induce the legislature to increase by proper action the number of associate justices to six, so that the supreme court would have seven members."

Limiting Appeals.
"We suggest that you recommend to the legislature that subdivision 4, of section 4365, R. L. 1905, which now reads as follows:

"From an order granting or refusing a new trial or from an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer."

"Be amended so as to read as follows:

"From an order granting a new trial, or from an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer, providing that when an order granting a new trial is based exclusively upon errors appearing in the trial and it is so expressly stated in the order or memorandum of the trial court, an appeal therefrom may be taken, but in such case only."

"Provided further that when upon the entry of an order overruling a demurrer, the trial court shall certify that the question is one of fact, and the demurrer is in its opinion important and doubtful, and such certification is made part of the order overruling the demurrer, an appeal from such order may be taken."

"We recommend that section 4364, R. L. 1905, be amended so as to eliminate the word 'and' and to read: This may be accomplished by striking from the section the last sentence thereof. We recommend that section 4364, R. L. 1905, which now reads as follows:

"Upon an appeal being perfected, the clerk shall transmit to the supreme court a certified copy of the judgment roll or order appealed from, and the papers upon which the order was granted, at the expense of the appellant. When a case is made or of exceptions allowed, it may, for the purpose of appeal, stand in place of or be attached to the judgment roll and certified to the appellate court as aforesaid."

Woman's Greatest Trouble

Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks, I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weaknesses for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth. Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles, today."

IRON RIVER'S NEW BANK PROSPEROUS.

Iron River, Mich., Jan. 21.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Iron River State Bank, started here six months ago, the report made by Cashier R. A. Packard showed total assets of $125,000, with an actual net profit for the first half year of its life of $600. The stockholders elected directors as follows: J. S. Wall, G. L. Woodworth, P. S. Anderson, V. D. Laine, J. J. Walters, H. E. Brown, H. D. Duff, Alexander Mackintosh and E. A. Packard.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mail for Inger is now carried by way of Deer River. The mail for that office has heretofore been carried from Bemidji. Postmaster J. H. Inger requested the change. This makes the twelfth star route office now supplied from the Deer River office.

Inexpensive Beauty Aids

By Mrs. D. Miller.
"Did you know Mother's Salve, an old-fashioned home remedy, has grown in popular demand so that it is sold in big quantities in drug stores? It is a splendid for headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, sore muscles, bruises, stiff neck, or pains and aches in back or joints.
"You can make a true complexion beautifier at home at little expense by dissolving an original package of Mother's Salve in a half pint of witch hazel. Gently massage the face, neck and arms with this lotion every morning and it will correct facial blemishes, muddy spots, etc., and make the skin fresh, fair and lovely.
"Dry shampooing cleans the scalp, vitalizes the hair roots and eliminates the danger of catching cold from washing the head. Just mix four ounces of Mother's Salve with a quart of water, and sprinkle a little on the head, and brush out thoroughly. The shampooing will remove all dust, dandruff and excess oil and leaves the hair bright, fluffy and beautifully lustrous.
"Eyebrows either detract from or add to a person's beauty. A little extra care—gently massaging the lash roots and the eyebrows with plain Vaseline—will make the lashes grow long and silky and the brows even and regular.
"Women afflicted by superfluous hair or fuzzy eyebrows can remove these blemishes by applying a paste made by mixing a little powdered detanant and water. Cover the hairs with the paste, leave on two minutes, wash off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone."

VOTERS TO BE INSTRUCTED

Mass Meeting of Citizens Will Plan Campaign of Education.

Operations of Preferential Voting System to Be Explained and Shown.

Plans for making the operations of the preferential election system plain to voters generally will be formed at a mass meeting to be held at the city hall tonight.
The call for the meeting has been issued by Frank Crasswell, chairman of the committee which had charge of the charter campaign. He urges all those who are interested in seeing the greatest possible use made of the opportunity given by the preferential system to attend the meeting tonight. Although the preferential system has been explained in the newspapers and was touched upon by speakers during the charter campaign, many voters are still unfamiliar with its operation. Those interested believe the voters can best be reached by speeches and demonstrations, and the campaign will be held on that line.
Charts showing sample ballots will be prepared for illustration of speeches before improvement clubs and other organizations. Other ballots will be distributed and practice elections held to enable the voters to practice marking the ballots. Everything possible will be done to make every voter in the city familiar with the new system so that there may be as few mistakes as possible.
The city election will be held April 1 and the days of registration are March 1 and March 15. A voter who fails to register will be able to vote only by presenting an affidavit of residence, attested by two freeholders of the election district in which he lives.
The meeting tonight will map out the plan of the campaign and the duties of the speakers who will be available for improvement clubs and other bodies.

Tomorrow Last Day of the Columbia's big Remodeling Sale.

SNOW AND MORE COLD

More Below Zero Temperatures Forecasted By Weather Man.

The cold wave is still lingering in Duluth, and the weather man says that the low temperature tonight will be 15 to 20 degrees below zero, and that moderate but brisk westerly winds will increase the intensity of the cold.
There was a little moderation in the cold during the night, and the low mark this morning was 3 degrees below zero. Last night was clear and cold, and the low mark was touched at 15 degrees below zero. The mercury began to climb from that point. All day yesterday was cold, the high temperature for the day being 1 degree below zero about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The cold wave today had advanced into the Atlantic states from the Midwest and was being followed in the northwestern part of the country by a heavy rain or snow. The area of high pressure causing the cold wave was moving toward New England states and the weather bureau issued a cold wave warning for the Northern part of New England.
Much colder weather in the Atlantic states tonight and warmer weather in the interior was the forecast.
The weather bureau reported that the Atlantic coast from Norfolk to Newport, Maine.

COMMISSION CONFIRMED

dropped, and that feature will not be raised any more.
It was contended by the friends of Governor Hanson that the appointment should have been referred to him, inasmuch as the commissioners will be serving during his administration.
Today it is expected that the senate will take up the question of confirming the appointments of Governor Burke to the board of control of penal and charitable institutions.

James' Iowa Asylum.

Last night a joint committee of the assembly went to Jamestown where an investigation will be made into the conditions at the asylum for the insane. The board of control reported to the legislature that the crowded condition of the institution was such that the inmates could not be given proper care. With no provision for the segregation of male tubercular patients, it was claimed that some patients who were discharged as cured of mental trouble died afterwards from tuberculosis contracted while they were inmates of the asylum.
The board asks appropriations for the construction of a new ward building, new administration buildings and a tubercular hospital for males.
All "blue sky" acts proposed in the senate were reported out by the judiciary committee for indefinite postponement, and later a similar bill will be introduced. It is expected that the judiciary committee of the two houses will confer in the drawing of such a measure.

Would Increase Premiums.

Under the provisions of the bill providing a $25,000 appropriation for state bonds, the bill would be compelled to pay over $12,500 in premiums. Not more than $7,500 of the sum could be used for permanent improvements; $1,000 could be used for insurance; $4,000 could be used for the support of the boys' camp and better farming. The $10,000 appropriation law, now effective, provides only $5,000 for premiums.
By the provisions of the joint resolution passed yesterday, the long hand written journals of the two houses are abolished, the printed journals taking its place. Also, instead of enrolling bills in longhand, they are hereafter to be typewritten.

Pensioners For Teachers.

Senator H. A. Bronson yesterday introduced a measure creating a teachers' annuity fund. This bill was drawn by a committee of the North Dakota Educational association, and it proposes the creation of a fund for the purpose of pensioning teachers.
The fund would be created by a levy upon the salaries of teachers in the state, and the payment of the fund each month. Provisions are made for the distribution of the fund to teachers who have been engaged in the work for a certain number of years, and also for the return to teachers who die or are disabled in the profession of a portion of the fund.
That 10 per cent be the maximum rate of interest in North Dakota on mortgages is the provision contained in a bill reported out favorably by the house committee on state affairs. In the bill as originally presented, 5 per cent was proposed as the maximum rate, but the committee raised the proposed rate to 10.
The construction of a mess hall for the Rock Island Military reservation near Devils Lake is proposed in a bill introduced yesterday by Representative Lewis.

State Text Book.

Representative Johnson proposes the establishment of a state text book commission. This bill has been introduced with authority to fix certain books for the use of the schools of the state, and changes would be permitted after more than once in five years. The purpose of the bill is to obtain a uniform set of text books for the schools of the state.
Representative Lindstrom of Divide county believes that owners of threshing machines should be held responsible for the protection of employees. It has often happened that men employed on machines have been injured or killed by their wages by treacherous machine owners and operators. He would give the employees the right to bring suit on such bond fifteen days after the failure of the employer to make a payment of wages. The bill also provides that no machine shall be used on a farm unless it is not made applicable to machine owners who maintain a business exclusively on their own farms exclusively. Provision is made whereby owners of threshing machines falling under the bill shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CITY'S HANDS FREED

Louis county in the name of the state of Minnesota, to require the Duluth Street Railway company to prove the validity of its rights under its present franchise to operate on the streets of the city of Duluth.
City Attorney H. A. Carmichael and the special attorneys employed by the city, Francis W. Sullivan of Duluth, and Davis, Kellogg & Severance of St. Paul, were preparing to request Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith to lend the name of the state to the writ proceedings when they were restrained from further action by Judge Morris' order.
On the hands of the city's attorneys being tied, the Duluth Real Estate exchange engaged Attorney Charles E. Adams to take similar action to that contemplated by the city's attorneys. Mr. Adams presented the matter to the attorney general, who ruled that he would prosecute the action on behalf of the state on the compliance of the Duluth people with certain conditions.
The Real Estate exchange of the city, which has been asked to bring suit on such bond fifteen days after the failure of the employer to make a payment of wages. The bill also provides that no machine shall be used on a farm unless it is not made applicable to machine owners who maintain a business exclusively on their own farms exclusively. Provision is made whereby owners of threshing machines falling under the bill shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Drainage Bills Passed.

The house passed two senate bills legalizing county bonds, issued for drainage purposes.

The House Invites Senator Kenyon of Iowa to Address the Legislature Thursday Afternoon.

Railroad and Warehouse Commission. The Duluth street and railroad commission, in amusement tickets of any kind, including football games, which he will have introduced.

Representative Healy of Hibbing offered a bill providing that the Australian ballot system shall govern town and village elections.

Senator Sageng gave notice in the senate this morning that he will move tomorrow to make his women's suffrage bill a special order soon, probably for Thursday.
Would Investigate Architect. Senator Works introduced a resolution, which went over to the committee on education, for an investigation of the fees of the architect employed by the state board of control to see if they are not excessive and if money can be saved. He also introduced a bill to state institutions, which he says is a useless expense.
Senator Johnston offered a bill re-

presence of a United States warship might be necessary to protect American interests. The first division of the Atlantic fleet, composed of the dreadnaughts Wyoming, New York, and Texas, while the Florida arrived at Colon last night for target practice while the remainder of the fleet is at Guantanamo.
Any of the dreadnaughts makes about twenty knots an hour. Drayton, McCall, Terry, Paulding, Sterrett and Warrington of much faster speed, could transport from Colon to Vera Cruz in a matter of miles and the distance to the remainder of the fleet at Guantanamo is about the same.
While the discouraging reports received today affect the situation on the Atlantic coast, the situation on the Pacific is no better. No adequate reinforcements have arrived at Acapulco to protect the town against the rebel Padillo, and his men.

Another Cruiser Ready.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Prepared to reinforce the cruiser Denver at Acapulco, Mex., for the protection of American interests, the cruiser Annapolis has been ordered to San Diego, from where the Denver was ordered to sail. While the Annapolis is en route, the Denver might easily be transferred to her from other ships. Officials say there is no intention of sending the Annapolis to Acapulco at present.
The Denver got away from San Diego Saturday and should be at Acapulco tomorrow. Meanwhile a British warship is standing in the harbor ready to take on Americans and other foreigners should they be attacked by an attack from the rebel Padillo, reported committing depredations in the vicinity.

Catarrh of the Stomach

I have been a slave to catarrh of the stomach. Some people seem to think it strange that I should be such a disease. They ask, "can catarrh, that is fast, and it is a kind of catarrh that one has in the nose and throat, get into the stomach?" And if so, what does it do to the stomach?
Yes, the same kind of catarrh that one has in the nose, the same kind of catarrh that affects the cavities of the head, the same kind of catarrh to which the throat is subject, may affect the mucous membranes of the stomach. As I told you in previous articles, the stomach is lined with a mucous membrane. So is the nose and the throat. Wherever there is a mucous membrane there is a liability to catarrh. Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane.
Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause. It is perfectly useless to take artificial digestants, to take digestive remedies. What is needed is a catarrh remedy.
Pe-ru-na is not only a catarrh remedy, it is a digestant. Therefore, Pe-ru-na will not only temporarily assist the stomach in its function and thus give prompt relief, but it tends also towards eradicating the catarrh. The cause of most cases of dyspepsia, heartburn, sour rising, full feeling after meals, coated tongue, constipation, the cause of most cases of this sort is catarrh of the stomach.

Col. John S. Crosby Has a Narrow Escape in New York.

New York, Jan. 21.—Col. John Schuyler Crosby, veteran of the Civil war, former governor of Montana and a noted Indian fighter, narrowly escaped death last night when he was attacked by H. J. Wamogo, his Japanese valet. Col. Crosby, who is recovering from a short illness, leaped from his bed when the valet rushed at him with a large knife. Other servants came to the assistance of Col. Crosby and held the Japanese, who had shown signs of insanity on several occasions, until Bellevue hospital.

Are You Subject to Constipation

Here Is a Simple Way of Correcting It Instantly Before it Becomes Chronic.

Very few people go through life without some time or other being troubled with constipation. Thousands injure themselves by the use of strong cathartics, castor oil, mineral waters, and similar things. They have temporary relief, but the result is, in fact, the more one takes of them the less effective they become.

A physic or purgative is seldom necessary, and much better and more permanent results can be obtained by using a scientific remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It does not blister, it is a high sounding name, but is what it is represented to be, a natural laxative medicine. It is so composed that thousands of mothers give it to their infants, and yet it is so comforting that it will have equally good effect when used by a person suffering from the worst chronic constipation. In fact, among the greatest endorsements of Syrup Pepsin are elderly people who have suffered for years and found nothing to benefit them until they took Syrup Pepsin.

It is a fact that millions of families have Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, homes like those of Mrs. G. B. Pruitt, Brown, Ky., who used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a laxative tonic. Mrs. Pruitt writes that she so strongly endorsed and cleansed her system that she was quickly relieved of a severe cough which had troubled her for months. The special value of this grand laxative tonic is that it is suited to the needs of every member of the family. It is pleasant tasting, mild and non-gripping. Unlike harsh physics, it works gradually and in a very brief time the stomach and bowels are cleansed and trained to do their work naturally again, when all medicines can be dispensed with.

You can obtain a bottle at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar. The latter size is usually bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way, a special value of this grand laxative tonic will be sent to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

PLAIN GARDEN SAGE DARKENS GRAY HAIR AND IS HARMLESS

Says Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Luster

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight, is a reality. If you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but without the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," at drug stores here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair, restores naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks are not wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows they sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic.

TWO FAMOUS SLEDS NOW IN THE MUSEUM.

New York, Jan. 21.—Two battered sleds which have journeyed to opposite ends of the earth, occupy a place of honor in the American Museum of Natural History. Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, has presented to the museum one of the three sleds used by his expedition, and it was placed beside a sled which Admiral Peary had found the North Pole. The Amundsen sled was accompanied by a letter addressed to John A. Gargas, president of the Fair Osborn of the museum. This letter said:

One of the three sleds taken was left behind at the pole, the second was presented to the American Museum of Natural History, and the third (the captain Amundsen) wishes to offer you for the museum. By receiving it, you will be giving me the greatest gratification and acknowledgments to the American people and most especially to the scientific associations which in all this work have shown him such constant encouragement and ready assistance.

Capt. Amundsen and Admiral Peary have been elected to honorary fellowship in the museum, an honor which is shared by only four others.

GUAYAQUIL CAN BE MADE HEALTHY CITY.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Col. William C. Gargas, head of the sanitary work on the Panama canal zone, arrived here Monday from Guayaquil, Ecuador, whether he went recently to recommend measures for the sanitation of that port, known for many years as the "pest hole of the Pacific."

I found conditions at Guayaquil similar to those which we met at Havana when we went there some years ago to rid it of the yellow fever, said Col. Gargas. There seems to be no reason why Guayaquil cannot be made as safe a harbor from the health point of view as any other.

GREATER DULUTH CLUB COMMITTEE

Ray M. Hughes Heads Body to Investigate Duluth Passenger Service.

Ray M. Hughes heads a committee appointed by President P. E. Dowling of the Greater Duluth club to investigate the passenger service given Duluth by the railroads, especially those to the West.

The other members of the committee are J. E. Smith, B. Silberstein, Bentley P. Neff, J. J. Moe, M. K. Stack, G. Weiss, C. S. Mitchell, William S. Hart, H. F. Williamson, A. K. Squier and W. J. Allen.

The committee was appointed in accordance with a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the club. The resolution requires the committee to investigate the passenger service given generally on the railroads entering Duluth, but especially those between Duluth and Western Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The committee may work alone or in conjunction with the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club.

PROBE INTO DEPARTMENTS

There are standing appropriations. What has become of them? The committee is investigating. In addition, several departments existing entirely on this revenue. What disposition was made of these funds? Other questions, too, the committee has in mind, like the money and expenditures necessary? How many employees are they carrying on your payroll? Are they all necessary? There are any of them who have little or nothing to do besides "draw pay?" In short, if the committee carries out the program it has laid down for itself and the city, then the investigation is over the public will know a great deal more about the conduct of its state government than it ever has known before.

May Create Commission.

The main purpose which set this investigation going was the preparation of a plan of reorganizing the departments in the interests of efficiency and economy, as recommended by Governor Eberhart. This has been side-tracked. The committee yesterday afternoon seemed to have been sidetracked by Representative Lewis C. Spooner, who said that this is a work that cannot be successfully completed during a session of the legislature, but had best be left to a committee which is provided for by law, to give two whole years to the work and report to the next session.

The real impetus to the whole proceeding came from Northern Minnesota's demand for a department of public domain, to take over the state's land business and all the natural resources to be administered in a businesslike way, doing away with the multitude of boards, divisions and officials between which this important work is soiled, yesterday, also came into the house.

This part of it may come through. Representative Knappp yesterday afternoon introduced a bill providing, introduced yesterday afternoon, to create a department of public domain, to take over the state's land business and all the natural resources to be administered in a businesslike way, doing away with the multitude of boards, divisions and officials between which this important work is soiled, yesterday, also came into the house.

But in the meantime the house committee on public accounts and expenditures is going to find out what becomes of the money and whether all of it is spent wisely; and probably before the session is over a commission will be created to study between now and the next session a plan of consolidating the various other bureaus and departments and making the state government a more cohesive, more efficient and more economical institution than it is now.

ARCHIE BOYD IS NEARLY ARRESTED

St. Paul Game Warden Victim of Joke By Storey.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie Boyd, the North Dakota game warden who has been arrested many an offender for breaking the game laws, came near being arrested himself Sunday on that charge.

The joke wasn't on him, but on the St. Paul game warden, George C. Cline, who proposed the arrest.

Boyd and Thomas J. Storey, the Duluth game warden, had to come to St. Paul on a business trip, and they killed two birds with one stone by stopping off at Pine City to look up the case of a man who had been shot by a poacher and having them in his possession contrary to law.

They found their man, and his partner, and after making the arrest and confiscation, proceeded to St. Paul carrying a suitcase full of contraband birds.

Knowing that Cline probably would be on the lookout, Mr. Storey put up a job on him. He had Mr. Boyd, who was dressed for the woods, get off another car from the one Storey emerged from, and as soon as he saw Cline Mr. Storey confided to him that he had suspicions about Boyd.

So Cline stopped Mr. Boyd and asked him what he had in his grip. Boyd, apparently much confused, said that he was a man on the train who had come down with him, and that perhaps this man would vouch for him. The man was Storey, who explained the situation to Cline—also the fact that it looked like Cline's turn to buy.

DR. VINCENT TALKS AT BANKERS' BANQUET.

New York, Jan. 21.—Eight hundred bankers heard Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, declare at a banquet here last night that three important truths were learned from the investigation of the Pujo committee.

"First, there is no money trust," said Dr. Vincent. "Second, even if there is a money trust it must always be in the hands of pure and noble men and no longer do we fear that we are not in the hands of the plutocrats; and, third, if there is a money trust, we have it in our own hands." Dr. Vincent then faced George P. Baker, president of the First National bank, "that it is absolute perfection."

The dinner was the annual one of the bankers of the city of New York, Group VIII of the New York State Bankers' association. Included among the speakers were Mayor Gaynor and Percy Finlay, a banker of Memphis. Mayor Gaynor spoke in favor of a central bank.

extravagance, exists in the administration of the public affairs of the state. So to me the work of this committee is most important.

So the committee settled down to the program outlined above, which will hold it awhile. It will meet again tonight to talk with the attorney general about his department, and it will take up the various departments from time to time as their reports come in in response to the resolution which the committee authorized its chairman and Mr. Spooner to prepare.

Minerals in Land Grants.

Representative H. H. Dunn yesterday afternoon gained further progress with his bill requiring the state to reserve mineral rights in lands patented by the state to railroads under land grants, by securing the adoption of a motion to have the bill advanced from general orders to the calendar, with the privilege of amendment. His motion was seconded by Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm.

The bill validating the Virginia electric light bonds passed the house yesterday afternoon, and is now a law, the governor having signed it. The house yesterday afternoon recommended representative Knapp's bill to pass, after which Mr. Knapp had Senator Hoyt's similar bill substituted for his, and passed under suspension of the rules. Probably there is nothing serious in the flaw in the Virginia bond issue which this law is intended to correct, but the bill was passed as a measure of safety.

The possible fault lies in the constitutionality of the law of 1911, which provided that the state census of 1905, instead of the Federal census of 1910, shall apply in determining what class a Minnesota city belongs to.

Under the census of 1905, Virginia, being of less than 10,000 people, was a fourth class city. In 1910, the figures of the 1910 census automatically made Virginia a third class city. Later legislation passed by the state, which the state census, not the Federal census, was used. The question was whether a statute could put Virginia back into the fourth class after the census had put it in the third class. As the city acted, in its bond issue, as a third class city, the fourth class, the passage of the Knapp-Boyle bill was thought necessary to validate the bonds.

Representative Fessler of Duluth acted as attorney for the city in getting this bill through the legislature.

To Protect the Frogs.

Frogs eat grasshoppers. Grasshoppers eat crops. Therefore it is to the interest of the state to preserve the frogs. This is the theory on which Representative Frye yesterday afternoon introduced a bill prohibiting the hunting, catching, killing, storing or sale of frogs in this state under penalties. The law would make it a crime if this bill becomes a law.

Representative C. M. Bendixen yesterday afternoon introduced his new bill, which would make it a crime to describe. It limits the passenger fare to 2 cents a mile except on roads earning less than $1,200 a mile or trips of five miles or less, in which cases 3 cents a mile can be charged.

Representative Knappp's public domain bill, introduced yesterday, also came into the house.

A bill introduced by Representative Nolan of Minneapolis makes it a crime to describe. It limits the passenger fare to 2 cents a mile except on roads earning less than $1,200 a mile or trips of five miles or less, in which cases 3 cents a mile can be charged.

Imprisonment for sixty days to a year, or a fine of $100 to $1,000, is the penalty proposed for making false statements in a criminal case. The bill introduced yesterday afternoon by Representative Crane.

Representative Orr of St. Paul, chairman of the house judiciary committee, yesterday afternoon introduced several bills covering some of the reforms proposed by the Pujo committee. The committee appointed by Governor Eberhart to point out means to simplify the house today afternoon introduced by Mr. Orr's bills included these:

Allowing the supreme court to have five terms a year, one regular term to be in April, giving the state the right to intervene in criminal cases, putting the state and the defense on the same basis as to peremptory challenges in criminal cases, five each for ordinary cases and ten each in cases involving capital punishment or life imprisonment, and doing away with demurrers to replies in pleadings.

Representatives C. H. Warner and P. H. McGarry joined yesterday afternoon in offering a bill requiring the state auditor to file for record with the register of deeds in each county the statements of all lands given to the state by the Federal government.

Would End Liquor License Fees.

A frank attack on the liquor traffic, which has been going on for years, was made yesterday afternoon by Representative Frank Hopkins, doing away with liquor licenses. The bill would make it a crime for the municipalities to be deprived of revenues from their own liquor licenses. It would make it a crime for the municipalities to be deprived of revenues from their own liquor licenses. It would make it a crime for the municipalities to be deprived of revenues from their own liquor licenses.

The bill prohibits the charging of more than $100 for a license to sell liquor. The license fees now are $100 for a saloon and $50 for a retail license.

A fine of $500 for improperly stamping or labeling packages containing goods offered for sale, with intent to defraud, was introduced yesterday afternoon by Representative Conley.

Representative W. W. Brown proposes heavy penalties for introducing into the state buildings or grounds in one bill introduced yesterday afternoon, and in another makes school officials peace officers for the purpose of seeing that peace and order prevail around the public schools.

A bill appropriating $50,000 for a new state reformatory for men, with the place of its location left blank for the legislature to fill in, was introduced by Representative Orr of St. Paul.

A plan of basing legislative apportionment upon citizenship instead of population was proposed in a bill introduced yesterday afternoon by Representative Frank Hopkins. A constitutional amendment is provided for in the bill to bring this about.

Fresh air for hotel guests is the hobby of Representative Steen, who introduced in the house yesterday afternoon a bill requiring that every hotel room must have a "window which can be readily opened to the weather so that there may be an unobstructed opening equal to at least 14 square inches." The penalty for failure to provide this essential to health after July 1, 1913, is a fine of $10 to $100 or ten to thirty days in jail.

Garnishment of Wages.

A bill introduced in the house yesterday afternoon, which would make it a crime for a person to fail to garnish so as to provide that in buying necessities 10 per cent of the wages shall be subject to garnishment; a proposal obviously inspired by the butcher and grocer.

The sale of stocks of merchandise in bulk without five days' notice to creditors is forbidden in a bill introduced yesterday in the house by Representative Orr.

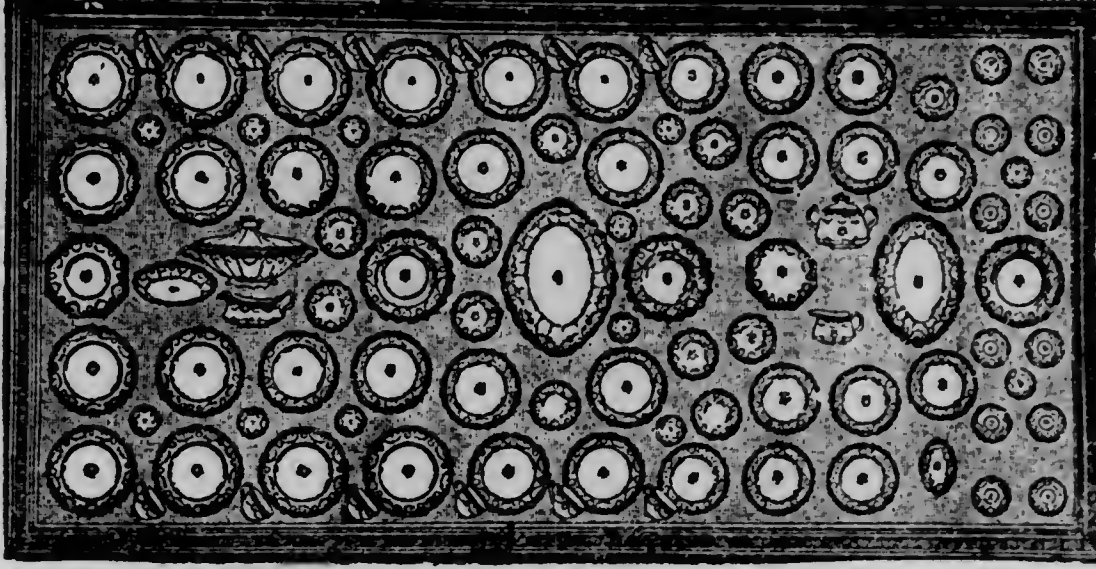

Representative C. H. Warner introduced a bill providing two-year terms for town and village treasurers.

A state legislative reference bureau under a state legislative reference commission is provided for in a bill offered yesterday afternoon by Representatives Norton, Nolan, Child and Heimberg. The commission is to consist of the president of the state university, the attorney general, the

DISCUSS CHARTER.

Study Class Investigates New Government.

"Dangers in the Commission Form of Government" was discussed at the meeting of the Study Class of the Women's Council, held yesterday afternoon at the library clubroom with Mrs. Arthur N. Collins as leader.

"If the wrong sort of commissioners are elected, there will be grave danger in such centralization of power, from great industrial interests, the council of five can overrule him in a matter of importance in his department."

An auditing board of good citizens, not salaried, was suggested as a check on the power of the commissioners. The question of whether responsibility is really centered, that is, whether one commissioner is responsible to the public for the conduct of things in his department, the council of five can overrule him in a matter of importance in his department."

Miss Jean Polier expressed her views of the advisability of hiring an expert to plan the new government in an informal discussion which followed the regular meeting. She said in part: "The decision not to secure an expert to plan the building of our new city government will be a great calamity."

An expert could start our commission government right. While the city council could doubtless make fairly good plan, the council members are all busy men and their efforts would be expensive because of their mental.

"If the city funds are insufficient, as seems to be the case, the money should be raised, even if we have to appeal to the business men of the city. No man would go into a wholly new business, surely, without seeking the advice of an expert."

Mrs. R. N. Marble, Miss Jean Polier and Mrs. J. T. Watson were appointed to draw up a program for the class work next year. Members of the class will give their suggestions as to the subject to be studied next year, at the next meeting, Monday, Feb. 2.

Mrs. H. W. Geller will lead the last meeting of the charter government. Results of Commission Form of Government, on Feb. 3, and the subject will be concluded in an open lecture by Bert Foster on Monday afternoon, Feb. 14, at the library.

The budget will be studied at four meetings, the divisions and leaders being as follows: "The Budget and Its Opportunities," Mrs. R. N. Marble, "The Budget and Its Possibilities," Mrs. Irene C. Buel, March 17; "Budget Publicity," Miss Amy Oliver, April 7, and "Budget Kindergarten," Miss Jean Polier, April 21.

HELP FROM RANGE.

Virginia Women May Form Children's Home Auxiliary.

Women in Virginia are interesting themselves in the Children's Home in Duluth, and plans are being discussed for the formation of an auxiliary there to work for the home and to assist in its upkeep. The Duluth Children's Home cares for many little homeless children from the range towns and many of them are from Virginia, as there is no home of this kind on the range, so the women of that city feel that they owe some help to the Duluth women who give so much of their time that the home may be kept up and in good running order.

DELIGHTFUL LECTURE.

Mrs. Spiegel Speaks Before Large Audience on French Drama.

Mrs. Robert Spiegel gave about two hundred people a delightful treat in her lecture on "Modern French Drama" last evening at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral under the auspices of the Twenty Century club.

She spoke from the standpoint of intimate knowledge with French literature and drama and flashes of wit and steady philosophy were characteristics which made much to the value of her talk.

In leading up to the drama of the present day she gave a most adequate review of the works of some of the older writers and a preliminary outline of the history of French drama from the middle ages when it had no rivals to the present time when German and Scandinavian drama are competing for the first place. "But will not get it," she said.

"The French play is not immoral," she continued. "It is only strange. To the clean, all things are clean, as the German says, and we find what we look for. To one who understands the French temperament, there is as much virtue and sincerity in the French plays as in the English or any other. It is only in the eyes of the 'not understanding' that all Frenchmen are a combination of dancing master, chef and villainous duke, and all Frenchwomen, 'petites coquette' who always smoke cigarettes."

In illustration of her statement that the French have led in drama and in fact all literature for centuries, Mrs. Spiegel said that France gave the world the first modern play and the first realistic novels and plays in an age looking for realism.

The two great playwrights of today, she said, are Henri Becque and Ibsen, who has been characterized by Anatole France as 'beautiful as Shakespeare, more tragic than Macbeth.'

Another delightful feature of the evening was the singing of the 'Marseillaise,' the stirring French National anthem by A. C. Ouellette who gave it with all the fire and vim of a true Frenchman, and set the key note for the evening.

Mrs. Ouellette accompanied the singer who was forced to respond with an encore singing, 'La Chanson' by Paul.

Miss Alta Hallock, contralto, sang a delightful number, 'The Day with Miss Ruby Krause as her accompanist and Miss Loretta O'Gorman sang a group of German songs with charm.

Miss Lucille Albachten played her accompaniments.

Mrs. Gustav Flatau entertained for Mrs. Spiegel at the conclusion of the lecture.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Annual Business Meeting Will Be Preceded By Supper.

A supper served by girls of the Y. M. C. A. will be served to members of the association tomorrow evening at the dining room of the building preceding the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association which will be held at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall there. Several trustees and members of the board of directors are to be elected and every member is urged to be present at the meeting.

The supper will be served from 6 to 7 o'clock for the benefit of those who wish to remain down for the meeting.

No invitations have been issued for this supper as it is of a most informal nature and a general invitation is extended to all members of the association.

Musical numbers will also be given during the evening by members of the Duluth Musical club.

Round Table.

The members of the Round Table of the Y. M. C. A. will be entertained Thursday evening at a coaling party at the home of Mrs. A. L. Warner, Hunter's Park at 7:30 o'clock. After the coaling the guests will be entertained with dancing and games.

Camp Fire Meeting.

Members of the group of Camp Fire girls will be given a domestic science lesson at supper this evening at the Y. M. C. A. building by Miss Virginia Frick.

New Sewing Class.

A new sewing class for women and girls will be formed at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday. All interested persons are invited to attend and to take their own sewing. An instructor will be at the meeting with suggestions and information concerning sewing where they are wanted.

Musical at Noon.

At a meeting of the extension committee of the Y. M. C. A. held yesterday afternoon it was decided to have music at the building every Wednesday during the winter here and tomorrow Mrs. John Miller will play piano numbers at that time. The plan of having music at the building at noon was tried during the pre-holiday rush, and the results were so satisfactory that weekly programs promise to be greatly enjoyed.

INVITATIONS OUT.

Knights of Columbus Will Be Hosts.

Invitations for the annual reception and ball of the Knights of Columbus which will be held at the Spaulding hotel on Monday afternoon, Jan. 28, have been issued. The committee in charge consists of Joseph E. Horak, Larry P. King, John J. Kenna, Harry E. Gowen and J. Fred Wolf.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEARSON

Small Excuse Nowadays for Coarse Table Manners.

Someone has said that each of us should practice eating before a mirror now and then to gain an idea of how we manage it and improve upon our manners, if possible. I am convinced that it would benefit many unthinking people, just a bit uncouth, who would be horrified themselves to find that they made such disgusting work of it. Eating is not a pastime that one enjoys from the standpoint of the observer unless in quest of peculiarities of eating and vulgar manners. People make it very much of a business and not at all an art, which it seems they might do without interfering at all with the business or necessary side of it.

The sight of a crowded restaurant of the better class such as I visit occasionally is not an inspiring one. It savors too much of a monkey cage at meal time. Everybody is munching away for dear life seeking to stow impossible amounts within themselves

In a given length of time and not stopping to take breath or caring how they handle the food so that it reaches the designed spot to convey the message.

I realize that it takes time and money to be correctly elegant. It requires leisure to eat a full meal properly and with the due regard to the proprieties, but even when in a hurry one need not act the pig.

The man who uses his knife in place of his fork or spoon may not be an out-and-out vulgar, but he shows a disregard of the small niceties of life that makes him seem ignorant and poorly bred, even when he may simply be satisfying his individuality or protecting his right to wield a knife where a fork would be more suitable. He may escape cutting his throat and even find the knife more convenient after long practice, but why let anyone think you are such a messiah that you do not know the proper usages of the knife, fork and spoon?

It doesn't cost anything to be nice in this respect, yet broadly speaking there seems to be a premium on decent table manners. Much of it is carelessness acquired by hurried eating in the company of oneself. Usually the small offenders know better. It might not, therefore, now and then, do any harm, to watch one's habits and gestures and expressions, while eating, in a mirror to catch a hint of anything vulgar or incorrect.

ANOTHER WARNING AS TO OUR FORESTS.

If any further warning were needed against the proposal to let the national forest land get away from national control and into the hands of the individual states, it is to be found in the report of Luther Conant, Jr., on the relative holdings of standing timber in this country.

An enormous percentage of the timber land of the United States is in the hands of a few powerful interests, says the commissioner of corporations, who proceeds to show that only 195 holders are in possession of nearly half the forest areas of the nation.

Of all the wealth of timber that originally belonged to all the people of the United States, the government—that is, all the people—today owns only about one-fifth of that form of the nation's natural wealth. Ownership of the rest has, for the most part, become concentrated in comparatively few hands, with common private interests, as distinguished from the interests of the public as a whole.

If the scheme for giving the individual states control of this timber area that yet remains in the hands of the national government is allowed to go through, there soon will be larger holdings by private interests. At the very least there will be more open access to this land for these private interests, and the people as a whole will be stripped of that much more of their rights and property. Even the bare turning over of the timber land to the states would be a deliberate robbing of the national stores for the benefit of particular localities.

This report of Mr. Conant's should serve to emphasize the need for the killing of the Lafferty bill and all measures of that character.

Somehow the news columns look old without any reference to Katydid or the culm dumps.

NOT SO TRIVIAL AFTER ALL.

When President-elect Wilson set in motion the forces that resulted in the cancellation of the quadrennial inaugural ball at the national capital, he struck deeper than probably the bulk of the people realized. The action was not simply a blow at fashionable fust and feathers, but a real stride in the direction of simplicity in the installation of a national president.

To appreciate what the abandonment of the inaugural ball means, it must be understood that the people of Washington have been accustomed to make inauguration a time of celebration, of entertainment of thousands of visitors, and in fact a gala time generally. They have made elaborate preparations for all such occasions, and thereby incurred great expense. The Washington Times puts it thus:

"The inaugural ball has been the chief means of producing revenue with which to reimburse the business community of Washington for the large expense of the inauguration. A fund of $100,000 is approximately raised for this purpose. That fund is in the nature of an underwriting of expenses, to be repaid to subscribers from the receipts of the ball, sale of stand seats and the like. The ball produces the largest item of the receipts."

It is generally understood that tickets of admission to the inaugural ball are sold at $5 each. The ball is held in the pension office, which is cleared for the occasion. The affair is opened by a promenade in which the new president takes a conspicuous part. Then comes such dancing as may be possible under the crowded condition, then the serving of refreshments to such as can get to them, and then the breaking up.

There is no pretension that the inaugural ball serves any purpose, even of marked entertainment, other than to replenish the purses of those who have underwritten the expense of the display and ostentation attendant upon the inauguration. Even the attendance of the newly inaugurated president is dependent entirely upon his own wishes and conformance with custom.

But from the revenue getting character of the "ball" it is easy to see that with that feature eliminated the other ostentatious features of the inauguration must be curtailed. Governor Wilson's stroke went deeper than appeared at first glance.

Samuel Untermyer says the electoral college is the "vermiform appendix of our elective system." What does Nicholas Murray Butler think of that?

SULZER'S FIRST LAW.

Whatever may be true of the value and virtue of the first law that received the signature of Governor Sulzer of New York, the conditions that called for its enactment are nothing but a boast of it. It was a law providing severe punishment for any intoxicated person who may be found driving a motor vehicle in a public place.

In practically all, if not in every state in the Union, the law provides that no person shall drive a vehicle of that description in public until he shall have proved himself possessed of certain qualifications of mind and knowledge of the machine. But apparently we have been overlooking the fact that, however well qualified a man may be for such a thing when he is sober, the same man, when drunk, may be supremely unqualified to do anything of the kind.

That American men would be guilty of so endangering lives and property as to go into public places with their "devil-wagons" when they were themselves in no condition to drive the things is a most unwelcome commentary on the men themselves. But since they have shown that they are capable of even such actions as that, it is only just to the rest of the people that the state should do its utmost to put a stop to that kind of thing. It might not be amiss for the other commonwealths to follow the lead of New York in the good work.

In New Jersey they have changed the question to "What did the governor hear?"

TO HELP THE POLICE.

During the recent mild weather an old trouble appeared in Duluth—that of the children coasting on streets where they were in danger of being struck by street cars. The city has been free so far this year from serious accidents to coasters. Let us hope that the record will remain unbroken. But there are neighborhoods where the children are continually taking chances, and these places call sometimes for police supervision to keep the youngsters in safety.

In this the police are handicapped, for the only charges they can make against coasters are violations of the ordinance that forbids coasting on the sidewalks, or coasting at a speed in excess of five miles an hour. For years the police have exercised an assumed authority, that had back of it no more actual force than a police regulation, to keep the children from coasting across the street car tracks.

It would be well for the city to make it a violation of the law for any person to coast across the tracks. Such an ordinance would be of material assistance to the police in cases where the present order is openly defied. It would be well, of course, if the parents of children could be made responsible for violations of such an ordinance, but it is probable that authority for confiscation of the sled or toboggan used in the violation would operate effectively to check the recklessness of the children.

However the punishment might be inflicted, such an ordinance would be of decided help to the police in keeping children from incurring risks to life and limb.

DOWN IN OLD VIRGINIA.

The law and its enforcement takes some peculiar turns in the Old Dominion state. The Beattie murder case was watched with interest throughout the whole nation. The summary trial, conviction and execution of the murderer were pointed to as samples of the possibilities of swift justice in America.

But Virginia is making no such record in the Allen case. Here grown men, not spoiled youths, carried weapons into a court of justice and murdered some half dozen persons, including the officers of the court itself. All but two of them got off with term sentences, and these two were sentenced to death for one of the most outrageous crimes ever committed on this continent. Their execution, first set for December, was delayed until Jan. 17 by an order of the governor, and then was again delayed indefinitely by the same authority. Now it is proposed that executive clemency be extended to the condemned.

Who are these Allen that they are so much more to be pardoned or condoned for their crime than was young Henry Beattie? To be sure they are members of a rich and influential clan, but that would seem to make their offense only the greater. Capital punishment may be regarded as too severe for crime. It is so regarded in Minnesota, and has been abolished here. But it obtains in Virginia, and the law should be allowed to take its course unless there can be shown some good reason for interference.

Virginia will gain nothing by favoring the Allens. Such action savors too strongly of recognition of clan power and influence, and organizations of that character are seriously in need of being shown that they and their blood-letting practices are not superior to the law of the state.

Now comes an authority with the assurance that the French president's name should be pronounced "Fron-car-ay." The students of his former college home have the material right there for a new and patriotic yell.

There aren't such an awful lot of things in this world entitled to the simple adjective "the." We speak of "the" sun and "the" moon and "the" president, and "the" pope, but outside of a mighty limited number every man and every article has to have some other qualifying word hitched onto it to make its identity certain when we speak of it.

Even sickness has to be designated. To say a man has "the fever" may mean typhoid or scarlet fever. To be sure there are exceptions in the cases of measles and mumps, but it may be "Dutch" measles or one-sided mumps.

But the big "the" among mankind at this time of the year is "the grip." It needs no other description. Its name covers the whole case. Out of the deceptiveness of the January thaw it leaps upon its victim, and before he knows it he is without appetite, weak in the joints, unhappy in the nose, sore in the throat, running at the eyes, hoarse as to voice, and with a temper like an irritated bull. He isn't fit company for man or beast, and he hates nobody else as he does himself.

About the only satisfaction for a person with the grip is that it is just THE grip. It requires no explanation beyond that bald statement. So let its victims get as much satisfaction out of that fact as they can. It is slim enough, goodness knows. So let them sneeze and cough and excrete their way through it with whatever favorite remedies they have found for combating it. But in the meantime, look out for it yourself. This is the open season, and the hunting is reported exceptionally good.

However, even Wilson's wishes won't be able to stop the inaugural ball for public jobs.

Uncle Sam's career.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Believe me and my view of Uncle Sam's career to date.

On July 4, 1776, Uncle Sam was born, and he was destined to become known all over the world. In his youth he had only a few scraps—like all young lads generally have, but in 1860 he got in trouble with his big brother (Cotton), and he licked him good and plenty. Then he showed his wild oats right and left until 1861, when he got married to that beautiful and modest maiden, Miss Democracy. Now we all hope and expect that he will settle down, and get on and get on to all nations. May the Lord bless him.

Deferring Marriage

President Eliot to Harvard freshmen:

Look ahead to marriage—and I should almost say, the sooner the better. It is the fashion nowadays among educated young men to postpone marriage for years. That is the place where the life of the highly educated man is inferior to the life of the mechanic, operative, farmer or farm hand. Postponed marriage is a great modern evil in educated society. You will hear some young men say, "I cannot invite a girl who has been brought up to do nothing for herself, but to have every gratification and marry me until I can earn an income which will enable her to live with me in that way."

I have two remarks to make about that doctrine—that is if a girl has been brought up in that manner, the sooner she has a chance to live differently, the better for her; and secondly, that it is only fair for a young man who loves a young woman to consult her as to whether or not she wishes to marry him before he can earn a large income. The young woman has a clear right to say a word on that subject to the man she loves, and not to be obliged to wait until he is 35 years old before he asks her to marry him.

This, gentlemen, is a matter of looking ahead at a critical point in your lives. You are not in the habit, perhaps, of contemplating this event of marriage. It would be wiser to do so. The sooner you begin to think about it the better—first, because it will be thinking about the most important event in your lives in respect to the development of your own characters and to the happiness not only of yourselves but of the women you will marry, and of the family life which will normally result.

Women Workers in France.

Consular Reports: In reply to a question, the French minister of labor has issued in Paris some interesting figures giving the number of women—both home workers and out workers—who earn their living in France. The figures are based on the census returns of 1906, and the total number of women workers is given as 4,150,000, employed as follows: Agriculture, 919,000; factories, etc., out workers, 1,335,000; home workers, 540,000; business, public services, liberal professions, out workers, 504,000; servants, 772,000.

The wages received by women employed in agriculture and in factories, etc., differ widely, but, according to the inquiries carried out by a commission in 1908, those engaged in out work as distinct from home work, which is usually paid for by the piece, earn about 3 francs (55 cents) per day in the department of the Seine, and 2 francs 10 centimes (40 1-4 cents) in the provinces.

Making Cabinets—No. 1

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.) Speculation as to the new cabinet is not as rife as it was, and there seems a disposition to allow Mr. Wilson to handle it, something he is going to do anyhow, and never did a president-elect enter upon that delicate and difficult work with a more open mind and from a more independent standpoint than Woodrow Wilson.

Not excepting George Washington and Ulysses S. Grant, most of our presidents have selected their constitutional advisers in advance of the November election, and some of them before the nomination convention. McKinley, for instance, or rather Mark Hanna, who relieved McKinley of the task.

But for his unfortunate quarrel with Andrew Johnson upon a question of fact it is very doubtful if Gen. Grant had ever joined the Republican party. Johnson claimed that he had promised to do so. Stanton was the only man of our history who would have been in a cabinet under McKinley.

Statesmen, Real and Near

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the sights here that makes visitors set down their suits and stare is Ambassador Bakhmeteff's Cosack footman.

Ambassador Bakhmeteff is the official representative of Nicholas, the well-known Russian czar, and being from Russia, a Cosack on the box of his carriage gives a native touch that prevents him from getting homesick.

Gus—us as we'll call the Cosack, thought that probably for his home at all-dresses in regular Cosack costume, and closely resembles the ones in the Wild West shows and the Russian sleighing pictures in hotel ball rooms. He wears a long, modish, skirted coat that makes him look like an hour glass, and the conventional Cosack hat—one of those big, glorified-hornet's-nest affairs. Even if he is only going out a little drive around town where there is ample police protection, Gus—one does love to think of him as Gus—is invariably armed to the teeth. He carries a sword—no, a scabbard, it is called—under his arm, and a number of smaller utensils stuck into his belt. He wears a little black cap, like an opened pocket knife. His weapons are all in plain view, and anybody can see for himself that the man would put up an awful struggle before he would be taken alive. When the world peace movement goes through and Gus is forced to discontinue his military life, he will probably will himself to death.

If the Bakhmeteff carriage is halted in front of a store or a dwelling house, Gus stands on the sidewalk, with head erect and mustache shedding hauteur. Whether on the lookout for militia, practical jokes, laprothe thieves, or what not, he gives the impression of being a man with little or no sense of humor who could assume a formal demeanor if anybody walked up and tried to play with his sword.

However, if the fellow thinks he is every body in town scared of him, he is mightily mistaken.

Some day I intend to walk boldly right up close to him.

Representative Martin Littleton's idea of something not to get hit-up over is parliamentary law, as it is practiced in the over-housed Cosack capital.

Says Martin: "Parliamentary law, as I see it, is an instrument to enable a man who doesn't know anything about a given proposition to stop a man who does know something about it, from getting anything done."

A friend of Uncle Joe Cannon was telling the other day how Uncle Joe "played sick" last year in his campaign of 1908. As a matter of fact, for the former speaker is even yet, for all his seventy-seven years, almost as lively as the average Boston terrier. But, according to the story, he made a great bluff, just for the joke of the thing, at all the time he was in the campaign.

He had to be helped up the steps when he ascended a platform to speak, and all that sort of thing. Democrats over the district noticed this and didn't have the heart to make much of a campaign against him. The night after the election he was charged up and bounded down to a train for New York to attend a big banquet.

When Col. R. M. Johnston got here from Texas to succeed Joe Bailey as United States senator for the next two years, he looked about the spacious office at his disposal in the senate office building, and considered the costly furniture and fixtures, and some of the things.

"Doesn't the place suit you, Senator?" asked his friend Bailey, who was trying to make things pleasant.

"There has been some criticism of the elegance of these offices, but—"

"Oh, excuse the place! It's all right," sighed Johnston. "I'm only here for a short time, of course, 'til March at the latest, and it is not for me to find fault with the arrangements." Short pause.

SARAH BERNHARDT CLAIMED AS OHIOAN

"She's as Dutch as I Am,"
Says Furniture
Dealer.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—Sarah Bernhardt, the "divine" who travels with an interpreter because she can not speak a word of English, was born and reared in Struthers, Ohio, and never saw Paris until she was 18. So declares William Bernhart, 1801 Clay street, Pittsburg. Bernhart is one of a firm of furniture dealers that has been established for more than half a century. The name is as Dutch as I am, said Bernhart. "Did you ever hear of a Frenchman named Bernhardt? Sarah is a descendant of Peter Bernhart who was a brother of my great grandfather. They came from Germany together. Sarah was born in Struthers, Ohio, and was an exceptionally bright girl. At 18 she was traveling with a harem of troupe and at 18 went to Paris with her father. It was then she began her career on the French stage.

"I know the books give her birthplace as Paris, but they are wrong. She is no more French than I am and I can show the proofs if anyone wants to question me. "I don't blame her for wanting to forget her debut in the one night stands. She had wonderful success and she deserves it."

Eight-hour Law Extended.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Provision of the eight-hour law applicable to all employees on government contract work, have been extended by congress to employees on river and harbor improvements. The supreme court had held that laborers on river and harbor improvements were seamen and were not susceptible to the provisions of the eight-hour law. To overcome this, the senate passed the house bill amending the original eight-hour law.

COUNCIL TURNS DOWN PLAN FOR MUNICIPAL EXPERT TO BE REVISED

Aldermen Express Fear
They Might Embarrass Commissioners.

Condemnation of Farrell Road Route Ordered—
Grand Avenue Work.

The city council last evening refused to adopt the report of the finance committee recommending that the committee be advised to continue its investigations as to the feasibility of employing an expert to co-operate with the heads of the various departments to draw a tentative administrative code and plan of organization to be followed by the commissioners who will take office April 14.

The vote was 10 to 6 against the adoption of the report and is generally considered as the last word of the present council relative to the hiring of an expert.

Those favoring the resolution were Aldermen Bernard, Gibson, Hickson, MacDonell, Jordan and Hogan. Those opposed were Aldermen Scott, Curran, Phillips, Neff, Sandberg and President Hoar.

Several of the aldermen took advantage of the opportunity to express their opinions relative to employing an expert to formulate a working code for the commission.

"We should not embarrass the commission in any way," said Alderman Scott. "We should let them responsible for the whole business. We do not know who the commissioners will be, whether they will be experienced or not in city affairs. They will have to devote their whole time to the city's business and can do more in two weeks than this council in two months."

Alderman Curran asserted that he also agreed with Alderman Scott. He said that there is no use of the council to beat about the bush. He averred that he had heard the statement made that public opinion would force the commissioners to adopt a code prepared for them by the present council.

"I do not believe that we should have an expert," said Alderman Gibson. "We should not tie the hands of the new commission, but should allow the commissioners to fall away."

Would Not Tie Hands.

"It is beyond the power of this council to tie the hands of the commission," declared Alderman Gibson. "The object of the move is to aid the commission to carry out the wishes of the people in a just and reasonable way. There is no one except this council to provide any tentative code to assist the commission. The more such penuriousness in this council and this talk about tying the hands of the commission is foolishness."

Alderman Jordan said the purpose is to aid the heads of the departments, start the street improvements and other work as soon as possible.

Alderman Phillips asserted that the proposal to hire an expert had not met with approval in this section of the city (West Duluth). He said that the change from the present council to the commission is not going to be the government topsy turvy and that it is like an old pair of pants. He believed that the present heads of the departments would continue at least until the commissioners become familiar with their duties.

Alderman Hickson said that an expert could furnish much valuable information under the old forms and favored the resolution. He said that it is a question of increasing efficiency and that there is room for improvement in all departments. He stated that the duty of the council to make the change would be an aid to the commissioners.

Alderman MacDonell said that he believed the formulation of an administrative code would be an aid to the commissioners.

The council ordered the condemnation of the route for the proposed extension of the Grand avenue, the survey of which was made by J. A. (Bert) Farrell while he was a member of the city engineering force. The road is the Villa Scholastica. The road is to continue past the farm and into the city, offering a trunk line that a horse can be trotted on a easy direction. The road will eliminate the steep hills with which the city is cursed to enter or leave the city in that direction.

The committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks was ordered to cause to be surveyed a petition for the improvement of Grand avenue from Vernon street to Fifty-fourth avenue, west. The estimated cost is $125,000 for the road, $125,000 for sidewalks, $125,000 for concrete, and $125,000 for concrete. The Grand avenue is becoming a main artery of traffic between the central business district of the city and the plying of the highway is considered necessary.

Cost of Fond du Lac Bridge.

The city engineer submitted estimates of the cost of constructing a bridge over the St. Louis river near Fond du Lac. The first plan, not favored because of the cost, was $1,000,000. The second, with a clearance for boats, was $1,200,000. The third, with a clearance for a 200-foot swing would cost $1,500,000.

Three bids were received for a combination automobile police patrol and emergency ambulance. The bid of the Interstate Auto company for a Kissel motor car was $3,700, and that of M. W. Turner for a Buick was $3,750. The various propositions are being investigated.

The Duluth Builders' Supply company asked the council for permission to build a spur track to their warehouse to connect with the Duluth and St. Louis river. The council ordered the construction of a spur track to connect the warehouse with the Duluth and St. Louis river.

An ordinance was introduced to amend the building ordinance. Building Inspector S. M. Kieley stated that it is a proposal to allow the Corner Oil company to build a boiler house next to a gasoline tank, for the use of the Corner Oil company.

The council ordered the construction of a storm sewer in Vermilion road and Princeton avenue, which will be improved this season.

Schenck Gets Divorce.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 21.—John O. Schenck, multi-millionaire pork packer, was yesterday granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Laura Farnsworth Schenck, and given custody of his children. Mrs. Schenck was arrested in November, 1910, on a charge of attempting to poison her husband. After a sensational trial the jury disagreed and the woman was released on $10,000 bond. The case was not brought up again during three terms of court, and was dismissed according to law. Both Schenck and his wife had filed suits for divorce.

Nearly Smothered.

Chandler, N. C.—Mrs. Augusta Lomax, of this place, writes: "I was smothering spells every day, so bad that I expected death at any time. I could not sit up in bed. I suffered from womanly troubles. My nerves were unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of ever being better. I tried Cardui, and it did me more good than anything I had ever taken. I am better now than I ever expected to be." Thousands of ladies have written similar letters, telling of the merits of Cardui. It relieved their headache, backache and misery, just as it will relieve yours, if you will let it try.

JERSEY LAWS TO BE REVISED

Bills Favored By Wilson Introduced in the Legislature.

Designed to Put End to Trusts and Monopolies.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson yesterday reached what he considers the climax of his program of reform as governor of New Jersey. Seven bills making for the most extensive revision of the corporation laws in the history of the state were introduced last night in the state legislature.

"These acts are designed to put an end to trusts and monopolies under the laws of New Jersey," declared Governor Wilson in a prepared statement describing the measures, "and I confidently predict that they will accomplish the much-desired result."

Though the principle of the bills which seek to prevent monopoly, under the laws of New Jersey, declared Governor Wilson in a prepared statement describing the measures, "and I confidently predict that they will accomplish the much-desired result."

Even since the governor's office, the campaign, the governor has been working for the abolition of corporation reform. Chancellor Edward Walker and Judge Chancery Van Sickle assisted him and tonight the bills were introduced in the senate. As the acts are administrative measures, and the Democrats have a comfortable majority in both houses, Democratic leaders were practically unanimous in predicting that they would be enacted with little opposition.

The features of the bills that attracted most attention was the provision making violations of the proposed laws a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment as well as fines. It was pointed out in the statement issued from the governor's office, however, that while mergers and consolidations are prohibited in general, the provision does not intend to prevent the legitimate expansion of a property "organic in character."

Provision Made.

Provision for this was made in the second of the series of the bills which says: "When stock is issued on the basis of any other corporation, no stock shall be issued for less than any amount greater than paid for the stock in cash property purchase, provided that the corporation whose stock is purchased must be engaged in a business, or be contemplated to be used by the purchaser for its own proper business."

This still permits, it is stated, a corporation to extend its business by the purchase of the property including the stock of another corporation. If its business be the same while preventing the issue of any watered stock in the transaction, it is not intended to do anything to the detriment of the holding companies which are otherwise treated, it is contended.

The governor spent a busy day at the state house and did not leave until 10 o'clock last night. Ralph Stephens, who has mentioned the Russian passport question to him, but he did not discuss details of the conversation.

Senators Nevinah of Nevada and Chamberlain of Oregon, to the governor that besides themselves they represented other Western senators in urging for the secretary of the Interior Governor Norris of Montana, Governor Hart of Idaho, Governor Taft of Oregon, or Democratic Chairman Hallman of Nevada. Representatives Hardwick and Bartlett of Georgia presented the names of several Georgians for the cabinet.

DETECTIVE SHOT

WITH OWN WEAPON
Peter Hart of Chicago
Killed By Auto
Bandit.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A climax to the search for members of the automobile bandit crew came yesterday with the shooting and killing of Detective Peter Hart with his own revolver, supposedly by one of the gang. The detective was shot through the heart when he entered a flat at 157 South Wabash avenue to arrest "Boo" Volck and his associates. A confessed bandit, James B. Perry, a confessed bandit, was under arrest.

After shooting Hart the man escaped. Two other detectives who were aiding Hart in watching the flat, rushed into the room soon after the slaying and Hart. They searched the room and found the man who had shot the detective. The police theory is that Hart laid his gun on the table while he searched his prisoner and that the suspect by a rash act obtained the weapon and shot the detective.

STORAGE CHARGES CHEAPER THAN RENT!

If you are occupying more room than you need, it will pay you to place your excess furniture in a first-class warehouse like the Duluth Van & Storage Warehouse, and move in a smaller apartment. Remember that money saved is money earned. Your furniture will be as well cared for in our warehouse as in your own home. Phone or drop a card for estimate on storage.

DULUTH VAN & STORAGE CO., 18 FOURTH AVE. WEST.

three detectives were ordered to wait for Webb.

Arrangements were made with an occupant of another flat in the building to notify the detectives of the arrival of Webb. About 9 o'clock Hart was told that their man had arrived and was on the second floor.

Hart hurried upstairs and into the front entrance. Evidently he encountered his slayer immediately, for the other two detectives, attracted by the sound of a shot, arrived in the flat within a few minutes and found Hart near death.

The woman is still held, but her name has not been revealed by the police. The shooting took place only a short distance from a garage which the police have had under surveillance awaiting the appearance of the owner, who was alleged to have acted as "fence" for the bandits.

SICK HEADACHE? TONGUE COATED?

IT'S YOUR LIVER! CASCARETS SURE

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes hurt, your skin is yellow with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile and constipated waste not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleansing up inside. Don't continue being a bilious, constipated nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember, that your sour, disordered stomach, lazy liver, and clogged bowels can be quickly cleaned and regulated by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets; a 10-cent box will keep your head clear and make you feel cheerful and buoyant for months. Get Cascarets now—wake up refreshed—feel like doing a good day's work—make yourself pleasant and useful. Clean up! Cheer up!
